Ideas Spring Up

Light Dawns On Bus Lines Facing Death

Since V-J Day, 350 American cities have lost their transit systems. Besides, 50-million Americans in other cities are on the verge of losing the public transportation that may be the only means of getting to work for some of them. While population goes up, bus passenger volume goes down, as is dramatically shown by these Miami statistics: population up 75 per cent in 10 years, but rides down 25 per cent in the same period.

Commuter Trains May Be Answer ...... Page 1B

By JOSEPH N. BELL
Herald Special Writer

IN THE PAST FEW YEARS, a great light has dawned on some of the more enlightened public transportation officials. They realized that in order to attract more business, they must offer a better product.

This realization, coupled with the equally sudden awareness of municipal officials — from whom assistance is imperative — that public transit is just about the only salvation for the extremely crucial traffic problem, has sparked a tremendous resurgence of effort to sell public transportation.

Can Public Transit Be Saved?

For the first time in many a year, transit people are coming up with some aggressive, imaginative ideas to get people back on buses.

These ideas are encompassed in three broad areas: (1) deluxe, speedy service, as represented by such innovations as express buses and club riding plans; (2) cooperative merchandising; and (3) long-range transit planning. Let's examine some working samples from each group.

Deluxe service—of whatever nature or description — helps make buses more competitive with the automobile. The most concerted effort in this direction is the express bus, which has now been adopted in dozens of cities large enough to make it practical.

These buses pick up passengers in a limited area, then express as speedily as possible downtown. Express buses have proved so effective in St. Louis that ridership on express lines increased in the midst of a precipitous decline in overall bus riding.

Express Buses Helped Atlanta

ATLANTA OFFERS an excellent example of what can be accomplished with express buses. As traffic congestion increased, the Metropolitan Planning Commission appealed to the Atlanta Transit System to establish a fleet of fast, limited-stop buses to make use of the new expressways. Twelve express lines are now in successful operation.

"Without these rapid-transit buses," says Robert Stuart, head of the planning commission, "the traffic situation in downtown Atlanta would be impossible. Buses are the most efficient users of city streets."

Another modification of deluxe bus riding appeared first a few years ago in Cincinnati, where the local transit company introduced the nation's first Club Flyer transit plan on the theory — according to J. C. Jones, company president—that "the public is willing to pay a standby charge for quality service."

"The features of a guaranteed seat," he continued, "plus stopping immediately in front of a home where possible, and

Dulles Goes For a Ride In the Park

It was the third time the 71-year-old Dulles had left the hospital since his Feb. 13 hernia operation. A recurrence of his 1957 abdominal cancer was discovered then.

Dulles was accompanied by his wife. Dulles wore a dark blue homburg and a heavy black overcoat against the brisk March winds. Smiling broadly, he was greeted by about a dozen newsmen.

"Hello, hello, hello," he said, as he slowly walked from his room at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

The secretary seemed ready to chat. But when a reporter asked him how much longer he would be in the hospital, he apparently decided that was one question too many.

"You'll have to ask the doctors that," Dulles replied through a fading smile. He turned, and without assistance stepped into his waiting black limousine.

140,000 In Australia

Billy Graham Draws His Biggest Crowd

Officals of his crusade estimated the crowd at 140,000—Melbourne officials called it 150,000 and said that was conservative—and termed it the largest he has ever drawn, even surpassing packed meetings held in London and New York.

For the first time in history, the public was allowed to stand on Melbourne cricket ground. They stood where the main events of the Olympic Games were decided in 1956 and jammed every stand. Australian clergymen called it the greatest religious meeting in Australian history.

The weather was perfect, with blue skies and a warm autumn sun.

Graham goes to Tasmania today and Tuesday for two meetings at Hobart and Launceston, then starts a fortnight's holiday at Broadbeach, Queensland, before commencing a brief New Zealand crusade in early April.

Graham wound up his month of local meetings with virtually every church on his side — including the Roman Catholics.

Catholic priests of several churches paid tribute to Graham on the last day of his crusade and called him a good Christian who helped people to find God.

One Jewish journal praised Graham for his fine character, innate goodness and silver tongue, and added "no matter what faith one may be, none of us can help but be amazed and pleased with influence of this American evangelist."

Ike Talks On Berlin Tonight

Radio, TV Units To Carry Speech

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower goes before the people tonight with a radio-TV report on the Berlin crisis which he regards as one of the most important speeches he has delivered since entering the White House.

He is expected to couple his report with a stronger new defense of his military and foreign aid programs, now under heavy congressional attack. The President will appear over all major radio and television networks from 9:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

He probably will not unveil any new strategy for dealing with the Berlin crisis. But he was certain to nail down once and for all that the U.S. will not allow itself to be forced out of the city by Soviet bluff and bluster.

Russia has demanded that the Western allies leave West Berlin and permit it to become a free city while the Russians turn over their sector to the German Communists.

East German Communists charged Sunday that the U.S., Britain and France were "misusing" their lifelines to isolated West Berlin. The Communists accused the Western allies of breaking four-power traffic agreements by shipping Berlin-made armaments through East Germany to the West by rail and air.

The charge, made by the influential monthly magazine "German Foreign Policy" (Deutsche Aus Senpolitik), raised the possibility that the Communists might interfere with the traffic.

He's Failing As Leader, Britons Say

LONDON — (AP) — With Prime Minister Harold Macmillan packing for his trip to the White House, British commentators took a look at the state of the U.S. presidency Sunday and found it wanting.

Much - traveled Macmillan, just home from Paris and Bonn, is due in Washington Thursday to talk about the Western approach to the Berlin crisis.

Newspapers here built up the impression that he goes as the Western world's undisputed leader — and that Macmillan will get the credit if his talks with President Eisenhower produce any new coherence in the allied line. A dispatch in the Conservative Sunday Times put it this way:

"Washington without the strong hand of Secretary of State (John Foster) Dulles lacks authority, but after the Macmillan-Eisenhower meeting a new sense of direction is expected."

The Liberal Observer said America, France and Germany, too, have "grudgingly accepted the leadership of Mr. Macmillan because no other leadership was forthcoming."

Failed to Disclose It at License Hearing

Hoffa Beach Aide's Jail Term Bared

By GENE MILLER
Herald Staff Writer

Harold Gross, alias "the Weasel," president of a Miami Beach Teamsters Union local, served 2½ years in the New York City Penitentiary on an extortion conspiracy conviction, The Herald learned Sunday.

Gross neglected to mention this fact to Gov. LeRoy Collins several weeks ago at a license hearing in Tallahassee.

So Florida officialdom found Gross a man of "good moral character" and awarded him a license to recruit for Jimmy Hoffa's union.

Nobody, it seems, bothered to check the FBI — despite bitter protests from Beach gas station dealers that Gross' union was trying to muscle in with strongarm methods.

But Gross' FBI report, No. 1383844, shows he pleaded guilty on Dec. 2, 1942, to conspiracy to commit extortion. He then found himself a non-paying guest at the city's prison until he was paroled May 1, 1945.

The report also listed two other arrests, a 1935 grand larceny charge which was dismissed and another for possession of burglary tools in 1937. He admitted that and was given a suspended sentence.

When asked about the conviction, Gross admitted he failed to disclose it to Florida officials, but otherwise refused to discuss his police record.

It was Feb. 3 that Gross, president of Teamsters Local 320, and Neal Lebin and Bernard DeRow denied any strongarm stuff before Gov. Collins, Secretary of State R. A. Gray and School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey.

Beach gas dealers claimed DeRow threatened their children unless they sign up in a "nice way — or we have other methods."

But Gross displayed character references from Rabbi Tibor H. Stern, Beth-Jacob Congregation, accountant Howard Learner, Ben Chasin, owner of the Sea Gull Hotel, and David Glass, owner of the Golden Nugget Motel.

Only one, Glass, was available for comment Sunday night.

"I've only known him five or six years," he said. "I didn't know about the record. I don't believe I would have recommended him."

Secretary Gray explained

Emergency Declared in 12 Areas

Storm, Wind, Fires Blamed in 8 Deaths

By United Press International

A savage late winter storm, packing winds up to 50 miles per hour, slammed across parts of the Midwest Sunday, isolating numerous cities and towns, stranding thousands and stalling three trains.

Communications and travel from Nebraska to Michigan were paralyzed by the storm, one of the worst of the winter.

At least 12 Wisconsin counties and the cities of Milwaukee and Sheboygan declared emergencies because of heavy snow, which whipped into home and road-blocking drifts 10-15 feet deep.

Three passenger trains of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway were stalled in drifts near Randolph, Appleton and Campbellsport, Wis., but all passengers were safe. The storm also temporarily raised fears for the safety of a tugboat with two men aboard on wind-lashed Lake Michigan.

Elsewhere, tornadoes skipped across Arkansas and southern Illinois late Saturday night and early Sunday, strong winds battered Michigan, and fire fighters won a 15-hour battle with about a dozen prairie fires in north-central Texas.

The storm, tornadoes and prairie fires were blamed for at least eight deaths. Arkansas reported three fatalities, one each in twisters at Opal, Moko and Owensville, while a fire-fighter died of burns in Texas.

Iowa had two fatalities, and Illinois and Michigan each one weather - connected death attributed either to exertion or exposure.

Some 80 passengers were aboard a train which stalled in deep drifts near Randolph on a Minneapolis-to-Chicago run. Buses, however, broke through the drifts with a plow to pick up the passengers and transport them to Milwaukee. Rail officials said they decided to abandon the train when it ran low on fuel to heat passenger cars. The train was freed late Sunday, however.

Finally! Sun Didn't Flee On Weekend

Warm sunny weather, the sort of stuff which goes away on weekends, broke the habit Sunday.

And things will stay pretty decent Monday, the weather buureau said.

For the first time since Jan. 4, Miami got Miami weather on a Sunday.

Specifically: Crandon Park reported 20,195 visitors and Matheson Hammock 11,243, largest crowds of the year.

The sun gleamed, the mercury spurted to 82, and sun-chasing multitudes carpeted the beaches.

Said Forecaster Gilbert Clark:

"It was the warmest Sunday this year. And that blizzard running across Michigan with winds up 65 and 70 miles an hour made it feel even better."

The only complaints came from fishermen. It was a little too breezy for good fishing, Clark said.

South Florida will get partly cloudy skies Monday, a high temperature of about 82, and southwest winds 10 to 20 miles an hour, he said.

A cold front which pushed into northern Florida will stall before it reaches Miami, the bureau predicted.

Evacuate GI Dependents From Berlin—Mansfield

'It Would Clear Way For Action'

By Herald Wire Services

WASHINGTON — Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield urged the government Sunday to evacuate U.S. military dependents from Berlin so American forces there will be ready for any showdown with Russia.

The Montana senator said the continued presence of military wives and children in the Communist-ringed city creates a "hard situation" for American forces.

Mansfield said the crisis posed by Russian demands for an Allied withdrawal from Berlin is "the most serious since Korea, perhaps more serious than that."

The senator said on a television program (CBS-Face the Nation) that "certain steps" already are being taken to beef up American military forces in Western Europe.

However, he said other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance also should provide additional troops if needed "because they're under the gun."

Mansfield backed up the President's determination not to be forced out of Berlin "under any circumstances."

There were these other developments Sunday:

1—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a state election rally in Hannover that he believed an East-West summit conference, lasting "several months," would begin soon. Adenauer declared that the West would negotiate at such talks with nuclear and conventional weapons disarmament in mind.

Adenauer also said he does not believe there will be an all-out war over Berlin.

"The Russians do not want a war themselves," he said. They make threats and they understand how to make the world worry. But they are really after something else."

Khrushchev's plan, Adenauer said, is to get hold of the whole West European community with its 160 million people, and thus make Russia stronger than the U.S.

2—The Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Thomas White, has assured Congress he feels U.S. military forces in Europe are adequate to deal with the Berlin crisis. His heavily censored testimony before the Senate preparedness subcommittee was made public Sunday.

White agreed with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, who testified earlier, that the U.S. "must use whatever means are necessary in order to carry out our national decision" not to give an inch in Berlin.

3—Two senators — Paul H. Douglas (D., Ill.) and Wallace F. Bennett (R., Utah) — said the U.S. would be hard put to raise money for a war over Berlin because of the already huge national debt.

Little more than scattered nuts and bolts remained of this twin-engine Convair 240 cargo plane that crashed in a blinding rainstorm in Chicago early Sunday, but the two crewmen walked away with minor cuts and bruises. The American Airlines craft missed Midway Airport and fell in a nearby railroad freight yard.

Said Lucas: "In 1953 America's most popular war hero, the universal father image, swept the Republicans into power with the magic of his name and embarked on a crusade for a new era in government.

"In 1959 a weary, disillusioned figure enters the home stretch with his popularity tarnished and his crusade forgotten.

"In one breath Eisenhower announces 'we won't give an inch on Berlin' and in the next adds quietly 'or mobilize a man either.'

"He insistently pleads for peaceful negotiations, yet equally insistently evades a summit confrontation with Khrushchev."

On the other hand, Henry Brandon of The Sunday Times reported growing evidence that Eisenhower is "bravely trying to fill the vacuum left by Mr. Dulles' absence."

"He has been stung into action by insinuations that Mr. Macmillan has, by default become the leader of the Western alliance," he wrote.

Soviet Envoy Leaving Iran

TEHRAN, Iran — (UPI) — The Soviet ambassador is quitting Iran in the wake of the Iranin-American defense pact, it was disclosed Sunday.

The Foreign Ministry said it was informed by Ambassador Nikolai Pegov that he was going home. No reasons were given and there was no indication of any formal rupture between Russia and its southern neighbor which share a 700-mile frontier. But relations between them have worsened in recent weeks.

of passengers was stalled for about five hours by heavy snow drifts on a Chicago-Milwaukee-to-Green Bay run. Diesel units from Green Bay finally freed the train late Sunday.

At Campbellsport, a crack new bi-level train placed in operation last fall was stalled, with about 70 persons aboard. Passengers aboard the train, en route from Green Bay to Milwaukee and Chicago, were comfortable with plenty of heat and food, authorities said. But a snow plow dispatched to free the train was derailed at West Bend, just outside Milwaukee.

The tug "Venus" disappeared on a trip from South Haven to St. Joseph, Mich., a journey of about three hours. But the Coast Guard said strong winds and a blinding snowstorm made an air-and-water search impossible until the storm eased. A shoreline search, however, was conducted for the boat.

Three multi-car accidents were reported in Michigan as the snow pushed inland, reducing visibility to almost zero.

Fifteen autos piled up near New Era, eight in a single accident near Brunswick, and 10 vehicles were involved in a chain accident at Grand Rapids.

No one was injured in the Brunswick-New Era accidents, but ambulances were dispatched to the scene in Grand Rapids.

Weathermen warned the storm would hit New England early today, dumping from five to seven inches of snow over parts of Maine.

Hundreds of motorists were reported stranded throughout the Iowa-Wisconsin area. Between 5,000 and 6,000 persons, teenagers and adults, were stranded by the storm at Lincoln, Neb., where they had attended the state's high school basketball tourney finals.

A similiar fate befell about 500 high school students and adults at Des Moines, where they had attended a girls' basketball tourney. The Iowa Highway Patrol refused to allow autos and cage fans to leave the city because of the storm and hazardous roads.

Even snowplows were called back when strong winds drifted the snow across roads faster than it could be plowed.

Some 100 Boy Scouts from the Milwaukee area were marooned by the storm on an outdoor camping trip at Indian Mound Boy Scout camp near Waukesha, while 20 Girl Scouts took shelter in an abandoned barn at Kettle Moraine State Park near Sheboygan. All roads around both camps were blocked.

At Sheboygan, traffic was halted as the area was cut off from the remainder of the state.

Rain and 92-mile-an-hour winds swept over southern Ontario, blowing off roofs, downing power lines and washing out roads.

Union Raps Girl Scouts

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — A spokesman for the Teamsters' Bakery Drivers Union says $4,000 in union contributions to the United Crusade will be withheld until the Girl Scouts promise not to sell nonunion cookies.

The United Crusade is a combination of areawide public welfare groups.

Union Secretary Wendell Phillips said the union learned that several Girl Scout units in the San Francisco Bay area had ordered cookies from nonunion bakeries in the Midwest.

"What we want is a promise that the girls will buy local union baked cookies in the future," he said.

McLaney Denies He Had Pesos

Mike McLaney, former Miami Beach restaurant operator and Havana gambling casino owner, had only 80 American dollars in his pocket when picked up by Cuban police on suspicion of peso-smuggling, his attorney said Sunday.

McLaney and five other Americans were still being held in Havana Sunday after being detained Friday when they arrived on planes from Miami.

Cuban police accused them of trying to smuggle some $237,500 worth of pesos into Cuba.

"Mr. McLaney had a sum total of 80 American dollars on him when he was picked up by Cuban officers," said Roland S. Galub of New York, McLaney's attorney who flew to Havana to try to free him.

"Any charges that he was involved in any way in trying to smuggle pesos into Cuba are completely and absolutely false," Galub said.

Galub said no charges have been filed so far against McLaney. He said he was trying to have Cuban police either file official charges or release McLaney. He said the American Embassy in Havana was investigating the affair.

Galub also said that McLaney was "in no way connected" with the other Americans picked up Friday.

The others are Edward Solomon, Jesus Antonion Prieto, both of Miami, Israel Weinstein, and two women, identified by Cuban officials as Elaine Mitchell and Xenia Thornadakis.

Cuban police gave Solomon's address as 13095 Emerald Dr., North Miami, and said he was a former U.S. Army officer. Antonion Prieto's address was given as 1850 S. Miami Ave.

McLaney formerly operated L'Aiglon Restaurant at Miami Beach and Galub said McLaney and his wife have been living part of the time recently aboard a houseboat anchored in the Indian Creek near the Fontainebleau Hotel.

McLaney is owner of the gambling casino in the Hotel Nacional in Havana.

Cuban police charged the Americans were trying to sell the pesos in Cuba for American dollars after buying them at cut rates in this country.

Hoffa Aide's Jail Term Is Revealed

Sunday Florida has no funds for investigating backgrounds of applicants.

Said Gross:

"I didn't mention it at the hearing because it was a misdemeanor. They only asked about felonies."

(Conspiracy to commit extortion in New York is a misdemeanor — with jail terms running up to three years. Extortion itself is a felony.)

Twelve days ago Gross, Lebin and DeRow were supposed to show up before Beach Judge Mal Englander on civil charges they operated on the Beach without a license.

They didn't show up. The subpenas were ignored.

Nonetheless, Judge Englander dismissed the charges without hearing any testimony, ruling that "it would be a waste of time and money" because of the Tallahassee decision.

Gross' lawyer, Ben Cohen, explained the reason the Teamsters didn't show up was because he told them the case had been postponed.

the express ride downtown has improved our competitive position with the automobile while upgrading the bus ride in the social-conscious day and age when people regard each other in terms of transportation."

Under the club plan, residents of a neighborhood buy a seat on a bus by the month. The bus picks them up at or near their home in the morning and expresses them to work. In the evening, they have a choice of three express buses home. This pioneering operation has been so successful in Cincinnati that the transit company is expanding it to other suburban areas.

Park 'n' Rides Keep Cars Away

SINCE TRANSIT DEALS with such a huge cross-section of people, it has a potent argument for cooperative ventures with all sorts of other types of businesses. One of the most successful has been the transit Park 'n' Ride plan, in which bus company encourages commuters to park along a transit line and take a bus into the downtown area.

Park 'n' Ride grew out of the effort of transit companies to attract people who live so far away from a bus line that they have no alternative to driving their cars.

Through cooperation with city officials — and in some areas, service station operators — the transit company provides bus rides with free parking along the periphery of transit routes. Frequently the transit company buys property and sets up its own parking lots.

In most instances, the plan has been successful for everyone concerned and has extended the effective radius of public transportation considerably. In St. Louis, transit officials estimate that the Park 'n' Ride program is keeping at least a thousand cars a day out of the downtown area.

Transit is also increasing its cooperative ventures with downtown businessmen, who are now recognizing that without transit, downtown areas are most assuredly doomed.

Merchants Pay Customer Fares

THESE COOPERATIVES take all sorts of forms, but in general the merchant picks up the bus tab for customers who make purchases over a certain amount. This is a decidedly realistic sort of subsidy, both for the merchant and the bus line.

More and more cities, recognizing finally that they must have a healthy transportation system to survive, are taking a long, objective look at the whole transit problem. Two examples are found on the West Coast, where Los Angeles and San Francisco are trying to set up an equitable mechanism to coordinate and establish an effective public transportation system.

The future of transit in Los Angeles is in the hands of a single public corporation — the Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority — which holds broad powers granted it by the state legislature in 1957 to develop and operate a mass commuting system.

San Francisco Has a Problem

SO, WHILE RUNNING a fleet of 1,800 buses and streetcars daily, the authority is conducting studies to decide where the commuter wants to go and how best to get him there in the years ahead. When the studies are completed this year, the authority hopes to begin building an up-to-date coordinated mass transit system.

In San Francisco, the problem is somewhat different. Communities around the compact city area have shown a consistent disinclination to cooperate in a rapid transit system. In spite of this, the state-authorized Bay Area Rapid Transit District is working hard to come up with some acceptable method of financing a sorely-needed rapid transit system to tie in the nine Bay Area counties with San Francisco.

These are only a few of the devices now being employed by dozens of transit systems all over the country to try and woo local citizens back into the bus-riding habit. So far, the results have been mostly in terms of negative accomplishment — that is, the snowballing trend away from buses since World War II has been checked somewhat.

But in a few cities, the trend actually shows promise of being reversed. We'll examine three of them tomorrow.

NEXT: Some BIG solutions to the transit problem.

Homes Threatened

Fire Races Across Some 500 Acres

By EDDIE GONG
Herald Staff Writer

A fire started intentionally to burn weeds off a two-acre lot leaped across a road in a wind gust Sunday and raced through some 500 acres of dry South Dade woods and scrubland, threatening nearby homes.

J. K. Greer, county district fire chief, said no homes were burned, but that there may be smoke damage to some dwellings bordering the burned-out area.

Greer and his men fought four hours before controlling the fire, which crackled through a mile by half-mile area stretching from SW 112th St. to 124th St., and from SW 104th Ave. to 112th Ave.

Greer said firemen were so busy battling the fire they did not get the name of the man who started it. Greer said an investigator would be sent to find him today.

The man started the fire to burn weeds off a 50-square-foot lot at SW 104th Ave. and 114th St., Greer said. But it got out of control when a wind gust carried flames across SW 104th Ave. and into the thickly wooded area.

The fire started about 1:30 p.m., Greer said, and was not under control until 5:30 p.m.

Greer said firemen set a back-fire along the edge of a dirt road through the area to stop the quick-spreading flames. Trucks from two county fire stations fought the blaze.

The fire-fighters had to soak wooden construction sheds to protect them from the flames, Greer said.

Greer said the man who started the fire told firemen how it got out of control. Firemen could not find him, however, after the fire was out, the fire chief said.

Man Admits Slaying

Miami detectives said Sunday that Francis William Schissler "freely admitted" the hatchet slaying of roommate Anthony Weber aboard a small cabin cruiser in the Miami River last Oct. 1.

Schissler, 29, was brought here Saturday from Victoria, Tex., where he was working as a circus roustabout until recognized from his picture on a police "wanted" poster and arrested by FBI agents and Texas Rangers.

Miami Homicide Detective A. J. McLaughlin said Schissler told investiators in a statement Sunday that he and Weber, 46, had been drinking beer together, then returned to the boat on which they both lived and got into an argument.

McLaughlin said Schissler told police he grabbed a hatchet during the argument and remembered striking Weber "at least twice."

National Summary

Although a few patches of rain dampened the Pacific northwest and light snow was scattered from North Dakota into Colorado an intense storm centered over Southern Lake Michigan shifted the major precipitation pattern to the eastern half of the country today.

Ahead of a cold front extending from Lake Michigan into Louisiana moisture laden winds from the Gulf contributed widespread rain and scattered thunderstorms from Florida into portions of the Great Lakes. Snow extended from Mo. into northern Mich. and thunder accompanied snow over portions of Illinois and Wisconsin. Heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings are in effect for portions of Wisconsin and Michigan with 4 inches or more of snow expected to accumulate by tonight.

Fair skies covered much of the region from the plains across the southwest and sunshine is expected during the afternoon from the lower Miss. Valley into most of the Pacific states. A few snow flurries, however are likely to be scattered over the mountains of Wyoming and Colorado reaching western portions of Nebraska and South Dakota. Rain in the Pacific northwest should give way to sunshine through partly cloudy skies during the afternoon.

Lindy's Ocean Hop Still the Greatest

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

CHICAGO — Who had the tougher flight?

Slim, shy, tousle-haired Charles A. Lindbergh, who winged into history on May 20, 1927?

Or stocky, square-jawed Max Conrad, father of 10, who hopped the Atlantic solo 32 years later—on March 5, 1959?

Lindy tore down the runway at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, in his 200 horsepower, Ryan high-wing monoplane, on a non-stop flight that ended 33 hours and 29 minutes later in Paris.

Conrad flew farther — by 1,196 air miles — and it took him 34 hours and three minutes to reach Rome.

But the tax on human endurance — and the perils encountered — can't even be compared, say veteran pilots.

"Lindbergh had no radio, no parachute, no life raft, no flares, no insurance — and he was using a guess-and-by-gosh engine," said George Goltz of Sioux City, Iowa, a pilot with 17 years' experience.

Charles A. Lindbergh
. . . 'Columbus' of air

"The strain must have been tremendous — those light planes in that day had to be 'trimmed' (kept stable in the air) almost constantly."

"I consider Lindbergh the Christopher Columbus of flying," said Maj. Lee Gulley, Air Force information officer in Chicago. Gulley has 17 years of flying experience — ranging from single-engine ships through jets.

"The plane that Conrad flew has an engine reliability that is at least 200 per cent better than the Wright engine that powered Lindy's plane."

Arthur Fisher, a longtime pilot and Elgin (Ill.) dealer for Piper, explained the difference in strength between Lindbergh's $15,000 Spirit of St. Louis — and a 1959, $21,000 Piper plane:

"The Spirit of St. Louis was constructed of steel tubing covered with cloth fabric.

When Lindbergh landed in Paris at Le Bourget Aerodome on May 21, 1927, his "head lolled on his shoulders and his face was bloodless," reported a French newspaperman.

"I fell asleep and found myself going down in a circle," Lindy gasped. "I had to keep the windows open to breathe."

Maj. Phil Kemp, founder of the Chicago Aero Commission, told President Calvin Coolidge at the time of Lindbergh's hop:

"His was the most grueling endurance experience in human history — I could not keep awake at the controls of a plane like that for more than six or seven hours."

Conrad arrived in Rome feeling relatively fresh, and was wide awake and alert at a press conference.

400 Knights Attend Mass

By ADON TAFT
Herald Religion Editor

Rev. O'Donoghue

Bishop Carroll
. . . gives group a job

The members of the Roman Catholic lay group also ate breakfast together, heard their bishop give them a job to do as an organization, and the cathedral priest give them spiritual jobs as individuals.

Led by an honor guard of uniformed men, the Knights filed into the pews reserved for them at the 8 a.m. mass in the big, Spanish-style cathedral.

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll, wearing a purple chasuble with a gold cross embroidered on the back, celebrated the mass and sat in his canopied chair at the left of the altar as the pastor, the Most Rev. Patrick J. O'Donoghue, gave the sermon.

A Stranger Goes to Church

Msgr. O'Donoghue told the Knights and their families and 200 other worshipers to pray that their sons and daughters will take up religious vocations.

"If a boy or girl waits for a secret whispering from God, there will be few priests and sisters," he told the worshipers.

"God gives grace when longingly we pray for it," he said. "He gives the will to be a priest."

Besides praying that boys and girls will enter the vocations, the faithful need to support the seminaries which train them, Msgr. O'Donoghue concluded. The annual offering for seminaries then was taken by the white-coated ushers.

Following their annual breakfast, they heard Bishop Carroll once again decry the "critical" shortage of priests in the Miami diocese.

He explained that the shortage was the reason for establishing "The Voice," the diocesan newspaper which will begin publication Friday. He said the paper seemed the most expedient way to teach church doctrines in lieu of the work of the priests.

He urged the Knights to support the newspaper and to help bring into existence a minor seminary to prepare and encourage boys to enter the priesthood.

The bishop also reiterated a recent plea for the Knights to sponsor a retreat house for men.

Bishop Carroll termed secularism the biggest enemy of Christianity today and said it can be overcome only when lay groups like the Knights back up the program of the heirarchy in projects such as those he suggested.

Pension Hikes Are Keeping Ahead of Price Rises

Social Security Gains Are Not the 'Illusion' They Seem

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

How much is the retired worker dependent on social security benefits for life-preserving food, shelter and clothing really suffering from the inflation we've had in our land in the past 20 years?

How deeply does he resent this era of inflation and thus, how strongly might he be expected to demand and support public policies designed to halt the price pressures?

It is obvious that the Americans who have been hurt most cruelly by inflation in this generation have been those living on fixed incomes — people who have no more dollars today than they had 10 or 20 years ago today, but who must pay more for everything they need and want.

Taking off from that obvious point, responsible sources have stated repeatedly that the millions of our senior citizens now drawing social security benefits are the worst sufferers.

In its last monthly bulletin, for instance, the First National City Bank of New York declares flatly that the social security "pensioner's gains, because of inflation, are an illusion . . ."

And taking the point one step further, authorities urging strong anti-inflation actions insist that if just those already getting social security pensions—a whopping 12,500,000—could be stimulated to organized protest against swelling government budgets, we'd be well on the way to victory over the spiral.

Okay, then. The questions at the start of this column are fundamental, so let's seek some objective answers. First, here's a comparison of benefits and living costs today with 20 years ago, 10 years ago and last year.

Sylvia Porter

In 1940, the first year of social security benefits, the maximum check a single retired worker could get was $45.60 a month. Today, the maximum for that worker is up to $116.

The increase in benefits over the years has been 154.4 per cent.

Simultaneously, though, the cost of living — as measured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics Consumer Price Index — has soared 108.4 per cent.

Clearly, a giant part of the social security gains has been dissipated by zooming living costs. But even over this period, which includes the violent inflation right after World War II, the rise in benefits substantially exceeds the rise in prices.

In 1950, the maximum check a single retired worker could get was up to $80, and that, in turn, is now up to $116.

The increase in benefits in this decade has been 45 per cent.

Simultaneously, the cost of living has risen 23.4 per cent. Again, much of the gain has been wiped out by climbing prices, but a 45 per cent rise in benefits is still a lot bigger than a 23.4 per cent rise in living costs.

In 1958 the maximum check was $108.50. The rise to $116 is almost seven per cent. In this past year, living costs have risen a bit more than one per cent.

Once more, the point can be properly made. The pensioner's gains are not, as the First National City claims, an "illusion."

And the straight statistical comparison doesn't tell the full tale. For the man or woman over 65 depending on social security benefits does not buy many of the items that have ballooned most in cost—such as new cars, quality meats.

This individual does not use the same quantity or quality of goods and services as the average city worker's family upon whose spending patterns the official price index is based—such as daily trips on the bus or subway.

Juggling The Rediscount Rate

Toward A Harder Dollar

BUMPING the interest rate charged banks for loans from the Federal Reserve System is a common method of tightening credit and curbing inflation.

When banks have to "pay more" for the money they get from the Federal Reserve, their customers in turn must pay more for bank loans. Thus credit becomes tighter; money "costs more."

This is the effect of an increase from $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent to 3 per cent in the Federal Reserve's rediscount rate. Interest rates were lower in mid-1958 than in many months. They were made deliberately so in an effort to stimulate economic recovery.

Why the rate has been increased at this time is not clear to everyone, for there is still substantial unemployment—really sizable in some spots — and sales of heavy goods have not come up to some expectations.

It would seem, however, that the "Fed" is (1) betting that the recession is pretty well licked and is (2) anchoring the economy against further price inflation.

MONEY money money—it's a mystery to most of us from the time it is extracted from our pocketbooks and flows through the distant channels of commerce and credit, the course regulated by seemingly mysterious agencies.

In this instance, however, the raising of the rediscount rate which surprised many people in the financial community seems to be directed at hardening the dollar.

And this is all to the good.

For some months there has been talk of a "flight from the dollar." For illustration, economists point to the fact that last year's near-record balance-of-payments deficit with foreign countries was highlighted by heavy payments in gold.

In other words, foreign nations took much of the money due them in gold rather than in dollars. The figures were, roughly, 70-30 per cent, a clear record.

But this seems to reflect more nearly the low interest rates prevailing in the United States than any queasiness about the dollar. "The large outflow of gold does not warrant alarmist sentiment," observes The Guaranty Survey. "It does, however, point to a problem which, if neglected, could become troublesome for the United States. And it certainly constitutes a timely reminder that debilitating inflationary policies must be avoided at home."

WHILE IT lacks no confidence in the strength of recovery, then, the Federal Reserve System is still resolved to block the inflation threatened by excessive spending governmentally and privately (in, for example, an inflationary stock market), and firm up the dollar.

When it's soft, it's dangerous.

Partisanship Under Arms

THE BATTLE of the budget being waged in Washington is noticeably partisan. With rare exceptions, critics of the Republican administration's budget are Democrats.

Most of the debate so far has been about amounts allotted for defense. President Eisenhower insists that these are sufficient, and that national solvency is a vital part of security.

Somewhere along the line, the discussion seems to have got tangled up with the Berlin crisis. Any connection is remote.

The budget covers the fiscal year to start July 1 and end June 30, 1960. The situation in Berlin, which is very serious, should come to a head before midsummer, if it follows the time-table laid down by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Whether intentionally or not, the hubbub over defense spending is distracting attention from huge outlays for non-defense items. As John S. Knight pointed out in his Editor's Notebook yesterday, non-defense spending has jumped $9.2 billion while military expenditures have dropped some $4.3 billion since 1953.

Both parties, we think, should be about the business of cutting the fat out of the budget, wherever found, and with special zeal in non-defense categories.

Education: A Sound Investment

BUSINESSMEN throughout the land have decided that higher education is a good investment. That is clear from a report prepared by the Council for Financial Aid to Education, Inc.

The council finds that private, corporate and foundation gifts to universities and colleges have increased by an average of 29 per cent in each of the past eight years.

Such gifts, along with money collected by the institutions themselves for tuition, fees and services, made up 53 per cent of the total spent on higher education last year. Governmental sources provided the remaining 47 per cent.

This is decided progress from the situation eight years ago, when the governmental share was 57 per cent. Then, private and corporate sources accounted for only $258 million. This had soared to $853 million by last year.

EVIDENTLY, businessmen across the nation have glimpsed a truth expressed by President Jay F. W. Pearson of the University of Miami: a university can be an outstanding example of free enterprise.

Even 1958's high level of giving must rise to meet the need in the years ahead. The council predicts that the 53-47 ratio will prevail for the next decade. By 1970, college enrollment is expected to reach 6.4 million, compared with the present 3.6 million. That means total spending of $9 billion for higher education, double the 1958 figure.

If the council's forecast proves correct, business, here and elsewhere, will invest growing sums of money in the free enterprise of higher education.

The Bureaucrats Slam The Door

TWO DISPATCHES from Our Washington Bureau show how some bureaucrats tend to act as masters rather than servants of the people.

One told how the Federal Aviation Agency suppressed reports of trouble with a new type of altimeter. This device for measuring the flying height of aircraft was in use by the plane which crashed in New York's East River, killing 65 persons.

The public's right to all the facts about that matter is clear.

The second instance involved blank forms sent by Comptroller Ray M. Gidney and the Treasury Department to applicants for national bank charters. Rep. John Moss, chairman of the House Freedom of Information Committee, has been trying to get copies of these forms. He got one, plus word that five others are shown only if an applicant's first application is approved by the comptroller.

ISN'T THAT ridiculous?

Rep. Moss has done the proper thing in both cases. He has asked the officials to cite their legal authority, if any, for hiding these bits of information.

The public's employes at every level of government should be constantly aware that the taxpayers have a right to know all about their work. The only exceptions are rare secrets vital to the nation's security. No stretch of imagination can extend that classification to the working of an altimeter in civilian aircraft or blank forms mailed to would-be bankers.

That Infiltration Cha-Cha

JAZZ AND SOFT DRINKS seem to be the West's best weapons for piercing the Iron Curtain. We think so because of the hate voiced by Communist publications for both these byproducts of Western life.

A pet Red sneer for the Free World is "Coca Cola civilization." Communists have done their best to bar this Georgia-born beverage from lands under their influence, without much success.

American dance music and rock 'n' roll are equally anathema to Marxists. The latest evidence comes from Hungary. Large numbers of juke boxes have been arriving there for a year. Their jazz records are getting a big play from teenagers, who queue up at the doors of coffee houses formerly languishing for lack of business.

The juke boxes offer classical records and even Russian songs, but these are seldom played.

A BUDAPEST newspaper has denounced the juke boxes as "cultural capitalism." It blames them on "revisionist elements," meaning citizens who don't toe the party line precisely.

No wonder. Young Hungarians not long ago fought Russian tanks with rocks and hand-made Molotov cocktails in a vain effort to "revise" Red rule right out of their country.

Doubtless the Communists have heard the theory that people who accept the outward trappings of a distant civilization are ripe for conversion to its basic beliefs. By that yardstick, the Kremlin has grounds for concern about the way people all around the globe are learning to speak English and like to wear Western-style clothes.

Will the taste for jazz and bottled pop lead to a taste for freedom? If so, the Free World can be consoled for the seeming superficiality of these two missionaries.

The Speediest Of Them All

CATAMARAN, according to Webster, comes from the Tamil words which mean "tie" and "tree." The first of these ancient craft were trees lashed together.

They were a far ahoy from the trim twin-hulled sailing beauties which made such a stirring showing in the unique One-of-a-Kind regatta sailed over Biscayne Bay. Of the 39 designs in the competition, the catamarans proved, foot-for-foot, speediest of them all.

Boatmen took deep interest in the boat-for-boat duel between the Connecticut-designed Tigercat and the trim English Cougar Cat, designed and built by R. S. Prout for this competition.

This sailing regatta, together with the record-breaking boat show at Dinner Key, add up to tributes to the deep feelings of Floridians and our visitors in things nautical.

Catamarans have been appearing more and more on Biscayne Bay. Their showing in the keenest international competition is expected to bring on another spurt in building of the craft whose only tie to those first twin-hulled makeshifts is a word in the dictionary.

Open Door Would Stop Motor

Editor The Herald: We read of many traffic accidents in which a person uneducated in the way of the automatic transmission causes the car to lurch forward, causing injury or death to some unsuspecting person, or causing heavy property damage, or both, by hitting the foot pedal instead of the brake.

I have thought of a very simple operation for the car manufacturers to help solve at least part of these accidents.

Install the wiring in cars so that the circuit feeding the ignition switch, will feed in series through the door post switches before it reaches the ignition switch. At present, the door post usually houses a light switch which causes the interior light to come on when the door is open.

Another switch should be added for each door which would cause the ignition circuit to break when the door is open. This would make it necessary for a driver to re-shift before being able to start the car, as the motor would stop as soon as one of the doors was opened.

It would be impossible to get out of a parked car and leave the motor running, and impossible to get into a parked car and accidentally hit the foot pedal, and cause the car to lurch forward as all automatic transmissions require a gear shift position of park, or neutral, before the motor can be started.

I believe this suggestion merits consideration.

Patience Greatest Asset In Market

Editor The Herald: Recently a prominent and outstanding figure in the business world, at the end of a speech he was making, was asked from the audience what he thought was the best way to make money from investments. His reply was, long term investments in common stocks in sound companies with good prospects, good management, the patience to hold on and not expect quick profits.

Apparently his questioner was not much impressed with this and remarked — "Why any fool can do that." The reply he got was—"Yes, that is quite true, but the fools never do."

I have been buying stocks for the past 40 years. I have been fairly successful but would have done much, much better if I had always followed this advice, which I was too impatient to do most of the time.

It took me a long time, but I have learned while patience is not everything, you will not go far without it.

Pearson Giving Comfort To Reds

Editor The Herald: Drew Pearson, the prophet of gloom and doom is certainly doing his best to help the Reds by trying to create hysteria among the American people.

The democratic powers of the world have a great preponderance of productive capacity in everything including war material, and the Reds knowing that, will never start a war. But by creating one crisis after another to split the allies is their only chance to gain supremacy.

If this proves wrong, I have complete faith in our President when he says that the Allied forces in Europe are sufficient for any emergency.

Editorial Background -- Chilean Inflation

Home Or Car -- You Pay Cash

By BERT COLLIER

Herald Editorial Writer

Collier

The average Chilean knows all about it. He knows it plays hob with government, finance and industry. Most of all, it crushes the man on the street.

It has almost destroyed two basic family activities — buying a home and a new automobile.

When you set out to buy a home in Chile, there is no convenient FHA or mortgage bank waiting to guarantee a loan for 15 to 25 years. Because the Chilean peso, until the last few months, had been skidding like a skier on one of the nearby snow slopes, credit has almost vanished.

YOU MUST be prepared to pay spot cash. Or if you're lucky, you may find some daring banker to advance money for one year — at 14 to 25 per cent interest.

Bank interest is supposed to be 14 per cent. The general rate has been 24.

New automobiles are practically non-existent. The government does everything possible to prevent the drain of foreign exchange for cars except to forbid importation outright.

A would-be purchaser must apply for an importation license and deposit three times the purchase price in a bank for a period of 90 days. If he then persists, he must pay full cash plus freight and other charges.

AN AVERAGE "big three" American car here is worth from $10,000 to $12,000. Even the relatively inexpensive foreign models cost five times as much as in the United States.

Santiago streets are jam-packed with traffic that would intimidate a U.S. driver. But the predominant vehicles — other than bicycles and scooters — are American cars of pre-war vintage. Even a 1939 Chevvy may be worth $1,200 and be in excellent condition, thanks to the dry climate and skilled mechanics.

Legislative Game In Warm Up Stage

By JOHN PENNEKAMP

SO YOU'D like to be a legislator. You'd show 'em. No more spending, no additional taxes, make do with what we have only make it more efficient, cut out the waste, give more service all around.

There isn't much question that a majority of those who will assemble in Tallahassee in three weeks to take their places in the House and Senate will have some such determination.

Pennekamp

How long will it last?

Pretty soon a lot of tempering influences will assert themselves.

Some of these will be self-evident needs. Many more will have the benefit of the most able kind of lobbying.

Advisers on every hand will attempt with varying degrees of success to convince influential legislators that their viewpoint is offered not selfishly but helpfully.

PROBABLY the best organized in the state, but typical of many others, is the Florida Education Association, which leads off a six page summary of 39 items it will present to the Legislature with the comment that it has:

"Accepted the responsibility of presenting the needs of the public schools to each session of the Legislature."

The Legislature has had a committee of its members, laymen, and school board members making a study of the state's educational system for the past two years.

"It has never been possible for any one session of the Legislature," the summary continues, "to provide for all of the needed improvements," adding,

"All money amounts stated herein are estimates based on information from the State Department of Education and the Association itself."

THE FIRST seven items in the list ask for legislation that would add an additional million to the cost of education in addition to the $33 million increase which will be automatic under the State's Minimum Foundation program.

As a legislator you'd have to decide such items as increasing current operating expenses for instructional units from $325 to $475, or an additional $12 million.

Providing a special principal's unit, $13 million.

Appropriate $100 per instructional unit for school building maintenance, $8 million.

OTHER PROPOSALS deal with salary revisions, pensions, sick leaves and taking tax millage decisions from the voters and giving them to school boards.

As a legislator you want to give full and fair consideration to FEA's requests, as well as to all the others.

Soon you are confronted, as Malcolm B. Johnson, executive editor, puts it in The Tallahassee Democrat, with:

"The amalgamation of diverse interests in the lobbies and among the legislators themselves. These will bring strange trades and vote-switching — like, for instance, a fellow abandoning his stand against educational 'frills' to gain a couple of votes for fire ant control funds; or the one willing to trade away his opposition to a new university sometime at Boca Raton in order to get a new building now for an institution in his own county.

"At this point, there is nothing to indicate a great burst in the dam releasing a flood of spending that would require substantial new taxation.

"So far, the Governor is on the side of hold-the-line (but not the side of cut-to-the-bone), the schools are on the defensive, and the old folks aren't organized.

"But the Legislature doesn't convene for another month. It won't adjourn until June, or later.

"The team that wants to increase those budget recommendations instead of cutting them further still has a few times at bat, and a nice knack for working a squeeze play.

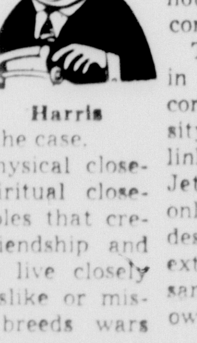
Strictly Personal

Hatreds Can Breed Through Closeness

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A RECENT advertisement for an aviation company suggested that the new jet planes, by shrinking distances between nations, would also contribute to a greater warmth and understanding between peoples.



Harris

I see nothing in human history, or human psychology, to justify this naive hope. In fact, quite the contrary seems to be the case.

It is not the physical closeness, but the spiritual closeness between peoples that creates bonds of friendship and understanding. To live closely to someone we dislike or misunderstand only breeds wars and conflicts.

We delude ourselves in thinking that faster transportation or quicker communication can bring us together. It is the vast inner spaces of the mind and emotions that must be bridged, or else proximity is just an added source of irritation.

Closeness in time and space without closeness in spirit is more likely to result in murder than in mutuality. When a husband or wife has been mysteriously killed, the first person the police suspect is the surviving mate, not a strange burglar.

And most mortal crimes, indeed, are committed by relatives and friends, whose physical and social closeness is not matched by their emotional closeness. A dissident family locked tightly together in a house is the most explosive combination in the world.

The more the globe shrinks, in time and space, the more compelling becomes our necessity to find a spiritual bond linking the peoples of the world. Jet planes, in themselves, are only emissaries of discord and destruction, permitting us to extend to peoples far away the same hostility we express in our own small circles.

MODERN technology has given us the facilities to live better; but it has also, at a frightening rate, given us the facilities to die faster. We can now kill people we have never seen, thousands of miles away, in a matter of minutes.

The real problem confronting the human race is not "how quickly can we get there?" but "why are we going there at all?" Our know-how may soon blow us all up, unless we can master the know-why of our deepest motivations.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Navy Missive Disputes Ike On Red Power

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The Navy is showing its friends on Capitol Hill another explosive missile document like the one that resulted in the Army's historic court-martial of Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., in 1957.

Like the Nickerson memo, the Navy document sharply contradicts President Eisenhower's repeated assurances that the United States is keeping up with Russia as a military power.

ANDERSON

It estimates "conservatively" that Russia will have 5,000 intercontinental ballistic missiles in 1963 and warns that a dangerous "missile gap" will separate the U.S. and U.S.S.R. beginning in 1961.

The memo's author is still a mystery, although it has been traced to the Navy's hush-hush Long-Range Objectives Group.

A bibliography attached to the memo acknowledges that the material is based, in part, upon secret Navy documents — including top secret study No. 590 by John Coyle, two secret studies by Thomas Phipps, and secret report No. 1909 on the "vulnerability of complex targets to nuclear weapons."

Both Coyle and Phipps belong to the Long-Range Objectives unit.

"The U.S.S.R. has assured itself a commanding lead in the inter-continental ballistic missile race," warns the unauthorized memo. "This lead is producing a vital gap in our deterrent posture, and with current weapons programming, the gap will be widest sometime between 1961 and 1963 . . .

"Based on intelligence reports of U.S.S.R. production of 15 ICBMs in 1958, extrapolated on the basis of U.S. wartime production, possible Soviet stockpiles of ICBMs in 1963 is conservatively estimated at 5,000," a footnote adds.

"When all our programmed strategic weapons are considered together, the adequacy of deterrence dips well down below 100 per cent after 1961, reaching a low in 1962."

THE MEMO POOH-POOHS President Eisenhower's claim that Russia has no operational ICBMs, pointing out that "at least a dozen launching sites capable of handling ICBMs are known to exist and the U.S.S.R. is known to have been testing ICBMs for nearly two years."

The document calls for more atomic submarines, loaded with 1,200-mile Polaris missiles, as the answer to the Red missile threat.

The Polaris missile system, it claims, is "the only completely mobile strategic ballistic missile system planned which can be operated completely hidden and essentially invulnerable beneath the ocean surface of 70 per cent of the globe."

NOTE — The first battle-ready Polaris missiles won't be ready until late 1960. Meanwhile, the admirals have hushed up the fact that two test models careened out of control at Cape Canaveral, Fla., endangering lives. Instead of soaring safely over the Atlantic, both looped backward. One plunged into the Banana River near a tourist camp. The other whipped crazily over an occupied hangar, causing more than two dozen people to injure themselves diving for safety.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT has hushed up the name of the U.S. official whose rueful wisecrack, quoted in Time magazine, touched off three days of anti-American rioting in Bolivia. This column can reveal, however, that he is H. Lee Landerman, former foreign aid official in La Paz, now hiding out at the Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital on sick leave.

HERTER

LUCE

Landerman remarked facetiously to a Time reporter that the only solution for Bolivia's problems was to divide the country among its neighbors.

Hot-blooded Bolivians reacted violently, storming through La Paz, smashing American trucks and burning the U.S. flag.

American citizens had to be herded into a La Paz suburb and kept under police protection.

Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter telephoned Time publisher Henry Luce Last week and begged him not to reprint Landerman's quote.

But Time editors could think of no way to report the Bolivian crisis without mentioning what had caused it. The quotation was repeated in the story telling about the riots.

The day the new edition arrived in the mountain republic, another emergency was declared.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARIES are demanding little luxuries that will run up the cost of the new State Department building an estimated $500,000.

Under Secretary Doug Dillon, the ecomomic chief, demanded wood paneling and private toilet facilities for his new office. Assistant Secretaries Livingston Merchant, Roy Rubottom, Walter Robertson and William Rountree also insisted on wood paneling.

An extra office had to be redesigned into the VIP section to accommodate Joe Satterthwaite who was promoted to assistant secretary and demanded all the trimmings the others are getting.

On top of these extras, the striped-pants boys noticed some unseemly cracks in half a dozen pillars between the floors. They ordered the concrete chipped away and the pillars repoured.

The assistant secretaries thought they could get away with a few extra luxuries, despite President Eisenhower's economy drive, because the building cost is falling short of the $49,000,000 Congress appropriated for it.

They figured no one would notice if they spent the savings instead of turning the money back.

RHODE ISLAND REPUBLICANS have quietly organized a Nixon-Luce club to promote Richard Nixon for president and Clare Boothe Luce for vice president in 1960. Behind the move are Albert Poli Jr., Larry Lonardo, Marie Iamele, Edith Duke and Mathilda West, all close friends of Gov. Christopher Del Sesto.

Britain Wants Summit

By PETER LISAGOR
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

WASHINGTON — The British want to go to the summit, without any ifs, ands or buts about it.

And Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will explain why to President Eisenhower when the two men retreat to the Maryland hills for Anglo-American summit talks this week.

British insistence upon top-level talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has held up the Western reply to a Soviet note of March 2 accepting a foreign ministers' conference on Berlin and a German peace treaty.

THE U.S. STILL believes that a commitment to summit talks should await the outcome of the foreign ministers' meeting, which would in the best of circumstances prepare the way for an Eisenhower-Macmillan-De Gaulle-Khrushchev parley.

London says the west should make the commitment now, regardless of what happens at the ministers' level.

'Experts' Rife In Education

By PAUL WOODRING
National Education Expert

ANYONE CAN WRITE a book on education and sometimes it seems that everyone does sooner or later.

On my desk is a pile of books that have received quite a lot of attention in recent months. They are all about the public elementary and high schools and the authors include:

1. A FREE LANCE WRITER who has also written on housing projects and the evils of the automobile industry.
2. A DISTINGUISHED classicist.
3. A MAN DESCRIBED in the foreword as "nationally known for his work in the field of public finance."
4. A PHILOSOPHER.
5. A PROFESSOR of guidance.
6. A COLLEGE DEAN.
7. AN ADMIRAL who is an expert on atomic submarines.

There are also a few books by school teachers but these didn't sell very well—it seems that no one wants to know what the teacher thinks, unless he teaches in a university.

WOODRING

And I'm still waiting for the real insider's view of education.

It will be written by a student who tells us how things look to him from his seat in the back row. It will probably be the most critical book so far.

JUST AS WAR is too important to be left to the generals, education is too important to be left to any one professional group—it must concern us all.

Anyone has a perfect right to express his opinion because the public schools belong to the people.

The non-professional, or the college professor who looks at the ninth grade from his university chair, if he takes the trouble to get his facts straight, can contribute some good ideas because he is able to take a fresh view.

But before you lay out $4 or $5 for a book you have a right to ask whether the author really knows what he is talking about.

If the book is to be a worthwhile contribution to the educational controversy it seems reasonable to demand that the author, in addition to being an intelligent and perceptive observer should have at least these qualifications:

1. HE SHOULD have studied the problems of public education long enough to see them in perspective. This takes time because the problems are very complex.
2. HE SHOULD know enough about the history of our schools to see how they got to be what they are now.
3. HE SHOULD have read extensively on all sides of the subject — not just the views of other writers who happen to share his basis.
4. BEFORE HE TRIES to tell us what's wrong with the schools of today he should have spent some time—preferably quite a lot of time—in a variety of public schools in all parts of the country, talking to teachers and students, and observing what is actually going on in the schools.

IF HE KNOWS the schools in only one state or region he should title his book "Education in Vermont" or "Education in Southwestern Iowa" instead of giving it a title implying that it deals with the problems of American education.

If he has observed only the schools in his own home town he should call his book "The Unhappy Schools of Happy Valley" or "Some Ridiculous Practices Found in One High School."

Such books would not have a nation-wide sale but they shouldn't.

Our education establishment is so vast and diverse that a criticism based on a single school doesn't tell us much about what is wrong in other parts of the country.

Holland and Smathers Mum On Their $100,000 Staffs

By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Sens. Spessard Holland and George Smathers spend more than $100,000 of taxpayers money each year on office staffs—but they refuse to disclose who gets how much.

In Washington, newsmen have labeled such holding back of public information as part of a political sickness dubbed "presumptuousness of government."

The Florida senators take the position that salaries they pay assistants are "a matter of personal information."

SENATORS ARE NOT required by law to make public the salaries of their office employes although representatives must do so.

Holland and Smathers apparently put their heads together and worked out an answer when The Herald's Washington bureau asked for a breakdown of their office expenditures.

The language in their letters of reply was identical, even down to the punctuation.

Both senators ignored a request for comment on whether they would favor adoption by the Senate of the House practice of making office salaries part of the public record.

The House has done this for 25 years.

Holland listed 13 employes and Smathers 14.

THE FLORIDA senators said they "do not feel it is either necessary or wise to break down the salaries of individual employes.

"There are differences in amounts and the public discussion of some could bring about dissatisfaction among them and their friends."

They contended that disclosing salaries might tend to bring dissension among their employes.

Yet, does this not give the 1,000 people who work for senators at public expense an immunity which is not available to a couple of million other federal employes?

Not even the President or the senators themselves have such immunity.

Some senators, such as Paul Douglas and Everett Dirksen, of Illinois, supplied complete salary information when requested two years ago. Holland and Smathers were among six others who refused.

ED LAHEY, chief of The Herald's Washington bureau, came up with the label "the presumptuousness of government" to cover such secrecy.

It means public officials who have forgotten they are the public's servants. The people are supposed to be the bosses for their taxes provide the financing.

Holland and Smathers will give you the total payroll figures. They are required to do this by law.

As for the details?

Their silence is comparable to that of an employe who refused to give his boss a breakdown on what he did with company money.

A BASIC PRINCIPLE, of course, is that full disclosure of how public monies are being spent is essential to sound democratic government.

Yet, every day, there is fresh evidence this principle is being compromised.

The Air Force won't tell the comptroller general—the public's watchdog on government spending — how it spends its money even though national security admittedly was not involved.

Congressional committees still meet behind closed doors to discuss, and vote, on bills appropriating millions of taxpayer dollars.

The Federal Aviation Agency decides it doesn't want to talk about complaints from pilots on troubles with a new altimeter.

It's all part of the same creeping sickness—"presumptuousness of government."

Adenauer and De Gaulle Agree

Europe's Oddest Love Match

By RICHARD O'REGAN
Foreign News Analyst

FRANKFURT — The oddest phenomenon in postwar Europe today is the apparent love match between those two traditional enemies — France and Germany.

The Adenauer-De Gaulle axis, it is being called. And that is what it is — primarily a two-man affair and of the governments they represent.

Before De Gaulle came to power, Adenauer made gestures toward other French governments, but nothing developed like his present friendship with De Gaulle.

Basically, however, the mass of Germans and the French are no fonder of each other than they have been for hundreds of years.

DeGAULLE

ADENAUER

WHAT IS HAPPENING is that the policies of Adenauer and De Gaulle are running together. If either fell from power, the close axis probably would fall apart.

Adenauer and De Gaulle have met three times.

Both Adenauer and De Gaulle are Roman Catholic. Both are worried that the Soviet Union wants to communize all Europe. Both feel the only way to prevent this is by a strong NATO shield and no concessions to the Soviets.

Both have been lately disturbed by British suggestions for limited military disengagement in Europe, which would pull American troops partly or completely off the continent.

FOR ADENAUER, this would leave West Germany largely defenseless against direct attack from the East or against Communist infiltration. For De Gaulle, it would mean he would have to withdraw French troops from North Africa to fill the gaps in France's defense system.

With these multiple fears, Adenauer and De Gaulle see their own immediate salvation in a solid French-German front.

Ouch! Dentists' Words As Painful as Drill

By JIM BISHOP

NOT LONG AGO, I wrote about my experiences with dentists. They are uniformly painful. Oral surgery, to my way of thinking, is not a refined art. I said so.

BISHOP

The dentists of America, who deplore my attitude, decided to make a public brawl of it by writing letters to me and to editors across the country.

Permit me to quote the dignified doctors: ". . . perhaps Bishop would lend his head to the dissecting room just for the examination of the imaginary third dention . . ." (The writer is Dr. Hobart H. Proctor of Colorado.)

"The last paragraph of this unintelligent column of drivel written by a simian male is particularly unfortunate, as the week of Feb. 9 is known as Dental Health Week . . ."

In Terre Haute, Ind., I am sure that Dr. Joseph R. Peterson is known as a gentleman. He writes:

". . . and how about your mother-in-law who permitted her mouth to get into such a pathological condition — due to neglect — that her teeth fell out? Is that condition of ignorance something to be proud of and something a reputable reporter would point out as proper for the young generation? I wonder if your mother-in-law ever took a bath?"

Dr. George P. Day, of Houston, Texas, says it as succinctly and as kindly as possible: "Not wishing you any hard luck but if you ever do have a dental problem, please leave me alone."

THE GUILT for such a column, writes Dr. A. Norman Cranin, "lies with your competent but unvoluble dental practitioner. No patient can be any wiser than his dentist-mentor. It is rather unfortunate that a gentleman like you, whose knowledge of the art and science of odonto-stomatology is so meager, can command the attention of so many readers.

"I opine this because I am fearful that, in your gentle attempt to write an amusing and eye-catching piece, you may have caused many a breach in myriad doctor-patient relationships . . ."

"We all have our personal terrors," writes Mrs. A. R. Kunkel, of Bronxville, "but did you ever stop to think how the dentist feels when he knows an individual like you is entering the operatory from his waiting room? No, suppose not."

"There has not been a legal sign saying 'Painless Dentistry' in New York State for at least 30 years," writes Dr. A. E. Leichtung, "to my recollection and I feel sure that if you see such a sign it will hang in front of a quack's office. No reputable dentist will even suggest that his procedure is painless."

"WOW!" WRITES Dr. A. H. Sime of Dorchester, Mass., "that article by Jim Bishop on dentists and dentistry was the most outdated, ill-informed, sloppy bit of writing that these tired old eyes have come upon in many a moon . . . Mr. Bishop speaks of himself as being, at one time, half dead. He does not tell you when that started."

"Our organization," writes Dr. Wayne H. Speer of Houston, "recently appropriated monies to be awarded to the reporter, newspaper, radio or television station creating the best public relations from factual reporting on that which pertains to the profession of dentistry. Please be advised that your scurrilous article . . . eliminated you from all consideration."

To Dr. Percy T. Phillips, president of the American Dental Association: Thank you for the kind invitation to attend the September convention. I'll be happy to go as your guest . . .

Red Hoopla to Counter NATO's

By DON OBERDORFER
Of Our Washington Bureau

Oberdorfer

WASHINGTON — While we're celebrating NATO's 10th anniversary here next month, the Reds may well be cooking up counter-hoopla for their own counter-NATO, the Warsaw Pact.

In this battle of the military alliances, the Russians have been in the novel position of reacting to Western initiative. There's little evidence here that they'll stop now.

The curious history of NATO's Communist shadow began in 1954, when Molotov threatened countermeasures if West Germany was admitted to NATO. The Germans were admitted anyway, in April 1955.

Early the next month the Communists noisily convened the Warsaw conference to form their own NATO-like force. It was attended by Russia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Albania and Bulgaria.

After signing a pact of mutual military aid, the Communist countries appointed Marshal Konev, Soviet deputy defense minister, as "commander in chief of the combined armed forces assigned (to the alliance) by the particular states." They announced that the headquarters for the new alliance would be in Moscow.

In the years that have since passed, however, there's been no sign of any actual forces assigned to the Warsaw alliance.

And no Moscow traveler has ever mentioned discovering a Warsaw Pact headquarters tucked away in the Kremlin's shadow. Experts here are convinced the "headquarters" exists only under a Soviet general's hat.

The next Warsaw Pact meeting convened in January, 1956, in Prague. This one was a reaction to the NATO council meeting the month before, when the West decided to equip NATO forces with atomic weapons.

The Warsaw Pact members made speeches for two days, announced they'd accepted a "contribution" of East German forces to their invisible special forces.

The third and last meeting of the Warsaw Pact alliance was a one-day session tacked, like an afterthought, to a three-day Communist economic powwow in Moscow last May.

The main output of that meeting was a pile of speeches printed in Pravda and other Russian and satellite organs. A Western source who gathered all the "speeches" says they couldn't all have been delivered in a one-day meeting, even if the conferrees decided not to stop for lunch.

Aside from the paper rattling, the Warsaw Pact hit the news only once: in the Hungarian revolt.

The countermeasure to NATO so far has operated only once — against the men on the street in Hungary.

Quick Quiz Ans.

1. 6,800,000. 2. Slowly. 3. Very fast (could this explain the Air Academy football success, since high altitudes produce higher red cell counts). 4. Fawn (deer).

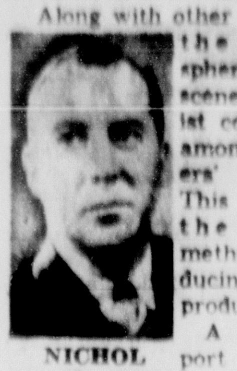
Candy Workers Seek 'Hero Medal'

By DAVID M. NICHOL
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire



NICHOL

BONN — A proper war is being waged among the women of a state-owned candy factory in Halle in East Germany.

Along with other factories in the Communist sphere, it is the scene of "Socialist competitions" among "workers' brigades." This is one of the Communist methods for inducing higher production.

A factory report announces proudly that a "youth brigade" has undertaken, in honor of International Women's Day, to pack about 11 pounds more each day of chocolate creams.

A brigade in the cocoa department has promised that it will dispose of more than a ton extra of cocoa powder each day.

The thriller, though, should be the contest between the women of the candied nut-packing brigade and those of the fondant kitchen. The winner will receive the title of "Brigade of Socialist Labor."

On Ruegen island, according to the Communists, the members of a collective farm have been so upset at the Western attitude about a peace treaty for Germany that they have promised to increase the farm's milk production by 5,000 quarts. They also intend to raise three fattened steers beyond the plan.

Girl Strangled During Goodby Kiss

LONDON — (P) — Edmund Barber was accused of strangling his girl friend to death in the middle of a kiss.

At a court hearing, police witnesses said Barber, 22, described it as a goodby embrace after the girl, 18-year-old Carol Ann Sean, told him she wanted to break their engagement.

Grisly Relics Bring $392

LEWES, England — (AP) — The late Sir Edward Marshall Hall, a leading lawyer until his death 32 years ago, defended many a notorious murder case. Each time he asked for and usually got a souvenir from the trial exhibits.

He left the lot to his confidential secretary, Ernest Harvey, who last week put it up at auction.

The collection was snapped up in 40 seconds by a coin dealer for $392 (equivalent). It included three daggers, four revolvers, a double-barrel pistol, a Browning automatic pistol and other lethal items.

Crash Hurts 14

MAHON, Minorca, Balearic Islands — (AP) — A twin-engine Spanish airliner crashed while attempting a landing here. The crew of four escaped injury but 14 passengers, all Spanish, were treated for injuries at a nearby hospital. The plane was en route from Palma and Barcelona on a regular flight.

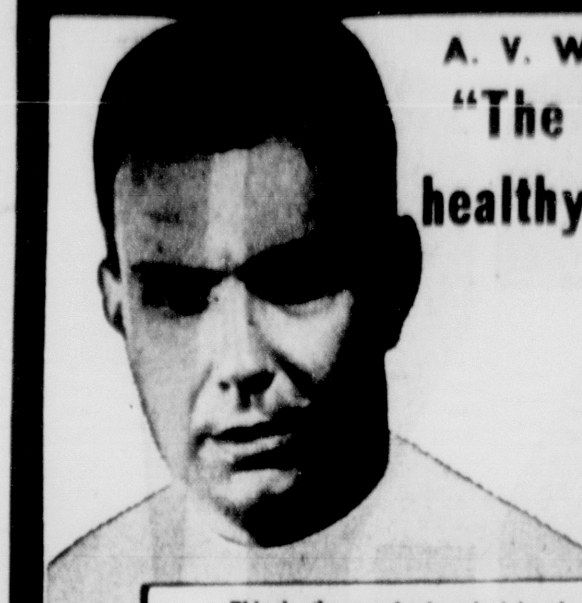
Brides Rush To Claim Jobless Pay

NEW YORK — (AP) — The State Employment Division reports it has been deluged with calls from brides seeking unemployment insurance.

The calls came after the Court of Appeals handed down a decision in a 1956 case granting unemployment benefits to a woman who quit her job as a clerk to marry and move to another part of the state.

The courts held that since she quit her job for a good cause, to be near her husband, and she began looking for a new job when she arrived at her new home, she was entitled to benefits.

The division reported it is explaining this to the women who call in, telling them they must have remained actively in the labor market to qualify. Women who marry men in the same city or quit their jobs to become housewives aren't eligible, the division said.



A. V. Williams nationally famous hair expert says . . .

"The healthy scalp grows healthy hair—NATURALLY!"

No, the future of your hair is up to you. If you want to keep it, improve it, you can do both with the help of Allison Hair Experts.

Here's how: Let the Allison expert examine your scalp to determine what is hindering hair growth. Take the specialized treatment he recommends to correct the disorders and start your hair growing. Follow the program of after-treatment care he lays out for you.

That's all . . . but enough to make your hair look better, feel better, and keep on growing . . . because the healthy scalp grows healthy hair naturally. See your Allison expert TODAY.

This is the one basic principle of Allison scalp treatment: The healthy scalp grows healthy hair—naturally. Does anyone deny such common sense?

But take the same idea a step further. It's hardly reasonable to believe you inherited an unhealthy scalp (that would be unscientific, the "inheritance of acquired characters"). So you can't very well blame your hair troubles on your ancestors. Nor can you reasonably assume you're losing hair because you're getting older. That's no excuse for letting your scalp become unhealthy.

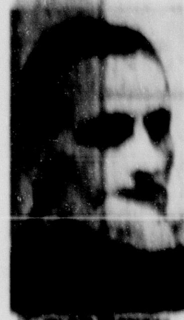
Two New Types of Russian Subs Now in Commission

By HANSON W. BALDWIN
The New York Times Service



BALDWIN

NEW YORK — Two new types of Soviet submarines are now in commission, according to reports received in Washington and in foreign capitals.

One of the new types may be capable of firing a ballistic missile, or giant rocket, the Soviet Z class, powered by conventional diesel engines and electric batteries. Some of the 20 or so submarines of the Z class, the largest submarines the Russians have, apparently have been armed with missiles.

This modified class, probably displacing 2,500 to 3,500 tons, has been fitted with a very large conning tower and superstructure that seem to serve as the housing for one or more missiles.

Some of these submarines apparently carry air-breathing, winged missiles, something like the U. S. Navy's Regulus I. Others appear to have facilities for the vertical launching of what is presumed to be ballistic missiles.

No details about the size or range of the missile are known, nor is it certain that the modified submarines are actually armed with rockets.

It has been known for some time, however, that the Soviet Union has a small number of conventionally powered submarines to handle air-breathing winged missiles.

The second new class of Soviet submarine represents what is believed to be a slightly modified hull form, somewhat smaller than the W class, the standard Soviet long-range submarine, which displaces about 2,000 tons. There are apparently only a few of this new F class and they have no unusual external features.

The appearance of the new submarines follows a period, starting in 1957, of reduction in the rate of Soviet submarine construction. Until this slowdown the Soviet Union had been turning out new submarines at the rate of about 40 to 60 a year and her construction capability was estimated at 100 a year. Some observers believed her goal was about 1,000 submarines.

A Half Century Of Safe Driving

[illegible], Italy — (UPI) — Baldo Tavazzi, 73, is marking the 55th anniversary of his driving license and said he never has had an accident or traffic fine.

Tavazzi was one of the first Italians to obtain an operator's license. Issued in Cremona in 1903, the license entitled him to drive any "coach with gas-ating combustion motor."

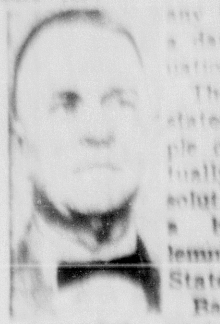
Raiford Needs Additional Building

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The state faces a three-fold problem at its main prison at Raiford, which penal officials said last week could explode any minute into a dangerous situation.



CULVER

The problem, stated, is a simple one, but actually finding a solution will be a baffling dilemma for the State Cabinet.

Basically, the problem is this:

1. The state needs an additional building at Raiford to house the big influx of new prisoners.

2. It doesn't have enough cash to pay for it, but the Cabinet has approved a plan to build it with convict labor.

3. General contractors throughout the state have opposed that method of building.

During recent years the Florida problem has gone from bad, to a little better, but is on the way down again unless the Cabinet, or the Legislature, can devise a way to provide additional facilities.

The prison system is filled to the bursting point, but the real sore spot is Raiford, where about 2,500 are crammed into an obsolete prison, built to house 1,200.

A riot several years ago, a recent "flare-up" and a convict demonstration in recent years triggered attempts on the part of the Division of Corrections to solve the problem, but, because of a tight financial picture, changes are slow.

Shortly before the separate corrections division was created in 1956-57, convicts rioted, and one was killed.

The cabinet hired a former federal prison man, R. O. Culver, to put state penal institutions in shape, and created the Division of Corrections, with him as head.

Culver instituted a reform program, backed by the Cabinet, which included extra "gain time" to release some prisoners early, and leased an additional facility at Avon Park from the federal government.

But reforms were little help against a prison population which increased roughly 75 a month. At present there are more than 6,400 convicts in institutions designed to hold 5,000.

The 1957 Legislature appropriated $7,000,000 to build a new facility at Raiford, but the project was delayed when the state looked like it was heading for a deficit.

But Culver came up with a plan to build the institution with convict labor, if the state could find enough money for materials. The Cabinet is still looking for available funds.

And contractors oppose Culver's plan, even if the Cabinet is able to find the cash.

Other problems have plagued the penal system, including personality clashes between top officials and laxity of guards.

THEY WASTED NO TIME in getting engaged. Italian Movie Star Silvana Pampanini and American TV Comedian George DeWitt announced their engagement in Havana Sunday after they had known each other less than a day. They met for the first time Saturday in a Havana swimming pool. The wedding date hasn't been set.

Dade Towns Play Coy In Hassle Over Courts

Some Dade municipalities are playing coy in dickering with Metro over recognition and alliance with the countywide traffic court setup.

One of the reasons — the hope of landing a new Metro judgeship as part of the negotiated deal — fell flat when Miami tossed in with Metro. All the new Metro judges are likely to come from the Miami city bench.

Hialeah is reported ready to sign a court alliance with Metro, effective April 1. That city's judgeship hopeful, Celestino P. Rubiera, will likely be disappointed.

Airport Parking Lot Nets $21,000

Miami International Airport's controversial parking lot, operated by the Port Authority on a trial basis, grossed $21,000 in its first month of operation.

The lot is being run at less than half capacity, with portions used for building materials storage and free parking by construction workers. But, as sketchy as the first-month figures are, they show what a money-maker the lot will be for whoever runs it permanently, the Port Authority or a private concessionaire.

Campbell, Hall Feuding Again

The latent antagonism between County Manager O. W. Campbell and Commissioner Chuck Hall burst to the surface last Tuesday.

During a debate on bids for equipping the new county jail, assistant Metro engineer Huell Crockett stepped up to dispute the Campbell recommendation. After Hump prevailed, he congratulated Crockett for his courage and integrity.

"Yes, but what good did it do?" said Hall, who also disagreed with Campbell's choice of a bid $36,000 higher than the lowest.

"I think Crockett's appearance did a lot of good," the manager snapped back. "You have ideas on what's right, but I'm entitled to my own."

The next day, Hall landed a place on the commission's budget-probe committee. His assignment — check for economy, or lack of it, in the county manager's office.

Keating Denounces

Senate Relatives' 'Gravy Train' Hit

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R., N.Y.), said Sunday the public has a right to be upset when Congress members employ relatives simply "to ride the gravy train."

Keating said he favored making public the pay rolls of senators, just as they are made public in the House, since he said "the taxpayers have an absolute right to know what is being done with their money."

Keating spoke in a television program filmed for New York State stations.

The office pay rolls of senators are not public record like congressional office payrolls.

In a survey of New York Senate and congressional office help last month, both Keating and Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R., N.Y.), among others, declined to reveal the pay scales of persons working under them because of long-standing Senate custom.

Both said no relatives were on their staffs, however.

Keating said he has never employed a relative on his office staff "and I never shall."

He said the public has a right to complain about relatives on congressmen's pay rolls when the relative does little or no work and is paid far above his ability.

On the other hand, he added, there are instances where relatives of a House member have done very hard if not distinguished work.

"The trouble is there is always the danger of supposition that the employed relative is here to ride the gravy train, whether that is the fact or not," he said, adding:

"Nepotism can be just as unfair to the individual honestly employed as it is to the taxpayer in the case of those who aren't working at their jobs."

'Dynamiter' Wounded in Mill Strike

HENDERSON, N.C. — (AP) — A textile worker shot and wounded a man "trying to light something" beside his car early Sunday. Police found a stick of dynamite, with fuse attached, at the scene.

The shooting was the latest of a series of violent acts which have rocked this small city since the struck Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills resumed limited operation four weeks ago.

There have been 10 or 12 dynamite blasts since Feb. 16.

Garland C. Cash, about 35, a non-striking worker at the South Henderson plant, told police he saw a man standing near the car outside his home. When the man struck a light, Cash said, he fired.

James Merrill Manning, 28, was wounded in the right shoulder and right hip by the shotgun blast. He was reported in serious condition at a hospital.

Sheriff E. A. Cottrell said a car, owned by Michael Jarrell, 23, a friend of Manning, was parked at the scene. Officers picked up Jarrell for questioning. Cottrell said Jarrell admitted being present during the shooting.

Jarrell and Manning were released from military service recently. Cottrell said neither of the men had worked for the cotton mills, but that the parents of both were strikers.

Third Rail Kills New York Man

NEW YORK — (AP) — A man was killed Sunday when he fell from a subway platform and landed on the electrified third rail of the tracks.

He was identified by police as Michael Patrick O'Connor, about 55. The accident happened at the south ferry station of the West Side IRT, in the lower tip of Manhattan.

British Students Attack Race Ban

LONDON — (AP) — Five thousand British students flanked by mounted police marched through London's West End Sunday with banners protesting a bill to enforce the color bar at South African universities.

The marchers heard appeals for funds to enroll colored students at two South African universities still open to them.

Dennis Grennan, president of the National Union of British Students, told newsmen a number of white students from South Africa were invited but declined to join the march.

"They said they would like to do so but they were afraid of police reprisals when they return home," Grennan said.

Row on Cameroons Delays Fiery African's U.S. Visit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Sekou Toure, fiery young leader of formerly French Guinea on Africa's west coast, has put off his visit to the U.S. until next fall's regular U.N. Assembly.

He had planned to come during the March session on Cameroons.

But when Guinea and the U.S. wound up battling on separate sides over procedure on Cameroons' independence, it was not the ideal time for a visit, it was agreed.

Swindler Who Admitted to 19 Wives May Hold U.S. Marryin' Record

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

CHICAGO — What is the all-time record for multiple marital failures?

A contender for the title was revealed recently in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, 54, charged in Ventura, Calif., with hiring two men to murder her daughter-in-law.

The prosecutor at her trial said she had been married at least 16 times. She admitted to 11.

But a check of Chicago Daily News files indicates that the record — at least in this country — may be held by John Hurley, one of the many charming swindlers who have turned marriage into a business.

Hurley, a former Chicagoan, was on trial in 1947 for swindling a St. Paul (Minn.) woman when he boasted: "Wives, I've had 55 of them."

But later when he was sentenced to prison for eight years he hung his head and admitted to the judge:

"It was only 19."

Still, apparently, nobody has yet topped that with a score of 20, unless you count Moslems, who are permitted to have four wives at a time."

In 1957 a Moslem, Tengku Mohammed Ariffin Bin Ahmed, 63, announced plans for his 70th marriage and said, "then I'll call it quits." He once took three brides in a day, and he had 60 children.

The marriage failures of asbestos heir Tommy Manville have been widely publicized, but with 10 marriages he can't compare with the front runners.

Similarly, while movieland has a reputation for multiple marriage, the record there is five, held jointly by Clark Gable, Hedy Lamarr and Gloria Swanson.

Among the men it is charming swindlers such as Hurley who have worked hardest at repeater-type nuptials, and among women it has been the allotment wives.

During World War II a Detroit dress designer, Mrs. Korene Wilhelm, 35, arrested for collecting allotments from several soldiers, said she wasn't sure how many husbands she had. Her best guess was 15.

Among the women, another contender with Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. Wilhelm was Mrs. Beverly Nina Avery, a blond barmaid in Los Angeles who in 1957 was divorced for the 16th time.

Just where Mrs. Avery would rank in the box score is uncertain, however, since there were only 14 husbands in those 16 marriages. She had married two of them twice.

Florida's Realty Policing Praised

NEW YORK — (UPI) — A national magazine article Sunday credited Florida's real estate policing action as a major factor in the state's "fantastic new land boom."

Coronet Magazine said the real estate program has insured well-planned and trustworthy housing developments for thousands of new residents looking for "the pleasure of a year-round life in Florida's balmy outdoors."

Population is swelling at the rate of 225,000 a year, the magazine said. And the building boom is moving full speed ahead, with industry moving in to help the state achieve a balanced economy on which to make solid growth.

A big problem, the article explained, is providing low-cost housing. But it said private enterprise has accepted the challenge and housing companies are launching low-cost houses on a mass production scale.

It noted that the Mackle Co. was one of the companies. It already has constructed 25,000 homes in South Florida, the article said, and predicts it will be putting up 25,000 a year by 1963.

Boy, 12, Survives 100-Foot Tumble

OROVILLE, Calif. — (UPI) — Richard Green, 12, fell onto the rocks of rugged Feather River canyon from a 100-foot cliff but he is expected to survive despite multiple fractures.

Richard and a friend, Robert Seville, 13, both of nearby Oregon City, rode their bikes from school to the rim of Table Mountain. Richard fell the equivalent of 10 stories while they were playing. Robert rode for help.

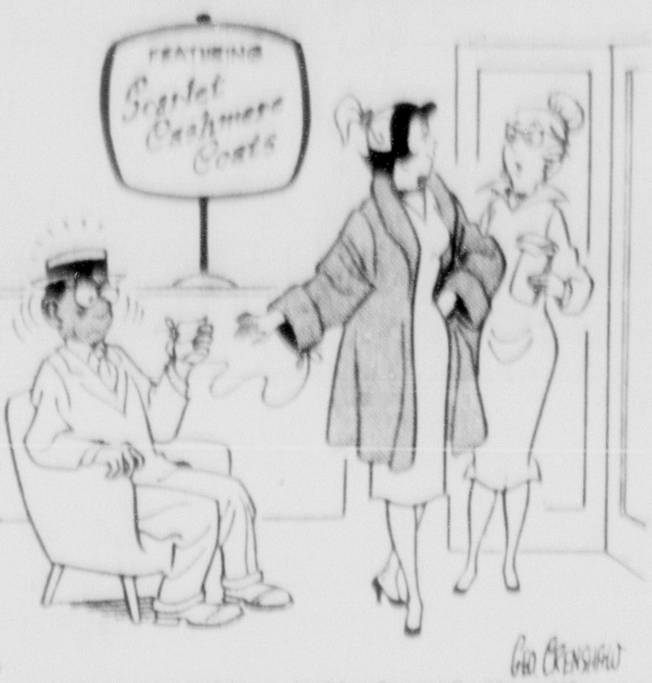
The Muffins



". . . and another thing—it blends perfectly with your husband's complexion."

Hoofbeats Music to Their Ears

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. —(AP)— Guard T. K. Whearty picked up a set of earphones. He wanted to listen in on what music was being played over the radio to San Quentin's 3,000 convicts.

Disclosing the finding, Associate Warden Walter Achuff said Convict Brucks Randell of Los Angeles, serving three to 10 years for grand theft, was fired immediately from his monitoring job. Another convict took over the duty of plugging in the prison radio network.

Was there any evidence of horse race betting inside the prison? No, said Achuff, but they must not have been listening just for the fun of it.

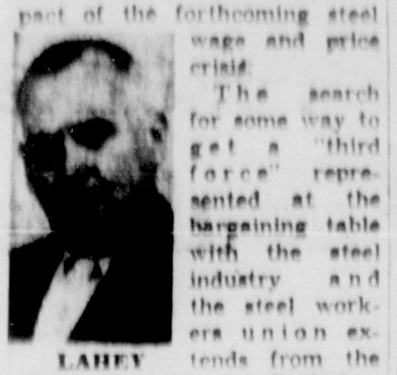
Inflation Fears Are Growing Over Steel Wage and Price Crisis

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief of Our Washington Bureau



LAHEY

WASHINGTON — Concern is mounting daily in Washington over the inflationary impact of the forthcoming steel wage and price crisis.

The search for some way to get a "third force" represented at the bargaining table with the steel industry and the steel workers union extends from the White House to the Capitol.

While the President's cabinet committee on inflation looks for ways to assert the public interest in the steel situation, a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) is making exploratory operations of its own.

The Kefauver subcommittee is ostensibly interested in "administered prices," which prevail in autos and steel, but inevitably the witnesses and the subcommittee members come around to the steel crisis and its effect on the economy in 1959.

Kefauver recently expressed the hope that the steel workers would limit their wage demands to the limits of productivity increases in steel.

But Dave McDonald, the president of the steel workers' union, retorted that he wished Kefauver would keep his nose out of his (McDonald's) business.

For the most part, however, it is the big corporations that get blamed for the inflationary cycle in testimony before the Kefauver subcommittee.

One proposal coming out of these hearings is for the creation of a cabinet office to represent the consumer, the "third force" which Kefauver feels is not adequately represented either in the Department of Labor or the Department of Commerce.

Theodore K. Quinn of Roxbury, Conn., retired General Electric executive who is a crusader against corporate "giantism," has offered the Kefauver committee some suggestions for decentralizing control of industry.

One suggestion was for a steeply graduated corporate income tax. Instead of the flat 52 per cent tax now levied against gross profits in excess of $25,000, Quinn would step up the tax rate progressively.

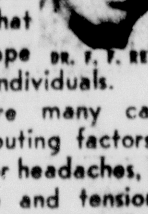
There also should be directors representing the public on the boards of the industrial giants, Quinn believes.

How To Hold
FALSE TEETH
More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at drug counters everywhere. —Adv.

HEADACHES NOW RELIEVED

Nearly everyone has suffered from headaches at one time or another, but there are those who take sedatives of all types and yet find no relief. Recent studies indicate that there is hope for these individuals.



DR. F. F. REYES

There are many causes and contributing factors responsible for headaches, such as pressure and tension in the neck region, irritation of nerves, poor circulation, a mal-functioning liver, and a host of others.

Research reveals, after studying 1641 cases of headaches under chiropractic care, 83.2% were well, or showed much improvement.

Arithmetic Becomes Fun With Blackboard Game

By CAPPY DICK

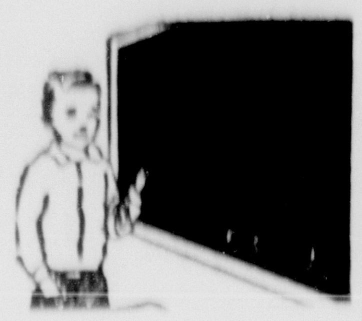
Hobby Club

THIS game is called "What's Wrong Here?" and will be fun to play in the arithmetic class at school. One player goes to the blackboard with a piece of chalk. All the other players must close their eyes until he calls "Ready."

While the other players have their eyes closed, the one at the blackboard prints 10 problems in subtraction, addition and division, giving a solution for each problem. All the solutions he provides must be correct, except one.

The problems may be as simple or as difficult as he wishes. His columns for addition can contain three, four, five or more sets of numbers.

His problems in division may be equally simple or difficult and for the problems in subtraction he may use as many figures as he likes. He must be very sure, however, that all the solutions are correct, except one.



WHEN he has finished preparing the problems he calls "Ready!" All the other players open their eyes and the race is on to see which one of them will be the first to discover the one problem incorrectly solved on the blackboard.

The first player to discover it shouts "Mistake!" He is then allowed to stand up and tell which problem is wrong and what the correct solution is.

If his discovery is right, he becomes the one to print the next set of problems on the blackboard for another game. If his discovery is wrong he must sit down and the next player to shout "Mistake!" gets a chance to point out the error.

California Governor Sees Himself as Favorite Son

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — California Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown says he "probable" will be his state's favorite son presidential candidate at the 1960 Democratic convention "if the climate is right."

He added, however, that "a lot can happen between now and then."

With Brown in a favorite son role, California would go to the convention with its votes unpledged to any other leading contender on the first ballot.

The governor made the comment when asked to clarify remarks he made on the subject at a news conference in Sacramento. At that time he said he "wasn't sure" whether he would carry the Democratic presidential banner for his state.

Brown emphasized that "there are a lot of factors I will have to take into consideration." But he said the "chances are good" that he will assume the favorite son role.

"OUR SERVICE MAKES THE BIG DIFFERENCE"

New Atlantic Cable Begun

NEW YORK—(AP)—A long, tedious job at sea was getting under way Sunday—the laying of the first submarine telephone cable system between the American continent and the mainland of Europe.

More than four months will be required to complete the 40-million-dollar project.

The Long Lines department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said the heavy, twin cables—one carrying voices in each direction—will run 2,400 miles along the ocean bottom between Newfoundland and France.

There already are 21 cables across the Atlantic floor, but none links the two continents by telephone. One telephone cable reaches the British Isles, but not the mainland. The other 20 are telegraph cables.

The difference between a telephone and telegraph cable is tremendous," an A.T. and T. spokesman said. "The telephone cable has to be larger, and much more complicated."

For example, in order to carry voices, the cable must include repeaters about every 40 miles to amplify the voice impulses. These repeater tubes, about eight feet long, are joined into the system.

Telegraph cables require no such mechanisms.

At present, many trans-atlantic telephone calls are carried by radio-telephone, which are subject to atmospheric static and disturbances. Undersea cables are free of such interference.

A cable ship, the Monarch, was en route Sunday from Britain to a point just off Penmarch, France, the A.T. and T. said, to begin laying out cable toward the western terminal at Clarenville, Newfoundland.

MUST we have a new name for our country? Clyde Hall called from Normandy Shores golf course to say "a bunch of the boys have been cutting it up, now that Hawaii is a state. We want a verdict."

BELL

Well boys, it's like this. As you point out, U.S. is a nation of states with common boundaries. Alaska is way yonder, hooked onto Canada, the South Pacific, in another hemisphere, yet.

So here's a suggestion for our new name: "Un-united States of America, with radar attachments to Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands." Oke?

But bear in mind that both new states will have a time trying to install segregation.

Unified Transit Called the Answer

Commuter Trains for Gold Coast?

Second of Two Articles

By LEO ADDE
Herald Staff Writer

Metro transit experts predicted Sunday that within 10 years high-speed commuter lines — barreling over present FEC railroad right-of-way — will link Palm Beach County and South Dade.

KUNDE

Much sooner, the engineers added, Miamians can expect one street near the midtown area to be reserved for exclusive use of transit vehicles.

Those are the two most dramatic remedies Metro Traffic Engineer George Kunde and his staff foresee for the area's growing transit problem.

Since World War II, Dade residents have abandoned transit riding with such alacrity that today only nine per cent of travel done inside the county is by bus.

An estimated 1,200,000 persons are living and visiting in Dade County each day. At present transit-use figures, a million potential car-users daily are ready to add to the snarl on Dade's inadequate roads and streets.

"The amazing truth is," Kunde said, "that Metro Miami has more private automobiles in daily use than New York City, where just 17 per cent of travel is done by car."

All the figures on the anti-transit side of Dade's ledger are rising — numbers of car-users, the vehicles themselves (one for each 1.75 persons), and the cost of providing new automobile routes.

Remedies offered by the engineers are designed to bring Metro Miami's transit ridership to 20 per cent of total travel. At that level, transit will take in enough revenue at least to break even financially.

Specter

But before any solid improvement can be made in Dade transit, Kunde and staff say, Dade's hodgepodge of disconnected, often competing transit lines must be converted into a unified system.

"The bus rider and the community as a whole are bearing the cost and inconvenience of overlapping and duplicated routes, unnecessary overhead and maintenance, uncorrelated schedules, excessive fares and an unplanned over-all system," Kunde declared.

He made the comment in a report to County Manager O. W. Campbell and Metro commissioners studying the prospect of a county-owned unified bus sytem. First step would be a deal with William D. Pawley, who has offered his three transit companies to the county for roughly 8.5 million dollars in revenue bonds, payable out of busline receipts.

Kunde backs the Metro purchase of Pawley's companies, plus as many of the county's other four lines which a later survey would consider necessary to a single countywide system.

Pawley's companies now handle 84 per cent of Metropolitan Miami's transit business.

Kunde says there is no prospect of a private investor unifying Dade transit and making the new investments in terminals and waiting shelters which he considers essential.

All in all, Kunde says, it would be a 10-million-dollar project to unify and revamp just the Dade bus service under public ownership. Would it be worth it?

"Based on 200,000 transit riders a day," Kunde says, "the figure averages out to $50 per rider. In this county, in the next two years, we will spend 150 million dollars on roads — or, $300 for each automobile.

"Transit improvement is one of the best investments the county can make, as it goes about spending millions to keep up with the demands of increasing traffic."

Integrated System To Give You a Lift

Working on the assumption that Dade someday will have a unified transit system, Metro Traffic Engineer George Kunde and staff say the area will need:

1—A HIGH-SPEED north-south express system—logically trains operating on present FEC right-of-way, which follows the main "desire lines" of commuter travel. The line should extend through Broward and Palm Beach counties, linking the whole huge metropolitan strip along Florida's southeast coast.

2—A DOWNTOWN MIAMI street used exclusively by buses. Still undesignated, the street would be, in effect, a terminal for loading and discharging passengers.

3—EXTENSION of the park-ride system, with new perimeter terminals in the Little River and Hialeah-Miami Springs areas.

4—NEW CROSSTOWN routes on LeJeune Rd. and three avenues — 27th, 17th and Seventh.

5—NEW ROUTES from the existing Coral Gables terminal to two unserved areas — the Miami International Airport sector and the heavily populated areas west of Ludlum Rd. between SW Eighth St. and Bird Rd.

6—EXTENSION OF Route 5 service, which now ends at 75th Ave., along the Tamiami Trail to SW 87th Ave.

7—ESTABLISHMENT of an "equitable" zone fare schedule—meaning lower fares on most trips involving transfers. A ride from the north to south ends of the current transit network costs as much as 65 cents.

8—WHOLESALE revision of schedules, providing more express routes and better connections between local lines.

Death Toll Grows

Rockpit Safety Money Lying Idle

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

As Dade's rockpit and canal drownings appeared headed for an all-time high Sunday, the founder of an organization once credited with greatly reducing the watery death toll, disclosed that:

MONEY allocated by the county commission to wage a full-scale water safety campaign is lying dormant in a local bank.

HER GROUP, known as The Rockpit Rangers (which once numbered nearly 100,000 school-age members, was forced to disband a year ago "because people lost interest and it got too big to handle."

"I had to give up the work when my husband became sick and the whole thing just seemed to fall apart," said Mrs. Vi Stokesberry of 297 NE 107th St., who organized The Rockpit Rangers in 1953.

Besides running a yearly slogan campaign in Dade schools, The Rockpit Rangers also posted 'Danger' signs and persuaded scores of property owners to fence off their waterfronts.

During the Rangers' five-year life span, rockpit and canal deaths showed a better than 60 per cent decline even though the county's population and fill-digging operations multiplied.

In 1953 — the Rangers' first year — there were 17 rockpit and canal fatalities; in 1954 the total decreased to 16; in 1955 there were 12 deaths; in 1956 there were 10; and in 1957 there were only six.

But in 1958 — after the Rangers stopped functioning, the death toll climbed to 14.

In the first two-and-a-half months of this year, there have been five rockpit and canal drownings — a tragic rate that, if continued, could lead to an all-time high by the end of the year.

"The county commission allocated $1,500 each year for a rockpit safety campaign and the money is just sitting in the bank now, waiting for some group to make use of it," Mrs. Stokesberry said.

County Commissioner Ralph Fossey, acknowledged Sunday that the money is available for use "by a qualified group with an acceptable plan."

But the dormant money will come too late to help little Mark McLendon who wandered away from his home at 5389 SW 92nd Ave. Saturday and drowned in a small canal that claimed the life of another tot three years ago.

Mark would have been two years old today.

Homage to Hungarian war heroes was paid Sunday by about 200 Hungarian-Americans at the war memorial in Bayfront Park.

City Taxpayers Face Bigger Bite Next Year

Migrants Endure Fate By Looking Other Way

See Story Page 4B

By ALBERT ROSILLO

The siren blast that B&L Farms uses to wake its laborers at 4:30 a.m. is a far cry from your alarm clock.

And the rock-hard bunk with its paper-thin mattress was an equally long dream from the soft bed I'd left in my Miami home for this short stint with South Dade's migrant labor force.

Since, with no blankets, I'd slept fully clothed, my first night in B&L's "Mexico City" compound, I had no trouble being up and dressed long before the first bus left for the fields at 6:45 a.m.

Who Washes?

I WAS ONE of the very few to take advantage of the almost modern plumbing in the camp's concrete block "washing house." As I walked there from the tiny barracks, I saw men, women and children making their morning toilet behind their own hovel-like barracks.

All of the 10 or 12 appliances in the toilet room were in operating condition, but went unused. The sinks outside were getting a better play as women drew water (cold only) from the taps for breakfast coffee and cooking.

My own breakfast came from a migrant family. I'd agreed to pay them $10 a week for meals. It was that, or buy food at the company store and do my own cooking.

Probably only a third of the half-filled camp was made up of families, and the women augmented the husband's earnings with cooking chores.

Invisible Lines

FOR THE $10 I received coffee, bread and a slice of bacon for breakfast; a pan of rice and beans with a slice of cold meat for lunch; and beans with a porkchop for dinner.

Checkers at the door took my number before we left for the fields in the segregated work bus.

The segregation consisted of putting all Mexicans and "Texans" (as many were called) on one bus, all the Puerto Ricans on another, and Negroes on a third.

The same division is followed in the field, and for just one reason—to prevent bloody fights. None of the three groups gets along with the others. They are even separated as to their barrack areas.

It's when one group crosses the invisible line in camp that cuttings and beatings break out.

Working Day

WORK BEGINS promptly along the tomato rows in the field, and you keep your back bent to the job until noon. There's a half-hour break, during which another check is made to see who's on the job and who might have slipped off somewhere to sleep.

A 1 p.m. check follows the 12:30 back-to-work whistle, just in case someone tried to escape the afternoon picking.

—Herald Staff Photo by Bill Sanders

Barbed Wire's His Playground
. . . migrant worker's son at 'Mexico City'

And at six o'clock you board the buses for "Mexico City," the laborers' name for their barbed wire compound. This time of year, there's barely time to wash before darkness sets in. It's worth a man's head to venture near the blockhouse toilet area in the night.

"Mexico City" goes dark when the sun goes down. There are no street lights to cut the deep shadows, and only the dim bulbs hanging in the warren-like barracks cast a glow through the open doorways.

In the spot of light, laborers squat and talk.

Skirt Problems

FEW PEOPLE who have so little could care less about their social and economic plight.

What do they talk about?

For two hours one evening a man named "Shorty" held his audience spellbound with stories of his visit to Philadelphia.

An educated man went on, in another group, for an hour with a learned discussion of mathematics. He answered questions competently as to which was the most difficult, "multiplication, long division or subtraction."

Never was anything mentioned about living standards . . . fair wages . . . equal rights . . . opportunities . . . minimum salary . . . overtime . . . or the 40-hour week.

Pay Dwindles

FOR MOST the conversations were an exchange of information or where they've been and where they are going.

They know where they have been.

Few know where they are going. Or care. Their despair is expressed not in words but in the accepted hopelessness of their lives.

I knew I was going home. And I found I'd be as broke as when I arrived.

My $6 wage for the day's work dwindled rapidly when I went to the paymaster's office.

"Four dollars for the mattress," I was told, "plus $1 for the room, 25 cents for social security and that leaves you seventy-five cents. Come and get it Saturday, we only pay on Saturday, whether you quit now or later."

With nothing in my pocket, I still owed for my food bill.

"Two dollars," the woman said. "Would you take the mattress?" I asked.

She did. I trudged back down the dusty road toward home.

Inside

Albert Rosillo, Cuban-born Miami lawyer, posed as a migrant worker to discover the truth about what goes on inside the barbed wire compounds that offer squalid shelter to South Dade's shifting tide of laborers. This is the last of two articles prepared by him with the help of Herald Staff Writer James Buchanan.

Service Reduction Only Alternative

By JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writer

Miami taxpayers will have to dig deeper next year or face cutbacks in garbage and waste collection, police and fire protection and other services, top Miami officers predicted Sunday.

Robert W. Benner of the University of Miami's Bureau of Business and Economic Research said high cost of land and its "limited availability" within the city is causing decentralization of growth.

One of the strong growth "indicators," power hook-ups, jumped from 293,881 to 303,068 in Dade County during 1958, the Florida Power and Light Co. reported.

But for the first time FPL marked a decrease in customers—111,139 on Jan. 1, 1959, compared with 111,229 the year before—within the city limits.

City Tax Assessor Walter E. Elwell said the total property tax roll will show an increase, but not as much as in previous years.

The North-South Expressway took more than a million dollars worth of property off the roll by Jan. 1, Elwell said, and more millions will come off this year.

The "bad" 1957-58 season also took its toll in certain kinds of Miami revenues, City Finance Director George N. Shaw noted, including utilities tax, franchise tax and license receipts.

The national "recession" and the long Eastern Air Lines strike added to the burden.

"It isn't a question of not having the money to operate," Shaw said. "We just won't have the built-in surpluses we've had in the past."

But the strongest medicine came from Budget Administrator Meyer E. Stoller:

"I can recommend the same millage as last year, decrease it, or increase it. If it is to be the same, you have to eliminate normal expansion, eliminate some equipment expenditure and spread our same services over an increased area."

Such items as garbage pickup and police and fire coverage are on that list, Stoller said.

Last year the city property tax was 16.86 mills—$16.86 for every thousand dollars of evaluation.

In addition to the problem of keeping the services at the same level, the city has to figure in an unexpected 1.5 million dollars for police and fire pension funds.

With the city mill pegged at about $770,000, it would take nearly two mills to make up that increase alone.

Mayor Robert King High proposed that the big pension payment—ordered by the Florida Supreme Court last year—be written off in two installments.

Stoller said his figures were based on what "appeared" to be the city's needs, although the department and division requests have not been presented to the City Manager Ira F. Willard.

Willard said he could not comment on the budget proposal before studying it, "but I intend to present a balanced budget recommendation to the City Commission."

Assistant City Manager Woodward Hampton said when the time comes for going down the requests item by item, "we're going to have to count dollars and we're going to have to cut pennies everywhere it's humanly possible."

HIGH ESTEEM is what Alyson Lee Costner, 3, has for the paintings at Vizcaya's Clothes Line Art Exhibit. It attracted 1,609 visitors Sunday. About 40 of the 200-plus originals were sold. But Alyson kept her pennies in her purse.

12 Political Leaders Will Choose Democratic Candidate for President

By CHARLES CLEVELAND
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

JOHNSON

DISALLE

DALEY

CHICAGO—A dozen political leaders will pick the Democratic candidate for president in 1960.

The list includes the leading hopefuls for the nomination, some favorite sons and a few pros who control the bulk of their state's delegation.

Between them they control nearly half the convention delegates.

Here are the kingmakers:

GOV. EDMUND G. (PAT) BROWN of California, expected to be that state's favorite son.

MAYOR RICHARD J. DALEY of Chicago, who will control most of the Illinois delegation.

SEN. JOHN KENNEDY, who will be the Massachusetts favorite son and have the backing of New England.

GOV. G. MENNEN WILLIAMS, Michigan's perennial favorite son.

SEN. HUBERT HUMPHREY, Minnesota's nominee.

SEN. STUART SYMINGTON, Missouri's choice.

GOV. ROBERT MEYNER, who will control his New Jersey delegation.

CARMINE DE SAPIO who will be the key man in the New York delegation.

GOV. DAVID LAWRENCE who is the Pennsylvania leader.

GOV. MIKE DISALLE, who is expected to be the Ohio favorite son.

SEN. LYNDON JOHNSON who will carry the banner in Texas.

HARRY S. TRUMAN, former president, who still has a voice in party affairs.

Of this group Gov. Lawrence may well prove to be the bellwether.

His first choice is Adlai Stevenson, which is a good, safe, watch-and-wait position.

Stevenson is now regarded only as a last-minute, compromise candidate. Even his home state of Illinois does not, for now, regard him as a candidate and there are no plans to make him a favorite son.

Lawrence is also skeptical of Sen. Kennedy as the party nominee. It is a skepticism that could have far reaching effects.

Lawrence, like Kennedy, is a Roman Catholic. In 1956 he was one who counseled strongly against naming Kennedy as Stevenson's running mate on the ground that the religious issue would be explosive.

If he holds to this view, Lawrence could play a role in blocking Kennedy again.

At the moment Kennedy is in the lead, but still well short of nomination strength.

He'll have the New England bloc. He is regarded as Mayor Daley's favorite and the probable choice of Gov. Brown.

California, like Pennsylvania, could be pivotal. Ed Pauley, wealthy oilman, will be a powerful behind-the- cenes influence and will try to swing the state to Sen. Symington.

Adlai Stevenson also has a basic following there and in Oregon.

There is considerable Kennedy sentiment in New York. His chief stumbling block there is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who still carries impact on the liberal wing of the party.

This wing will throw most of its support behind Humphrey. Liberals usually are important in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and California. Michigan, at least at the start, will be committed to Gov. Williams, however.

Symington's chief support now comes from former President Truman. Truman's first concern, however, is to prevent Stevenson from popping up as the dark horse nominee.

Gov. DiSalle is one of Mr. Truman's old political pals. Downstate Illinois leaders will follow Truman as will Frank McKinney, if he can regain control of Indiana's delegation.

Gov. Meyner now is a strict outsider in the race. He is concentrating on his job, hoping his financial record will attract attention in a year when most other states are running into red ink troubles.

He will, however, carry considerable weight because of his state's large delegation and could—although he is not now—become the South's candidate.

Most pros now rate the contenders as Kennedy, Symington and Humphrey, in that order.

Now you can get the car you want

You don't have to wait any longer. You can get prompt delivery of the model, the colors and the equipment you want in the Can Do Cars of The Forward Look. Take a see-for-yourself drive at your dealer's now. Let the car show you the difference great engineering makes.

ONLY CAN DO CARS HAVE SWIVEL SEATS. They make these the easiest cars to get in and out of you ever saw. And '59 Forward Look Cars have extra room and comfort in back, too. New body designs give them more leg, hip and hat room than the other leading makes.

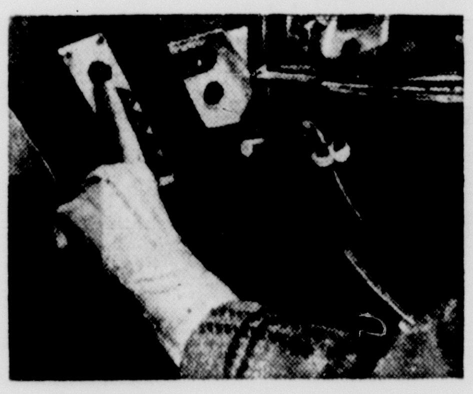
If you've been looking around at new cars, you know there are a lot of differences among them this year. And these are the cars that have the differences that give you the most for your money. For instance:

Swivel seats that let ladies get in and out like ladies—and men, without folding like acrobats! The seat swings out. You sit in it like an office chair, swivel around on noiseless nylon bearings. It locks in place—and you're ready to go. Exclusive on our cars. And—a full 2½ inches of foam cushioning make these the most easy-riding seats on the road.

CAN DO CARS GIVE YOU EXTRA ROOM IN BACK, TOO

But one of the most important differences in cars this year is in back. Maybe you do your riding up front. But the rest of the family, and guests, probably ride in back. They'll find the back seats are extra comfortable in Forward Look Cars for '59. New body designs add inches of s-t-r-e-t-c-h space for legs, knees, hips and hat.

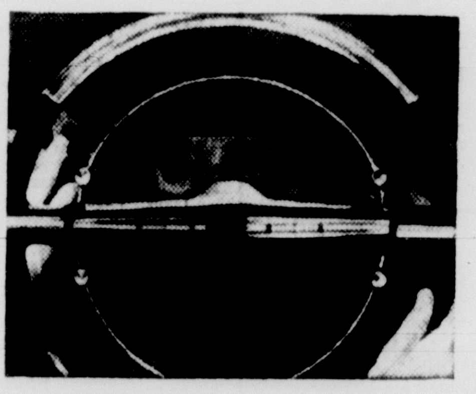
Proved pushbutton driving. Simple mechanical controls. No shifting with a "stick" back and forth through all driving ranges. Just touch a button and go! Proved by over 15 billion miles of owner driving. And the buttons are on your left, where they should be, easy to reach and away from the hands of children. And you can get pushbutton heating and air conditioning. No more fiddling to get the right temperature. Just touch a button to get the comfort you want.



CAN DO CARS HAVE PROVED PUSHBUTTON DRIVE

Only cars with double stopping muscle up front. Two hydraulic cylinders in the front brakes, where other makes have just one.

Only cars with full-time Constant-Control power steering. It works for you full time, not just on turns. Takes a big load off your hands, parking, weaving through traffic, and on long hauls.



CAN DO CARS HAVE FULL-TIME CONSTANT-CONTROL POWER STEERING

The engines that took top performance honors are better than ever this year. Chrysler Corporation cars walked off with top honors in the Mobilgas Economy Run for the past two years—with every other major make in America pitted against them. This year's engines give you even more snap and thrift than last year's!

CAN DO CARS HAVE TORSION-AIRE RIDE

(It stays smooth and level, even when the going gets rough)

Only cars with Torsion-Aire, the suspension system even our competitors admit makes them America's finest riding and driving cars. They never buck when you stop fast, rear back when you start fast, or sidesaddle you around curves. You ride smooth, flat and firm, even over back country roads. Only our cars have it—and at no extra cost.

CAN DO CARS HAVE MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN-WINNING ENGINES

Plus other "extras at no extra cost": a super enamel finish you don't have to polish . . . big compound windshields pioneered by us, and safety glass all around . . . electric windshield wipers that don't slow down when you speed up—you get them all at no extra cost in the quality-built Forward Look Cars.

Your dealer has a new Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto, Chrysler or Imperial all ready for you to take through its paces. He will be glad to arrange a see-for-yourself demonstration. See him today.

A drive will bring out the difference great engineering makes in value, economy, performance, comfort and quality.

Some features described here may be extra equipment on some Chrysler Corporation cars. Ask your dealer, please.

South Dade's Migrants Heading North

See Story on Page 1B

But growers believe there will still be enough hands in the labor camps to finish harvesting the last of the crops this month.

Relief agencies say there may be more than enough — that unemployment is on the upswing as fields become barren and more and more persons are seeking help.

There's no dispute over one fact. This season's situation is a far cry from the disastrous, panicky days of 1957-58 when thousands of the roaming workers went hungry as weather killed the crops and their job chances.

At the Farsouth Emergency Aid station in Homestead, "between 15 and 20 families a day are coming in for food."

"We're giving them food," said Mrs. Ida Tibbets the director, "and a tank of gas to get them started north for new jobs."

Abney Cox, one of the more prominent growers in the area, said "the labor supply has been pretty well balanced this year with the crops."

Right now, those laid off in the tomato fields are finding work with the potato and bean harvests. "The out-migration is beginning," Cox said, "and we can only hope that enough persons will remain to help us finish out the season."

Dade County Agent John Campbell termed the labor supply "not overloaded or understaffed." Norris Clay, Florida State Employment Service manager at Princeton, is out of the city and FSES figures are not available.

There may be better days ahead for the migrant labor force facing disastrous seasons. Bills to be offered the upcoming legislative session call for a $800,000 emergency relief fund.

This "crisis kitty" would be released on orders of the governor and local committees would handle distribution of the fund, primarily for food.

Meanwhile, the Farsouth Emergency Aid organization made an appeal for canned goods and milk. "Bread is plentiful, thanks to the merchants," Mrs. Tibbets said, "but we need canned beans, tomatoes and other vegetables."

Among the migrants, she said, "a baked bean and tomato sandwich goes a long way toward filling an empty stomach."

Man Shoots Ex, Takes Own Life

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — A 61-year old driftwood dealer, enraged because his 42-year-old ex-wife took offense when he called her "Honey," shot and wounded her and a woman visitor Sunday, then put his gun to his own forehead and killed himself.

John Warren Lindsay, 609 SE 16th St., was dead on arrival at Broward General Hospital. His ex-wife, Opal Blake, 42, of 317 SW 15th St., where the shooting occurred, was in good condition Sunday.

The other victim, Mrs. Betty Ineson, 46, of 1706 Plunkett St., Hollywood, was released from the hospital with a wound on the forehead.

Police said Mrs. Blake, whose 15-year-old son was at church when the shooting occurred was preparing to serve lunch to sailors from the USS Boston, docked here, when Lindsay appeared at the back kitchen door.

Mrs. Blake asked Lindsay to leave after he had addressed her as "Opal, Honey," police said. The two had been separated since April.

Instead, Lindsay, whom acquaintances described as "a man with a temper," drew a 22 caliber pistol from a pocket and began firing.

Neighbors said they heard about seven shots. Mrs. Blake was hit in the face.

In another room of the house were Mrs. Ineson's two children, John, 12, and Suzanne, 9. Police said Mrs. Blake ran screaming into the room where the children were.

Police Lt. John J. Sherlock said that after shooting the women, Lindsay apparently went directly to his home, put the gun to his forehead and shot himself.

When police arrived at his residence, he was still alive, but died en route to the hospital. Police said he operated a shop on S. Federal Hwy. dealing with driftwood items.

60-STOCK AVERAGE recorded an all-time high when it closed last week at 225.5, up from 222.4 a week earlier. The weekly volume was the heaviest since mid-October. The commodity index rose from 169.6 to 170.5, led by livestock and non-ferrous metals.

1-in-Million Mishap Fatal

VANDALIA, Ill. — (AP) — A military school cadet was killed on a sightseeing trip when a chunk of metal tore through the floor of a train lounge car and hit him on the head.

The victim, John F. Yock, 16, Belleville, Ill., was a cadet colonel amoung 35 cadets starting out from Western Military Academy, Alton, Ill., on a trip to Washington.

A Pennsylvania Railroad spokesman at Indianapolis called the freak accident in Vandalia a "one in a million" occurrence. He said it apparently was caused by a broken wheel, although the exact cause was not determined.

The metal, believed to be a piece of the wheel or brake shoe, tore a hole about four inches wide in the floor of the car.

Dag Reports On Solar Energy

UNITED NATIONS — (AP) — U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold reports the world may expect use of energy from the sun's rays soon.

In a report for the U.N. economic and social council meeting in Mexico next month, he said rapid advances had been made in the last two years in changing solar energy directly into electricity. He said these resulted largely from outer space and atomic energy research.

10,000 Sikhs Demonstrate Against Punjab Legislation

By the Associated Press

World News

NEW DELHI — Ten thousand Sikhs marched through the streets of New Delhi Sunday with swords suspended from their necks in protest against legislation in Punjab State regulating the activities of their religious bodies.

The hanging swords were intended to signify the peaceful nature of their demonstration. Their leader, Master Tara Singh, was arrested March 13 in Amritsar on the eve of his departure for Delhi. The marchers dispersed quietly after reaching their goal — New Delhi's Sikh temple.

Britons to Vote Next October?

LONDON — Britain's next general election — widely expected to be held this spring — won't be held before October, two London newspapers said Sunday.

The left-wing Sunday Pictorial and the Conservative Sunday Dispatch stated Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has rejected plans for an earlier poll. Both gave the same reason: Macmillan wants to complete the series of East-West conferences on Germany planned for much of the rest of the year.

Australia, Russia To Resume Contacts

BROADBEACH, Australia—Russia and Australia are likely to annouce resumption of diplomatic relations today.

Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey of Australia and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Nicolai Firubin, leaders of delegations here to the conference of the economic commission for Asia and the Far East, have had talks in the last week. Cas-ly told reporters the announcement could be made today.

Russia withdrew its embassy from Canberra in 1954 after Third Secretary Vladimir Petrov was granted political asylum in Australia and announced he had been a spy.

Yugoslavia Deplores Middle East Crisis

BELGRADE — Yugoslavia declared Sunday the tension between the United Arab Republic and Iraq benefits "enemies of Arab independence and unity."

The first Yugoslav comment on events at Mosul came in the Communist newspaper Borba, which speaks for the government.

In an editorial the paper expressed concern that the tension between Cairo and Baghdad could damage the prospects for further development of the Arab world.

On State Visit

Now Civilians Get K-P Duty

COLUMBUS, Miss. — (AP) — Airmen at Columbus Air Force Base will hire civilian waiters to replace them on kitchen police, known familiary as K-P duty.

The airmen will donate part of their pay for the salaries of the civilians to keep out of the scullery.

The new program, which takes effect today, has the approval of the base commander.

Atom Research In West Berlin

BERLIN — (AP) — Communist-surrounded West Berlin has formally opened a nuclear research institute that is built around a small U.S. constructed reactor.

The institute and its equipment is valued at about 3⅛ million dollars.

The institute will operate in conjunction with West Berlin's free university and its technical university.

Weight Control Possible Without Constant Dieting, Drugs or Exercise

Hundreds of successful cases have proven that you can eat and drink whatever you like for almost every meal and yet not gain permanent weight.

Based on research and studies conducted by a prominent Chicago Doctor for over 40 years, a method of controlling weight through the establishing of metabolic cycles, has now been released for general use by Weight Research Corporation of Skokie, Illinois.

Laboratory cases and field tests prove that each person has an individual weight gaining cycle whereby there are only a few days each month when the metabolism of the body will allow food intake to be converted to fatty tissue, thereby creating additional weight.

Chocolate sundaes, potatoes, rich desserts and food may be consumed on the days between these weight gaining cycles without gaining a pound of permanent weight.

Safe, healthy, controlled losses of ten, twenty, even eighty pounds in less than a year have been recorded without resorting to drugs, constant dieting or exercise.

Easy to use, practical methods for determining these individual weight gaining cycles have been developed for home use by Weight Research Corporation, Skokie, Illinois, and may be had for the nominal cost of $7.95.

Just send $7.95 and your name and address to Weight Research Corporation, Skokie, Illinois, for your complete Weight Control Kit and a copy of the booklet, "Cyclic Weight Control." Full written, money back guarantee.

Flunks Test, Kills Man

BAY SPRINGS, Miss. — (UPI) — Ed Solomon, 76, is being held on a manslaughter charge after the car he was driving struck and killed Lester Rayner just after Solomon was refused a driver's license renewal.

Highway Patrolman J. B. Hinds said Solomon reported for a road test for a new license but was refused the test because he did not have a licensed driver with him. Hinds said he warned Solomon, "Don't drive away until you have a licensed driver with you."

Banker Comes Clean

A Stiff Upper Lip --And Shaven, Too

LONDON — (AP) — A Distinguished mustache of 35 years standing has been sacrificed to tradition.

The mustache belonged to Sir Kenneth Peppiatt, eminent financier.

Peppiatt, 66, for many years was an executive director of the Bank of England. His signature, as chief cashier, appeared on millions of bank notes.

He resigned from the Bank of England recently to become a director of the old private Bank of Coutts, which serves the royal family.

He was qualified for his new post in all respects except one —that wiry black mustache which had become a symbol of Bank of England integrity.

Coutts, with traditions of its own, has one that requires everyone from doorman to chairman be clean shaven. The story goes that the Baroness Coutts, member of the banking family who died a century and a half ago, didn't like whiskers.

Another Coutts tradition is that everyone must wear frock coats. Peppiatt has a frock coat. But he also had that mustache.

So Peppiatt took his razor firmly in hand and off came the symbol of the Bank of England. Financial colleagues said it was a touching sacrifice. But Peppiatt bore up bravely.

"No one at Coutts actually told me to remove my mustache, a relic of the First World War," he said. "I made the decision myself.

"I knew the tradition, and I didn't want to embarrass anyone by not complying.

"Anyway, flecks of gray were beginning to appear, and the knowledge that my mustache was not the handsome thing it used to be eased the pain of our parting."

'Boiler Suit' On Way Out

TOKYO — (UPI) — The women of Communist China are getting some relief from that drab quilted "boiler suit" type garb which has made them almost indistinguishable from men, the Communist New China News Agency indicates.

The agency said the first shipment of 20 new spring styles have appeared in Shanghai's clothing centers. Since February more than three million square yards of spring textiles have been put on the markets, with some cotton prints even being perfumed, the agency said.

A Wonderful Story... Told in Silence!

There are many ways, certainly, to describe the quality of the great Cadillac car.

But we think no one tells the story quite as well—or quite as convincingly—as the car itself.

And how does a Cadillac put it? Well, next time you are in the "car of cars"—just listen!

Listen, for instance, to its absolute freedom from vibration. Here, it says, is the kind of craftsmanship that can only come from years of devotion to the very highest quality ideals.

Then listen to its extraordinary freedom from wind noise. Here, it says, is true perfection in styling—as scientifically sound as it is majestically beautiful.

Or listen to the incredible quiet of that great engine. Here, it says, is truly masterful engineering—with every phase of the car's performance working in perfect harmony.

And listen to the marvelous manner in which it closes out the sound of a city's traffic. Here, it says, you will find perfect serenity and security throughout even the longest of journeys—a wonderful personal sanctuary in a busy world.

Yes, just listen—and we think you'll agree the Cadillac story is never more eloquent than when told by the "voice" of its own silence.

In fact, we earnestly suggest that you visit your authorized Cadillac dealer very soon—and spend an hour or so in the driver's seat.

You will find that your dealer is long practiced in the art of satisfying a motorist's personal needs and requirements—and he will make you his welcome guest at any time.

7 Rescued As Yacht Explodes

By ERWIN POTTS
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — A daring rescue by two canal bank residents Sunday afternoon saved seven persons on a luxurious $80,000 yacht after a mysterious explosion in New River.

Only one of the passengers, Richard Dunham, 28, of 1956 Ocean Lane, Fort Lauderdale, was injured. He was reported in "good" condition with first and second degree burns on his chest, arms and face.

Dunham was in the engine room of the yacht, Nancy Marie VII, where the explosion apparently occurred about 4:30 p.m. off SE 24th Ave.

"I have no idea what caused the explosion," said the yacht's skipper, Joel S. Wingate, 58, of 15½ SW Tenth Ave.

Taken ashore besides its cpatain were Mr. and Mrs. John L. Keough, the owners; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dunham, parents of Richard, and Kathleen Doyle of Buffalo, N.Y.

After the resuce, harbor patrol boats towed the flaming yacht to a pier, but its entire interior had been burned out before firemen could extinguish the blaze. Keough told police his yacht was insured for $82,000.

Both Eartha and Teresa Leaving Him Flat

Night Club Operator Sings the Blues

TERESA

EARTHA

BOSTON — (AP) — Night club owner Stanley Blinstrub thinks Eartha Kitt and Teresa Brewer are fine singers, but he says they have him singing the blues.

Eartha, Blinstrub says, canceled the last two nights of her week's engagement at his South Boston bistro earlier this month. Both nights would have been sellouts.

She walked out, he says, because she thought the audience didn't appreciate her art. Blinstrub didn't appreciate her departure and filed charges against her with the American Guild of Variety Artists.

Now trouble has come double to the former contractor who built an 18-stool tavern into one of America's largest supper clubs.

Miss Brewer, due to open at the 1,800-seat nightery tonight, notified Blinstrub Saturday she is too ill to appear.

"She's sick, hah," said Blinstrub, gulping two aspirins. "I'm sick. I've got 11,000 reservations and no Teresa Brewer. St. Patrick's Day is two days away—that's a national holiday here—and she says she's sick."

Blinstrub says he has asked AGVA to have a doctor examine Teresa at her Scarsdale, N.Y., home. Further, he says, he's also sending a doctor of his own choice to inquire into the state of her health.

Teresa, according to Blinstrub, tried to cancel her appearance once before on the grounds that her act wasn't ready, but he wouldn't let her out of the engagement because she already had presented the same act at a Florida night spot.

The fuming club owner, known generally for his gentle temperament, said the doctors' examinations will be merely to guide him in any action he takes against Miss Brewer.

"If she's sick," Blinstrub grimaced, "then I'm sicker."

"Ring of Protection" Around PIMPLES
and ACNE

The best way to stop the spread of pimples is to treat them before and after they open up. So at the first sign of a pimple . . . QUICK! Apply CAMPHO-PHENIQUE! This soothing, antiseptic liquid forms a "ring of protection" around pimples to help prevent their spread and re-infection. Because CAMPHO-PHENIQUE doesn't stain the skin, it can be applied right under make-up. So don't give ugly pimples a chance to spread . . . prevent it with CAMPHO-PHENIQUE'S "ring of protection". Let your face heal faster, naturally.

Tormenting Rectal Itch Stopped In Minutes

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles". It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results — here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids — without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as *Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Casey's Nimble Mumblings Ring Clear on Player Shifting

ST. PETERSBURG — Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees is addicted to positive declarations, although he often makes them sound confusing. He was more emphatic than ever with one statement here.

"No club has two catchers like me," Casey said with no semblance of boasting. "Howard (Elston) and Berra (Yogi), I mean. But I can't catch 'em at the same time.

"Howard has played the outfield. Berra has played the outfield and first base. I've thought of playing him there, but he don't like the idea."

Stengel left the impression he could catch Darrell Johnson, or John Blanchard, who hit .291 with Denver.

BERRA

Later, after Casey in a few thousand words had explained the Yankees' strength in various departments, he was asked point blank if he thinks he'll win the American League pennant again.

Yankees at a Glance

MANAGER — Casey Stengel, starting 11th season.

1958 Record — Won pennant by 10 games, beat Milwaukee in World Series.

Pitchers — Bob Turley (21-7), Whitey Ford (15-14), Don Larsen (9-6), Art Ditmar (9-8), John Kucks (9-6), Bobby Shantz (7-6), Ryne Duren (6-4) Murray Dickson (10-7), Tom Sturdivant (3-6), John Gabler, Denver (19-6).

"If I don't win it, they're looking for a new manager," Stengel retorted in mock horror.

Even Casey joined in the hearty laughter inspired by this sage observation.

Why Lumpe Is Playing Second

FIRST BASE — "Bill Skowron is our No. 1 man," said Stengel. Marv Throneberry could play there. I'm trying to make Norm Seibern play first, too, because left field is a bad one to play. (Casey had in mind Seibern's poor showing in the World Series). If Seibern is hitting over .300, I naturally don't want him out of the lineup, I might use him in left on the road."

SKOWRON

Stengel professed to be puzzled over Seibern wearing glasses. He said, "Why he wants to when he was hitting .300 I don't know. He misjudged some fly balls so it's a cinch he isn't far-sighted."

SECOND BASE —"I'm playing Lumpe (Jerry) at second base as much as possible. Why? Why not? The only guy we're missing is Kubek, (Tony) who is in the service. He'll be out soon, but suppose he reports not in shape. I've got McDougald, (Gil) who can play second, short and third."

LUMPE

SHORTSTOP — "I can use Richardson (Bobby) at shortstop and he can play second, too," Stengel continued. "I wouldn't be afraid to use that fellow Brickell (Fritz) up from Denver."

THIRD BASE — Stengel's countenance lighted up when he said, "Now I'll take you to third base. Carey (Andy) is the second best third baseman in the league. I'll have to give the best to Malzone (Frank) of Boston for the last two years."

Club Far Ahead Physically

PRODDED BY Stengel's criticism, the Yankees reported in good condition. Only two players were overweight. Casey took care of that in a hurry.

If the Yankees have any outfield problems, except left field when the club is at home, Stengel did not seem excited about it. He was not even worried over Mickey Mantle having such a sore shoulder that X-raying seemed advisable.

Sturdivant Fighting for Job

THE ONLY pitching weakness cited by Stengel came when he conceded that Tom Sturdivant had a bad year. "He won 16 the year before," Casey mused. "Now he's fighting for his job."

Casey expects Bob Turley to be his No. 1 pitcher again. He regards Art Ditmar highly and thinks Ryne Duren will be OK. He recalled that Whitey Ford had eight shutouts and added, "He's a pretty good pitcher."

Stengel has made Jim Coates, up from Richmond, take it easy — permitting him to throw only fast balls. He told Coates that, two years ago, he threw away his chances by starting too fast in spring training.

21,000 See Sports Show

More than 21,000 persons attended the second day of the Sports and Vacation Show at Miami Beach Exhibition Hall Sunday.

Canadian Guide Frank Peloquin dislocated his thumb while josting with fellow guide Joe Podguski from the gunwhales of their canoes.

Desire Moved 'Mountain' For Jupin and Southwest

By DICK EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

Gene Jupin and Southwest High have travelled similar basketball paths in the past two years . . . from oblivion to a state championship.

In 1957, Jupin was acclimated to basketball doormat status. His Tech High Blue Devils annually served as a punching bag for almost every team in South Florida.

Last year Jupin moved to Southwest, an unknown 11th grade team. The Eagles were small; their gym-suit uniforms seemed startlingly out of place when they made the state tournament in the University of Florida's spacious gymnasium. They lost in the first round.

Today Southwest and Jupin are champions.

"The kids were great . . . it was a job well done," said Jupin of the Eagles' 68-51 victory in the state Class B finals Saturday.

"You know," added Jupin, "the kids taught me something. They taught me that if you want something bad enough and have enough faith then you generally get it.

"The kids were determined to win. They said 'We're going all the way' and, by golly, they did.

"I can't say enough for all of them. Our rebounding behind (Chris) Lefferts and (Jay) Tobin was great. They outjumped a 6-7 giant in one game.

"And our defense . . . that was something to see. The Dorris boys (Brainard and George) did a great job feeding the ball and on defense. Our other starter (Richard Weber) was outstanding in every department." (Lefferts, Tobin and Weber made the all-state tournament team.)

Next year Southwest, the state's 10th largest high school, will jump to Class AA.

"We'll be back up to the state soon," predicted Jupin. "The boys have proven they really can get the job done."

Back for their third years will be Tobin, Weber, Roger Mills, Bill Mulens, Mike Newell, Ken Murray and Roy Milton.

And also returning for his third year will be one Gene Jupin, a rags-to-riches traveler.

State Cage Meet Real 'Weirdie'

By RAY CRAWFORD
Herald Sports Writer

GAINESVILLE—This year's state high school basketball tournament was a real "weirdie."

Never before, probably, have the four class championships been decided under more unusual circumstances.

Look at these oddities:

1. Hillsborough, supposedly the weakest team in Class AA, scored an amazing 18 points in the last two minutes and 15 seconds to beat Miami High, 69-55, in the finals.

2. Daytona Beach Seabreeze came from 23 points behind at halftime against the state's No. 1 defensive team, Pompano Beach, to score a 75-73 Class A title victory.

3. Southwest High of Miami

Loes Fizzles

Triandos Homer Sinks A's, 9-6

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Brawny Gus Triandos, Baltimore's Golden Greek, unloaded a three-run homer in the sixth inning Sunday to knock off Kansas City, 9-6, in a Miami Stadium exhibition.

Triandos' swat over the left wall was the third homer of a brisk 19-hit afternoon. Athletics Bob Cerv and Harry (Suitcase) Simpson connected earlier.

Pitching, though, wound up as the day's most significant phase.

Broadway Billy Loes, garrulous drawing-card for most of Sunday's 2,591-fan turnout, was bleakly unimpressive in his first spring turn. The veteran righthander surrendered five runs — including the Cerv and Simpson clouts — in two innings.

But 20-year-old Jerry Walk-

Sows 'Seed of Expectancy'

Pepper Spices Marlin 'Drill'

By EDDIE STORIN
Herald Sports Writer

Pepper Martin held 18 players and 200 spectators spellbound Sunday afternoon at Flamingo Park as he began his course on the philosophy and psychology of baseball.

It was the opening of spring training for the Miami Marlins and even such veterans as Foster Castleman and Harry Byrd had to admit they never before sat in on such a "pep talk."

Martin, ears and nose protruding more than somewhat from beneath a tight-fitting cap, touched on such tangibles as payday and such intangibles as the sub-consious mind.

"We plan," Martin began, "to use some psychology to instill certain resolutions into our players. Sometimes our practices will be drab and colorless, but we'll always have a purpose in mind.

"We hope to plant the seed of expectancy in the sub-conscious mind by working on the little things . . . the fundamentals.

"And don't you think that sometime in the course of the summer that some of these things we'll talk about might come to pass?"

Not once did the Marlin manager fall into the time-worn descriptive of a "hustling and running ball club." Instead he coyly hinted that he expected both such qualities.

"I used to get tremendous satisfaction out of running out grounders and pop flies," the famed Wild Horse of the Osage told his players. "It won't make me mad if you do, too."

Martin's preference for the running game was indicated when he spent considerable time discussing the "lost art" of sliding.

"We're going to demonstrate such things as the scissor slide and the come-up slide," Martin informed. "I won't try to force my way on you. Slide any way you want that's acceptable . . . just be safe, that's all.

"I do want to speak for my way, though," Pepper continued. "I never wore sliding pads and I never broke a leg or sprained an ankle. This isn't bragging . . . I guess that nature just endowed me with the right things for sliding.

Woody Smith
. . . rejoins Marlins

"Just remember," he winked, "the best way to slide is to get there."

Martin suggested his players "think and talk" baseball as much as possible.

"During the course of the season," he said, "there'll be the highest peaks of ecstasy or the lowest peaks of despair depending on how we do out on that field."

FISH TALES: Notable absentees Sunday were Jerry Snyder, Woody Smith, Jim Pyburn, Lew Slater, Windy McCall, Rolf Scheel and Loren Babe. Snyder, Pyburn, McCall and Babe are expected today while Sleater and Scheel will remain with the Orioles for trials. Smith will switch over from the Orioles today at his own request.

Will Delany Go Under 4 Here? 'I Hope So...But,' Says Miler

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Indoor Mile Champion Ron Delany literally bounced into Miami Sunday, with a warm smile for Florida weather and a precisely worded hope that he could crack the four-minute mile in Hollywood's Irish Relays Tuesday.

"I certainly would like to go under four minutes," said the Villanova Irishman who has whipped that standard three times, including one 3:57.5 clocking. "Especially on St. Patrick's Day.

"But this is my first outdoor race since last August in Europe, and I have no idea how the transition from boards to cinders will affect my running.

"This climate, too, is a change. It was very cold in Milwaukee, where I last ran (a week ago). Here it's very, very wonderful.

Ron Delany
. . . 'wonderful climate'

Delany pronounced the South Broward High School track, where Tuesday's meet will be contested, "all right."

"It's very dry now," he said, after a late Sunday jog. "But it should be improved when it is watered down."

Delany said the jog was "partially to get a look at the track, partially to get my land legs back.

"The flight to Miami was very rough, very stormy. We bounced around a lot."

Delany, who set the world's indoor mile record of 4:01.4 two weeks ago, has won so many straight indoor miles he's not sure of the count.

"I think it's 31 or 32," he said. Reminded that Milwaukee papers called his triumph there his 33rd straight, he replied:

"Thirty-three might be right."

Delany has been accused of running just fast enough to win, sometimes disappointing fans with mediocre (for him) clockings. Will he open up in Hollywood?

"My policy, of course, has always been to win," he said, "rather than chase records. But I think I shall have to open up Tuesday, with Laszlo Tabori (a Hungarian who also has been under four minutes outdoors) in the race."

Delany says criticism of his "policy" bothers him not at all.

"I think I've run fast on a few occasions," he said. "I don't think I have done any harm by taking it easy on a few occasions."

Suggs' 297 Wins Titleholders Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(AP)—Louise Suggs, one of golf's coolest competitors, won her fourth women's Titleholders Championship Sunday with one of her finest clutch rounds.

RAWLS

Muss Suggs, often called the Ben Hogan of women's golf because of her intense concentration and pressure-proof poise, fired a one-under-par 71 to withstand a brilliant bid by Betsy Rawls and pull away from faltering Wiffi Smith.

Miss Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., and Miss Smith, the young St. Claire, Mich., pro, started the final round tied for first place at 226. Miss Rawls was two strokes back.

Miss Rawls shot a beautiful two-under-par 70, but she fell one stroke short.

Miss Suggs finished with 78-73-75-71—297. Miss Rawls had 78-76-74-78—298. Miss Smith was third with 75-78-75-77—303.

Nichol, Blake Win Net Title

Dr. Sterling Nichol and Mrs. Edith Blake won 21 games Sunday to top a round robin mixed doubles tennis tournament at the Bath Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller took second place, beating Steve Zacker and his daughter, Stefaney, 6-2, in a one game playoff after both teams tied in the tourney with 17 victories.

Miami High, Eagles Duel

breezed through Class B, beating Ponce de Leon, 68-51, in the championship game. Southwest was a Class AA school in enrollment competing in Class B.

Hillsborough's scrappy Terriers provided the big surprise of the tournament. First, they knocked off powerful Jacksonville Jackson, the tallest team in the tournament and heavy favorite of coaches here.

Then, Hillsborough surprised Fort Lauderdale Stranahan with a late surge in the semifinal game. Everyone said the Terriers, who brought a 12-10 record into the tournament, would run out of "luck" against Miami High.

Throughout the game, Miami High seemed in complete command with its slow, deliberate offense and pressing defense. The Stings even built a nine-point lead as late as 1:24 left in the third quarter.

Then came the "break" that sent the Terriers winging. The official handed guard Jim Sumner the ball and he moved down the sidelines, throwing a long pass to Albert Julian breaking under the basket. Miami High Coach Vince Schaefer argued Sumner was allowed to take the ball out illegally on Miami High's side of midcourt.

The Stings, operating without their three rebounders, Dave Austin, Pete Somerindyke and Bill Gaar, went to pieces in the final minutes.

Nelson Heads Bahamas Swim Entry

A 20-person team, including Olympic medal-winner Jack Nelson of U-Miami, was selected Sunday to represent Florida in the Grand Bahamas swimming meet March 27 - 28 on Grand Bahamas Island.

Meet Manager Irving Roy Rosen announced the team after final tryouts at the Miami Springs pool Sunday. He said selection was based on performance in all four swimming strokes.

St. Pete Wins Women's Title

TALLAHASSEE—R. H. Hall of St. Petersburg defeated Tallahassee Federal, 41-29, for the Florida Recreation Association's women's basketball title Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Waxenberg defeated Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Levenson, 3-2, in the Westview husband and wife golf tournament Sunday.

Championship consolation laurels went to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Leifert for a 2-1 victory over Mr. and Mrs. Lou Cassett.

Mr. and Mrs. James Weiskoph whipped Mr. and Mrs. Otto Breskey, 2-1, in first flight. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Strauss were default victors in second flight.

Cards Bomb Yanks

ST. PETERSBURG —(AP)— Right-hander Don Larsen had to quit with a shoulder injury Sunday after the St. Louis Cardinals scored six runs in the third inning of a 10-3 exhibition victory over the New York Yankees.

While pitching to Ken Boyer, the Yankee pitcher suddenly felt a sharp pain dart through the back of his pitching shoulder. He stopped to rest and then concluded the inning.

LARSEN

There was one run in and three men on base when Don hurt himself. Boyer then singled home two runs and Chuck Essegian followed with a three-run homer.

Ernie Broglio, right-hander obtained from the San Francisco Giants during the winter, hurled five commendable innings for the victors, allowing five hits and all three New York runs. Vinegar Bend Mizell blanked the Bombers over the last four frames.

what would an INCA DO?

As soon as he sees the authentic Inca decor of The INCA LOUNGE, he'll swear he's back home. And if he's an Inca man-about-town, he will be right at home, sipping a Pisco Sour, expertly concocted, chatting with friends in the informal setting, listening to the pleasant muted strains of flowing music. Inca-dentally, you'd love it too!

Blazing Finish

Ernie Reeves' modified 1934 Ford, barely across the finish line, flares into cinders at the Hollywood Speedway. Reeves, of Miami, who won Hollywood's 30-lap feature Saturday night escaped injury, but his car, worth an estimated $1,800, was a total loss. The victory was worth approximately $130 to Reeves.

14-Year-Old Wins 2 Titles

Father-Son Team Tops MOC's Power Regatta

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

The nation's foremost father-son outboard racing team — W. T. Hutchins, 37, and Billy, 14 — dominated the Miami Outboard Club's Festival of Springs Regatta Sunday between MacArthur and Venetian causeways.

But dad, as usual, played second fiddle to junior.

While his grandparents watched him drive for the first time, Billy gunned his leaping hydroplane to victory in both the A and B Stock Hydro classes.

Pop Hutchins, who long ago gave up trying to keep up with his amazing 100-pound son, was happy to settle for winning the C Stock Hydro division.

"Why fight it?" said Hutchins, a local pilot. "Billy's been a better driver right from the start."

"That's not so," insisted the eighth grader. "Dad taught me all I know. And he does a lot of work on my engines to keep them running fast."

Said grandfather John Hutchins, a Scranton, Pa., resident whose speed tastes run to sports cars:

"I got nervous watching 'em both."

Billy shaded Ted Thompson of Randallstown, Md., for A Stock Hydro honors by having the best overall times as each logged 1-2 finishes in the two heats.

In the B Stock Hydro class, for which he only recently became eligible by becoming 14, the freckled teenager swept both heats.

The senior Hutchins, who didn't begin racing until he was 35, put together a first and a second to compete the family's successful day. It was an exact repeat of their performance in the recent Flamingo Regatta at Pelican Harbor.

Strong south winds which whipped the course into a hazardous chop limited the starting fleets, particularly in the 48 and 135 cubic inch inboard hydro division newly added to MOC programs.

In a one 48 hydro duel that saw only inches separate their bows throughout the exciting voyage, S.E. (Sunny) Jones edge national champion F. C. (Doc) Moor.

Talented Bob Hamilton had things his own way in sweeping both 235 hydro tests in a four-boat fleet.

'Lobo' Leading ... But Who's In 2nd Place?

ST. PETERSBURG—(AP)—Lobo de Mar, a sleek 67-foot cutter built to buck a headwind, sailed far ahead of her rivals Sunday night in the 26th annual St. Petersburg to Havana Yacht Race.

Officials of the 284-mile event, using her performance during the first 27 hours as a guide, estimated Lobo would reach her home port of Havana about 8 a.m. today.

A Coast Guard plane sighted the Havana Yacht Club entry about 25 miles west-northwest of the Dry Tortugas — about 100 miles from Havana — at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Crews from two planes spent seven hours trying to check progress of the 32 boats in the race.

"It was awful hard to tell anything out there Sunday," the pilot of one plane said. "Visibility was cut to 1½ to 2 miles by a heavy haze."

A race official said, "We know Lobo is far out in front. That's about all we are sure of."

A total of 14 boats were spotted by the plane crews. They said there could be several between Lobo, the scratch boat, and the craft they listed in fourth and fifth place.

Lobo held a lead of about 50 miles on Jamel, a 52-foot yawl skippered by J. B. Turner of Tampa. Another five miles back was Ariel V, a 44-foot yawl under the command of Horace Binney of Miami.

Officials placed Comanche, Southern Star II and Ca Va in a group about 30 miles farther up the coast — about 85 miles behind Lobo. Trailing the threesome by 25 miles were Shady Lady, Marelen III, Osprey, Electra, Tahuma, Interlude, Celia II and Ciclon.

No one sighted Hilaria, a 55-foot yawl skippered by Hugh Schaddelee of the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club, Mich., or Criollo, 67-foot Cuban Navy yawl. They held second and third place, respectively, when darkness came Saturday night.

Small craft warnings flew along the entire West Coast of Florida Sunday.

NEW LEADER in Jack Kramer's world professional tour is Lew Hoad, following his 6-3, 6-4 victory over defending champion Pancho Gonzales Sunday at Louisville. The triumph was Hoad's sixth in 11 matches.

Varone: Canadian Gridders 'Loaf'

Canadian professional football is loaded with loafers.

At least, so says Johnny Varone, former University of Miami right halfback and 1957 football captain who had a successful rookie season with Winnipeg.

"I've never seen so many guys loaf in my life," said Varone Saturday as he watched the UM's first spring practice.

"I was in better shape when I got there than when I was after a month of practice," he said. "We scrimmaged just twice."

After a slow start, Varone came on to "play 58 minutes games" as Winnipeg won the league's championship.

"At first, they had me playing wingback," said Varone. "I wasn't even in the game — the wingback is the fifth back in Canadian football."

"Then they shifted me to fullback and I got going."

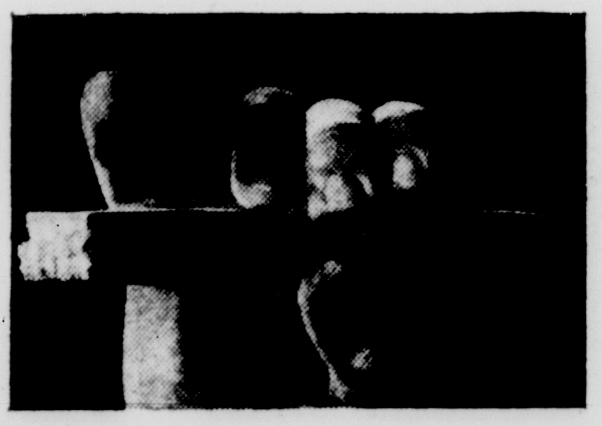
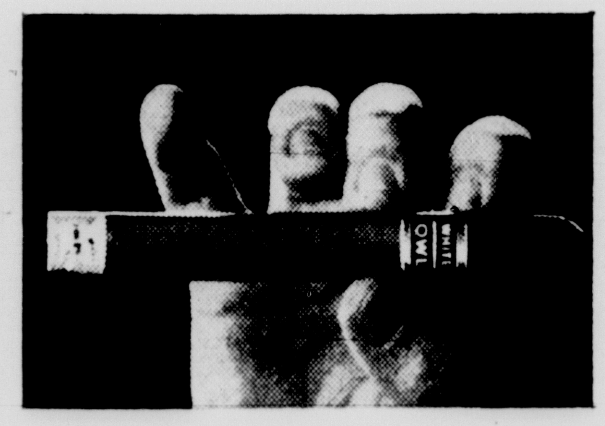
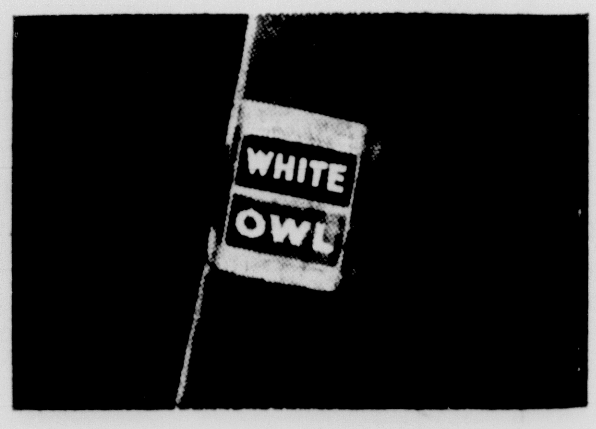
Air is great for sailboats — but cigars should be full of tobacco!



There are two kinds of cigars. Good ones and ungood ones. The ungood ones are made wrong. They're filled with cheaper tobacco, not enough of it, loosely packed.



White Owls are good ones. Filled with quality tobacco, plenty of it, packed just right. How can they sell them for only ten cents? Volume. Hundreds of millions.



Live a little!

Maple Leafs, Bruins Win; ABC Newcomber Grabs 5th

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK—Bob Pulford's goal from 50 feet out with two minutes to play gave the Toronto Maple Leafs a 6-5 victory over the New York Rangers Sunday night and kept alive the Leafs' flickering hopes for a berth in the National Hockey League playoffs.

It was the fourth straight defeat for the Rangers.

BOSTON—The battling Boston Bruins outskated Montreal's powerful Canadiens from the opening faceoff for a 5-3 National Hockey League victory. Johnny Bucyk's pair of goals in the third period were the deciding margin.

* * *

ST. LOUIS — Another local boy made good in the American Bowling Congress championships here Sunday, rolling into fifth place in the all-events division.

Kenneth Blount, who had never before competed in an ABC, assembled a nine game aggregate of 1,941. The 23-year-old truck driver blasted a 704 in the team event and came back Sunday afternoon with 615 in the doubles and 622 in the singles.

There were no changes in the singles or doubles standings.

DETROIT—Gene Shue kept the Detroit Pistons in the National Basketball Association's Western Division playoffs Sunday night, scoring 32 points as the Pistons stopped the Minneapolis Lakers, 117-103.

AUGUSTA — Professionals Beverly Hanson and Mickey Wright were honored for their golfing achievements of 1958.

Miss Hanson, from Indio, Calif., was presented the Vare Trophy, awarded annually to the professional with the lowest stroke average.

Miss Wright of San Diego, Calif., was presented the ladies PGA-Babe Zaharias Trophy.

er pitched three - hit ball the final seven innings. Baltimore Manager Paul Richards has had a song in his heart for the Oklahoma rookie ever since he shut out Washington as an 18-year-old recruit two years ago, and it grew louder by the pitch Sunday. Walker gave up one run right off the bat, then cut down the A's scorelessly the final six innings.

An 18-game winner in the South Atlantic League last year, the Oklahoman now has surrendered a single run in 12 innings of spring work.

Sunday's action shut off the Miami Stadium schedule until Thursday night, when the New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves step up. It was Baltimore's last appearance at its home training base until next Saturday, when they meet the Yankees, and it left a tangy taste in the mouths of Oriole partisans.

The Orioles play Milwaukee in Bradenton today.

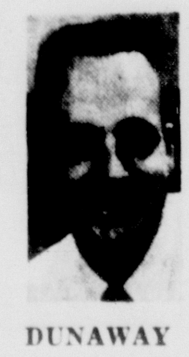
Banana River Hassle

Proposed 'Fill' Stuns Sportsmen

Brevard County (Cocoa area) outdoorsmen received stunning news last week.

Their county commissioners approved, unanimously and for the second time, construction of a bulkhead line to extend 6,020 feet out into the Banana River, covering some 3,200 acres of shallow water and sheltering islands for a length of about six miles.



DUNAWAY

Obviously this constitutes a tremendous threat to the area's unexcelled speckled trout fishing.

Since almost every part of the Florida coast will eventually be faced with similar problems —many already have suffered — the Brevard battle should be observed carefully by sportsmen all over the state.

Majority Wishes Ignored

"THE BREVARD Bulkhead Committee still feels that the commissioners have ignored the wishes of the majority of the people, and that they are letting real estate developers influence them unwisely. If this bulkhead line is established, it sets a precedent for wholesale filling and dredging in the Banana River.

"We believe that our commissioners should avail themselves of the services of the State Board of Conservation, the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Florida State Board of Health.

"These agencies would conduct responsible surveys of our area at no additional cost to the taxpayers. Why have the commissioners refused to ask these agencies for help?"

A Very Precious Asset

"CERTAIN real estate interests want to gain title to a tremendous publicly-owned area in the Banana River west of Cocoa Beach, so that they may fill for resale.

"The Banana River is one of Brevard County's most precious assets. Its beauty and resources belong to all the people. The area to be filled is part of the breeding ground for our world famous sea trout. The Banana and Indian River area is the home of 196 different species of birds—and more than any other area of similar size in the United States.

"We feel that surveys certainly should have been made to determine what effect the proposal would have on wildlife and public welfare. The Brevard Bulkhead Committee, the Indian River Audubon Society and many individuals have urged the commission to request these surveys."

The action requires approval from the Internal Improvement Board in Tallahassee before becoming a law. Bennett and others are pleading for residents of the area to write or wire Gov. LeRoy Collins and express their feelings about "the Banana Split."

A Double Reverse?

Tony Dupas Protests Weird Loss to Archer

HOUSTON, Tex. —(AP)— The Houston Chronicle said Sunday Joey Archer's victory over New Orleans' Tony Dupas here last Tuesday night has been protested to the Texas Boxing Commission.

Archer was declared winner in the bout after Dupas' hand first had been raised as a TKO victor at the end of the sixth round.

Deputy Boxing Commissioner Billy Smith reversed the decision under a rarely used Texas boxing rule.

The rule states that a bout which ends because of a cut resulting from an unintentional butt will go to the fighter leading on the score cards if the bout is more than half over.

The Chronicle said the protest filed by Trainer James A. Stevenson, who handled Dupas in the fight, contends:

1. Archer's trainer, Bill Gore, and not Referee Ernie Taylor stopped the fight and no physician examined Archer.

2. The Dupas party was never officially informed of the decision.

3. Referee Taylor informed Stevenson he had scored the fight even after six rounds but later his score card showed Archer leading, 58-77.

4. Dupas was not informed of the rule before the fight.

Wednesday Hassle Tops Fight Card

Bassey 6-5 Pick in Title Go

NEW YORK —(AP)— Two outstanding little fighters, World Featherweight Champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria and leading challenger Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, clash in a 15-round title fight at Los Angeles Wednesday night.

Bassey, making the second defense of his 126-pound crown, is a slight 6-5 favorite. The bout, starting at 10 p.m. (EST), will be telecast coast-to-coast from the Olympic Auditorium.

Bassey, 26, has won 11 straight in a streak that started Nov. 26, 1956. Moore, 25, has swept his last 18.

Bassey won the title by knocking out France's Cherif Hamia in the final round of an elimination tournament in Paris in 1957. In his one defense he kayoed Mexico's Ricardo (Pajarito) Moreno in the third round last April

In the other national television fight of the week, Tony Anthony, leading light heavyweight contender from New York, meets Sonny Ray, No. 5 contender, in a return 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night (NBC, 10 p.m., EST).

Anthony outpointed Ray at the Garden last Nov. 14.

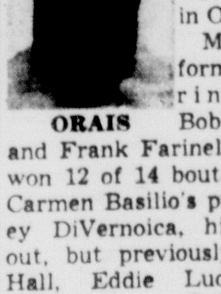
Beattie, Orais Box at Bayfront

Unbeaten Lightweight Ed Beattie divorces the six-round boxing ranks tonight at Bayfront Auditoirum, meeting strong Billy Orais in his initial eight-round start.

And, if Beattie is successful, Manager Paul Antonacci plans to continue the gradual climb in class.

"If Ed is impressive," said Antonacci Sunday, "I'll give him a few more eights and then up him to the 10-round class."



ORAIS

Beattie, making his third start since surgery to close a hole in his heart a year and a half ago, faces his toughest foe in Orais.

Managed by former Miami ring favorite Bobby Dykes and Frank Farinella, Orais has won 12 of 14 bouts. He lost to Carmen Basilio's protege, Dickey DiVernoica, his last time out, but previously beat Billy Hall, Eddie Ludlow (three times), Kenny Sultzmann, Kid Humphreys and Danny Jones.

Beattie stopped Hall and Sultzmann in his last two outings.

Prelims match Perfecto Garcia with Hector Rodriquez, six rounds; Willie Giles and Bobby Monroe, six rounds; Dwaine Simpson and Joey Clements, four rounds; John Pugh and Tiger Flowers, four rounds; and Billy Maples and Willie Finney, four rounds.

The 8:45 opener will be announced from ringside.

Paul Harney Wins Open With 269

PENSACOLA —(AP)— Paul Harney, long hitting pro from Worcester, Mass., won the $15,000 Pensacola Open golf tournament Sunday with a brilliant 19-under-par 269, a tourney record.

Harney's 69-65-65-70—269 was four strokes better than the tournament record of 273 set by Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., in 1957.

Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., took second place with a 16-under-par 272 over the 6,500-yard par 36-36—72 Pensacola Country Club Course. Hebert had 68-72-65-67—272.

Harris on Horses

By Russ Harris
Herald Turf Writer

Turf Might Use Baseball's Method of Naming Officials

Irving Gushen, national president of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, believes thoroughbred racing's method of appointing officials is "antiquated."

Gushen held a round-table discussion with horsemen and members of the press last week during which he maintained that racing officials should be appointed in a manner similar to major league baseball's system of assigning umpires.

GUSHEN

"The race track management should not hire stewards," said Gushen. "The stewards should be appointed by a neutral panel or board from a pool of qualified officials."

Gushen maintains that stewards could do a better job if they were completely independent of track management. Said Gushen:

"For example, when a horse comes on the track and appears sore in the pre-race warmup, it is the duty of the stewards to order that horse withdrawn. But any man may hesitate to order a heavy favorite scratched and force the refund of thousands of dollars, thereby displeasing his employer."

Not Referring to Hartack Episode

GUSHEN emphasized that he was NOT referring to the Bill Hartack episode which occurred on Widener Day at Hialeah.

Hartack refused to ride a horse which he said was unfit to race. The horse was ordered withdrawn at the last moment although veterinarians could find nothing wrong with it.

A New Englander who has been in racing since 1940 and has been HBPA president for six years, Gushen concludes: "Fewer sore horses would get to the post if the stewards were named by someone not connected with the track management."

The Gulfstream Saga of Double X

IN FAIRNESS to the officials, it should be noted that horses have been known to appear "gimpy" in the pre-race exercising and then win by five or six lengths.

However, when the field came on the track for the second race at Gulfstream last Friday, at least six men in the pressbox (none of them "experts") voiced the opinion that Double X was too sore to race.

Double X, the 2-1 favorite, was sent to the post just the same. He went lame before going a sixteenth of a mile.

Canada Edges Russia For Hockey Crown

The New York Times Service

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia—The world hockey tournament swept to a tremendously exciting, bone-jarring close here Sunday as Czechoslovakia upset Canada, 5 to 3. More than 15,000 jam-packed fans shrieked themselves hoarse at every near riot which erupted on the ice.

Canada finished with the same won-and-lost record as Soviet Russia, but won the world championship anyway by having scored more goals and permitted fewer. On the same basis, thanks to a goal shot into the Canadians' empty net in the closing seconds Sunday, the Czechs squeaked past the United States into third place.

Sweden threw a scare into Russia Sunday morning before bowing, 2 to 4.

Mt. Dora Regatta

O'Connor's Suicide Wins

Special To The Herald

MT. DORA—Gene O'Connor, who won the state championship only last week, Sunday put together a second and two first place heat finishes to snare the suicide division title in the rain-swept Mt. Dora Regatta.

Miami's Jerry Gwynn, who won the first heat but wound up second and third in the last two, finished second. Jay Rollins of Jacksonville was third.

Miamians won two events in the 14-division sail. John Mercer topped the Seminole class with a first and two seconds in heats, while Gerald Kuehner and Jim Bailey Jr., both of Miami, tied in the Moth class.

The results:

Nimrod Wins Log Race

John Coppock skippered his powerboat, Nimrod, to victory Sunday in the University Yacht Club's second annual Predicted Log Contest in Biscayne Bay.

Representing the Coast Guard Auxiliary's Flotilla 7, Coppock defeated 21 rivals by having a percentage of error of only 1.017 from his estimated time for the 36-mile course.

Counting an eighth-place finish by James Branam, Flotilla 7 won the Deichmann perpetual trophy for the team finishing the highest. Their combined percentage of error was just 1.937.

Matheson Wins Shores Golf Test

Charles Matheson won the blind bogey golf tournament at Miami Shores Country Club Sunday. Frank Holt was second. Pro Jim MacLaughlin announced that entries now are being taken for the men's sweepstakes tournament.

Gables Netter Wins

POMPANO BEACH — Sally Fuller of Coral Gables defeated Evelyn Clark, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1 in the finals of the Gold Coast lawn tennis tournament Sunday.

Two Upset Wins in NCAA

Can Louisville Go the Route?

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's two down and two to go in the struggle for titles in college basketball's post-season tournament play.

The two major college championships were awarded last week and now the big teams are in the final stages of deciding the two major tournaments — the university division of the National Collegiate A. A. and the time-honored National Invitation Tournament.

Cincinnati, West Virginia, Louisville and California are the survivors in the upset-riddled NCAA tournament, which saw the defending champion and the top-ranked college team of the nation eliminated in regional playoffs last weekend.

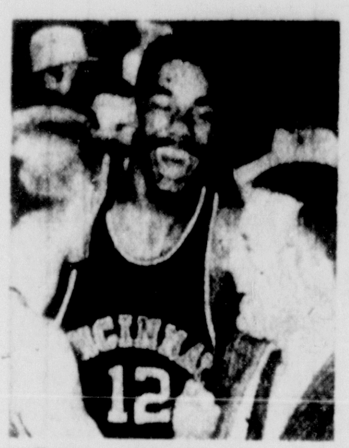
The top-seeded Bradley Braves and St. John's (NY) reached the NIT semifinals Saturday while Providence and New York University won the right to play two other seeded teams, St. Louis and Oklahoma City, in the other quarter finals Tuesday.

Evansville, the host college, won the NCAA small college divisionship Friday. Tennessee A&I State captured the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics title for the third straight year in the other national small college tournament.

Here's what happened in the Saturday scrambles:

Louisville, the team that eliminated Kentucky on Friday night, turned in another upset by whipping Big Ten Champion Michigan State 88-81.

Cincinnati, with Oscar Robertson taking over the playmaker's role in the second half, gained an 85-75 victory over Kansas State, rated the nation's No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll of writers and broadcasters.



Oscar Robertson

Heavily-favored West Virginia had to stage one of its patented come-from behind performances to beat Boston University, 86-82.

California, the nation's No. 1 defensive college team, kept things well under control in beating St. Mary's, 66-46.

In the 22nd NIT — the oldest of the post-season tournaments — Bradley, ranked No. 4 nationally, held off a late rally and beat Butler, 83-77, and St. John's, led by Sophomore Tony Jackson, upset fourth-seeded St. Bonaventure, 82-74, in quarter final games. Providence edged out Manhattan, 86-66, a NYU whipped Denver, 90-81, in afternoon first round games.

Better Bee's Buzzing Clouds 'Cap Picture

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

The impressive triumph of W. S. Miller's Better Bee in Saturday's Appleton Handicap shoves another strong contender into Saturday's $100,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap picture.

Judged from their performances in the Appleton, Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Amerigo, who finished second, and Elmendorf's Bill's Sky Boy, who was third, will both run in the Gulfstream.

Crabgrass Stable's Noureddin is another likely starter.

Added to this group will be Brookmeade Stable's Oligarchy and possibly Calumet Farm's Bardstown, winners of the 1958 and 1959 Wideners. Bardstown also won the Gulfstream Park Handicap in 1957.

Vertex, owned by F. A. Piarulli and J. J. Brunetti, also is a prospect.

Final estimates on the probable field for the Gulfstream Handicap will not be available until Tuesday or Wednesday, after owners and trainers have studied the weights which are due today from Racing Secretary James P. Ross Jr.

The midweek attraction at Gulfstream will be the Green Valley Handicap at a mile over the turf course. From the 84 original eligibles, a bumper crop of entries is expected for the first added money feature over the new grass oval.

LOVER'S LEAP gets the call over this lot; MR. HARRISON is on also list but rates a chance; SUPERIOR MISS could surprise here; HANSUM appears best of the rest.

830—SECOND—Purse $3,000, 4-year-olds and up, claiming $3,250, 6½ furlongs. Post 2:20.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds

334	1	Poor John	J. Bev	115	20-1
272	16	Col's Daughter	H. Cruz	x105	20-1

I GEEGEE, idle since Tropical Park, has been freshened; TOSCIN can make trouble; BROTHER BEANS has shown some good races, chance; BILL MAYHEW is always dangerous in this company.

831—THIRD—Purse $3,200, 4-year-olds, allowances, 6 furlongs. Post 2:50.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
	6	Old Cutler	H. Woodhouse	118	4-1

	15	Esbirro 2nd	No Boy	112	12-1
581	16	a-Pildoron	No Boy	112	6-1

a—R. S. Reynolds Jr. & Miss Cary Latimer entry.

OLD CUTLER figures the one to beat; MIDDLETOWN can step with these, rates contender; TRIANON has been looking for a spot, this may be it; PATAGONIAN could upset in this, best of entry.

832—FOURTH—Purse $3,500, 3-year-olds, claiming $8,500-$7,500, 6½ furlongs. Post 3:20.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
753	7	Moresun Lad	No Boy	109	4-1
654	9	Hilda's Honey	H. Woodhouse	108	4-1

791	14	Active Crater	J. Sellers	113	10-1
791	16	Dykhtau	J. Choquette	113	12-1

MORESUN LAD could easily be the surprise package here; HILDA'S HONEY showed a world of speed last out; ROYAL GARLAND has a chance for a share; INTERROGATION must be given consideration.

833—FIFTH—Purse $3,800, 4-year-olds and up, claiming $20,000-$15,000, 1 1-16 miles. Post 3:50.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
799	1	a-Nah Hiss	R. Ussery	111	2-1
763	6	Little Porter	M. N. Gonzales	114	3-1
711	5	Nickel Boy	S. Boulmetis	111	4-1

763	3	a-Music Maestro	No Boy	111	2-1
693	4	Sabena 2nd	K. Church	109	10-1

NAH HISS' last race was a beaut; LITTLE PORTER is dropping down to his kind; NICKEL BOY might upset this; SMILEYTOWN can't be ignored.

834—SIXTH—Purse $4,000, 4-year-olds and up, allowances, 1¼ miles. Post 4:20.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
673	6	Ambehaving	E. Guerin	119	6-5
718	5	Point Of Order	No Boy	110	3-1
799	9	Juamario	G. L. Smith	110	6-1

798	7	Ros-Nuala	J. Ruane	116	15-1
539	8	Golden Lark	No Boy	111	10-1

AMBEHAVING appears the best bet of the day; POINT OF ORDER is in good form, contender; JUAMARIO has chance for part; GRAY FLIER is another in fine fettle right now.

835—SEVENTH—Purse $3,800, 3-year-olds, allowances, 6 furlongs. Post 4:50.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
800	13	Dunce	W. Hartack	110	6-5

780	14	Bird In Flight	J. Bennett	x105	10-1
	1	Shannon Money	J. Leonard	110	20-1

a—F. W. Hooper Jr. & F. W. Hooper entry.

DUNCE needed last, Monday should be the day; PRYSON is speedy, has plenty of chance; JET FUEL's last must be forgotten; COLTRANE will command heavy betting at the weight and may surprise.

836—EIGHTH—Purse $3,400, 4-year-olds and up, claiming $6,000-$5,500, 1⅛ miles. Post 5:20.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
783	5	Big Winner	W. Harmartz	110	2-1
755	8	Battle Camp	No Boy	110	3-1
819	2	Le Tocsin	F. A. Smith	110	4-1
770	6	Flaming Blue	L. Hansman	111	8-1
(730)	9	Point Count	No Boy	110	6-1
801	1	Time Zone	No Boy	110	10-1
708	3	Iked	S. Brooks	110	12-1
667	4	Ambor Reigh	T. Barrow	110	8-1
792	7	El Saludo 2nd	M. Gomez	113	10-1

BIG WINNER should but don't expect too much refund; BATTLE CAMP can improve last, contender; LE TOCSIN just missed in last; FLAMING BLUE is speedy and dangerous at the weight.

837—NINTH—Purse $3,000, 4-year-olds and up, claiming all $3,000, 1 3-16 miles. Post 5:50.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
774	3	Gay Dictation	W. M. Cook	113	2-1
	9	French General	W. Harmartz	116	4-1
805	1	Raising Cain	S. Brooks	116	3-1
747	6	Cobber	E. Guerin	118	4-1
	11	Master Teddy	B. Fisk	114	8-1
805	2	Mistralor	No Boy	114	12-1
805	5	Miss Elena	No Boy	109	20-1
676	4	G-Two	No Boy	114	12-1
774	8	Auratum	No Boy	109	10-1
809	10	Constant Rebel	M. Cox	114	12-1
478	7	Ardan Up	No Boy	116	20-1

GAY DICTATION appears best of a mediocre lot; FRENCH GENERAL will be well-supported with good rider on top; RAISING CAIN is long overdue; COBBER will appreciate the distance.

Union Business Agent Permit Rules Tightening Probable

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

BOYLES

TALLAHASSEE—The Legislature, convening next month, will be asked to strengthen Florida laws on licensing of business agents for labor unions.

Nobody is ready to talk officially about specific proposals, but it will be an issue.

It is a good bet consideration will be given to setting up a department for regulating the licenses, under the Florida Industrial Commission.

Responsible labor leaders, as well as state officials, are concerned about the influx of "outsiders" into the state to organize unions.

Under Florida laws, a half-dozen men can set up an alleged union to organize various fields of labor, elect themselves union officers, and appoint business agents who apply for licenses.

If no protests are made within 30 days after the application is filed, the license is automatically granted.

The application consists merely of swearing that the applicant is of good moral character, has never been convicted of a felony.

Secretary of State R. A. Gray and Superintendent of Schools Thomas D. Bailey serve with Gov. LeRoy Collins on the licensing board. Gray and Bailey have indicated they not only think the law is weak, because it provides no funds nor procedure for strict enforcement, but they feel some agency other than cabinet officers should supervise it.

A new law undoubtedly will provide for investigation of each applicant's background to ascertain whether or not they have a police record.

Lines Forming

LOBBYING from within and without the government will work against Gov. LeRoy Collins' central purchasing proposal.

He indicated it will go so far as to determine whether certain commodities are needed by the agencies requesting them.

Some businesses who sell to the state will oppose broad central purchasing, because they prefer to deal with individual department chiefs. In turn, department heads do not want to relinquish the discretionary authority they now exercise in purchasing.

Here and There

AROUND THE CAPITOL: Col. H. N. Kirkman, patrol bossman, says "There are two types of highway insurance. A grave for the crazy driver, and long and useful life for the careful. Subscribe to your choice. The policies are free" . . . Raiford Warden DeWitt Sinclair "The inmates we are getting now are the lowest class we've ever had," recalls the stories that in the old days they kept Raiford a minimum security prison. The tough guys were dispatched to road camps. That's why the sweat boxes, now eliminated, were installed at the camps.

Quiz Answers Stress Temptation Dangers

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠A ♥AK542 ♦973 ♣10654

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1♦	1♠	2♥	Pass
3♣	Pass	4♣	Pass
4♦	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five diamonds. Partner obviously has a fine diamond suit for which our three small will be adequate support. On the other hand his clubs are only four in number and a bad break there might make five clubs an unplayable contract. An alternative call is four spades, but that might be a little drastic with such a weak holding in the minors.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠10643 ♥K10 ♦AKQ63 ♣75

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	2♦	Pass
3♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five spades. Partner has shown a big hand with a solid spade suit. There should be slam if the opponents are unable to grab a couple of quick tricks. Your leap over game will indicate to partner that he needs controls in the unbid suits.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠Q10963 ♥QJ63 ♦J953

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1♣	1♠	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Four spades. This bid serves a twofold purpose. The partner could muster a mere overcall, your hands could fit well enough to make the contract. Furthermore, should the hand belong to the opposition, your bid makes it extremely difficult for them to get together.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠AKJ ♥AJ1083 ♦2 ♣K984

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1♥	Pass	1♠
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two clubs. The temptation is to raise spades immediately. However, a single raise would be inadequate, and a double raise should be avoided when holding only three trumps, even such good ones as these. The compromise choice is a temporizing bid of two clubs intending to raise spades subsequently.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♥QJ107654 ♦J82 ♣Q63

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1♣	2♦	?

What do you bid?

A.—Four hearts. Your hand has great playing strength but virtually no defense, so every effort should be exerted to prevent the opponents from getting together. This is the same response you would have made if East had not entered the auction.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠AKJ10753 ♥A862 ♦7 ♣5

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♠	2♦	Pass	Pass
2♠	3♦	3♥	4♦
4♥	5♦	Double	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five hearts. This hand will be a disappointment defensively, but if your partner has merely five hearts to the king-queen, you will be an outstanding favorite to make five hearts.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠AQ863 ♥4 ♦J3 ♣109865

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1♦	Pass	1♠	Pass
2 NT.	Pass	3♣	Pass
3 NT.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. You have told your story. If partner had a fit with either of your suits or if he did not have hearts adequately controled, he would not have persisted with no trump.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠J6 ♥93 ♦AQ108642 ♣85

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 NT.	Double	?

What do you bid?

A.—Three no trump. This may seem a bit unusual, but your hand is a reasonable prospect to produce seven tricks which your partner will certainly be able to fill out to nine. Furthermore, it is possible the opponents will have a good save in one of the major suits against which this bid may serve as an effective barricade.

Gourmet Hines Dies Aged 78

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. — (UPI)— Duncan Hines, 78, an internationally known gourmet and author, who built a profitable business by recommending restaurants and hotels to travelers, died at his home here Sunday.

He had been ill for a year and under treatment for cancer of the lung.

A native of this Western Kentucky city, he made the slogan "recommended by Duncan Hines" known throughout the world by endorsing restaurants, hotels, motels and inns visited during his extensive travels.

Six Injured In Crash Near Stuart

STUART — Six Miamians were injured, four critically, in a head-on collision Sunday near Stuart on rain-slick Sunshine State Parkway.

In one car were a nurse and three elderly women, including Mrs. Henry Whiting, former owner of the Diamond Salt Co. in Michigan. In the other were Mr. and Mrs. George Solberg, 8125 SW 64th St. He is the owner of a Coral Gables chemical company, Aquachem Inc.

Mrs. Whiting's car was driven by her nurse, Miss Clyde Fletcher, 45, of 450 Beacom Blvd.

Mrs. Whiting, 83, 2944 SW Sixth St., her companion, Miss Maude Smith, 76, same address, and Mrs. Leila Bond, 83, of 2225 SW Ninth St., were all in critical condition, as was Solberg.

Doctors at Martin Hospital in Stuart listed the condition of Mrs. Solberg and Miss Fletcher as serious.

Policeman Wins His Pension Suit

Circuit Judge Pat Cannon has ruled in favor of retired Coral Gables Police Capt. Floyd V. Brasher, 59, in his suit demanding a full pension — three-fourths of his $507 monthly salary.

The city had offered him $273 a month, $107 less than the normal pension of $380 after a recent heart attack which put him temporarily off duty.

Rites Set For Herald Stereotyper

Private services and burial will be today for Fay E. Earl, 57, a Miami Herald stereotyper, who died Saturday.

3 Fellowships Are Offered

Eight three-month research fellowships are being offered students at the University of Miami and the University of Florida by the Florida Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Each school will get four of the grants, which pay $200 a month to students working on individual projects in medical and social research.

Dr. M. Eugene Flipse, chairman of the sociology department, are administering the research at UM.

1,500 Tangle With Police

'Boorish,' Yale Head Calls Student Melee

NEW HAVEN, Conn. —(AP)— City and Yale University officials took a serious view Sunday of a melee involving some 1,500 Yale students and scores of policemen.

"Boorishness," university President A. Whitney Griswold called the students' actions.

"Disgraceful," said Police Chief Francis McManus.

Mayor Richard C. Lee said he was "too upset" to discuss it.

In turn, some student leaders agreed the Yale men were off base, but they also said police were unnecessarily rough and swung clubs indiscriminately.

Meantime, the 4,000 Yale undergraduates were told by Griswold to stay on the campus until this morning and not be on city streets.

They shouted "Gestapo" at officers and hung swastikas and other banners from dormitory windows. McManus estimated 1,500 students milled around the area.

Within 35 minutes, 16 students and a policemen were hurt by police count. None required overnight hospitalization.

Griswold promptly called a meeting for today to consider disciplinary action. He said the fight "would set back 10 years of work to improve town-Yale cooperation."

He said the outbreak has brought disgrace upon all of us."

INDUSTRIAL "SPEED-UPS" ALWAYS INCREASE PRODUCTION!
TRUE ☐
FALSE ☐
2. WHICH IS INFLUENCED MOST BY ENVIRONMENT?
PERSONALITY ☐
INTELLIGENCE ☐
3. DO HANDICAPPED CHILDREN NEED SPECIAL EMOTIONAL CARE?
YES ☐ NO ☐
3-16

By S. M. DUVALL and EVELAN M. DUVALL, Ph.Ds

TRUE — AT LEAST for the time being. In one experiment, however, the size of a work group was cut, but the work quota was not. The employes were told to either produce more or get out. There was more production, but there was also much more dissatisfaction — a high price to pay for increased output.

2. Personality. Intelligence is supposedly fixed by heredity, although not as completely as some have supposed. Personality has some hereditary factors in it, like physical vigor, energy and looks. But disposition, happiness, interest in others, and positive and negative attitudes toward life result largely, if not mainly, from the ways in which you have been brought up, or what you have done with yourselves since childhood. You can do a lot to improve your personality.

3. Yes. Physical handicaps keep a child from participating fully in activities, and thus they restrict his emotional growth! He has more than the usual amount of frustration. As a result, it's easier for him to give up trying, and to turn to day dreams for his satisfactions. His parents must learn to be especially sensitive to his problems. He needs, not only more kindness, but more encouragement to do the best that he can do.

AMERICA'S FASTEST GROWING CHAIN OF AUTO CENTERS INVITES YOU TO JOIN US IN MIAMI WITH YOUR SPECIALTY.

WE'RE creating an auto center similar to ones we operate very successfully with Macy's, Bamberger's, The May Co., Los Angeles, Wieboldt's, Chicago and other retail centers from coast to coast. An ultra modern auto center will be built in 163rd St. shopping center in Miami proper, on 18,000 Sq. Ft., composed of the Auto Center and adjacent parking area. Depending upon your needs we will divide to suit. We plan to have auto, sporting and outdoor equipment in this center and categories open at his time are:

TIRES, SEAT COVERS
MUFFLERS, MARINE AND BOATING EQUIPMENT
AUTO ACCESSORIES
HARDWARE
OUTDOOR FURNITURE

IF YOUR specialty fits into one or more of the above categories and you are interested in a built-in traffic situation, write to me on your letterhead, telling us about the type of operation you run. Direct your reply to President, Tire Mart Stores Corp. 640 N. Myrtle Ave., Jacksonville, Fla.

We Gotta Go!
1240 S. VENETIAN WAY
2 YEARS ago we bought this lovely walled estate with 120' frontage on Biscayne Bay and installed a new dock. Ideal for the kids, perfect for my boat and the view is magnificent. We installed central airconditioning and heat, built a couple of Florida rooms, created a new kitchen, rewired the house, bought new furniture, prepared to spend a lifetime, but I have been transferred to New York so must sell. Someone who understands value will make a whale of a buy. Our agent will give details and arrange inspection.

THE LIBERTY STORY
THE construction of today's Liberty built homes starts with the finest steel frames available. Eleven gauge steel with patented tubular construction. Over the frame goes the famous Liberty heated floor. It is built like an insulated basement with forced air heat ducts built into the floor. The attic roof is built like the name implies with layers of insulating material, as well as ample air space for house type weather protection. This design also provides for natural draft free circulation of fresh air to keep inner walls moisture and condensation free. As a result Liberty space is refreshingly cooler in the rays of Florida's hottest sunshine. Interiors are ¼" birch, walnut and oak. Exteriors are aluminum. Liberty Coach Co. is one of the oldest and largest in the industry today. Tom Hamilton is one of their oldest and largest dealers. Your Liberty is guaranteed for as long as you own it. Don't be misled by so-called priced trailers. Our prices start a little above the lowest. Anything of value taken in trade. Central bank, Universal C.I.T. or our own financing available. Terms to suit you. Call us for free appraisal on your trailer, auto, furniture, real estate Etc.

THE FOLKS that give Free Gifts, etc., charge MORE for their cars, in order to GIVE YOU something for nothing — WANT PROOF? Just take your pencil—The British pound is worth $2.80. The cars that feature the giveaways sell F.O.B. factory for 365 pounds (average sales price in Miami $1567).

HOWEVER a MORRIS MINOR costs only $1495 — That's it, no ups — and you get a mighty fine little car, built by the WORLD'S LARGEST Builder of small cars.

WE BELIEVE OUR customers would rather have the RIGHT PRICE . . . the lowest cash price — AND the Morris not only has more room inside, has wider wheel spread and WE Guarantee it will give Better Gas Mileage.

BUT, we have no quarrel with the folks that cut prices, they should know what their product is worth.

Japan's Weeklies Booming

By KEYES BEECH
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

TOKYO—The Japanese publishing world is currently experiencing two major developments — a rash of weekly magazines and a rash of history.

BEECH

Two years ago there were only four weeklies in Japan. Today there are 35, including three for children or teenagers, with a combined circulation of more than 10 million. Two weeklies have a circulation of more than a million each.

This boom in weeklies reflects the rapidly changing Japanese way of life.

One big factor is the stepped-up tempo of Japanese society. Straphanging commuters find the weeklies easy to read even on crowded trains.

The magazines are also cheap — only 30 yen (8 cents). Their popularity has given rise to a new phrase, "30-yen culture," and the usual fears that Japanese culture will be debased by trashy or superficial reading matter.

Too, more Japanese are beginning to read. In prewar years the "reading habit" was pretty much confined to the upper class or intellectuals.

Today practically every white-collar worker or housewife buries his head in a newspaper or magazine as he boards his train.

Still another factor is the growing "Americanization" of Japan. Like Americans before them, the Japanese have learned to live by the week instead of the month. They look forward to their weekend pleasures just as much as do Americans.

There is also a lively market for biographical books on famous living men. The subjects range from Red China's Mao Tse-tung to Movieman Walt Disney.

Hawaii Statehood Has Public's OK

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

The Gallup Poll

PRINCETON, N. J. — The vote last week in the Senate and House to admit Hawaii as the 50th state in the union culminates nearly 20 years of support from the U.S. public.

In every survey by the Gallup Poll since 1941, overwhelming majorities of the public have indicated their willingness to accept Hawaii into the union.

The latest vote on the question, reported in August of last year, showed the following:

STATEHOOD FOR HAWAII?

Favor	72%
Oppose	9
No opinion	19

Following a territorial plebiscite in November, 1940, in which Hawaiians voted for statehood, the Gallup Poll sounded out sentiment on the issue in the continental U.S.

The initial survey found that, among those with opinions, statehood for Hawaii was approved by about 2-to-1.

After World War II—during which Hawaii served as a key outpost in the Pacific—public support rose sharply. In 1946, the vote was 3-to-1 in favor among those expressing an opinion.

During the years since then, the Gallup Poll consistently recorded clear majorities favoring Hawaii's admission as a state in the union.

The August, 1958, ratio of 8-to-1 in favor among those with opinions was the highest ever recorded in the almost 20 years that the Gallup Poll has been polling U.S. opinion on the subject.

Teenage Bandit Is Shortchanged

BALTIMORE — (AP) — A young Baltimore gunman came out 50 cents short in a grocery store robbery.

David Silberman, 79, the grocer, said the teenage bandit spent about 30 minutes waiting for customers to leave. While biding his time, he bought two soft drinks, a pretzel and a pack of cigarets.

When the place was clear, he pulled a gun. Mrs. Silberman screamed. The bewildered youth fled without taking anything.

Mad Major's Going Around in Circles

By Herald Wire Services

PEOPLE

THE COP LOOKED at the little car going around the statue of Eros in London's Piccadilly. It went around and around and around — and the cop finally held up his hand.

Inside was Maj. Christopher Draper — "the mad major" — who flew a plane under 12 Thames bridges in 1953. He explained he was trying to circumnavigate the famed monument 100 times. He had already completed 42½ circuits.

The cop looked at the swirl of traffic in one of the busiest intersections in the world and shook his helmet.

"I'm going on till I've done a hundred," the major insisted and off he putted.

He had covered only 1½ more circuits when the policeman hailed him to a stop again and the major decided to call it off.

American Wins Scottish Honor

THE GOOD LOOKS and personality of a blonde American student have earned her one of the highest honors in the extra-mural social life of Aberdeen University in Scotland.

She is Iris Houglan, 20, from Wordsworth, Ohio, who was chosen as queen for the 1959 charities campaign.

Miss Houglan is on a one-year course at Aberdeen studying politics, philosophy and psychology. She will be crowned next month and will preside at the university's annual charities ball and other functions.

Body of Pius X Will Be Moved

POPE JOHN XXIII told 2,000 pilgrims from Venice Sunday that the body of Pope Pius X will be returned to the City of Canals in April to remain for a month.

Pope Pius X, when he was Giuseppe Cardinal Sarto, patriarch of Venice, told Venetians when he left to attend the 1903 conclave that elected him pontiff: "Alive or dead, I will come back." Pope John XXIII also was patriarch of Venice before becoming pontiff.

A Vatican announcement said the body of Pius X would be taken to Venice April 12 and remain there for one month. After that it will be brought back to the Vatican for final burial in St. Peter's Grotto.

Boy Leaves Body For Science Study

A 13-YEAR-OLD boy in Riverside, Calif. who saw his father commit suicide two years ago took his own life after leaving a note dedicating his body to research or science, sheriff's officers said.

The body of Dennis James Henry was found in a field behind the home of his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Meierhoff. Beside him was a .22 caliber rifle.

A search was organized when the Meierhoffs found a note which read:

"To whom it may concern —I dedicate my body to research or science. Give my love to all." It was signed, "the late Dennis Henry."

Sheriff's officers said the boy's mother deserted him when he was 2. In 1957, his father, James Eldon Henry, committed suicide as he and his stepmother looked on. The youth was placed in the foster home after his father's death.

Gatorburgers? A Crocodile Lie

VAN NUYS, Calif. — (AP) — Someone made off with one of A. J. Moore's alligators.

Moore, who operates a hot dog and hamburger stand, says he had three alligators in a pen, but one is missing.

Moore denies he's selling gatorburgers.

Court Transfer Is Key

By JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writer

Metro proposals to take over Miami services are going to be snagged in the city commission until the two government units work out the embattled transfer of city traffic court.

MORTON

The authority for this conclusion is Commissioner Otis W. Shiver, who can be as tenacious as an undertow.

Shiver said the speed with which Miami and the county government will determine the course of other transfers — such as water distribution, waste collection and other services — depends on the court transfer, as far as he's concerned.

And new City Manager Ira F. Willard is just as obstinate about a plan of his own — that the job security of Miami employes involved in any transfer will have to be considered even before the court swap.

What it means is that coming talks — still unscheduled — between the Metro and Miami Commissions could get so bogged down in details that any transfer of anything is distant.

Still Resisting

MEANTIME, the Miami legal department will continue to resist prosecuting city offenders in Metro Court. In fact, according to Vivion Rutherford, special city counsel, the city cannot prosecute in the county court.

Inside City Hall

Instead, city offenders who challenge Miami jurisdiction will be handed over to the State Attorney's office for prosecution Rutherford said.

"Nobody is going to get away because there's a question of jurisdiction involved," the attorney said. He also said the city will continue to follow "due process" through the courts until the city and county work out the traffic court transfer.

Shiver Shock

COMMISSIONER SHIVER handed his buddy and fellow commissioner, George W. DuBreuil, a shock early last week. Shiver, then a patient at Johns Hopkins, phoned DuBreuil that the doctors had found out the reason for Shiver's recurring stomach distress:

"They located a heavy, dark discoloration near my brain," Shiver said dolefully, "and it extended down the side of my neck, through my body and ended in the left foot."

Much disturbed, DuBreuil whispered, "What'd they say it was?"

"A mean streak," Shiver replied, "and they'd have to kill me to cure it."

Our 'Sister'

MIAMI'S MYSTERY "sister city" may not be such a mystery in a few days. City Publicity Director Lew Price is scheduled to be in Washington today and Tuesday to take part in a session on President Eisenhower's "People to People" program. One of the things to be discussed is Miami's counterpart in the friendship project. So far, its location is pin-pointed only as somewhere south of the border.

High Steps In

JOSE MARIA LEMUS, president of El Salvador, said he was displeased because he got no official invitation to visit in Miami during his stay in the U.S. It wasn't because he isn't welcome, said Mayor Robert King High, but because invitations to chiefs of state generally come from way, way up — like from the State Department. However, there was no such invitation, and the mayor stepped in:

"Come any time you like, President Lemus. Stay as long as you can, and we'll make sure there's no mistake about Miami hospitality."

Help Sought

NORTH MIAMI BEACH, one of Miami's good neighbors, has asked for some help in establishing a larger library system. Miami will fill in some vacancies and the administration on a contract basis.

Low Prices Offered on Reupholstery And Restyling by Budget Decorators

"Your dream of custom-made draperies, wall to wall and ceiling to floor, now can be possible at the price of ready-made drapes," says A. G. Croysdale, general manager of Budget Decorators.

"You can save as much as 40 per cent at Budget," he said, "and you eliminate guesswork because we do everything. We take the measurements, and expertly tailor the draperies with close attention to all the fine workroom details."

The showroom, main office and factory of Budget Decorators are located at 555 SW 22nd Ave., in Miami, where the phone is FRanklin 3-7366.

"Examples of the great savings offered on these custom-made draperies," Croysdale added, "are as follows: four feet wide, regularly $27.50, on sale at $11.99; eight feet wide, regularly $35.00, on sale for $22.99; 12 feet wide, regularly $52.50, on sale for $33.99; and 16 feet wide, regularly $70.00, on sale for only $44.00. All prices are for drapes up to 102 inches long.

"These prices include labor, buckram, weights, pins and a wide selection of decorator fabrics. Higher priced fabrics and prints are available with similar savings.

"Custom-made slip covers also are a specialty at Budget Decorators with savings up to 35 per cent. Sale prices for sofa and chair covers are as follows: regular $59 value, with a choice of eight beautiful solid colors, now on sale for $49; a $79 value, with a choice of 10 vat colors and guaranteed 100 per cent washable cottons, now on sale for $64; and a $94 value, with a choice of 15 vat colors and guaranteed to be heavy duty, 100 per cent washable cottons in many patterns are now on sale for $74.

"These wonderful sale prices include all labor, fabric and trimmings, as well as a choice of box or kick pleats, and delivery and installation.

"Another feature at Budget is the remodeling, restyling, and reupholstering of furniture. Budget Decorators is headquarters for the new 'miracle' fabrics that are water repellant and stain resistant so as to resist water-borne stains such as coffee, tea and soft drinks.

"And you may enjoy this sale through our 'Shop at Home Decorating Service,' for which there is no extra charge. You may choose from hundreds of fabrics which are brought to your home at your convenience with no cost or obligation.

"Further information and appointments for 'Shop at Home' service at your convenience may be obtained by calling FRanklin 3-7366 in Miami, and JAckson 4-1541 in Fort Lauderdale. Fabric showroom and offices in Fort Lauderdale are located at 25 W. Sunrise Blvd."

Culligan Contests Feature Prizes, Information about Soft Water Uses

Culligan Water Conditioning, Inc., has announced a big, new contest to win a Renault!

"Anyone can enter," says Robert D. McDougal of Culligan. "There are no jingles to write and nothing to buy. Don't miss this opportunity to win a brand-new imported Renault Dauphine, the car that makes driving a pleasure again. It's fun and it's easy.

"All you do is call us at FRanklin 4-6195. We will visit your home at your convenience and give you a five minute soft water demonstration. After you check off some answers on an entry form, your name is entered in this big, nation-wide contest. The contest ends May 30, 1959, so don't wait."

There is another contest now under way which is limited to Culligan customers. This is the "Around the World Gift Event."

"We know that, outside of our staff, the most enthusiastic boosters of soft water are Culligan customers," McDougal explained. "Now their enthusiasm will be rewarded.

"If you are a Culligan customer, or become one before the contest ends May 31, 1959, here is all you do. Submit the names of prospective customers on special prospect cards we send to you and return the cards to us.

"We will contact the prospects whose names you submit for a free home demonstration of soft water, without obligation.

"Each prospect who becomes a customer during the contest period entitles you to three valuable gift stamps.

"The beautifully illustrated catalogue which will be sent to Culligan customers gives full information about the gift stamps and shows the wonderful gifts which may be yours.

"What can you tell your friends about the benefits of soft water? If you have lived with Culligan soft water for awhile, you probably would not like to think of going back to hard water.

"You know, of course, that soft water gives better wash results and that clothes wash whiter. Likewise, dishes wash cleaner and air dry spot-free.

"Soft water long has been recognized as a beauty aid, and is excellent for bathing, for shampoos and for better skin care. It eliminates bathtub ring, too!

"In every water use, you know that soft water saves on soaps and detergents and makes household cleaning easier. Whatever you cook in soft water tastes better—and it's good for drinking as well!

"You can't see it, but soft water keeps your plumbing free of lime scale and reduces maintenance and repair costs.

"All in all, your family's best friend is soft water!

"There are three ways to have Culligan soft water in your home. Soft water service for as little as $3.50 per month, plus small original installation charge, brings you a softener which we exchange at regular intervals. There is no equipment to buy—no work to do.

"The automatic service unit regenerates itself automatically. We own this unit and a serviceman calls once or twice a year. This costs only $5.90 per month, plus salt and modest installation cost.

"Many people prefer the Culligan automatic home-owned model. This is fully automatic and has a 10-year guarantee policy. There is a model, size and price to suit every family and budget."

Full information about Culligan services may be secured by calling FRanklin 4-6195, or writing or visiting Culligan Water Conditioning, Inc., 585 NW S. River Dr., Miami.

MODERN STYLING of the new Culligan automatic water softener is appreciated by modern Miami homemakers. The new, deluxe cabinet model, above, occupies only one square foot of floor space. Soft water also may be secured from Culligan on a monthly service plan . . . there is no equipment to buy—no work to do. Culligan automatic home-owned models have a 10-year guarantee policy.

Williams Play 'Felt Like Hit' In First Act

Tennessee Williams . . . one-two

Elia Kazan . . . punch

Geraldine Page . . . star

TENNESSEE WILLIAMS' triumph (at the Beck Theater) with his "Sweet Bird of Youth" drama was something to see. You could feel that it would be a smash long before the first act curtain dropped . . . Williams and director Elia Kazan represent the Theater's mightiest one-two punch. "Sweet Bird" is their 4th wedding. Their previous mergers won Pulitzer and Critics' Circle trophies . . . The cast is excellent, especially Geraldine Page and Paul Newman. Don't miss it . . . At the Winter Garden Sean O'Casey's "Juno and the Paycock" was wedded to dirge hymns and made this mourner restless. A large and capable troupe worked hard to make you respect their talents, but you couldn't enjoy the show . . . Shirley Booth stars and looks like a star even when she is in a flop . . . "A Raisin in the Sun" rated the unanimous rave notices.

NOEL COWARD gets the fijjits when he isn't busy. His upcoming projects include a cinema and ballet . . . In one episode of "Some Like It Hot" Marilyn Monroe wears a skin-tight frock that shows more of Marilyn than you've ever seen of Brigitte . . . Remember actress Anna Sten? Some of her paintings are on exhibit at The Little Studio, 673 Madison . . . Brooks Atkinson's quote on "Lulu" which got a double-take: "Too funny to be amusing" . . . You had to be there opening night to dig that line. At widely scattered intervals the hokum got laughs in bunches and then nothing happened for a long time. See? . . . Teevee reporter Williams skewpt us when he complained to Steve Allen that "there's nothing funny in a Swastika."

"A Raisin in the Sun" represents the Broadway debuts for the playright, the director and the producers . . . Beauty? See Deborah Kerr in "The Journey" picture . . . Add sound-alikes: The first few bars of Perry's theme: "Come Along With Me" and Dinah's kiss-off: "See The USA!" . . . Channel 5's "new" show, "Theater 5," consists of "77 Sunset Strip" re-runs. Its competition on Channel 7 . . . Playwright Williams gave Esquire editors the fits with his last-moment alterations of "Sweet Bird" which the mag will print in its April issue . . . The l.p. named "Premiere Performance" is worth a whirl. A collection of Jerome Kern's swellodies. Plus 3 unpublished chunes . . . TV critic Gould noted: "No artist worth his salt wants a phony rave that isn't rooted in the critic's honest convictions." (Ha!)

"LONELYHEARTS" skips the patented By-Gollywood version of a newspaperman. No blitz-talking, scoop-happy heroes . . . The Debbie Liz-Eddie story is becoming headline-worn . . . "Ben-Hur," the movie, is being exploited in trade journals as "bigger than a spectacular." That's Big, folks . . . A new platter getting a big play from deejays is named: "Pink Shoe Laces" . . . The "J.B." cast certifies all cooperated with Pat Hingle replacement James Daly . . . If Time mag hurts your feelings with criticism, don't fret. It panned "South Pacific," the B-way smash.

JAZZ has become a popular subject in highbrow mags. They explain its function, significance and All That Jazz . . . Tenn. Wms. has joined The Club. Informs interviewers that lofty taxes have made it impossible for him to gain "security" . . . The enthusiasm of the "Music Man" cast is something to enjoy. They seem to have as much fun as the applaudience . . . The Music Hall's weekly payroll is $50,000 . . . Eva Marie Saint's friends call her Bubbles . . . Jayne Mansfield's candor: "Success is 80 per cent determination and 20 per cent talent" . . . The 5-year-old tot in the teevee revival of "Tomorrow Is Forever" is Natalie Wood . . . Some years ago Bob Hope was so defeated he wanted to quit show biz. Humorist Harry Hershfield changed his mind . . . Lauren Bacall's latest passion: Poker.

Benefit Seats To Benefit?

NEW YORK — (AP) — Some changes have been made in theater seating plans for the benefit of that growing show business facet, benefit parties.

The action grew out of protests by organizers of the events that too many good locations were held out by the boxoffice when charity groups purchased big blocks of tickets.

Now a precise schedule has been worked out.

Florida Man Selected for Art Honor

A Florida artist, William Pachner of Clearwater, has been selected as one of a considerable list of American painters and sculptors to participate in a series of traveling retrospective exhibitions to be arranged under a grant from the Ford Foundation.

Pachner was one of "Four Florida Painters" who showed at Ringling Museum in 1957 — a show that was later hung at Miami Beach Art Center. The American Federation of Arts will circulate the Ford-sponsored shows.

Other artists honored in this series are Milton Avery, Andrew Dasburg, Josede Creeft, Lee Gatch, Mauricio Lasansky, Carl Morris, Walter Quirt, Abraham Rattner, Hugo Robus, Karl Schrag and Everett Spruce.

Producer Wins Award

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Barter Theater of Abingdon, Va., has given its award for "most distinguished contribution to the American theater" to Broadway Producer Robert Whitehead.

It is the first time a non-actor received the citation. Whitehead started out as a player, however, 21 years ago.

He is currently head of the Producers Theater and consultant on the Lincoln Square arts center.

Plans Play

NEW YORK — (AP) — Burgess Meredith is to stage another production of "Ulysses in Nightgown," this time in London.

Meredith directed the drama fantasy when it scored an off-Broadway hit here last season

Dublin Company Coming to New York

NEW YORK — (AP) — An acting company from Dublin known as the British Repertoire Theatre is to make its American debut here in September. The troupe has recently been touring Australia.

The fall bill is to include one-act plays by Yeats and Synge, plus folk singing and dancing.

Again, the bright lights of the world's fun capital twinkle their exciting invitation to a Havana holiday.

Again, shoppers are bargaining (and winning!) at San Rafael bazaars – researchers are conducting spirited investigations of the local rum distillery – linguists are discovering a Chinatown with a Spanish accent – and devotees of the cha cha are devoted to cha chaing.

Again, the Nacional – Havana's most famous hotel – is the place to be!

For the Nacional is Havana. Here you'll luxuriate in big, airy, high-ceilinged rooms that overlook lush tropical gardens or sparkling private pools. Here you'll enjoy cocktails in the famous La Sirena Bar–dine like royalty in the open-air splendor of the La Veranda Café–make Good Friends of Good Neighbors in the Casino Internacional – applaud Big Name talent in the Nacional's own Club Parisien.

And because the Nacional is an Intercontinental hotel, you're sure of American standards of efficiency and service from the very moment you arrive. For that's the IHC way – we'll take you out of this world and into a foreign land; and, same time, we'll spoil you as you wish you were spoiled "at home"!

Your travel agent is the man to send you. And we do mean "send"! Or, if you prefer, write Intercontinental Hotels, Chrysler Building, New York 17. (Or phone FRanklin 1-6661 in Miami.)

Dillon's Creator Just Like His TV Character

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK —(AP)— Matt Dillon, the hero of "Gunsmoke," is basically a fellow named John Meston, said Mrs. Meston the other day.

Looking amazed, Meston muttered, "you never said that before. I never thought about it."

"Well, I have," said Mrs. Meston, the former Bette Ford, who attained fame as one of the most popular woman bull fighters in Mexico before she retired to become the wife of the creator and author of "Gunsmoke."

Her commonsensical remark was made while a man was trying to learn whether Meston believed Dillon has any literary ancestors either within or outside the realm of westerns. (He knows of none).

"Matt Dillon is John Meston," said comely, dark-eyed Mrs. Meston. "John simply found him at home. This is purely a feminine opinion of Dillon, of course. But I think there's a gentleness about Dillion that comes straight from Meston.

"He walks through life, unafraid. Things never worry him. He takes things in stride and always in hand. That's Dillon — and that's John. They even resemble each other physically."

IT'S TRUE, Meston admitted, that he's often stopped on the street and mistaken for James Arness who plays Marshal Dillon on the CBS-TV weekly series (Saturdays, 10 p.m.).

Meston, like Arness, is tall, husky, sandy-haired. Yet Meston says he had nothing to do with casting Arness for the role.

The suspicion that some writers of TV westerns grew up in Brooklyn and never rode a horse does not apply to Meston. Colorado-born, he's a good rider and can rope a calf.

Although he loved the West, Meston was graduated from Dartmouth, studied in France and was working on a Ph. D. thesis at Harvard when World War II came along.

There, with Producer Norman MacDonnel, he created "Gunsmoke."

Since the popular success of the TV series, it's sometimes forgotten that the radio "Gunsmoke" series continues rolling along, on CBS radio.

On April 26, in fact, it starts its eighth year on radio — and Meston still has a supervisory hand in the scripts.

Meston says that when the series began "we were determined to try to avoid every cliche or rule of the Grade B movie westerns. We tried to do the opposite in everything — plot, language, character.

Although it may not have been easy, the result has been that "Gunsmoke" has been the most consistently popular western on television for two years—and has set a pattern for numerous other TV westerns.

Persons and Programs

There's talk that Hope Emerson may pull out of NBC-TV's Peter Gunn for another series. She plays "mother" on Peter Gunn.

Betty Comden and Adolph Green will do parts of their recent Broadway show on CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan Hour April 19.

JANE

Claudette Colbert, Cyril Ritchard, Cedric Hardwicke and Gertrude Berg will star in Perry Como's NBC-TV Tuesday special March 24.

Folk singer Jean Ritchie has joined Marge and Gower Champion, Jane Wyman, Genevieve, Robert Merrill and Herb Shriner in the cast of "America Pauses For Springtime," a one hour special set for CBS-TV March 30.

Eye Fundamentals

By CARROLL RIGHTER
Monday, March 16 1959

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Fundamental affairs should be attended to now and thought given to future plans so that they can materialize properly. Go into minute detail and be painstaking. Tonight you must take it easy, however, or entertain lightly.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Business or affairs away from home are most vital for you to attend today, whether they be real estate, selling, buying, signing legal papers, etc. Be active!

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) If you apply yourself, you can today lighten your burden of work and bills. Do those things that will bring security, set up a better budget. Be up and at it early! FOR YOUR COPY of Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Forecast for April send your birth date and 50c in coin (no stamps) to Carroll Righter Forecast, Miami Herald, Box 1895, Grand Central Sta., N.Y. 17, N.Y.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Astrologically there is great power in your planet today, and you should utilize all those fine energies wisely. Know what your best outlets are, plan your hours intelligently.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Since you believe in being sure before you leap, this is a good day to get the data of prime importance from authorities you desire. You can make the future very bright indeed.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) The day is here when you can come to a real meeting of minds with favorite pals and coordinate your efforts toward some worthwhile venture. P.M. go out socially.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Let service to others be the prime requisite on today's agenda, since this will bring fine rewards in the near future, prestige and perhaps fame.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you want to commercialize on your fine, constructive ideas, it is important you become far more broadminded now. Forget the petty and worthless.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Since your ability to investigate is great, this is an ideal day to look into those things which puzzle you, are vital for you to know. Assist those persons who are in dire need.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Have long talks with associates regarding your joint aims and decide upon a more efficient way of operating. There is a more modern approach to things now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan 20) A fine opportunity to get a good start on the new week by getting much of the accumulated work behind you. Apply yourself with might and main whether at home, place of business.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can make this a very fine day if you will only go after those things which have been elusive or hard to get previously. Have fun while accomplishing, too.

By DR. BERGEN EVANS

QUESTION: When we curry favor, do we cook up something, like a Hindu curry, or do we comb something, like currying a horse?—R.C.

ANSWER: The expression is drawn from the currying of a horse and is one of the most curious in our language. Its mystery, however, lies not in curry but in favor.

The phrase is a corruption of an earlier "to curry favel." Favel, or Fauvel, was the name of a horse in a once-famous French Roman de Dauvel. This was a satirical poem of the fourteenth century in which the horse, who symbolized worldly vanity, was soothed and lovingly tended by all classes of society.

So that to curry favel was to seek to advance yourself in the things of this world.

And since men have always believed — with some justice — that the best way to do this was to ingratiate yourself with the powerful, to gain their favor ("It ain't what you know; it's who you know"), the corruption of the phrase was as logical as it was inevitable.

Especially when all remembrance of the old romance had faded.

Station Closed By Bomb Scare

LONDON — (AP) — A bomb scare shut down Charing Cross station in the heart of London for 50 minutes.

Thousands of passengers were barred from the railroad center after somebody phoned Scotland Yard saying a bomb had been planted in one of the cloakrooms.

Police said the call was a hoax.

Pacifist Unit Pickets Missile

DENVER — (AP) — Pacifists paraded quietly in the background as a gleaming white Titan intercontinental ballistic missile was unveiled in Civic Center, facing the Colorado Capitol.

It is the first time the 90-foot instrument of war has been placed on public display.

The missile is a gift to the city from the Martin Co., which is producing Titans at its southwest Denver plant. The unarmed weapon will remain on display during Colorado's centennial year.

2 — SPEAKING SPANISH — A doll house will be used to teach tonight's vocabulary lesson.

4 — HIGHWAY PATROL — Mathews joins forces with the Mexican Highway Patrol to catch a car-theft ring operating across the border.

7 — SUPERMAN — Superman tries to find out how a pet burro was used by exiled American gangsters to rob a Mexican bank.

10 — SOLDIERS OF FORTUNE — Tim and Toubo are sent into the hills behind Saigon to negotiate the surrender of a guerrilla band leader.

7:30

2 — JAPANESE BRUSH PAINTING — "Pine Trees."

4 — NAME THAT TUNE — film.

7 — BUCKSKIN — Renegade sons of a Buckskin oldtimer turn up to plague their father just as he strikes gold.

10 — SHIRLEY TEMPLE — Tonight's story is the "Little Lame Prince," the classic fairy tale of a boy imprisoned by his uncle.

2 — LIVING HEBREW — "Ordering Food in a Restaurant."

4 — TEXAN — Bill Longley becomes involved when an elderly friend rashly bets his ranch and life savings on a race between his horse and a local gambler's thoroughbred.

8:30

2 — STOCKS AND BONDS — "Review of the Petroleum Industry and its Cash Flow."

7 — WELLS FARGO — Hardie investigates a series of murders in which the victims are found with a 20 year old "wanted" sign for the Rawhide Kid.

10 — BOLD JOURNEY — True life travels of seven teen-aged boys, led by their teacher, deep inside a little-known region of western Canada.

2 — MUSIC NOTES — "Rhythmic Extensions."

10 — VOICE OF MUSIC — You can hardly get combinations like Eleanor Steber and the Philadelphia Orchestra, so you'd better listen and look while they frolic tonight. Eugene Ormandy will put his superb orchestra, with a sound that is pure whipped cream, through some Wagner, Bach and Weinberger and Miss Steber lines out some Mozart and Charpentier — a good combination.

9:30

2 — OPUS TWO — Guests include soprano Gloria Jordan and pianist Selma Glass.

4 — PRESIDENT EISENHOWER — Ike will discuss the general security provisions of the U.S. and the free world in the evolving Berlin situation.

7 — PRESIDENT EISENHOWER — See highlight above.

2 — LANGUAGE IN ACTION — Program undertakes to answer why some of our communications are welcomed and acted upon and why some are ignored and sometimes vigorously rejected.

4 — DESILU PLAYHOUSE — Still another play about the "troubles" of Ireland during the 1921 rebellion takes up an hour tonight. Piper Laurie and James MacArthur are the young lovers whose romance is interferred with by affairs of violence.

10:30

7 — GRAPEFRUIT LEAGUE — Show will explore the activities of professional baseball teams training in Florida and will feature scenes of the Baltimore Orioles and the Miami Marlins.

11:10

11:20

7 — JACK PAAR — A late evening program of music, comedy and variety with interviews and guests.

11:25

4 — MOVIE — "San Francisco Docks," (1941) Burgess Meredith, Irene Hervey, Robert Armstrong. Story of an escaped criminal who kills a politician who had helped send him to jail and frames another man for the murder.

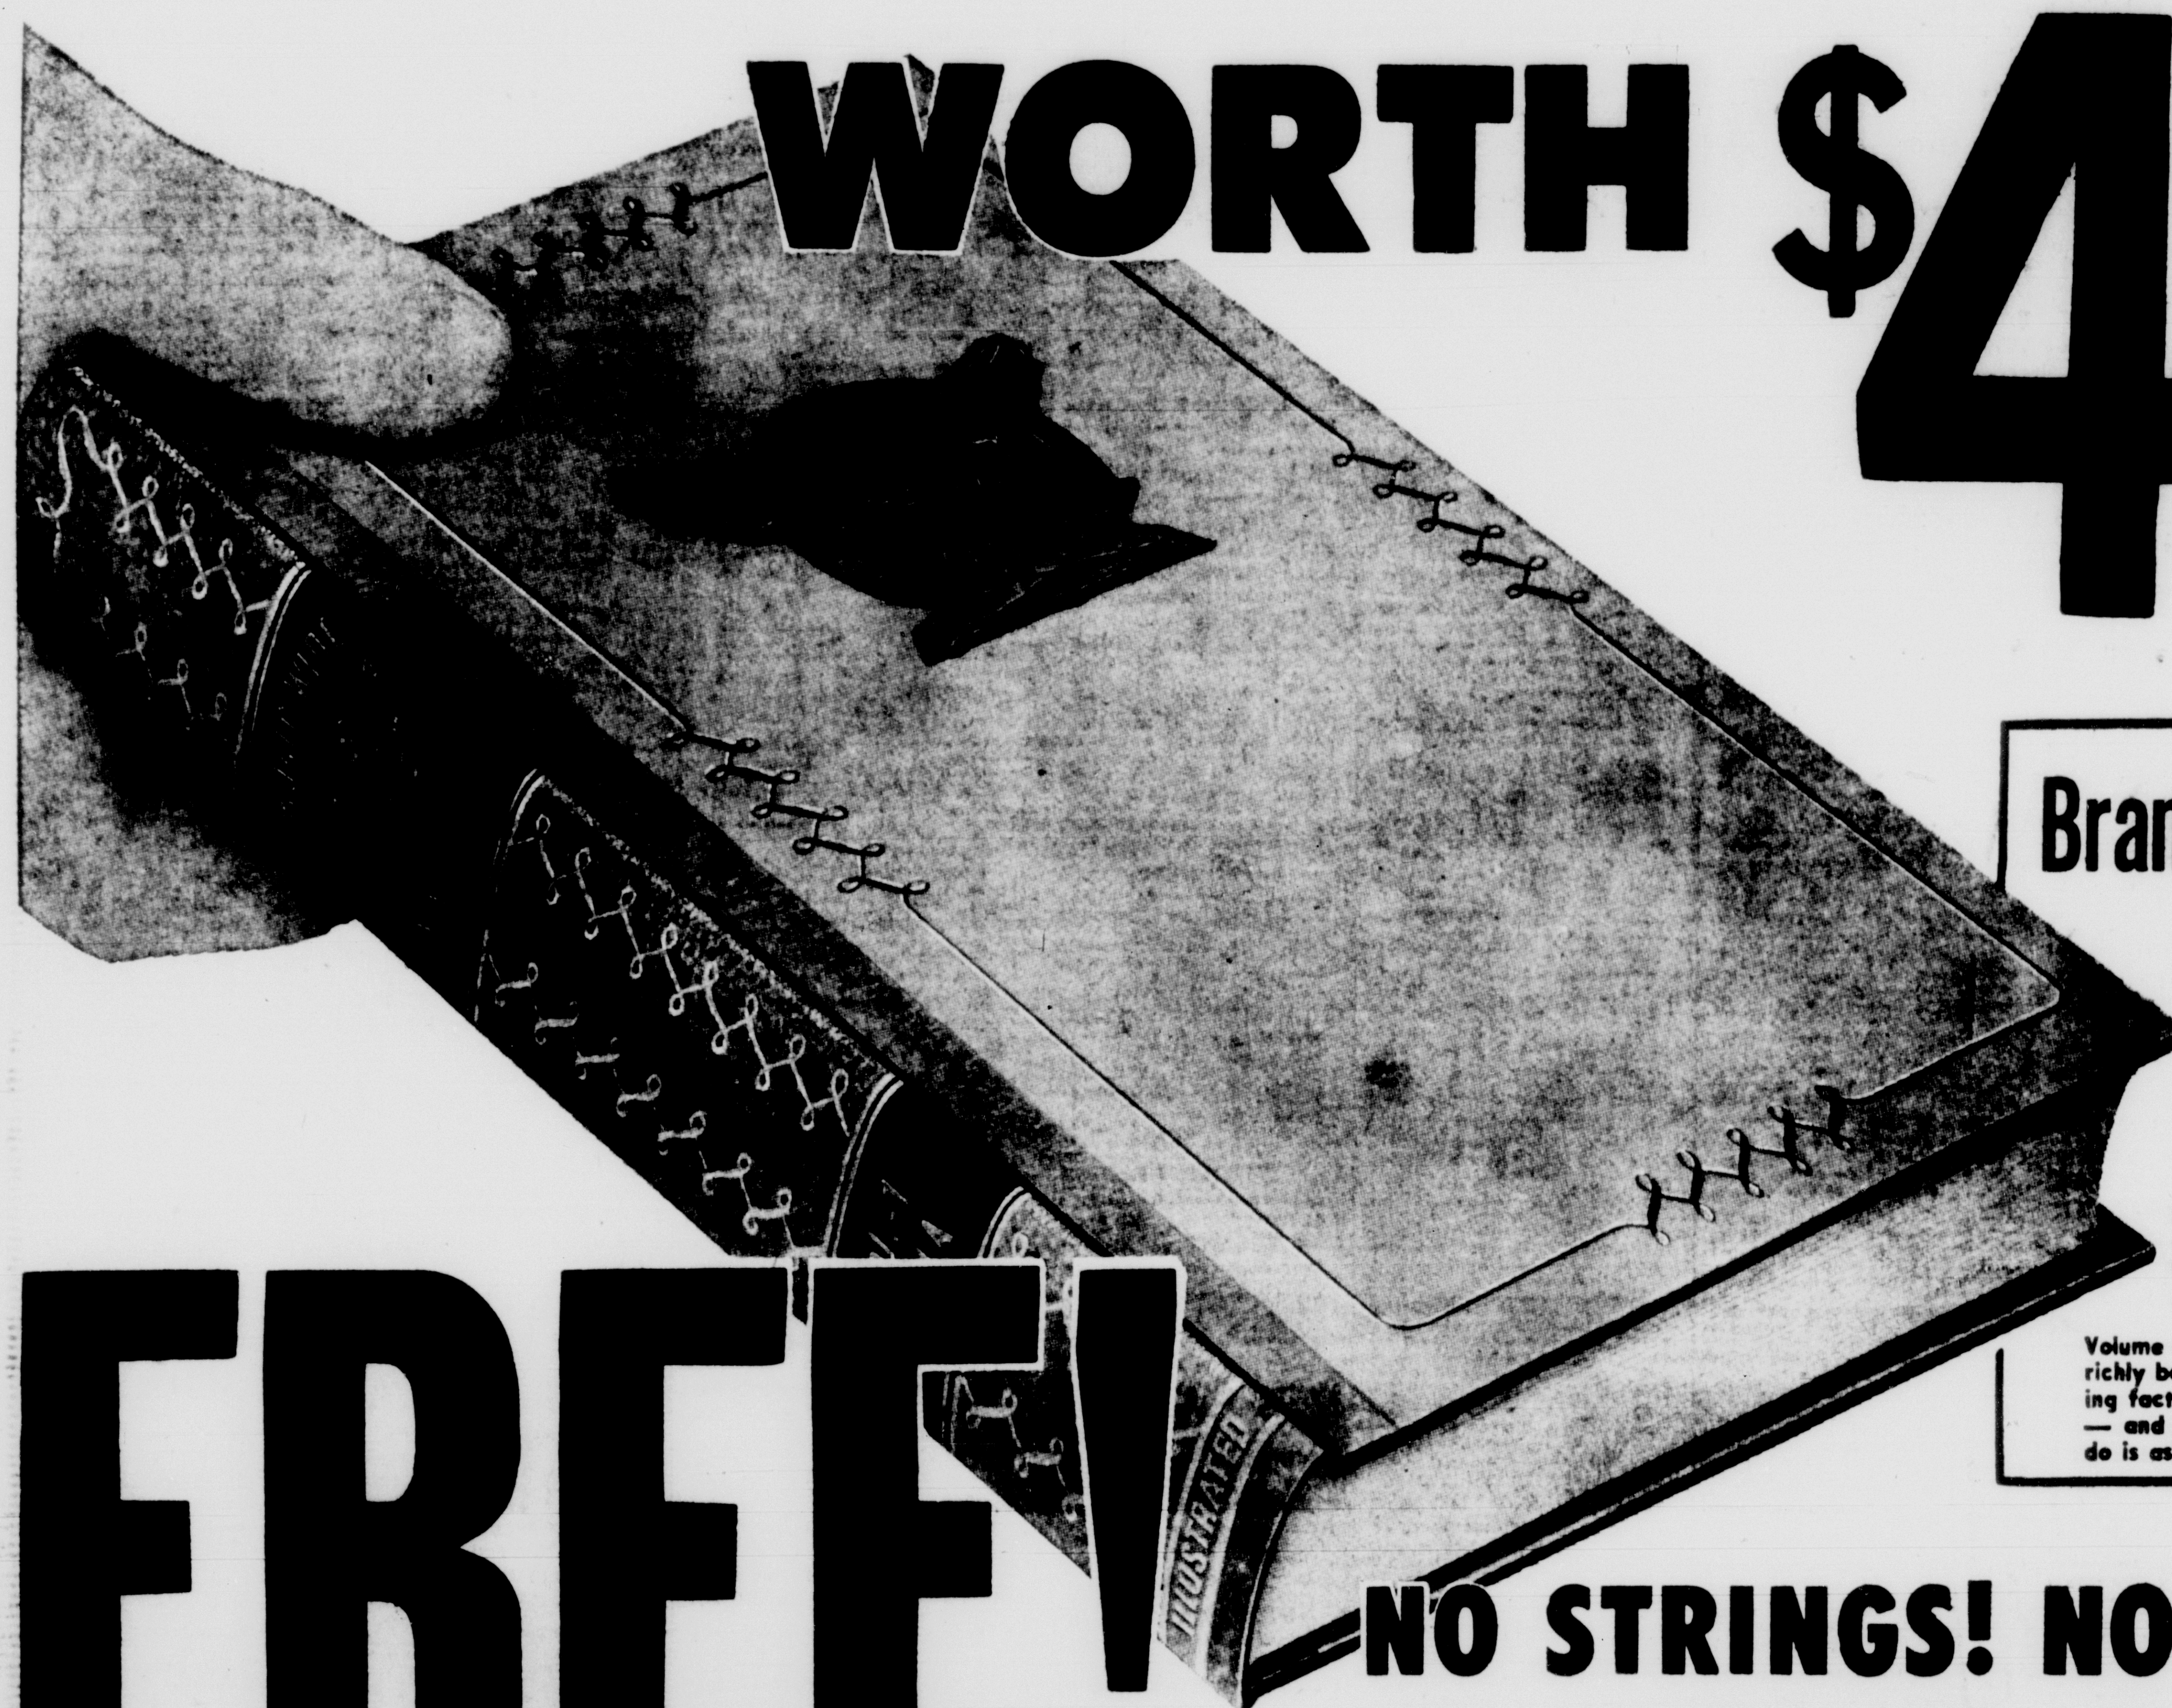
Get This Valuable Deluxe Encyclopedia Volume

WORTH $4.00



Brand New Edition!

WORLD-WIDE ENCYCLOPEDIA

in 10 Deluxe Volumes

Complete! Authoritative! Up-to-Date!

3200 Pages, many printed in 2 colors — new type — non-glare paper. Over 2,000,000 words — more than 1,000 illustrations.

Volume One pictured at left is full library size, richly bound in gold. A treasure-house of interesting facts and stories — worth every bit of $4.00 — and you get it absolutely free. All you need do is ask for it!

FREE!

NO STRINGS! NO CATCHES! IT'S YOURS FOR THE ASKING!

Yes, the valuable book illustrated —Volume One of the World-Wide Encyclopedia — is ABSOLUTELY FREE to a limited number of readers of this newspaper. All you need do to receive it is send us your name and address on the Free Gift Coupon at the right!

The reason we give you this wonderful reference volume is a simple one!

We could write pages and pages of sales arguments about why you should own a set of the World-Wide Encyclopedia — but we know it's hard to sell anything without first showing what you are getting for the money. So before we ask you to buy . . . we make a gift to you of the first volume. We want you to examine it carefully and convince yourself. Then, and only then, decide whether you want the remaining volumes. There is no gamble whatsoever on your part in sending for this book — you are under no obligation to pay anything or buy anything — WE TAKE ALL THE GAMBLE — because we believe we can convince you how much you need this wonderful set of books.

YOU'VE ALWAYS WANTED TO OWN A FINE SET OF ENCYCLOPEDIA — NOW YOU CAN AFFORD IT!

Now you might say, "That's fair enough, I don't see how anyone has anything to lose by getting this $4.00 book absolutely free . . . but suppose I send the Free Gift Certificate for Volume One of the World-Wide Encyclopedia and like it, and decide to buy the rest of the set — how much will the remaining 9 volumes cost me?

"How much will each of the remaining 9 volumes of your set cost you?" Not $4.00, not $2.50, or even $2.00! All you pay is $1.19 per volume plus 11c handling costs. That's all you pay for these valuable reference books. We know it sounds unbelievable, but it's true! Do you wonder now why we want to give you the first volume Free?

We know you might not expect much of an encyclopedia at this low price, but wait until you see it . . . you'll never believe your eyes! You can compare it with volumes in sets selling for $50.00 and more.

A TRULY GENEROUS OFFER!

This is truly a golden opportunity to obtain a really fine set of encyclopedia for your family. We have brought down the cost of producing and distributing an encyclopedia volume to a point so low that now every family everywhere can own a wonderful encyclopedia. There is no greater boost to better living than knowledge and culture — and a great encyclopedia should be included in building a better future for your family.

Here in the new World-Wide Encyclopedia you will find all man's knowledge — everything under the sun, from the earliest stirrings of recorded history to the latest events in Europe . . . from the mysteries of immeasurable space to the newest discoveries of the atomic era — the space age. Yes, this is the reference work you have been waiting for! Priced to fit the needs of American families who have desired to own a fine encyclopedia but have been kept from doing so because the price has always been prohibitive.

So don't fail to take advantage of this limited opportunity! Get your copy by sending in the Free Gift Coupon below, and find out for yourself what a great publishing achievement we have accomplished — and what a great thrill is in store for you!

THIS OFFER IS A LIMITED ONE!

Never before in our history has it been so essential to have at hand an authentic, up-to-date encyclopedia—and never before has there been a set like this at a price so low, to help you and your children meet the demands of today—and tomorrow. In making this present spectacular offer, however, the number of first volumes we can give away free is naturally limited. Quick action is therefore most important. So whatever you do, don't delay. Mail the coupon at right today — right now — to be sure of getting your Volume One FREE!

YACHT CLUB MEMBERS CELEBRATE

Fiesta Time at Emerald Bay

By BETSY BUFFINGTON
Herald Staff Writer

Emerald Bay Yacht Club members topped off their first big weekend since the club was refurbished with a Sunday brunch, when winners of Saturday's log race were announced.

Taking top over-all honors was Gene Drody in his "Droopy One." George R. Roller won the cruiser class cup.

The night before, club members and guests gathered for the first big dinner dance—a Mexican-style fiesta. They thronged the newly-decorated lounge and two handsome patios, one gaily tented, of the clubhouse on NE 68th St.

Strolling musicians, straw hats, red-checked tablecloths, paper lanterns lent color to the atmosphere. The buffet tables were groaning with Spanish-American specialities.

Among the guests of Commodore and Mrs. M. R. Harrison Jr. was Gloria (Mrs. James) Llewellyn.

"Our neighbors must hate us," said Gloria. Her son has just acquired a rooster as companion to his 16 hens. The rooster crows during the wee hours of the morning, and "it's perfectly dreadful," Gloria added.

Also at the Harrison table were the Guy Baileys, the William Carpenters, the Francis Farreys, and Dr. and Mrs. Jack Griffitts.

Earl Rader was telling friends about his forthcoming trip behind the Iron Curtain. Although he's been with inches of the border several times his May trip will be his first inside the USSR. With Mr. and Mrs. Rader were the O. J. Powells.

In keeping with the party's Mexican theme was Mrs. Olin McKenzie's stunning green skirt, made for her south of the border. It was appliqued with Mexican figures.

With the George Robesons were the Gene Drodys — she looked stunning in green.

Among other Saturday night revelers were founding commodore Ray Caruthers with Mrs. Caruthers, Mr. and Mrs. John Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dunning, Mr. and Mrs. James Garner and the Bill Perrys.

'I Have Prayed To Be Forgiven

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

I have a problem and really need help. Three years ago I thought I was in love with a college student named Ted. We even planned to be married.

Dorothy Ricker

But after going together for about three months, he convinced me that ANYTHING we did would not be wrong.

Then, he dropped me for another girl. I know that I committed a sin but I've prayed for forgiveness and I sincerely believe I have been forgiven.

For over a year I have been going out with a friend of Ted's. Three weeks ago he asked me to marry him but said that Ted had told him all about our relationship.

He said he understood and I really thought he did. However, since then his attitude toward me has changed—he never misses a chance to get fresh.

What can I do? If a person makes a mistake, isn't it ever possible to rise above it? I am a junior in high school.

A HURT TEEN

If you are only a junior in high school now, I doubt that you are more than 16. When you were "in love" with Ted you must have been about 13, at the most 14.

Where were your parents? What were they thinking of? They certainly let you down badly when they allowed you to go out with a college student!

I often wonder what it would take to make parents like yours wake up. Juding by my mail there are too many adults who are parents in name only. They either do not care what happens to their youngsters or are afraid to say "No" for fear of incurring their offspring's wrath.

I firmly believe this lack of sound training and parental guidance is responsible for a large percentage of our present day juvenile delinquency problems.

It is possible to rise above a mistake but it is not easy, as you are finding out. Since your present boy friend has known all along about your relationship with Ted, there is no excuse for his change of attitude simply because what happened has been brought out into the open.

You lost one boy by going against your moral standards, don't lose the second one for the same reason!

Dorothy Ricker

Dorothy Ricker writes frankly and sympathetically about the 'love' problems and moral behavior of young people. Her newest booklet contains constructive advice for teen-agers: 24 pages filled with pertinent information about boy-girl relationships. Send 10 cents and a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request for "FACTS ABOUT 'LOVE' FOR TEEN-AGERS" to Dorothy Ricker in care of The Miami Herald.

Wining and dancing at their annual revel Saturday night in the Sky Room of the Dupont Plaza were some 170 University Club members, their wives, dates and guests.

Decor included two pretty "mermaids" handing out splits of champagne bearing the University Club label.

Bachelor-for-a-night was new Club prexy Arthur Sells. Beverly Jane stayed home with two-week-old son Aiden McEwen. With Art were the Cloide Brannings and the David Earleys.

Sarah (Mrs. Robert) Bonner wore turquoise chiffon. Guests of the Bonners were Dr. and Mrs. William A. Shoemaker and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ellenson.

Striking in pink linen and lace was Laura (Mrs. Duane) Anderson. Talented Laura gives art lessons Tuesday mornings to seven hausfraus.

Dick and Ginger Meads' guests were the Phil Gallaghers, the Dean Davidsons and the Jim Wrights. Stewart and Mimi Allen came with the Sam Crispins. Art and Jane Siegel were with Bob and Eleda Weed.

Ball chairman Gene Caldwell with his wife Joan were chatting with Dr. and Mrs. David Frischkorn, and the John Davises.

Country Clubbers' ABC's

The ladies of the Coral Gables Country Club learned their ABC's at lunch Saturday.

Setting for a fashion show of Easter finery was the proverbial little red school house, complete with blackboard, apples for the teacher and a dunce cup.

Mrs. Hans Heether

Looking pretty but scarcely prim despite their schoolmarmish taffeta dresses with leg o' mutton sleeves were commentators Mrs. Paul Foster and Mrs. F. Judson Hill.

Lone male among some 499 women was Oscar Davis. But his wife was their for moral support. They were guests of Mrs. Thomas Duff who brought fellow Key Biscayners Mrs. Cornelius Both, Victoria Thomas and Mrs. Thelma Schmidt.

Celebrating her birthday was Mrs. Hans Heether who looked stunning in a wide-brimmed natural straw trimmed with pink, violet and purple roses. Her hostess was Mrs. J. L. Hanley.

Beth (Mrs. Rolfe) Langhorst's boys, Ricky, 10, and Henry, 7, were a hit as models. Another member of the young set who charmed onlookers was redheaded Brook Dunwoody whose grandmother Mrs. Mary Louise Dunwoody was Beth's guest at lunch. Others with Beth were her mother Mrs. Sallie Paine of Pompano Beach, her sister-in-law Mrs. Jack Paine, Genie (Mrs. Ernest A.) Winton and Genie's aunt Mrs. Joseph Bartl of LaCrosse, Wis.

"I couldn't persuade my Tommy to model," said Betty (Mrs. Herbert O.) Root. Her guests were her mother Mrs. Rupert Rackley, Mrs. Charles Kimbrell and Mrs. Robert Stewart, a vacationer from Philadelphia.

A New Parfait To Brighten Dinners
. . . cereal crunch, vanilla pudding and fruit

Sugar-Coated Cereal Is Good in Parfait

By JEANNE VOLTZ
Herald Homemaking Editor

Parfaits are high fashion desserts, but an easy one is a special treat for family eating.

Daily Food Guide

Cereal Crunch Fruit Parfait is a delightful combination of flavors and textures — crunchy cereal, instant pudding and fruit. Fresh, frozen or canned fruit can be used.

Layer the fruit, cereal and pudding into dessert glasses for a nutritious dessert in minutes.

FAMILY DINNER
Meat Loaf
Baked Potatoes
Carrots in Bouillon
Cole Slaw
Heated Rolls
Cereal Crunch Fruit Parfait

The cereal is coated with brown sugar and butter to give it an extra crunchy texture.

CEREAL CRUNCH FRUIT PARFAIT

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 2 cups ready-to-eat oat cereal, regular or pre-sweetened
- 1 package instant vanilla pudding mix
- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup fruit, frozen, fresh or canned (strawberries, rhubarb, blueberries, raspberries, bananas, etc.)

Melt butter in fry pan over low heat. Add sugar and cereal. Mix carefully with fork until cereal is coated evenly with sugar mixture. Spread in thin layer on waxed paper. Cool. Separate cereal particles. If made in advance, store in airtight container.

Prepare vanilla pudding mix with milk as directed on package. Arrange layers of cereal crunch, pudding and fruit in tall dessert glasses. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Variety Meats Recipes Wanted

Recipes using variety meats (liver, heart, brains, sweetbreads, kidneys, etc.) are wanted next in the series of Miami Herald recipe contests.

Send only tested recipes. Only one recipe from each contestant is eligible for a prize.

Recipes must be entered in the contestant's own name. Each entry must be signed. Write on one side of the paper only. Be sure addrsss is given and date of entry.

Entries must be postmarked not later than March 26. Mail to the Homemaking Editor, The Miami Herald, Miami 30.

Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 in cash will be awarded for the three best recipes. The next 10 best will be given honorable mention awards of $1 each.

Metals Company Chooses Its First Woman Officer

RICHMOND, Va. — The first woman officer in the history of Reynolds Metals Company is Mary S. Crenshaw, a secretary with the firm since 1944. The board of directors elected her assistnat corporate secretary of the company.

Miss Crenshaw, a native of Richmond, joined Reynolds Metals as a stenographer in the legal department. From 1945 through 1951 she served in the corporate secretary's office, then was promoted to executive secretary in the reduction division of the manufacturing department. Since 1953 she has been assigned to executive operations.

He's Messy But He's All Mine

MADRID —(WNS) — Author Gerald Brenan, who has done considerable research on the mountainous regions of Spain, reports that the belief persists about how a girl can discern the features of her husband-to-be.

It's easy — she breaks an egg in water and looks at the resulting mess through a silk handkerchief. His likeness will appear.

AMI'S GREAT STORE

One of Every Five Women Can Expect Fibroid Tumor

By DR. J. G. MOLNER

Dr. J. G. Molner

The enormous number of inquiries about fibroid tumors (or just "fibroids,") gives me notice in no uncertain terms that it is time we discussed this problem.

The following letter is a typical one:

DEAR DR. MOLNER:

I have been married two years and went to the doctor to see why I have not become pregnant. After examining me, he said I have fibroid tumors of the uterus.

I have no pains but do hemorrhage quite a bit when I have my period.

MRS. A.N.

The uterus is an organ made up of muscle and fibroid tissue. Tumors are prone to form in this tissue and are called "fibroids," or "fibroid tumors."

Specifically, they are localized overgrowths of this muscle and fibrous tissue. While the cause is not known, they are decidedly common, and we have learned a great deal about proper treatment of them.

About 20 per cent of all women over the age of 35 have fibroids to some extent. When I say "to some extent," I mean that in many cases they produce no symptoms, do no harm, and are best left alone.

There may be just a single fibroid; there may be several. There have been occasional cases discovered in which there were scores of fibroids, but this is rare.

They may be small, or they may become large enough so they cause a swelling of the lower abdomen.

And the location is important, too. If fibroids lie close to the inner surface of the uterus, they are most likely to cause symptoms.

In about 50 per cent of the cases they will produce excessive menstruation. Likewise in this location they are more likely to prevent pregnancy or make it difficult to carry a baby.

Other fibroids, on the outer surface of the uterus, are less likely to cause difficulty. And the third location, somewhere in the center of the muscle wall, may give no indication of its presence at all unless the fibroids grow to considerable size.

Sometimes, when fibroids reach sufficient size, the patient will discover them herself by noticing a lump in the lower abdomen. More often, however, discovery of fibroids is made by the physician in the course of a pelvic examination, as is the case with Mrs. A.N.

Afflicted with arthritis? You may find relief if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "Don't Quit Because of Arthritis." To receive your copy, write to me for it in care of The Miami Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5c in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Always write to him in care of The Miami Herald.

Save That Old Toothbrush

Do you like to refinish old furniture and does it irk you that you cannot get to the hard to reach places with the paint and varnish remover?

Then apply it with an old tooth brush. You will have no trouble holding it.

Also it will reach the hard to get at places without scarring the piece of furniture.

SANDPAPER TRICK

Sanding will be easier if you wrap a sheet of sandpaper around a padded block of wood.

English 'Rogue' Likes To Keep Them Guessing

By REGRET
Herald Columnist

"He's a bit of a rogue, likes to bite and kick."

This was Mrs. Tilyou Christopher sizing up her four-year-old Amerigo, the favorite in the Appleton Handicap, feature race at Gulfstream Park Saturday.

"No, no, not mean," she was hasty to explain, "it just means he's feeling good."

Despite Amerigo's Saturday morning headlines, Mrs. Christopher was prepared to see him licked in the seventh.

"He'll win it," she said matter-of-factly, "unless he's in one of his moods."

Perhaps Amerigo was in a pet Saturday, going down before Better Bee as he did, but he's a remarkable fellow anyway. The Christophers were able to buy him in England last July because after a brilliant start it looked as if he'd fallen apart.

Under the care of trainer Harris Brown and his wife Barbara who exercises Amerigo he adjusted rapidly to our oval counter-clockwise tracks. He set a track record at Atlantic City and won the Magic City Handicap March 7 at Gulfstream.

"I'm not sure," she said excitedly, "but Jimmy Donn says it's the first time we've won at Gulfstream. I wouldn't be surprised if he's right."

Mrs. Payson, looking pretty in a pale lavender suit, was with Mrs. Valentine Bartlett of Hobe Sound. Asked if she were going to enter Eurasia, her promising gray gelding who disappointed everyone in Hialeah's Flamingo Stakes in the Kentucky Derby, she put her hand to her head.

"I don't know, I don't know, we'll have to see."

Not much will be seen of Greentree's thoroughbreds at Gulfstream for the rest of the meeting. They're being shipped north next week.

A happy bit of horse trading occurred last week when Mr. and Mrs. V. Paul Van Dette of Youngstown, O., sold Princess Ham to their Louisville friends Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Nelson, The Van Dettes who have a home at Delray Beach are racing here for the second year, hoping to reserve a post position for Pax Vobiscum and Gay Colony sometime during the next few weeks. They have six thoroughbreds all together, and it's a wonder they don't have more.

"I can think of more excuses for not getting rid of our horses, I get so sentimentally attached to them," said blonde Mrs. Van Dette.

"Our trainer (Morgan Hill) keeps saying 'You can't marry them,' and everyone says I'm the wrong type to own horses."

The Van Dettes race at Thistledown and Randall Park, both in North Randall, Ohio, and expect to run this year in Chicago.

Secrets of Good Complexion

UP, UP, UP—never down is the way to go when you apply any kind of make-up. Here Dorothy starts to remove the day's grime with cleansing cream—a must for good skin care.

MEDICATED MASK, grand for tightening pores and diffusing skin with a healthy glow, is removed with damp, lukewarm cloth wrapped around the hand.
—Herald Staff Photos by Ray Fisher

This is the eighth in a series of articles on Police Matrons Dorothy, age 42, and Mary, 40, who improved their appearance with the help of The Miami Herald Glamor Clinic.

By ELEANOR HART
Herald Glamor Clinic Editor

Glamor Clinic

"Don't go to the basketball game tonight . . . they'll make you sit with the cheer leaders," Mary kidded Dorothy following their first Glamor Clinic make-up class.

Applying make-up is an art, and although the most skillful application won't make a teenager out of a 40-year-old woman, it's a must for every woman who wants to put her best face forward.

Start with cleansing, because that's the seat of all skin problems. Dorothy and Mary learned how to apply cleansing cream correctly, always using deft but gentle upward movements.

And don't forget the areas around the eyes and the nose, the little creases where dirt and grime can so easily lodge.

Remove excess with cotton square, then follow with dampened wash cloth, to be sure the job is thorough.

After cleansing, the Glamor Clinic make-up instructor treated her two law-abiding charges to a mask with a medicated base — wonderful for toning up tired skins.

The chalky white mixture, which tightens the pores as it hardens, remained on the skin for 15 minutes, then was removed with a damp cloth, lukewarm, wrapped around the hand.

"That mask is cool," said Dorothy.

"If you were lying down, you'd be sound asleep," the instructor said with a laugh.

After removing the mask, apply a rich facial oil or a cream base to protect the skin, then liquid foundation, rouge and powder.

Anchor Clubs Plan Banquet

Anchor Clubs from six local high schools and their sponsor club, the Pilot Club of Miami, will hold the fifth annual Anchor-Pilot banquet Tuesday night in the Miami Woman's Club.

Theme of the entertainment, presented by Anchor members, is "Anchors' Emerald Isle." Participating Anchor Clubs are from Miami Senior High, Miami Beach, Tech High, Hialeah, Miami Edison and Miami Jackson.

There'll also be Anchor and Pilot members from North Miami, Fort Lauderdale, Hollywood and South Broward, the governor of Pilot district 4, Mrs. Ellen Rosensthil, the mayors of Miami, Miami Beach and Hialeah school principals and school sponsors.

Two Attorneys To Discuss Laws

Attorneys Esther Poppell and Adele Segall Faske will be on a legislation panel to be presented at the 6:30 p.m. Thursday dinner meeting of the Women's Division, Miami-Dade County Chamber of Commerce.

Meeting is in the Miami Woman's Club, 1737 N. Bayshore Dr., and it is open to the public. Mrs. Maxine C. Pitts and Miss Paquita Rabell are in charge.

LONDON TAILOR MOANS:

Englishmen Lose Out

LONDON — (AP) — One of London's most fashionable tailors says British men have lost their lead as the world's best dressed males.

"The Italians, Americans and French," said Leonard Whitley, "seem to take far more pride in their appearance."

Whitely says the well dressed man should have at least 15 day suits and three evening suits. They should cost at least 50 guineas ($147) each, so that the cloth and tailoring are impeccable.

Cheap suits can look smart, he said, but only an expensive one looks elegant.

He frowns on sports jackets and slacks. "A well cut tweed suit is much smarter."

To the Englishman who has lost the lead as the world's best dressed man, Whitley made one concession:

"Of course, there isn't much money about nowadays over here, and taxes are very high."

SPOT REMOVER

White spots on mahogany furniture can be removed by spreading a thick coat of vaseline over the spots. Let it stand for 48 hours, then wipe off.

'A Spanking Works Wonders'

A Woman's Prayer

By Josephine Robertson

Free me today, O God, from the pettiness of spirit which has let me give way to irritation in my dealings with those around me.

Strengthen me to hold back the cross word, the impatient retort.

Guide me to look beyond the immediate circumstances in order to perceive the true motives and causes, and to recognize wherein my own attitude may be contributing to tension.

Show me the qualities that are fine and unique in every person, that I may dwell on them rather than trivial faults. And let me find the sure way to replace irritation with understanding. Amen.

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

If Perplexed's daughter is afraid of a spanking, it might be good to carry out the threat just once instead of promising to do it "next time." This will help her remember that there are certain rules which must be observed at home and at school for her own good.

We have 6-year-old twin girls and an 8-year-old girl. I insist they come home immediately after school and change into their play clothes.

They have forgotten twice since September and each time I sent them to their room and refreshed their memories with the hairbrush on their bare anatomies.

I spank until their bottom and thighs are pink, and believe me, they remember for months afterward. Their Daddy has had to paddle them only once.

They are darling, well mannered children and get all the love, affection and friendship any parents can give their children. But they know full well that one warning is sufficient or a spanking follows.

So, Perplexed, don't threaten if you don't mean to carry out your threat. Your daughter probably knows your bark is bigger than your bite.

I was brought up on paddlings and they helped, not hindered, me.

'Come Out of Ivory Tower

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

Grandma Marie writes about the thousands of fine youngsters that surround us, also comments on my halo.

Save the metal polish, dearie, and come out of your ivory tower to take a good look. Things haven't changed during the last generation? Pick up any newspaper or magazine . . . go into the children's court and start to find out how things have changed.

Old-Fashioned Mom and I were writing about the children we see around us today. Grandma Marie is writing about the children she raised years ago.

What is all the controversy in today's newspapers about? Has she read any of Billy Graham's sermons in which he discussed the mistakes made by today's parents?

Perhaps Marie can put her talents to better use by working part time as a volunteer in a child guidance clinic. The world has changed in the last generation, and not for the better.

Job Hunting Is Hard

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I agree with Job Hunter—it is hard to find a job in Miami, and some agencies don't help much. The first thing they ask is, have you any experience? Something must be done.

JANET

Any suggestions? We may be getting closer all the time, but the world still doesn't owe us a living.

'There's Never A Dull Moment'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I am a middle-aged widow who, unlike Sad and Perplexed, has no time to be lonely.

I keep busy by catering private dinner parties, acting as relief chef in private staff dining rooms, doing practical nursing, needlework, sales clerking in a friend's store during rush period rejuvenating priceless treasures in wealthy homes.

Never a dull moment!

Lonely People Have a Place

LONELY PEOPLE in quest of something to fill their lives have a job made to order — volunteer work to help the professional staff at South Florida State Hospital, says Lois Parks, executive director of the Miami Mental Health Society.

A film, "The Human Side," to be shown Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in Miami Public Library Auditorium, 1 Biscayne Blvd., will show how a volunteer looks at patients in a modern mental hospital and realizes that it takes more than modern buildings to get patients well.

"Volunteers are needed at the South Florida Hospital for the new recreation programs and to help in the library," Miss Parks says. Film is open to the public.

Column With a Heart welcomes discussion of your problem, and your reply to the problems of others. Write to Eleanor Hart, The Miami Herald Miami, Fla.

New Spring Bras are "Self-Fitting"

By RUTH STONE
Perma·lift Foundation Stylist

Your foundation garments should fit your specific figure needs and I have just discovered a bra that will fit you, instead of forcing you to fit the bra. It's called Self-Fitting, by "Perma-lift".*

Each cup automatically adjusts to your exact bust proportions. You fill as much of the cups as is necessary, and the rest of the bra becomes part of the diaphragm band.

And what uplift. New Magic Insets mold you, lift you and will never wash or wear away.

There's more too, the "Neveride" band—keeps your bra securely in place always. Style #110 (left) in cotton, $2.50. D cup, $3.50. Style #10 (right) of shadow lace in white, blue, black, red, burnt red, champagne, and pink—only $3.

Write for my free booklet, "Facts About Figures" c/o Ruth Stone, Dept. "N", A. Stein & Company, 1143 West Congress Parkway, Chicago 7, Ill.

Is "iron-hungry blood"* making you only "half" a woman?

Are You So Run-Down You Can't Give Your Husband Real Companionship? Then Discover The Wonderful Blood-Strengthening Action of This Special Iron Tonic for Women!

How tragic when a woman feels so tired, so run-down, she can't be a real companion! This can turn marriage into misery! Luckily, it's often due to "Iron-Hungry Blood" (*simple iron deficiency anemia). Then it's needless for women to suffer this awful weariness. Now, a wonderful iron tonic can help relieve this condition...thus renew your vigor and vitality. It's Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets, only blood enriching iron tonic made especially for women!

Rich in iron, Pinkham's Tablets start to strengthen "Iron-Hungry Blood" within one day! Thus quickly help build rich, red blood...to restore your strength and energy . . . so you feel fine again fast . . . able to enjoy life!

Pinkham's unique formula can also bring blessed relief from functionally-caused "female distress". Even torturous monthly cramps and "Hot Flashes" of change-of-life were relieved in doctors' tests! No wonder so many women use Pinkham's Tablets all through their lives!

If you're tired, weak and run-down due to "Iron-Hungry Blood", get Pinkham's Tablets from druggists. See if you don't soon feel "all" woman again!

FOR FEMALE AILMENTS! Doctors' tests prove famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound (liquid) also brings quick relief from discomforts of monthly pain and change-of-life.

Japanese Open War On Cancer

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

TOKYO — The news that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had cancer reminded Japanese that this disease is Japan's second biggest killer and not enough is being done to combat it.

DULLES

The frank statement that Dulles did have cancer was hailed by the English language Japan Times as contributing to the war against cancer by taking it off the forbidden word list.

Japan's cancer rate has nearly tripled in the past 30 years. Last year it claimed 83,000 victims, ranking second only to high blood pressure or cerebral hemorrhage. An estimated 250,000 Japanese suffer from cancer.

Backed by the Asahi, Japan's most respected newspaper, the Japan Cancer Society and the medical profession have launched a campaign to set up at least 700 cancer clinics throughout the country.

Clinics have already been opened in 19 cities. The need for clinics was underlined by the fact that in all Japan there were only 54 hospitals equipped to treat cancer. Most people who have the disease come to Tokyo for treatment — if they do anything about it at all.

Incidentally, Japan has so far refused to link lung cancer with smoking.

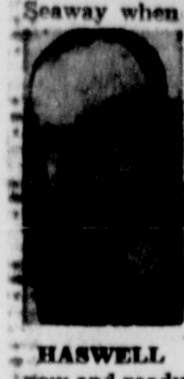
St. Lawrence Seaway Tolls Start at April Opening

By JAMES M. HASWELL
Of Our Washington Bureau



HASWELL

WASHINGTON — The U.S. and Canada will start collecting tolls on the St. Lawrence Seaway when navigation opens in April, and expect to take in 15 million dollars this season.

President Eisenhower and Queen Elizabeth will formally open the Seaway at a ceremony June 26, but it is 96 per cent finished now and ready to operate.

U.S. Tolls Committee Chairman B. Reece Harrill has announced the schedule of tolls and said Seaway authorities expect them to produce 15 million dollars this first season, rising to 28 million by 1969.

The money will be used to operate and maintain the Seaway and during the next 50 years to repay a U.S.-Canada investment of approximately 471 million dollars, Harrill said.

This does not include 135 million dollars the U.S. is spending to deepen the Detroit River, the St. Mary's River, and other Great Lakes channels, to accommodate ocean shipping.

Sen. Pat McNamara (D., Mich.), announces that the Budget Bureau has agreed to put an extra four million dollars into the 1960 Federal budget to keep the Detroit River deepening project going ahead on schedule.

This will make the 1960 appropriation 27 million.

The Detroit River project should be finished in 1962. Until it is, the Seaway, so far as deep draft shipping is concerned, ends at Toledo.

Toll rates made public Thursday did not differ greatly from earlier forecasts. Bulk cargo will pay 42 cents a ton and general cargo 95 cents. Ships will pay six cents per registered ton.

Flour and sugar were shifted to bulk classification at the last minute, along with dried beans, peas, flaxseed, rapeseed, mill feed, grain screenings, and oil seeds, Harrill said.

Bulk is defined as anything shoveled, pumped, blown, scooped or forked, but the material also can be packaged in sacks, bundles, or bales for transportation.

Domestic package freight, such as a shipment from Detroit to New York, is classified as a bulk shipment at 42 cents. But a shipment of the same kind of goods from Detroit to Montreal or any other foreign port would be classified as general cargo at the 95 cent rate.

The Welland Canal between Lake Erie and Ontario is declared a part of the Seaway and a portion of the revenues will be set aside to repay the costs of deepening it to 27 feet.

N. R. Danellian, of the St. Lawrence Seaway Associates, a shippers' group, said he regretted this.

"It sets a precedent under which the costs of future improvements to the Welland canal may have to go into the toll base," he said.

The seaway authorities do not consider the Detroit River or the St. Mary's River as part of the Seaway, Harrill said. They are navigable waters on which the U.S. is spending 135 million dollars to deepen to accommodate ocean traffic. But Seaway tolls will not be expected to recoup this investment, he said.

Seaway optimists regard the Welland Canal as the Seaway bottleneck now. The newly completed locks and canals in the St. Lawrence River could carry 75 million tons of shipping a year, Harrill said, whereas the Welland Canal which by-passes Niagara falls, can carry only 60 million tons.

Allowing for local traffic between Lake Erie cities and Lake Ontario cities, the Welland will have room only for 50 million tons of through shipping, Harrill said. If this capacity is reached, Canadians plan to build a parallel passage.

Harrill said the Seaway offices will be at Cornwall in Canada and ships will pay 71 per cent of their tolls in Canadian dollars and 29 per cent in U.S. dollars. "We don't think we should be in the money exchange business," Harrill explained.

The latest investment estimate of 471 million dollars represents 340 million dollars Canadian investment and 131 millions is U.S. investment, Harrill said.

Since that estimate was made, U.S. costs dropped. They won't finally amount to more than 128 million dollars, Harrill added. But Canadian costs have been rising, and the total of both won't be known until the unfinished four per cent of construction is done.

Harrill said shipping costs, more than Seaway tolls, will determine whether shippers of high-value cargo, such as Detroit auto parts, use the Seaway or the railroads.

"I have been told that a jeep can be placed on a dock in Toledo for $5.80," he said, "compared to a cost of $50 to put it on a dock in an Atlantic Coast port."

This would indicate a tremendous margin in favor of shipping to foreign ports from Toledo rather than from New York or Baltimore. Railroads are talking of seeking lower rates to improve their competitive position.

Harrill questioned whether the Seaway authorities would protest such a move in an ICC hearing. He also observed that "the Seaway had been built for bulk cargo."

The Association of American Railroads, long time foe of the Seaway, called the tolls "wholly unrealistic" and said they would cover "less than two-thirds of total seaway costs.

"They fall far short of the requirements of the law with regard to self-liquidation," the AARR said, "indicating that the American taxpayer is about to be taken for another multi-million dollar ride."

Argentina Buys Wheat

BUENOS AIRES —(UPI)— Argentina will sell 1,200,000 tons of wheat to Brazil this year, it was officially announced.

The sale is in accord with a 1957 pact between the two countries calling for Argentine sale of a million tons of wheat a year to Brazil during 1958, 1959 and 1960.

The sale of the extra 200,000 tons this year was worked out in meetings between Argentine Commerce Department and Brazilian embassy officials.

The arrangement also gives Brazil an option to buy 300,000 more tons by next June.

May All That Thou Sendest Us Bring Us Nearer to Thee

By JIM BISHOP

Go With God

"Prayer is not conquering God's reluctance, but taking hold of God's willingness," Phillips Brooks wrote. Brooks was born in Boston in 1835. He was educated at Harvard and the Episcopal Theological Seminary at Alexandria, Va., and was ordained to the ministry in 1859. After serving in pulpits in Philadelphia and Boston, he was consecrated Bishop of Massachusetts. While rector in Philadelphia he wrote the verses of the popular Christmas hymn "O Little Town of Bethlehem." The tune was composed by Lewis Redner, a real estate man who was Sunday School superintendent and organist at Rev. Brooks' church.

O Lord, by all thy dealings with us, whether of joy or pain, of light or darkness, let us be brought to thee. Let us value no treatment of thy grace simply because it makes us happy or because it makes us sad, because it gives us or denies us what we want; but may all that thou sendest us bring us to thee; that knowing thy perfectness we may be sure in every disappointment that thou art still loving us, and in every darkness that thou art still enlightening us, and in every enforced idleness thou art still using us; yea, in every death thou art giving us life, as in his death thou didst give life to thy Son, our Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen.

My Day

Africans Need Our Sympathy

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

MRS. FDR

ROME — I took off from New York with my granddaughter, Nina Roosevelt, bound for Iran, and our first stop is here.

Now, I want to explain that because of transmission difficulties there may be a time difference between some of the columns written from Iran and Israel and some of the other countries we will visit, and my news at times may not keep up with my itinerary.

But I have written several columns on various subjects which I hope will be of interest and which may be published on those days when my travel columns may be delayed.

IMMEDIATELY on my return from the West Coast last week I hurried to Washington, for a meeting of the American Association for the U.N., and I think it was the best meeting we have ever had.

Also, I was very fortunate to hear Rep. Chester Bowles and James Green, of the State Department African desk, speak on Africa.

On the African continent today many colonies and protectorates are striving for complete freedom — and some are attaining it. And these developments, of course, are being watched with eagle eyes by the Soviet Union and should be watched with greater sympathy and understanding by the West.

I also enjoyed a talk with Sen. Stuart Symington. He came to tell me about his proposal for the establishment of a U.S. foreign academy. I liked very much one of the things he said at the beginning of his speech introducing his bill, and I quote it here:

"As has so often been said, the ultimate future of the world, whether it is to be free or slave, will not be settled on battlefields, but rather in the minds of men."

This would be a four-year academy, "not a postgraduate course but a regular equivalent to a college course. Students would come from all parts of the country and would be selected just as they are for the service academies, and again the senator said: "Surely, if we can afford three service academies for possible hot war, we can afford one foreign service academy to handle the cold war which is now going on."

I am tremendously hopeful that this bill will receive serious consideration, for it seems to me it would provide us with trained and dedicated people who would know the world and its people.

I WAS interested to read that our military draft has been extended, but I have not yet been able to find out whether there was coupled with it an order or desire to study the whole question of the use of manpower in our military services.

The draft was essential before World War II, but our whole setup of weapons has changed since then, and I have an idea that we are using our manpower very wastefully.

A study of the whole question could have great value, since I believe that with modern weapons we need to have certain areas of service filled by specially trained men.

At present we train men in certain basics and beyond, and often when they are ready to be useful in any of the services their compulsory time is up and they are discharged. This is wasteful of money and men.

I have a great belief in universal military training, and I do not think we have given the whole queston the proper careful consideration.

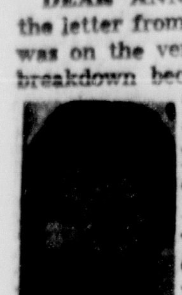
Parents Often Negligent

By ANN LANDERS



ANN

DEAR ANN: After reading the letter from the mother who was on the verge of a nervous breakdown because her daughter got into trouble, I would like to ask a question.

How in the world can a parent allow a 15-year-old girl to date a 20-year-old man, then be horrified or "half crazy" (as she put it) when she learns the girl is in a family way?

Apparently, this woman does not realize she was derelict in her duty. Mothers give me an indescribable pain when they moan, "I did everything in the world for my daughter, and now she thanks me by bringing disgrace to the family."

I'm not excusing the young man or the girl. The final responsibility rests with the individual. But for heaven's sake, young girls need parental guidance and discipline. Teenagers must learn some things from experience, but it makes no sense to let a child play with a loaded pistol to teach him that bullets can be dangerous. You may add to this letter if you wish, Ann Landers, but please print it.—MRS. W. D. G.

Dear Mrs. W. D. G.: I can add nothing to your excellent letter except a hearty "amen" and my thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN: This problem that my son is having is just as important as any love affair. Please help him. He needs it for his term paper.

He must find the words "unmitigated" and "exhaustive" in two separate sentences in some newspaper. We've both searched for weeks and apparently no one uses these words but his English teacher.

You are our last hope. Can you use them in your column? It would help a lot. Thank you in advance. — BLEARY-EYED MOTHER

Dear Bleary-Eyed Mother: After exhaustive research I could find neither of these words in the four newspapers I read daily.

I'm afraid, Mother, it will be a cold day in the Mojave Desert when you find "unmitigrated" in a newspaper. Although this is a perfectly respectable word, not many people know what it means. You're welcome.

DEAR ANN: My husband and I get along fine. It's the relatives on both sides who are causing the trouble.

My sister has a teenage son. Her husband left her without a goodby or a penny. She works to support herself and the boy. I feel sorry for her because she's a nice person, but she's as foolish as they come. I've loaned her money time and again for things she says she "must have." Then I learn she has bought costume jewelry or some knick-knack. For weeks they lived on peanut-butter sandwiches so she could make a down-payment on a new living-room set.

My husband's sister is the other problem. She comes over every afternoon to chat. I like to chat, mind you, but not for five hours. When I start to fix dinner, she says, "My, that smells good! You're such a wonderful cook. I don't have a thing in the house for dinner. Shall I call Sam and tell him to meet me here?" How can I say no?

Our grocery bill is easily 30 per cent higher because of them. After dinner she and Sam park in front of the TV until we're dead. When I complain to my husband about his sister, he starts in on my sister. We've been married 13 years and never had any trouble. I see storm clouds gathering. What do you suggest? — MRS. F. P.

You know the solution (as many people do who write for advice) — you just need to hear it from someone outside the family or see it in print.

Tell your husband you'll trade him your sister for his sister. In other words, promise you won't lend that nice but foolish woman any more money if he'll agree that his sister and her husband be put on an invitation-only basis. Then — give them the word.

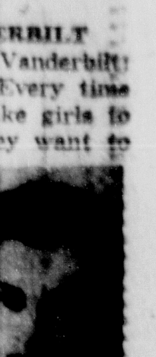
Drive-In Necking Irks Boy

By AMY VANDERBILT



AMY

"DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: What can we do? Every time my buddy and I take girls to the drive-in, all they want to do is neck. The way we see it we spend our money to see a movie and necking should be done on free time. What is it that drive-ins do to girls? Many other boys feel the same. — J. M., Chicago."

When a couple or two sees a movie at a drive-in the intimacy of the car can certainly detract from even the most exciting picture. It is interesting that the boys seem to think that the girls expect necking and that the boys would prefer to see the picture. You are not so helpless as you suppose, for, after all, it is the boy who is expected to take the initiative in the giving of affection. Make it clear that you want to see the movie.

"DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: I know the answer to this probably will be 'yes,' but I want more than just that. My question is: Do you think a girl of 13 is too young to go out with a boy of 17½? I also would like to know if I should waste my time liking or loving a boy 17½ who doesn't even look at me or pay any attention to me. He knows I like him, but it doesn't make any difference. If you say I should like a boy my age, then how do you get a boy to notice you and like you? Just one more question should a girl 13 be able to go out maybe Friday and Saturday? — L. O. G., Hartford, Mich."

Yes, I do think a boy nearly 18 is too old for you, and also that you are too young for Friday and Saturday dates unless they are with groups of which your mother and father approve. Afternoon skating or movie dates should be acceptable, too, as would dancing class and other organized meetings.

Most girls your age have serious crushes on some unobtainable youth, usually actually chosen because he is unobtainable. Enjoy your crush, but don't break your heart over the fact that a boy going on 18 is not much interested in a 13-year-old. That's as it should be.

"DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: I belong to a girls' organization and we are having a hayride. My boy friend drives, but my parents are chaperoning. Who should take us, since we are doubling with another couple? — E. S., Houston, Texas."

As your parents are chaperoning, it would seem the sensible thing for them to take you both along.

"DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: I have a boy friend with whom I go out to parties, etc. Other than when I go out with him he doesn't want anyone to know about our friendship. (Only his and my closest friends know about it.)

"Although we know he likes me, some of my girl friends think he might be ashamed of me. We can't find anything he could be ashamed of. Could you tell me what to do? — S. R., Irvington, N.J."

He is not ashamed of you. He is just a boy who has been properly brought up. He doesn't discuss his dates or his feelings for you in any intimate detail with even his closest friends. Accept his friendship but do not ask him to explain his gentlemanly reticence.

African, 51, Has Quadruplets

CAPETOWN, South Africa — (UPI) — A 51-year-old African woman gave birth to quadruplets — three boys and a girl. All are reported doing fine.

Dr. James Louw, professor of obstetrics at the university of Capetown, who assisted in the delivery, said he believed it was the first time a woman that age gave birth to four children.

1—An elderly man is often surprisingly sensitive to a suggestion that he's -AG-GARD (H or L).

6—We're usually readier to excuse LI- from a youngster than from an adult (E or P).

7—Often, the -ILDER his speech the less likely we are to think a new acquaintance has a strong character (M or W).

9—Association with cultured companions usually helps one to be CLEA- in one's speech (N or R).

12—We're more likely to be interested in a charity when we think our money will not be WA-TED (N or S).

13—Intelligent people are apt to be exasperated by personal criticism that's SIL-Y (K or L).

14—As a rule, men are more likely than women to make -EST of it when their plans come to nothing (B or J).

15—A nagging wife is apt long to remember an occasion when her husband -AID too much! (P or S).

Answers to Last Week's Puzzle

Across

1—A novelist usually has a better chance of success if he makes his story a LIVELY one (Likely). —If it's LIVELY, the story will be of interest in itself. If it's but LIKELY, it may be about something which, though LIKELY, is quite dull.

4—Cynical indeed is the man who says that every husband has at least one FOE! (Woe). — FOE is the stronger term, and fits better with cynical indeed. A man who says that every husband has at least one WOE (a wife) might be called cynical, but not very cynical or cynical indeed.

5—A girl with social ambitions is apt to regard her parents' advice as mere attempts to BAR her progress (Mar). — They're merely advising her, not taking definite action. BAR is better; it means merely to obstruct. MAR goes much further; it means to spoil.

7—People who are very much ALIVE often get on well together (Alike). —Not ALIKE; too much depends on the characteristics they share. The natures of people who are very much ALIVE, vital, are more likely to be in harmony.

10—As a rule, the naughtier a child the more likely it is to be SORE topic of conversation between its parents (Sole.) — SOLE goes too far; the sole topic is the only topic, to the exclusion of all others. SORE, painful, doesn't cover such a wide field.

11—To get their way, even fond wives sometimes GALL their husbands (Gull). — To get their way fond wives more frequently than sometimes GULL, or beguile their husbands. They might do so by flattery! GALL is stronger, meaning to vex, annoy, harass; and that they sometimes do so is not going too far.

13—As a rule, an observant young man can soon tell when a girl friend of his has CLASS (Claws). If she's fond of him she might well try to conceal that she figuratively has CLAWS, that she can be a cat. Not so CLASS, quality or excellence, which is as a rule quickly recognized.

14—Alas! many men succeed in life through being WILY (Oily). — Some men might succeed in life through being OILY, greasy of manner, but not many. Many men succeed through being WILY, crafty, cunning, sly.

Down

1—We're seldom surprised when a person who is LED doesn't have much will-power (Lad). — Not LAD; lads can be very self-opinionated and stubborn. A person who is LED is one who takes the line of least resistance.

2—Mean of a cynical turn of mind are seldom the type that women can LEAD on (Lean). — LEAN is weak, because such men might well have a sense of duty. LEAD fits well.

3—You can often tell that a man is tactful by the way he PREVENTS an argument. (Presents.) — PRESENTS is less apt because many arguments do not call for tactful presentation. It's normally more obvious that he's tactful by the way he PREVENTS an argument.

6—It's usually a shock when we find after a friend's death that he didn't OWE nearly so much as he pretended (Own). — With OWN it would be a surprise rather than a shock; most of us try to keep up appearances. It's more likely to be a shock with OWE; he might have borrowed money to pay mythical debts.

8—It's sometimes necessary for a man to quarrel with a woman to know her WILL (Well) — He might well come to an understanding of her, without quarreling; it is more reasonable to say that they'd have to qurrrel before he knew her WILL, her true wishes or desires. Sometimes we disclose in anger things we would not otherwise express.

9—Riches often enable a man to have MIGHT on his side! (Right). —Even flippantly, the statement is not true with riches. His being rich scarcely changes wrong into right. MIGHT is better.

10—A boss might well be called sympathetic who makes detailed inquiries after learning that an employe has suffered a bad SPELL (Spill) — SPILL is weak. He might be anxious only to know whether the employe can return to work. With SPELL, the employe might not have to stay from his work; in any case, it's in the past.

12—Few of us, if any, can say we've never wasted DAY (pay) — The person is by no means so extremely rare who can say he's never wasted his PAY; consider those who have just started to work for their living. With DAY, a person's whole life has to be considered, and it's most unlikely that any of us can say we've never wasted a DAY.

Barber Shot By Customer

CATANIA, Sicily —(UPI)— Barber Venerando Mangiagli was shot in the stomach while shaving a customer in his shop near here.

The customer, not identified, had a pistol in his pocket which went off accidentally.

Mangiagli, 37, is in serious condition.

Married Millionaire Sent His Playmate Out to Buy a Bikini—She Spent $1,900

By Cholly Knickerbocker

John J. Astor

Gail Whitney

Monique Van Vooren

News that John Jacob Astor is having the late Vincent Astor's will scrutinized only confirms rumors which have abounded since his half-brother's death — rumors to the effect that "Jackims" is investigating not only the will itself, but the three men who witnessed it . . . Her friends say Gail Whitney Cowell will get a quick divorce and a job — in that order . . . A very famous, very married millionaire is the laughing stock of his pals. He talked a pretty girl-about-town into going to Miami with him and sent her off to buy a bikini.

She charged $1,900 worth of clothes before she was through.

Pert and pretty Olga Georges-Picot, Daughter of ex-French ambassador to the U.N., looks like even odds to give Henrietta Tiarks and other glamor girls a run for their money before she goes off to Paris. Her escorts at New York's Chateau Henry IV were Charles Hirshon and the Marquis of Tavistock . . . Linda Christian obviously needs a public relations adviser. She showed up at a Hollywood costume party dressed as "The Merry Widow" and the late Ty Power's friends are all steaming.

SOMEBODY TOLD us that Monique Van Vooren is studying Greek. (Or is she studying Greeks?) . . . Pittsburgh department store heir Steve Kaufman returns from St. Moritz with two broken feet—the result of his first skiing try. Friends readied a wheelchair especially equipped with a Bermuda bell, red lights, and other accoutrements . . . John Jacob Astor's cufflink at New York's Voisin was his new most steady girl, Christine Broske . . . William Pahlman has wangled $50,000 worth of fancy free material with which to decorate a special dressing room for Hermione Gingold at New York's Alvin Theater. That ought to put lots of show back into show business . . . If you plan to make the Paris scene around May 1, then forewarned is forearmed. The City of Light will have 18 non-working days due to fetes and may resemble a desert island.

THE NEW minister counselor at Rome's U. S. embassy is Outerbridge Horsey . . . They say railroad exec Bill Phipps and blond Marie Carol are plotting an elopement. He shouldn't need a plot, he's already been to the $2 window five times, but this will be Marie's first.

Playboy Peter Crosby, once wed to Denise Darcel, is trying to find security in selling securities . . . Londoners whispering that Sir Winston Churchill once again kept Somerset Maugham from being knighted. Their vintage feud dates back almost half a century.

Society's newest pet, Spanish sculptress Fiore de Henriquez, has a powerful exhibit of her work at the Leonard Hutton galleries. One look at her bronzes makes one forget all the silly publicity about her cigar-smoking eccentricities which Fiore says she only did to please reporters. "Actually I smoke cigarets," confides the artist . . . The untimely passing of Tommy Manville's sister, Lorraine, will leave the aging marriage maestro considerably richer.

LIFE WITH LARRY THOMPSON

New Shoes Fixed Fast

A LADY TELLS me that she bought a pair of those new shoes with the toothpick heels the other day at a well known Miami Department store.

When she got home and tried to walk in them, she realized she had made a mistake, and she took the shoes back to the store.

"I can't balance myself on those thin stilts," she said, "unless I learn how to walk all over again, and I'm too old for that."

"You'd be surprised how many women have the same trouble," the manager told her. "If you want to keep the shoes, there is a shoe repair shop around the corner that can put on sensible heels."

She went to see the man, and he wasn't surprised one bit when she asked for new heels on her new shoes. Fact is, he's building up quite a business, just replacing those ridiculous splinters with real heels.

WHICH MAKES ME WONDER. What does a woman in those silly shoes do when she comes to a grating across the walk? Those heels surely would get caught in the small holes.

AFTER READING in this educational corner that we wanted the words to a song about a man sitting on the moon, Mrs. Mamie Sheehan, Delmonico Hotel, Miami Beach, went to see "The Drunkard," an old-time melodrama, at the Back Room Theater on Coral Way.

"This is a coincidence," she writes, "but the mistress of ceremonies and the piano player both joined and blended their voices in this very song."

The Drunkard, by the way has been going on for weeks and weeks and months and months.

It'll never equal the record set in Los Angeles, where it once was played for years and years, but it must be setting some kind of local record.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE, from Mrs. H. A. Hackney, Fort Lauderdale:

"As one four-eye to another, I must tell you that the very thing from which you derive your living is the best glasses polisher there is. The reader who said that an old piece of folding money would do it was right, but as you so rightly said, who can keep a buck these days?

"Use a dollar bill as a pattern and from a newspaper cut as many wipers as you like. Just fog your glasses with your breath, polish, and you will say they have never been as clear before. Also the newspaper wipers will lend a bit of deception by padding your wallet."

When we bring up a subject, we always have a hard time turning loose of it.

As a conclusion to this glasses discussion, Franklin Lamb, Palm Beach, has sent us something called "Slick-Shine" lens cleanser. It's a small thing that can be carried in a shirt pocket. You touch it to the lens, then wipe with a handkerchief. It works good.

Mr. Lamb brought out the first ball point pen when he was president of the Reynolds Pen Co., and says this is the first thing he has put on the market since.

ALTHOUGH HE IS a teetotaler as far as tobacco is concerned, Joe Sherman, Helen Mar Hotel, Miami Beach, has fond memories of some of the coffin nails of yesteryears.

For instance, he recalls American Beauties, Drums, Egyptian Deities, Kef. You could buy four of them for a penny or a package of 20 for a nickel.

ONE OF OUR READERS was commenting about $7.50 ties, but Joseph L. Plummer Jr., 1349 W. Flagler St., says there's a Miami store offering socks at $7.50. That's per pair, not per sock.

And of course there's the place on Miami Beach that has gold slacks with a price tag of $2,000.

I'd buy them, but I'd be so self-conscious in yellow pants.

ADVICE, OFFERED by Edward J. McCracken, Ivanhoe Hotel, Miami Beach:

"Have you ever tried an electric typewriter? Don't! Has anyone been electrocuted lately by one of these contraptions?"

That I don't know. Jack Bell, The Herald's Town Crier, uses one of them, but once when I borrowed his machine behind his back, it nearly jumped out from under me.

I was afraid it would blow its fuse before I finished my story.

Jack Kofoed Says

Truman Should Know About Bad Criticism

HAVING BEEN brought up in the by no means intellectual atmosphere of Kansas City politics, Harry S. Truman learned to dish it out.

There never was a time when HST was afraid to say what he thought. But, conversely, the former president is more than a little touchy about criticism.

The other day he made a crack about the newspaper business. He said a telegraph editor, with a blue pencil, could completely alter the honest intent of a story.

Of course, Mr. Truman was talking without knowing too much about the subject under discussion.

To prove it, a publisher offered him the opportunity of editing a paper for a week.

The Man from Independence thumbed down the bid. He suggested that it took experience to do a job, and was still riled because editors, without experience in government, kept telling him what to do when he was president.

It is not difficult to gauge what is wrong, even though it may be the toughest thing in the world to correct the situation.

Newspapers pointed out fouled up conditions, but did not attempt to instruct the then chief executive on what steps he should take.

It's like seeing a play marked by bad writing and lousy acting. Even an amateur can see the flaws, but has no idea of how to go about correcting them.

About experience, Mr. Truman is a good amateur pianist, but his knowledge of music is not comparable to that of qualified critics.

Yet, when one of those experts wrote some uncomplimentary things about Margaret Truman's singing, her father blew his top and threatened bodily violence to the critic.

Considering the Missourian's feeling about political writers, whom he felt should have kept their big fat mouths shut about politics, his action was not entirely logical.

Mr. Truman may have not been a great president, but was certainly one of the most colorful and outspoken. However, he never was as able at taking it as at dishing it out.

The lady who wrote the following verse is a public stenographer, so speaks on her subject with sound knowledge:

I'd like to meet the fella who Prepares that awful, awful glue
On envelopes that I must lick
  (And twice, sometimes, to make 'em stick!)
And what's this propaganda now?
  They say they're "peppermint"—and how!
They do not solve a single thing
  Except to make my poor tongue sting!
Won't someone make a glue that's dry
  For Public Stenos such as I?

THE OTHER DAY Jordan Marsh staged a fashion show, featuring lingerie, garters, girdles and similar items of feminine wearing apparel which, in a more unsophisticated day, were known as "unmentionables." There's nothing unusual in such a show except for one thing. The store invited men to sit in as observers.

I suppose the theory was that since the male of the species pays for flimsies, he should have an exciting first hand view of what they look like.

This is modern thinking, but it would not have done for that merchant prince of long ago, John Wanamaker. Of course, John's store sold the things women wore then, like corsets, which laced up the back, petticoats and baggy drawers. The old man blushed whenever these things were mentioned, but liked the profits they brought.

It is inconceivable that there could have been a show, with pretty girls modeling underwear, in 1900. They looked just too awful. And, it is just as inconceivable that men ever would have been invited to view such an immoral sight.

Well, it just goes to show the world's thinking . . . even that of conservative business men . . . changes with the years. What would have shocked John Wanamaker is no more than ordinary routine to Jordan Marsh.

Ideas Spring Up

Light Dawns On Bus Lines Facing Death

Since V-J Day, 350 American Cities have lost their transit systems. Besides, fifty-million Americans in other cities are on the verge of losing the public transportation that may be their only means of getting to work for some of them. While population goes up, bus passenger volume goes down, as dramatically shown by those Miami statistics: population up 75 per cent in 10 years, but rides down 25 per cent in the same period.

By JOSEPH N. BELL
Herald Special Writer

IN THE PAST FEW YEARS, a great light has dawned on some of the more enlightened public transportation officials. They realized that in order to attract more business, they must offer a better product.

This realization, coupled with the equally sudden awareness of municipal officials — from whom assistance is imperative — that public transit is just about the only salvation for the extremely crucial traffic problem, has sparked a tremendous resurgence of effort to sell public transportation.

Can Public Transit Be Saved?

For the first time in many a year, transit people are coming up with some aggressive, imaginative ideas to get people back on buses.

These ideas are encompassed in three broad areas: (1) deluxe, speedy service, as represented by such innocations as express buses and club riding plans; (2) cooperative merchandising; and (3) long-range transit planning. Let's examine some working samples from each group.

Deluxe service—of whatever nature or description — helps make buses more competitive with the automobile. The most concerted effort in this direction is the express bus, which has now been adopted in dozens of cities large enough to make it practical.

These buses pick up passengers in a limited area, then express as speedily as possible downtown. Express buses have proved so effective in St. Louis that ridership on express lines increased in the midst of a precipitous decline in overall bus riding.

Express Buses Helped Atlanta

ATLANTA OFFERS an excellent example of what can be accomplished with express buses. As traffic congestion increased, the Metropolitan Planning Commission appealed to the Atlanta Transit System to establish a fleet of fast, limited-stop buses to make use of the new expressways. Twelve express lines are now in successful operation.

"Without these rapid-transit buses," says Robert Stuart, head of the planning commission, "the traffic situation in downtown Atlanta would be impossible. Buses are the most efficient users of city streets."

Another modification of deluxe bus riding appeared first a few years ago in Cincinnati, where the local transit company introduced the nation's first Club Flyer transit plan on the theory — according to J. C. Jones, company president—that "the public is willing to pay a standby charge for quality service."

"The features of a guaranteed seat," he continued, "plus stopping immediately in front of a home where possible, and the express ride downtown has improved our competitive posi-

It was the third time the 71-year-old Dulles had left the hospital since his Feb. 13 hernia operation. A recurrence of his 1957 abdominal cancer was discovered then.

Dulles was accompanied by his wife. Dulles wore a dark blue homburg and a heavy black overcoat against the brisk March winds. Smiling broadly, he was greeted by about a dozen newsmen.

"Hello, hello, hello," he said, as he slowly walked from his room at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

The secretary seemed ready to chat. But when a reporter asked him how much longer he would be in the hospital, he apparently decided that was one question too many.

"You'll have to ask the doctors that," Dulles replied through a fading smile. He turned, and without assistance stepped into his waiting black limousine.

Ike Talks On Berlin Tonight

Radio, TV Units To Carry Speech

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower goes before the people tonight with a radio-TV report on the Berlin crisis which he regards as one of the most important speeches he has delivered since entering the White House.

He is expected to couple his report with a stronger new defense of his military and foreign aid programs, now under heavy congressional attack. The President will appear over all major radio and television networks from 9:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

He probably will not unveil any new strategy for dealing with the Berlin crisis. But he was certain to nail down once and for all that the U.S. will not allow itself to be forced out of the city by Soviet bluff and bluster.

Russia has demanded that the Western allies leave West Berlin and permit it to become a free city while the Russians turn over their sector to the German Communists.

East German Communists charged Sunday that the U.S., Britain and France were "misusing" their lifelines to isolated West Berlin. The Communists accused the Western allies of breaking four-power traffic agreements by shipping Berlin-made armaments through East Germany to the West by rail and air.

The charge, made by the influential monthly magazine "German Foreign Policy" (Deutsche Aus Senpolitik), raised the possibility that the Communists might interfere with the traffic.

Ike Failing As Leader, Britons Say

LONDON — (AP) — With Prime Minister Harold Macmillan packing for his trip to the White House, British commentators took a look at the state of the U.S. presidency Sunday and found it wanting.

Much - traveled Macmillan, just home from Paris and Bonn, is due in Washington Thursday to talk about the Western approach to the Berlin crisis.

Newspapers here built up the impression that he goes as the Western world's undisputed leader — and that Macmillan will get the credit if his talks with President Eisenhower pro-

FORT LAUDERDALE — A 61-year old driftwood dealer, enraged because his 42-year-old ex-wife took offense when he called her "Honey," shot and wounded her and a woman visitor Sunday, then put his gun to his own forehead and killed himself.

John Warren Lindsay, 609 SE 16th St., was dead on arrival at Broward General Hospital. His ex-wife, Opal Blake, 42, of 317 SW 15th St., where the shooting occurred, was in good condition Sunday.

The other victim, Mrs. Betty Ineson, 46, of 1706 Plunkett St., Hollywood, was released from the hospital with a wound on the forehead.

Police said Mrs. Blake, whose 15-year-old son was at church when the shooting occurred was preparing to serve lunch to sailors from the USS Boston, docked here, when Lindsay appeared at the back kitchen door.

Mrs. Blake asked Lindsay to leave after he had addressed her as "Opal, Honey," police said. The two had been separated since April.

Instead, Lindsay, whom acquaintances described as "a man with a temper," drew a 22 caliber pistol from a pocket and began firing.

Neighbors said they heard about seven shots. Mrs. Blake was hit in the face.

In another room of the house were Mrs. Ineson's two children, John, 12, and Suzanne, 9. Police said Mrs. Blake ran screaming into the room where the children were.

Police Lt. John J. Sherlock said that after shooting the women, Lindsay apparently went directly to his home, put the gun to his forehead and shot himself.

When police arrived at his residence, he was still alive, but died en route to the hospital. Police said he operated a shop on S. Federal Hwy. dealing with driftwood items.

Billy Graham Draws His Biggest Crowd

Officals of his crusade estimated the crowd at 140,000—Melbourne officials called it 150,000 and said that was conservative—and termed it the largest he has ever drawn, even surpassing packed meetings held in London and New York.

For the first time in history, the public was allowed to stand on Melbourne cricket ground. They stood where the main events of the Olympic Games were decided in 1956 and jammed every stand. Australian clergymen called it the greatest religious meeting in Australian history.

The weather was perfect, with blue skies and a warm autumn sun.

Graham goes to Tasmania today and Tuesday for two meetings at Hobart and Launceston, then starts a fortnight's holiday at Broadbeach, Queensland, before commencing a brief New Zealand crusade in early April.

Graham wound up his month of local meetings with virtually every church on his side — including the Roman Catholics.

Catholic priests of several churches paid tribute to Graham on the last day of his crusade and called him a good Christian who helped people to find God.

One Jewish journal praised Graham for his fine character, innate goodness and silver tongue, and added "no matter what faith one may be, none of us can help but be amazed and pleased with influence of this American evangelist."

Wisconsin, Michigan Hardest Hit

Arkansas Towns Lashed by Winds

By United Press International

A paralyzing late winter storm battered parts of the Midwest Sunday for the second time in eight days, isolating many towns, stranding thousands of persons, and clogging highways with drifts 10 feet deep.

States of emergency were declared in at least 12 Wisconsin counties as travel became impossible over streets and roads. Snow emergencies were issued in Milwaukee and Sheboygan.

Heavy drifts in South-Central Wisconsin near Randolph stalled a Chicago & North Western Railway passenger train. Some 80 passengers aboard the train, en route from Minneapolis to Chicago, were transferred to school buses which managed to buck drifts and reach the train. Railroad officials said the buses would carry the passengers to Milwaukee.

Tornadoes which hop-scotched over Arkansas and Illinois early Sunday were part of the storm system which spewed heavy rain and thunderstorms across a wide area south of the snowstorm.

The Arkansas twisters hit Opal, Moko and Owensville, killing two persons, injuring at least 18 and causing heavy property damage. Mrs. Elva Roberts, 56, Opal, and Virgil Haslett, 45, Moko, died when their homes were destroyed, state police said many homes were leveled and fallen trees and debris blocked some roads.

The snowstorm raced out of the Rockies across the central plains through Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota before slamming through Iowa and Wisconsin into Michigan.

Weathermen warned the storm would hit New England early today, dumping from five to seven inches of snow over parts of Maine.

Winds up to 50 miles per hour and more accompanied the snow as it powered across Iowa, Northern Illinois and most of Wisconsin, piling up drifts 10 feet deep. Highways were impassable through Iowa and Wisconsin, where up to 12 inches of snow fell.

Hundreds of motorists were reported stranded throughout

Finally! Sun Didn't Flee On Weekend

Warm sunny weather, the sort of stuff which goes away on weekends, broke the habit Sunday.

And things will stay pretty decent Monday, the weather buureau said.

For the first time since Jan. 4, Miami got Miami weather on a Sunday.

The sun gleamed, the mercury spurted to 82, and sun-chasing multitudes carpeted the beaches.

Said Forecaster Gilbert Clark:

"It was the warmest Sunday this year. And that blizzard running across Michigan with winds up 65 and 70 miles an hour made it feel even better."

The only complaints came from fishermen. It was a little too breezy for good fishing, Clark said.

South Florida will get partly cloudy skies Monday, a high temperature of about 82, and southwest winds 10 to 20 miles an hour, he said.

A cold front which pushed into northern Florida will stall before it reaches Miami, the bureau predicted. The outlook for Tuesday is warm and somewhat cloudier.

Night Club Operator Singing Blues Over Eartha and Teresa

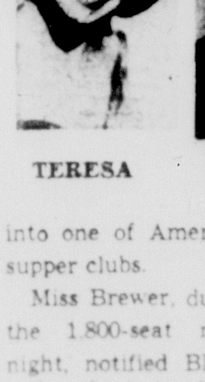
BOSTON —(AP)— Night club owner Stanley Blinstrub thinks Eartha Kitt and Teresa Brewer are fine singers, but he says they have him singing the blues.

Eartha, Blinstrub says, canceled the last two nights of her week's engagement at his South Boston bistro earlier this month. Both nights would have been sellouts.

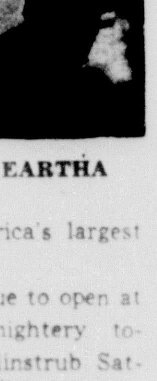
She walked out, he says, because she thought the audience didn't appreciate her art. Blinstrub didn't appreciate her departure and filed charges against her with the American Guild of Variety Artists.

He's holding up Eartha's four-figure salary check until AGVA reviews the case.

Now trouble has come double to the former contractor who built an 18-stool tavern into one of America's largest supper clubs.



TERESA



EARTHA

Miss Brewer, due to open at the 1,800-seat nightery tonight, notified Blinstrub Saturday she is too ill to appear.

"She's sick, hah," said Blinstrub, gulping two aspirins. "I'm sick. I've got 11,000 reservations and no Teresa Brewer. St. Patrick's Day is two days away—that's a national holiday here—and she says she's sick."

Blinstrub says he has asked AGVA to have a doctor examine Teresa at her Scarsdale, N.Y., home. Further, he says, he's also sending a doctor of his own choice to inquire into the state of her health.

Teresa, according to Blinstrub, tried to cancel her appearance once before on the grounds that her act wasn't ready, but he wouldn't let her out of the engagement because she already had presented the same act at a Florida night spot.

The fuming club owner, known generally for his gentle temperament, said the doctors' examinations will be merely to guide him in any action he takes against Miss Brewer.

"If she's sick," Blinstrub grimaced, "then I'm sicker."

Cut Foreign Aid in Half, 'Citizens' Urge Congress

Herter Due To Defend Bill Today

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — A recently organized "citizens committee" called Sunday for a 50 per cent slash in President Eisenhower's new $3,929,995,000 foreign aid program. It also proposed an end to all foreign aid within three years.

The recommendations were made by the Citizens Foreign Aid Committee. Its members include such long-time critics of the aid program as former federal Tax Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews and Clarence E. Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame Law School.

They fired their barrage as Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter took over the tough job of trying to sell the President's program to a skeptical Congress.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee opens hearings today with Herter as its first witness. He will lead the administration's uphill case in the face of Democratic pledges to cut the program wherever possible.

The President sent his program to congress Friday with a warning that it was vitally necessary to bolster the free world in view of the increasing ability of the Communist bloc to launch "a war of nuclear destruction."

Democrats, smarting under the President's "big spender" label, are primed to trim the aid program, partly to offset spending for domestic programs. They talked of cuts ranging up to about a billion dollars.

The citizens committee proposed a two - billion - dollar slash, saying this would trim foreign aid "to a more realistic and less inflationary $1,900,000,000."

The group also urged Congress to exercise close control over the aid program as long as it exists and recommended that all spending be handled by the Export-Import Bank. This, it said, would wipe out "inefficiency and waste."

The committee appeared to advocate what the President has referred to as the "Fortress America" or go-it-alone school of thought in the defense of this country.

It said military aid should be continued on a "realistic" basis and for the time being to countries "which we are morally obligated to defend and which are directly threatened with Red aggression." But it also said:

"So far as the survival of the American people is concerned, military assistance to European and Asiatic countries is not essential. Authoritative studies show convincingly that the Western Hemisphere can be defended and made self-sufficient both in peace and war."

duce any new coherence in the allied line. A dispatch in the Conservative Sunday Times put it this way:

"Washington without the strong hand of Secretary of State (John Foster) Dulles lacks authority, but after the Macmillan-Eisenhower meeting a new sense of direction is expected."

The Liberal Observer said America, France and Germany, too, have "grudgingly accepted the leadership of Mr. Macmillan because no other leadership was forthcoming."

Christopher Lucas, Washington correspondent of the mass circulation Sunday Dispatch, pictured America's chief executive as lonely, low-spirited, and in his political enunciations bafflingly inconsistent.

Said Lucas: "In 1953 America's most popular war hero, the universal father image, swept the Republicans into power with the magic of his name and embarked on a crusade for a new era in government.

"In 1959 a weary, disillusioned figure enters the home stretch with his popularity tarnished and his crusade forgotten.

"In one breath Eisenhower announces 'we won't give an inch on Berlin' and in the next adds quietly 'or mobilize a man either.'

"He insistently pleads for peaceful negotiations, yet equally insistently evades a summit confrontation with Khrushchev."

On the other hand, Henry Brandon of The Sunday Times reported growing evidence that Eisenhower is "bravely trying to fill the vacuum left by Mr. Dulles' absence."

"He has been stung into action by insinuations that Mr. Macmillan has, by default become the leader of the Western alliance," he wrote.

the Iowa-Wisconsin area. Between 5,000 and 6,000 persons, teenagers and adults, were stranded by the storm at Lincoln, Neb., where they had attended the state's high school basketball tourney finals.

A similiar fate befell about 500 high school students and adults at Des Moines, where they had attended a girls' basketball tourney. The Iowa Highway Patrol refused to allow autos and cage fans to leave the city because of the storm and hazardous roads.

Even snowplows were called back when strong winds drifted the snow across roads faster than it could be plowed.

Taverns, churches and farmhouses opened doors to motorists unable to buck the deep snows and drifts. Stranded autos were abandoned in snowbanks and across roads, hampering what snow removal operations were possible. In Fayette County, 67 motorists crowded into a farm home for shelter, authorities said.

Some 100 Boy Scouts from the Milwaukee area were marooned by the storm on an outdoor camping trip at Indian Mound Boy Scout camp near Waukesha, while 20 Girl Scouts took shelter in an abandoned barn at Kettle Moraine State Park near Sheboygan. All roads around both camps were blocked.

At Sheboygan, traffic was halted as the area was cut off from the remainder of the state. Half of the city was without electric power for up to 12 hours as snow and blustery winds snapped power lines. Church services were canceled and no buses or taxis were running.

In Wisconsin counties where states of emergency existed, the highway patrol said snowplows would operate for only emergency reasons, such as the needs of an ambulance or a doctor.

Air traffic was canceled throughout the storm area, and bus lines all but shut down. Trains ran hours behind schedule, and many cities, like Des Moines, pulled city buses off the streets during the early hours of the storm.

Dozens of range fires that spread over north Texas on winds up to 55 miles per hour appeared under control Sunday. One of the worst fires was along a front 15 miles wide and 35 miles long in the Nocona and Montague areas, where more than 100,000 acres of range and pastureland were blackened. Winds were dying, but fire fighters said the winds still posed a danger threat.

Yacht Blows Up Off Lauderdale

The owner of the yacht refused to discuss details of an engine room explosion aboard or give his name. His son, about 32, was the only passenger injured among the four women and three men aboard, authorities said.

The yacht, identified as the Nancy Marie VII, was towed by the Coast Guard about 50 feet offshore, at the foot of SE 24th Ave., where firemen extinguished the blaze. Witnesses estimated the yacht's value at $80,000 and said it was a total loss.

McLaney Denies He Had Pesos

Mike McLaney, former Miami Beach restaurant operator and Havana gambling casino owner, had only 80 American dollars in his pocket when picked up by Cuban police on suspicion of peso-smuggling, his attorney said Sunday.

McLaney and five other Americans were still being held in Havana Sunday after being detained Friday when they arrived on planes from Miami.

Cuban police accused them of trying to smuggle some $237,500 worth of pesos into Cuba.

"Mr. McLaney had a sum total of 80 American dollars on him when he was picked up by Cuban officers," said Roland S. Galub of New York, McLaney's attorney who flew to Havana to try to free him.

"Any charges that he was involved in any way in trying to smuggle pesos into Cuba are completely and absolutely false," Galub said.

Galub said no charges have been filed so far against McLaney. He said he was trying to have Cuban police either file official charges or release McLaney. He said the American Embassy in Havana was investigating the affair.

Galub also said that McLaney was "in no way connected" with the other Americans picked up Friday.

The others are Edward Solomon, Jesus Antonion Prieto, both of Miami, Israel Weinstein, and two women, identified by Cuban officials as Elaine Mitchell and Xenia Thornadakis.

Cuban police gave Solomon's address as 13095 Emerald Dr., North Miami, and said he was a former U.S. Army officer. Antonion Prieto's address was given ae 1850 S. Miami Ave.

McLaney formerly operated L'Aiglon Restaurant at Miami Beach and Galub said McLaney and his wife have been living part of the time recently aboard a houseboat anchored in the Indian Creek near the Fontainebleau Hotel.

McLaney is owner of the gambling casino in the Hotel Nacional in Havana.

Cuban police charged the Americans were trying to sell the pesos in Cuba for American dollars after buying them at cut rate in this country.

Union Raps Girl Scouts

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — A spokesman for the Teamsters' Bakery Drivers Union says $4,000 in union contributions to the United Crusade will be withheld until the Girl Scouts promise not to sell non-union cookies.

"What we want is a promise that the girls will buy local union baked cookies in the future," he said.

tion with the automobile while upgrading the bus ride in the social-conscious day and age when people regard each other in terms of transportation."

Under the club plan, residents of a neighborhood buy a seat on a bus by the month. The bus picks them up at or near their home in the morning and expresses them to work. In the evening, they have a choice of three express buses home. This pioneering operation has been so successful in Cincinnati that the transit company is expanding it to other suburban areas.

Park 'n' Rides Keep Cars Away

SINCE TRANSIT DEALS with such a huge cross-section of people, it has a potent argument for cooperative ventures with all sorts of other types of businesses. One of the most successful has been the transit Park 'n' Ride plan, in which bus company encourages commuters to park along a transit line and take a bus into the downtown area.

Park 'n' Ride grew out of the effort of transit companies to attract people who live so far away from a bus line that they have no alternative to driving their cars.

Through cooperation with city officials — and in some areas, service station operators — the transit company provides bus rides with free parking along the periphery of transit routes. Frequently the transit company buys property and sets up its own parking lots.

In most instances, the plan has been successful for everyone concerned and has extended the effective radius of public transportation considerably. In St. Louis, transit officials estimate that the Park 'n' Ride program is keeping at least a thousand cars a day out of the downtown area.

Transit is also increasing its cooperative ventures with downtown businessmen, who are now recognizing that without transit, downtown areas are most assuredly doomed.

Merchants Pay Customer Fares

THESE COOPERATIVES take all sorts of forms, but in general the merchant picks up the bus tab for customers who make purchases over a certain amount. This is a decidedly realistic sort of subsidy, both for the merchant and the bus line.

More and more cities, recognizing finally that they must have a healthy transportation system to survive, are taking a long, objective look at the whole transit problem. Two examples are found on the West Coast, where Los Angeles and San Francisco are trying to set up an equitable mechanism to coordinate and establish an effective public transportation system.

The future of transit in Los Angeles is in the hands of a single public corporation — the Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority — which holds broad powers granted it by the state Legislature in 1957 to develop and operate a mass commuting system.

San Francisco Has a Problem

SO, WHILE RUNNING a fleet of 1,800 buses and streetcars daily, the authority is conducting studies to decide where the commuter wants to go and how best to get him there in the years ahead. When the studies are completed this year, the authority hopes to begin building an up-to-date, coordinated mass transit system.

In San Francisco, the problem is somewhat different. Communities around the compact city area have shown a consistent disinclination to cooperate in a rapid transit system. In spite of this, the state-authorized Bay Area Rapid Transit District is working hard to come up with some acceptable method of financing a sorely-needed rapid transit system to tie in the nine Bay Area counties with San Francisco.

These are only a few of the devices now being employed by dozens of transit systems all over the country to try and woo local citizens back into the bus-riding habit. So far, the results have been mostly in terms of negative accomplishment — that is, the snowballing trend away from buses since World War II has been checked somewhat.

But in a few cities, the trend actually shows promise of being reversed. We'll examine three of them tomorrow.

Next: Some BIG solutions to the transit problem.

Russia Renews Its Radio Claim

MOSCOW —(AP)— The Soviet press renewed Sunday 100th anniversary of the birth of Alexander S. Popov—Claims that Popov really invented radio and that the ineptness of Czarist officials allowed the world to give credit to "an Italian electrician named Marconi."

The articles said Guglielmo Marconi was only "a talented organizer and worker who received a British patent for his developments in wireless telegraphy although the application was made a year and half after Popov's instruments were demonstrated publicly."

"Born in Russia, Radio has won the whole world," said Komsomolskaya Pravda.

National Summary

Although a few patches of rain dampened the Pacific northwest and light snow was scattered from North Dakota into Colorado an intense storm centered over Southern Lake Michigan shifted the major precipitation pattern to the eastern half of the country today.

Ahead of a cold front extending from Lake Michigan into Louisiana moisture laden winds from the Gulf contributed widespread rain and scattered thunderstorms from Florida into portions of the Great Lakes. Snow extended from Mo. into northern Mich. and thunder accompanied snow over portions of Illinois and Wisconsin. Heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings are in effect for portions of Wisconsin and Michigan with 4 inches or more of snow expected to accumulate by tonight.

Fair skies covered much of the region from the plains across the southwest and sunshine is expected during the afternoon from the lower Miss. Valley into most of the Pacific states. A few snow flurries however are likely to be scattered over the mountains of Wyoming and Colorado reaching western portions of Nebraska and South Dakota. Rain in the Pacific northwest should give way to sunshine through partly cloudy skies during the afternoon.

Schoolboy Beaten Over Quiz-Cheat

BUSHNELL —(AP)— Principal Charles Henderson of Bushnell High School said Saturday he is investigating the beating of a boy who told on other pupils for selling the answers to an English quiz.

Henderson declined to give the names of those involved. He said the 17-year-old youth who received the beating admitted to those selling the answers he had told on them.

The boy's guardian said the pupil was approached several days ago and asked if he wanted to purchase the questions to an English quiz for 50 cents, or the questions and answers for $1.

The boy declined and word leaked out later that copies of the test had gotten into the hands of pupils.

Several nights later, two Bushnell High seniors approached the boy, who lives at Webster, during a basketball game. He got into an auto with them, the guardian said, was taken to an isolated spot and beaten unconscious.

The guardian quoted the boy's saying he was threatened with a knife before being beaten.

The principal said he got a different story. He said he understood the fight started after an argument between two boys over a remark about a girl, as well as the test. He said the boy was not beaten unconscious.

Physicists To Report On Studies

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — An international conference of physicists begins here today on the progress of research on the nucleus of the atom.

Some 100 scientists from 13 countries are to attend the meeting, which continues through Tuesday.

The delegates are interested particularly in a simplified scheme for representing the heart of the atom, called a nuclear optical model. Many of the scientists who played leading roles in developing the concept will attend the meeting.

Physicists from this country, France, Germany, Canada, Switzerland and England will attend the technical discussions. Natives of Japan, Korea, Israel, Australia, Poland, India and The Netherlands, who now live in this country, also will participate in the two-day conference.

The scientists will dine tonight with Gov. LeRoy Collins and William O. Douglas, associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, who is scheduled to deliver a lecture here that night.

Thief's Action Puzzles Police

JACKSONVILLE —(AP)— This one has police puzzled.

On Feb. 20 someone broke into the Neptune Beach home of Betty Walker, airlines stewardess and took her $1,000 mink stole; a $200 wrist watch; some spoons; a radio, $200 worth of perfume, and a cigaret lighter.

Sunday she reported the return, by mail, of everything but the radio and perfume. If the thief was a woman, why didn't she also keep the watch and stole, police wondered. If it was a man, why didn't he sell them?

Private Schools: South's Best Bet

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Florida legislators, although strong for free public schools, have not completely abandoned consideration of a private school system as a way out of the integration dilemma.

Lawmakers like Senate President Dewey Johnson, of Quincy, Sen. Tom Adams, Orange Park, and Rep. Gordon Frederick, Sanford, still feel that private schools may ultimately prove to be the south's best chance for escaping the U.S. Supreme Court's desegregation mandate.

Adams is thinking of private schools in broader terms than just the race issue. He said with the mounting costs of running the schools in Florida, stimulation of private schools would also be a safeguard against future financial trouble.

But Adams thinks the state should have a financial stake in it.

He said the ground should be laid now for "nurturing an independent school system."

First, Adams suggests a scholarship fund should be set up by the state to encourage young people to attend some of Florida's 75 private secondary schools.

To determine which schools would receive reuglar tuition grants, an independent accreditation board should be established, he said, to set up a code of minimum academic standards.

It is high time private capital and enterprise were brought into this picture, he said, warning that the state may one day meet the limit of its financial capacity.

In this way, the state could eliminate over-crowding of public schools without spending millions of dollars on new buildings. He pointed out that the state for years has subsidized the University of Miami, a private institution, to take care of a medical school education for Florida youths before the state medical school was established at Gainesville.

The independent school proposal would bolster the parent-option plan, he said, because without providing alternate facilities for children withdrawing from integrated schools, the plan is "a pig in a poke."

The private school plans, and there are at least three of them under consideration, have no where near the support building up for the parent option tuition plan and the "last resort" school closing bill.

But even some of the legislators who plan to vote for parent option tuition are privately not convinced it will get by the courts.

Frederick said in his opinion "there is no way, either directly or indirectly, by which public money can be utilized in providing education on a segregated basis" and still meet Supreme Court tests.

It would make no provision for state subsidies to the children who attend private schools. "If the people want segregation, they must be prepared to pay for it from their own pockets," Frederick said.

"It could and probably would result in turning the public schools over to the Negroes," he warned.

$30 Million DuPont's Trial Due

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Roy E. Crummer, Nevada bond salesman, brings his 30 million dollar suit against multi-millionaire financier Ed Ball and other Florida duPont interests into court here again today.

Crummer is charging that Ball and others conspired to drive him out of business in Florida by instigating state and federal investigations in the 1940's.

Crummer ran a million-dollar municipal bond business in Orlando at the time, and was knee-deep in refinancing Florida's boom-time bonded debt.

The suit has been in Federal Court for 10 years and never has been heard on its merits, and the trial will be on a technicality, even though expected to last three weeks.

The three-year period allowed for such suits under federal law expired before Crummer sued Ball and the others. But Crummer claims the conspiracy was fraudulently concealed and he didn't find out about it in time to meet the statutory deadline.

Retired Federal Judge Dozier A. Devane tossed the suit out once on the grounds it was barred by the statute of limitations.

But a federal District Court of Appeals at New Orleans ordered a jury to determine if this was true.

If so, the case would then be tried on its merits.

Federal District Judge G. Harrold Carswell, who succeeded Devane, predicted that the trial on whether to try the case on its merits would take three weeks and maybe longer.

Approximately 80 prospective jurors will be on hand, from which a huge battery of lawyers will select 12 to hear their case.

Mayo to Return Before Session

Mayo has been recuperating at his home at Summerfield, near Ocala, from an operation in September. He said he still felt a little weak but is slowly regaining strength.

Don't Call Hubby 'Fathead'

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — Ever hear of basic training for family feuds?

The Palm Beach County Mental Health Association is going to teach the married couple whose honeymoon is over how to fight.

But put away the rolling pin, wives. This is war without weapons. No rolling pins, flying saucers, or even nasty words.

The four-week course for newlyweds begins Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA.

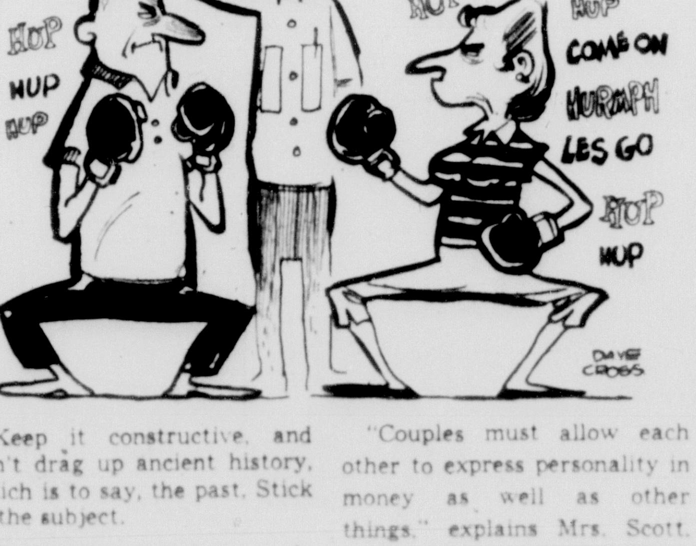
For instance, don't call your hubby a fathead. It fractures his ego.

"Name calling," explained Mrs. Tully Scott, chairman of the association's marriage counseling committee, "is damaging to the ego."

And the little woman doesn't like to be called ridiculous either.



Keep it constructive, and don't drag up ancient history, which is to say, the past. Stick to the subject.

The series on marriage problems will also deal with how to handle money. Remember everyone has to have his "pet extravagance," says the mental health experts.

"Couples must allow each other to express personality in money as well as other things," explains Mrs. Scott.

So if diamonds are your wife's best friend — oh, well.

The two-hour program will include a lecture and a question-and-answer session.

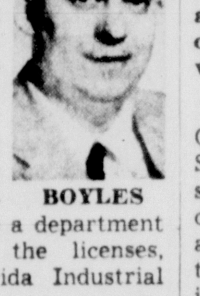
Union Business Agent Permit Rules Tightening Probable

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE—The Legislature, convening next month, will be asked to strengthen Florida laws on licensing of business agents for labor unions.



BOYLES

Nobody is ready to talk officially about specific proposals, but it will be an issue.

It is a good bet consideration will be given to setting up a department for regulating the licenses, under the Florida Industrial Commission.

Responsible labor leaders, as well as state officials, are concerned about the influx of "outsiders" into the state to organize unions.

Under Florida laws, a half-dozen men can set up an alleged union to organize various fields of labor, elect themselves union officers, and appoint business agents who apply for licenses.

If no protests are made within 30 days after the application is filed, the license is automatically granted.

The application consists merely of swearing that the applicant is of good moral character, has never been convicted of a felony.

Secretary of State R. A. Gray and Superintendent of Schools Thomas D. Bailey serve with Gov. LeRoy Collins on the licensing board. Gray and Bailey have indicated they not only think the law is weak, because it provides no funds nor procedure for strict enforcement, but they feel some agency other than cabinet officers should supervise it.

A new law undoubtedly will provide for investigation of each applicant's background to ascertain whether or not they have a police record.

LOBBYING from within and without the government will work against Gov. LeRoy Collins' central purchasing proposal.

He indicated it will go so far as to determine whether certain commodities are needed by the agencies requesting them.

If properly administered, this provision could do much to eliminate waste and duplication. The idea is not to challenge an agency head's wisdom on what is needed, but rather to make sure it isn't a needless duplication of another agency's function.

Some businesses who sell to the state will oppose broad central purchasing, because they prefer to deal with individual department chiefs. In turn, department heads do not want to relinquish the discretionary authority they now exercise in purchasing.

Lemonade Our Style, Given Nod

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Florida has won its point in the dispute over a recipe for making frozen lemonade concentrate. Pure lemon juice will not be required.

Standards issued recently by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration will take effect in 60 days, unless objections require a public hearing.

When the proposed standards were published in June, 1957, Florida citrus leaders voiced opposition to a requirement of unconcentrated lemon juice to make the kind of taste consumers expect.

The California industry favored such a requirement.

The Food and Drug Administration said blindfold tests indicated no distinguishable difference in the taste of lemonade made with concentrate alone, or concentrate and 20 per cent unconcentrated lemon juice.

Under the new standards, chemical preservatives are barred. This rejected an industry proposal for a separate standard for "industrial frozen concentrate for lemonade," which would have contained a chemical preservative.

The standards require the product to contain enough sugar and lemon juice to make a beverage with at least 10½ per cent soluble solids and 0.7 per cent acid.

Little Hope Held for 2

PALATKA—(UPI)—An extensive search for two missing Marietta, Ga., doctors continued in, around and over the rough waters of Lake George near here Sunday, but officials expressed no hope of finding them alive.

The doctors, Edward Schaefer Marks, 40, and George Thomas Fergus Jr., 36, have been missing since Thursday, when their fishing boat was capsized somewhere on the 14-mile-long, nine-mile-wide, wind-whipped lake.

The body of their guide, Arthur Allison, 51, of Satsuma, turned up Friday afternoon, five hours after the 16-foot cruiser was found. Location of the accident was confused by the fact the boat's motor was found seven miles across the lake from where the boat was found.

Convict Labor Attacked

TALLAHASSEE -(UPI)— The state faces a three-fold problem at its main prison at Raiford, which penal officials said last week could explode any minute into a dangerous situation.

The problem, stated, is a simple one, but actually finding a solution will be a baffling dilemma for the State Cabinet.

Basically, the problem is this:

1. The state needs an additional building at Raiford to house the big influx of new prisoners.
2. It doesn't have enough cash to pay for it, but the Cabinet has approved a plan to build it with convict labor.
3. General contractors throughout the state have opposed that method of building.

During recent years the Florida problem has gone from bad, to a little better, but is on the way down again unless the Cabinet, or the Legislature, can devise a way to provide additional facilities.

The prison system is filled to the bursting point, but the real sore spot is Raiford, where about 2,500 are crammed into an obsolete prison, built to house 1,200.

A riot several years ago, a recent "flare-up" and a convict demonstration in recent years triggered attempts on the part of the Division of Corrections to solve the problem, but, because of a tight financial picture, changes are slow.

Shortly before the separate corrections division was created in 1956-57, convicts rioted, and one was killed.

The cabinet hired a former federal prison man, R. O. Culver, to put state penal institutions in shape, and created the Division of Corrections, with him as head.

Culver instituted a reform program, backed by the Cabinet, which included extra "gain time" to release some prisoners early, and leased an additional facility at Avon Park from the federal government.

But reforms were little help against a prison population, which increased roughly 75 a month. At present there are more than 6,400 convicts in institutions designed to hold 5,000.

The 1957 Legislature appropriated $7,000,000 to build a new facility at Raiford, but the project was delayed when the state looked like it was heading for a deficit.

But Culver came up with a plan to build the institution with convict labor, if the state could find enough money for materials. The Cabinet is still looking for available funds.

And contractors oppose Culver's plan, even if the Cabinet is able to find the cash.

Other problems have plagued the penal system, including personality clashes between top officials and laxity of guards.

But many major problems would be solved when, and if, the new structure is completed. DeWitt Sinclair, the Raiford warden, has described the prison as a "powder keg" which could be "set off at any minute."

Florida Ban Of 'Quickies' Ups Mating

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Repeal of Florida's "quickie" divorce law by the 1957 legislature is credited by state officials with bringing an abrupt halt to the steady upward trend in divorces.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health reported the number of divorces tumbled from 18,744 in 1957, to 17,566 in 1958.

The number of marriages in 1958 reached 34,440, almost double the number of divorces.

Gov. LeRoy Collins, who proposed lengthening of Florida's residence requirement, said he felt the longer period would result in "less pretense and less invitation to fraud."

The 1957 Legislature extended residence requirements for filing a divorce action from 90 days to six months. It also passed a companion measure for a 30-day cooling off period between the filing of divorce suits and taking of testimony.

12 Political Leaders Will Choose Democratic Candidate for President

By CHARLES CLEVELAND

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

JOHNSON

DISALLE

DALEY

CHICAGO—A dozen political leaders will pick the Democratic candidate for president in 1960.

The list includes the leading hopefuls for the nomination, some favorite sons and a few pros who control the bulk of their state's delegation.

Between them they control nearly half the convention delegates.

Here are the kingmakers:

GOV. EDMUND G. (PAT) BROWN of California, expected to be that state's favorite son.

MAYOR RICHARD J. DALEY of Chicago, who will control most of the Illinois delegation.

SEN. JOHN KENNEDY, who will be the Massachusetts favorite son and have the backing of New England.

GOV. G. MENNEN WILLIAMS, Michigan's perennial favorite son.

SEN. HUBERT HUMPHREY, Minnesota's nominee.

SEN. STUART SYMINGTON, Missouri's choice.

GOV. ROBERT MEYNER, who will control his New Jersey delegation.

CARMINE DE SAPIO who will be the key man in the New York delegation.

GOV. DAVID LAWRENCE who is the Pennsylvania leader.

GOV. MIKE DISALLE, who is expected to be the Ohio favorite son.

SEN. LYNDON JOHNSON who will carry the banner in Texas.

HARRY S. TRUMAN, former president, who still has a voice in party affairs.

Of this group Gov. Lawrence may well prove to be the bellwether.

His first choice is Adlai Stevenson, which is a good, safe, watch-and-wait position.

Stevenson is now regarded only as a last-minute, compromise candidate. Even his home state of Illinois does not, for now, regard him as a candidate and there are no plans to make him a favorite son.

Lawrence is also skeptical of Sen. Kennedy as the party nominee. It is a skepticism that could have far reaching effects.

Lawrence, like Kennedy, is a Roman Catholic. In 1956 he was one who counseled strongly against naming Kennedy as Stevenson's running mate on the ground that the religious issue would be explosive.

If he holds to this view, Lawrence could play a role in blocking Kennedy again.

At the moment Kennedy is in the lead, but still well short of nomination strength.

He'll have the New England bloc. He is regarded as Mayor Daley's favorite and the probable choice of Gov. Brown.

California, like Pennsylvania, could be pivotal. Ed Pauley, wealthy oilman, will be a powerful behind-the- cenes influence and will try to swing the state to Sen. Symington.

Adlai Stevenson also has a basic following there and in Oregon.

There is considerable Kennedy sentiment in New York. His chief stumbling block there is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who still carries impact on the liberal wing of the party.

This wing will throw most of its support behind Humphrey. Liberals usually are important in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and California. Michigan, at least at the start, will be committed to Gov. Williams, however.

Symington's chief support now comes from former President Truman. Truman's first concern, however, is to prevent Stevenson from popping up as the dark horse nominee.

Gov. DiSalle is one of Mr. Truman's old political pals. Downstate Illinois leaders will follow Truman as will Frank McKinney, if he can regain control of Indiana's delegation.

Gov. Meyner now is a strict outsider in the race. He is concentrating on his job, hoping his financial record will attract attention in a year when most other states are running into red ink troubles.

A major handicap, however, is the religious question in reverse. He is a non-practicing Catholic.

He will, however, carry considerable weight because of his state's large delegation and could—although he is not now—become the South's candidate.

Most pros now rate the contenders as Kennedy, Symington and Humphrey, in that order.

Ideas Spring Up

Light Dawns On Bus Lines Facing Death

Since V-J Day, 350 American Cities have lost their transit systems. Besides, fifty-million Americans in other cities are on the verge of losing the public transportation that may be their only means of getting to work for some of them. While population goes up, bus passenger volume goes down, as dramatically shown by those Miami statistics: population up 75 per cent in 10 years, but rides down 25 per cent in the same period.

By JOSEPH N. BELL
Herald Special Writer

IN THE PAST FEW YEARS, a great light has dawned on some of the more enlightened public transportation officials. They realized that in order to attract more business, they must offer a better product.

This realization, coupled with the equally sudden awareness of municipal officials — from whom assistance is imperative — that public transit is just about the only salvation for the extremely crucial traffic problem, has sparked a tremendous resurgence of effort to sell public transportation.

Can Public Transit Be Saved?

For the first time in many a year, transit people are coming up with some aggressive, imaginative ideas to get people back on buses.

These ideas are encompassed in three broad areas: (1) deluxe, speedy service, as represented by such innovations as express buses and club riding plans; (2) cooperative merchandising; and (3) long-range transit planning. Let's examine some working samples from each group.

Deluxe service—of whatever nature or description — helps make buses more competitive with the automobile. The most concerted effort in this direction is the express bus, which has now been adopted in dozens of cities large enough to make it practical.

These buses pick up passengers in a limited area, then express as speedily as possible downtown. Express buses have proved so effective in St. Louis that ridership on express lines increased in the midst of a precipitous decline in overall bus riding.

Express Buses Helped Atlanta

ATLANTA OFFERS an excellent example of what can be accomplished with express buses. As traffic congestion increased, the Metropolitan Planning Commission appealed to the Atlanta Transit System to establish a fleet of fast, limited-stop buses to make use of the new expressways. Twelve express lines are now in successful operation.

"Without these rapid-transit buses," says Robert Stuart, head of the planning commission, "the traffic situation in downtown Atlanta would be impossible. Buses are the most efficient users of city streets."

Another modification of deluxe bus riding appeared first a few years ago in Cincinnati, where the local transit company introduced the nation's first Club Flyer transit plan on the theory — according to J. C. Jones, company president—that "the public is willing to pay a standby charge for quality service."

"The features of a guaranteed seat," he continued, "plus stopping immediately in front of a home where possible, and the express ride downtown has improved our competitive posi-

It was the third time the 71-year-old Dulles had left the hospital since his Feb. 13 hernia operation. A recurrence of his 1957 abdominal cancer was discovered then.

Dulles was accompanied by his wife. Dulles wore a dark blue homburg and a heavy black overcoat against the brisk March winds. Smiling broadly, he was greeted by about a dozen newsmen.

"Hello, hello, hello," he said, as he slowly walked from his room at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

The secretary seemed ready to chat. But when a reporter asked him how much longer he would be in the hospital, he apparently decided that was one question too many.

"You'll have to ask the doctors that," Dulles replied through a fading smile. He turned, and without assistance stepped into his waiting black limousine.

General on Trip

TAIPEI —(AP)— Gen. Otto P. Weyland, commander of the U.S. Tactical Air Command, arrived here Sunday for a two-day visit. Chinese newspapers said he would discuss matters relating to the air defense of Formosa with senior American and Nationalist Chinese officers.

140,000 In Australia

Billy Graham Draws His Biggest Crowd

Offcals of his crusade estimated the crowd at 140,000—Melbourne officials called it 150,000 and said that was conservative—and termed it the largest he has ever drawn, even surpassing packed meetings held in London and New York.

For the first time in history, the public was allowed to stand on Melbourne cricket ground. They stood where the main events of the Olympic Games were decided in 1956 and jammed every stand. Australian clergymen called it the greatest religious meeting in Australian history.

The weather was perfect, with blue skies and a warm autumn sun.

Graham goes to Tasmania today and Tuesday for two meetings at Hobart and Launceston, then starts a fortnight's holiday at Broadbeach, Queensland, before commencing a brief New Zealand crusade in early April.

Graham wound up his month of local meetings with virtually every church on his side — including the Roman Catholics.

Catholic priests of several churches paid tribute to Graham on the last day of his crusade and called him a good Christian who helped people to find God.

One Jewish journal praised Graham for his fine character, innate goodness and silver tongue, and added "no matter what faith one may be, none of us can help but be amazed and pleased with influence of this American evangelist."

Ike Talks On Berlin Tonight

Radio, TV Units To Carry Speech

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower goes before the people tonight with a radio-TV report on the Berlin crisis which he regards as one of the most important speeches he has delivered since entering the White House.

He is expected to couple his report with a stronger new defense of his military and foreign aid programs, now under heavy congressional attack. The President will appear over all major radio and television networks from 9:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

He probably will not unveil any new strategy for dealing with the Berlin crisis. But he was certain to nail down once and for all that the U.S. will not allow itself to be forced out of the city by Soviet bluff and bluster.

Russia has demanded that the Western allies leave West Berlin and permit it to become a free city while the Russians turn over their sector to the German Communists.

East German Communists charged Sunday that the U.S., Britain and France were "misusing" their lifelines to isolated West Berlin. The Communists accused the Western allies of breaking four-power traffic agreements by shipping Berlin-made armaments through East Germany to the West by rail and air.

The charge, made by the influential monthly magazine "German Foreign Policy" (Deutsche Aus Senpolitik), raised the possibility that the Communists might interfere with the traffic.

Ike Failing As Leader, Britons Say

LONDON —(AP)— With Prime Minister Harold Macmillan packing for his trip to the White House, British commentators took a look at the state of the U.S. presidency Sunday and found it wanting.

Much-traveled Macmillan, just home from Paris and Bonn, is due in Washington Thursday to talk about the Western approach to the Berlin crisis.

Newspapers here built up the impression that he goes as the Western world's undisputed leader — and that Macmillan will get the credit if his talks with President Eisenhower produce any new coherence in the allied line. A dispatch in the Conservative Sunday Times put it this way:

"Washington without the strong hand of Secretary of State (John Foster) Dulles lacks authority, but after the Macmillan-Eisenhower meeting a new sense of direction is expected."

The Liberal Observer said America, France and Germany, too, have "grudgingly accepted the leadership of Mr. Macmillan because no other leadership was forthcoming."

Emergency Declared in 12 Areas

Fires, Tornadoes Also Reported

By United Press International

A paralyzing snowstorm, powered by winds up to 50 miles per hour, battered parts of the Midwest Sunday, isolated towns and cities, stranding thousands and choking highways with 10-foot drifts.

At least 12 Wisconsin counties, and the cities of Milwaukee and Sheboygan, declared emergencies as one of the worst storms of winter paralyzed communications and travel.

The storm stalled a Chicago & North Western Railway passenger train near Randolph, Wis., and raised fears for the safety of a 36-foot tugboat with two men aboard on Lake Michigan where waves were eight to 10-foot high.

Elsewhere, tornadoes skipped through Arkansas and southern Illinois late Saturday and early Sunday, prairie fires raged over North Texas, and strong winds slammed across Michigan.

At least six deaths were blamed on the storm — three in Arkansas twisters at Opal, Moko and Owensville, and one each in Illinois, Iowa and Michigan due either to exposure or heart attacks brought on by exertion.

Some 80 passengers aboard the stalled train, which encountered deep drifts along the main Minneapolis-Chicago line, were transferred to buses by rail officials. The busses broke a trail through drifts and deep snow to pick up passengers for a run to Milwaukee. Rail officals said the train was running low on fuel to power its diesel engine and heat passenger cars when it was abandoned.

The tug "Venus" disappeared on a trip from South Haven to St. Joseph, Mich., a journey of about three hours. But the Coast Guard said strong winds and a blinding snowstorm made an air-and-water search impossible until the storm eased. A shoreline search, however, was conducted for the boat.

Three multi-car accidents were reported in Michigan as the snow pushed inland, reducing visibility to almost zero.

Finally! Sun Didn't Flee On Weekend

Warm sunny weather, the sort of stuff which goes away on weekends, broke the habit Sunday.

And things will stay pretty decent Monday, the weather buureau said.

For the first time since Jan. 4, Miami got Miami weather on a Sunday.

The sun gleamed, the mercury spurted to 82, and sun-chasing multitudes carpeted the beaches.

Said Forecaster Gilbert Clark:

"It was the warmest Sunday this year. And that blizzard running across Michigan with winds up 65 and 70 miles an hour made it feel even better."

The only complaints came from fishermen. It was a little too breezy for good fishing, Clark said.

South Florida will get partly cloudy skies Monday, a high temperature of about 82, and southwest winds 10 to 20 miles an hour, he said.

A cold front which pushed into northern Florida will stall before it reaches Miami, the bureau predicted. The outlook for Tuesday is warm and somewhat cloudier.

1,500 Tangle With Policeman

Yale Melee Called 'Disgraceful'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. —(AP)— City and Yale University officials took a serious view Sunday of a melee involving some 1,500 Yale students and scores of policemen.

"Boorishness," university President A. Whitney Griswold called the students' actions.

"Disgraceful," said Police Chief Francis McManus.

Mayor Richard C. Lee said he was "too upset" to discuss it.

In turn, some student leaders agreed the Yale men were off base, but they also said police were unnecessarily rough and swung clubs indiscriminately.

Meantime, the 4,000 Yale undergraduates were told by Griswold to stay on the campus until this morning and not be on city streets.

They shouted "Gestapo" at officers and hung swastikas and other banners from dormitory windows. McManus estimated 1,500 students milled around the area.

Within 35 minutes, 16 students and a policemen were hurt by police count. None required overnight hospitalization.

Griswold promptly called a meeting for today to consider disciplinary action. He said the fight "would set back 10 years of work to improve town-Yale cooperation."

He said the outbreak has brought disgrace upon all of us."

Evacuate GI Dependents From Berlin — Mansfield

'It Would Clear Way For Action'

By Herald Wire Services

WASHINGTON — Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield urged the government Sunday to evacuate U.S. military dependents from Berlin so American forces there will be ready for any showdown with Russia.

The Montana senator said the continued presence of military wives and children in the Communist-ringed city creates a "hard situation" for American forces.

Mansfield said the crisis posed by Russian demands for an Allied withdrawal from Berlin is "the most serious since Korea, perhaps more serious than that."

The senator said on a television program (CBS-Face the Nation) that "certain steps" already are being taken to beef up American military forces in Western Europe.

However, he said other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance also should provide additional troops if needed "because they're under the gun."

Mansfield backed up the President's determination not to be forced out of Berlin "under any circumstances."

There were these other developments Sunday:

1—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a state election rally in Hannover that he believed an East-West summit conference, lasting "several months," would begin soon. Adenauer declared that the West would negotiate at such talks with nuclear and conventional weapons disarmament in mind.

Adenauer also said he does not believe there will be an all-out war over Berlin.

"The Russians do not want a war themselves," he said. They make threats and they understand how to make the world worry. But they are really after something else."

Khrushchev's plan, Adenauer said, is to get hold of the whole West European community with its 160 million people, and thus make Russia stronger than the U.S.

2—The Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Thomas White, has assured Congress he feels U.S. military forces in Europe are adequate to deal with the Berlin crisis. His heavily censored testimony before the Senate preparedness subcommittee was made public Sunday.

White agreed with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, who testified earlier, that the U.S. "must use whatever means are necessary in order to carry out our national decision" not to give an inch in Berlin.

3—Two senators — Paul H. Douglas (D., Ill.) and Wallace F. Bennett (R., Utah) — said the U.S. would be hard put to raise money for a war over Berlin because of the already huge national debt.

2 Walked Away

Little more than scattered nuts and bolts remained of this twin-engine Convair 240 cargo plane that crashed in a blinding rainstorm in Chicago early Sunday, but the two crewmen walked away with minor cuts and bruises. The American Airlines craft missed Midway Airport and fell in a nearby railroad freight yard.

Said Lucas: "In 1953 America's most popular war hero, the universal father image, swept the Republicans into power with the magic of his name and embarked on a crusade for a new era in government.

"In 1959 a weary, disillusioned figure enters the home stretch with his popularity tarnished and his crusade forgotten.

"In one breath Eisenhower announces 'we won't give an inch on Berlin' and in the next adds quietly 'or mobilize a man either.'

"He insistently pleads for peaceful negotiations, yet equally insistently evades a summit confrontation with Khrushchev."

On the other hand, Henry Brandon of The Sunday Times reported growing evidence that Eisenhower is "bravely trying to fill the vacuum left by Mr. Dulles' absence."

"He has been stung into action by insinuations that Mr. Macmillan has, by default become the leader of the Western alliance," he wrote.

Soviet Envoy Leaving Iran

TEHRAN, Iran — (UPI) — The Soviet ambassador is quitting Iran in the wake of the Iranin-American defense pact, it was disclosed Sunday.

The Foreign Ministry said it was informed by Ambassador Nikolai Pegov that he was going home. No reasons were given and there was no indication of any formal rupture between Russia and its southern neighbor which share a 700-mile frontier. But relations between them have worsened in recent weeks.

New Era, eight in a single accident near Brunswick, and 10 vehicles were involved in a chain accident at Grand Rapids.

No one was injured in the Brunswick-New Era accidents, but ambulances were dispatched to the scene in Grand Rapids.

High winds also took a toll of electric and telephone wires over much of Michigan. Trees were bowled over and plate glass store windows blown out. At Lansing, winds caused a power failure which knocked the world's first combination commercial - educational television station (WMSB-TV, WILX-TV) off the air.

The snowstorm raced out of the Rockies across the central plains through Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota before slamming through Iowa and Wisconsin into Michigan.

Weathermen warned the storm would hit New England early today, dumping from five to seven inches of snow over parts of Maine.

Winds up to 50 miles per hour and more accompanied the snow as it powered across Iowa, Northern Illinois and most of Wisconsin, piling up drifts 10 feet deep. Highways were impassable through Iowa and Wisconsin, where up to 12 inches of snow fell.

Hundreds of motorists were reported stranded throughout the Iowa-Wisconsin area. Between 5,000 and 6,000 persons, teenagers and adults, were stranded by the storm at Lincoln, Neb., where they had attended the state's high school basketball tourney finals.

A similiar fate befell about 500 high school students and adults at Des Moines, where they had attended a girls' basketball tourney. The Iowa Highway Patrol refused to allow autos and cage fans to leave the city because of the storm and hazardous roads.

Even snowplows were called back when strong winds drifted the snow across roads faster than it could be plowed.

Some 100 Boy Scouts from the Milwaukee area were marooned by the storm on an outdoor camping trip at Indian Mound Boy Scout camp near Waukesha, while 20 Girl Scouts took shelter in an abandoned barn at Kettle Moraine State Park near Sheboygan. All roads around both camps were blocked.

At Sheboygan, traffic was halted as the area was cut off from the remainder of the state.

In Wisconsin counties where states of emergency existed, the highway patrol said snowplows would operate for only emergency reasons, such as the needs of an ambulance or a doctor.

Air traffic was canceled throughout the storm area, and bus lines all but shut down.

Dozens of range fires that spread over north Texas on winds up to 55 miles per hour appeared under control Sunday. One of the worst fires was along a front 15 miles wide and 35 miles long in the Nocona and Montague areas, where more than 100,000 acres of range and pastureland were blackened. Winds were dying, but fire fighters said the winds still posed a danger threat.

McLaney Denies He Had Pesos

Mike McLaney, former Miami Beach restaurant operator and Havana gambling casino owner, had only 80 American dollars in his pocket when picked up by Cuban police on suspicion of peso-smuggling, his attorney said Sunday.

McLaney and five other Americans were still being held in Havana Sunday after being detained Friday when they arrived on planes from Miami.

Cuban police accused them of trying to smuggle some $237,500 worth of pesos into Cuba.

"Mr. McLaney had a sum total of 80 American dollars on him when he was picked up by Cuban officers," said Roland S. Galub of New York, McLaney's attorney who flew to Havana to try to free him.

"Any charges that he was involved in any way in trying to smuggle pesos into Cuba are completely and absolutely false," Galub said.

Galub said no charges have been filed so far against McLaney. He said he was trying to have Cuban police either file official charges or release McLaney. He said the American Embassy in Havana was investigating the affair.

Galub also said that McLaney was "in no way connected" with the other Americans picked up Friday.

The others are Edward Solomon, Jesus Antonion Prieto, both of Miami, Israel Weinstein, and two women, identified by Cuban officials as Elaine Mitchell and Xenia Thornadakis.

Cuban police gave Solomon's address as 13095 Emerald Dr., North Miami, and said he was a former U.S. Army officer. Antonion Prieto's address was given as 1850 S. Miami Ave.

McLaney formerly operated L'Aiglon Restaurant at Miami Beach and Galub said McLaney and his wife have been living part of the time recently aboard a houseboat anchored in the Indian Creek near the Fontainebleau Hotel.

McLaney is owner of the gambling casino in the Hotel Nacional in Havana.

Cuban police charged the Americans were trying to sell the pesos in Cuba for American dollars after buying them at cut rates in this country.

Six Injured Near Stuart

STUART — Six Miamians were injured, four critically, in a head-on collision Sunday near Stuart on rain-slick Sunshine State Parkway.

In one car were a nurse and three elderly women, including Mrs. Henry Whiting, former owner of the Diamond Salt Co. in Michigan. In the other were Mr. and Mrs. George Solberg, 8125 SW 64th St. He is the owner of a Coral Gables chemical company, Aquachem Inc.

Mrs. Whiting's car was driven by her nurse, Miss Clyde Fletcher, 45, of 450 Beacom Blvd.

Mrs. Whiting, 83, 2944 SW Sixth St., her companion, Miss Maude Smith, 76, same address, and Mrs. Leila Bond, 83, of 2225 SW Ninth St., were all in critical condition, as was Solberg.

Doctors at Martin Hospital in Stuart listed the condition of Mrs. Solberg and Miss Fletcher as serious.

tion with the automobile while upgrading the bus ride in the social-conscious day and age when people regard each other in terms of transportation."

Under the club plan, residents of a neighborhood buy a seat on a bus by the month. The bus picks them up at or near their home in the morning and expresses them to work. In the evening, they have a choice of three express buses home. This pioneering operation has been so successful in Cincinnati that the transit company is expanding it to other suburban areas.

Park 'n' Rides Keep Cars Away

SINCE TRANSIT DEALS with such a huge cross-section of people, it has a potent argument for cooperative ventures with all sorts of other types of businesses. One of the most successful has been the transit Park 'n' Ride plan, in which bus company encourages commuters to park along a transit line and take a bus into the downtown area.

Park 'n' Ride grew out of the effort of transit companies to attract people who live so far away from a bus line that they have no alternative to driving their cars.

Through cooperation with city officials — and in some areas, service station operators — the transit company provides bus rides with free parking along the periphery of transit routes. Frequently the transit company buys property and sets up its own parking lots.

In most instances, the plan has been successful for everyone concerned and has extended the effective radius of public transportation considerably. In St. Louis, transit officials estimate that the Park 'n' Ride program is keeping at least a thousand cars a day out of the downtown area.

Transit is also increasing its cooperative ventures with downtown businessmen, who are now recognizing that without transit, downtown areas are most assuredly doomed.

Merchants Pay Customer Fares

THESE COOPERATIVES take all sorts of forms, but in general the merchant picks up the bus tab for customers who make purchases over a certain amount. This is a decidedly realistic sort of subsidy, both for the merchant and the bus line.

More and more cities, recognizing finally that they must have a healthy transportation system to survive, are taking a long, objective look at the whole transit problem. Two examples are found on the West Coast, where Los Angeles and San Francisco are trying to set up an equitable mechanism to coordinate and establish an effective public transportation system.

The future of transit in Los Angeles is in the hands of a single public corporation — the Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority — which holds broad powers granted it by the state legislature in 1957 to develop and operate a mass commuting system.

San Francisco Has a Problem

SO, WHILE RUNNING a fleet of 1,800 buses and streetcars daily, the authority is conducting studies to decide where the commuter wants to go and how best to get him there in the years ahead. When the studies are completed this year, the authority hopes to begin building an up-to-date, coordinated mass transit system.

In San Francisco, the problem is somewhat different. Communities around the compact city area have shown a consistent disinclination to cooperate in a rapid transit system. In spite of this, the state-authorized Bay Area Rapid Transit District is working hard to come up with some acceptable method of financing a sorely-needed rapid transit system to tie in the nine Bay Area counties with San Francisco.

These are only a few of the devices now being employed by dozens of transit systems all over the country to try and woo local citizens back into the bus-riding habit. So far, the results have been mostly in terms of negative accomplishment — that is, the snowballing trend away from buses since World War II has been checked somewhat.

But in a few cities, the trend actually shows promise of being reversed. We'll examine three of them tomorrow.

NEXT: Some BIG solutions to the transit problem.

MUST we have a new name for our country? Clyde Heil called from Normandy Shores golf course to say "a bunch of the boys have been cutting it up, now that Hawaii is a state. We want a verdict."

Well boys, it's like this. As you point out, U.S. is a nation of states with common boundaries. Alaska is way yonder, hooked onto Canada, the South Pacific, in another hemisphere, yet.

So here's a suggestion for our new name: "Un-united States of America, with radar attachments to Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands." Oke?

But bear in mind that both new states will have a time trying to install segregation.

Every day they're thinking up ways to make things tougher for thieves. An inventor in Italy has a gadget that will telephone the police when a burglar enters a building—giving the name of the firm and address when police pick up the telephone. It's not in use in U.S.—yet.

Now I ask you; is that fair?

Weather's S'no Joke In Most Of the 48 . . . er, 50

Forecasts For Today

INDIAN RIVER AREA — Considerable cloudiness Monday night. Widely scattered showers mostly during the afternoon or evening. High Monday 75 to 80. Low Monday night 65 to 70. Mostly south and southwest winds at 10 to 20 m.p.h.

NAPLES, LAKE OKEECHOBEE, BROWARD, PALM BEACH AND KEYS AREAS — Partly cloudy Monday and Monday night with a few widely scattered showers occurring mostly during the afternoon or evening. High Monday 78 to 85. Low Monday 68 to 75. Mostly south and southwest winds at 10 to 20 m.p.h.

FLORIDA — Fair and cool. High about 66 to 72 north, and 70 to 80 south.

MARINE — Jacksonville through Florida Straits: Northerly winds 10 to 20 miles over north portion, and southwesterly winds, 10 to 20 miles an hour over south portion. Partly cloudy. East Gulf: Partly cloudy with a few showers over extreme south portion. Southwesterly winds, 10 to 20 miles an hour.

WESTERN CARIBBEAN — Easterly winds 15 to 25 miles an hour, except winds southeasterly over extreme north portion.

SMALL BOAT BULLETIN — Southwesterly winds 10 to 20 miles an hour. Bay moderate, inland waters slightly choppy.

National Summary

Although a few patches of rain dampened the Pacific northwest and light snow was scattered from North Dakota into Colorado an intense storm centered over Southern Lake Michigan shifted the major precipitation pattern to the eastern half of the country today.

Ahead of a cold front extending from Lake Michigan into Louisiana moisture laden winds from the Gulf contributed widespread rain and scattered thunderstorms from Florida into portions of the Great Lakes. Snow extended from Mo. into northern Mich. and thunder accompanied snow over portions of Illinois and Wisconsin. Heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings are in effect for portions of Wisconsin and Michigan with 4 inches or more of snow expected to accumulate by tonight.

Fair skies covered much of the region from the plains across the southwest and sunshine is expected during the afternoon from the lower Miss. Valley into most of the Pacific states. A few snow flurries, however are likely to be scattered over the mountains of Wyoming and Colorado reaching western portions of Nebraska and South Dakota. Rain in the Pacific northwest should give way to sunshine through partly cloudy skies during the afternoon.

Aid Offer For Mains Prepared

NAPLES — A suggestion for owner participation in construction of East Naples water mains in addition to the minimum proposed by the City of Naples may be considered at a joint city-county water committee meeting at 3:30 p.m. today at the branch courthouse.

Property owners along the Tamiami Trail, east of Airport Rd., have suggested they "might be willing" to pay construction cost of an eight-inch line past their land.

The city originally considered a six-inch line direct to the Shadowlawn School, to be built this summer. This size main was declared inadequate by Ed Pizer, a developer who has asked a one-mile extension to an area in which he plans 100 low-cost houses.

City Manager Fred Lowdermilk admitted inadequacy of the six-inch line, and said an eight-inch pipe should be substituted.

He told the City Council the Trail area extension is "impractical now" because of costs and planned four-laning of the Trail next year.

Property owners have offered to provide a five-foot easement along the front of their lots. The easement would be within the 50-foot setback line, already established.

Owner payment could replace present plans for building the mains later, and assessing the cost when the job is done. It would, in effect, speed up the construction.

Thief's Action Puzzles Police

JACKSONVILLE —(AP)— This one has police puzzled.

On Feb. 20 someone broke into the Neptune Beach home of Betty Walker, airlines stewardess and took her $1,000 mink stole; a $200 wrist watch; some spoons; a radio, $200 worth of perfume, and a cigaret lighter.

Sunday she reported the return, by mail, of everything but the radio and perfume. If the thief was a woman, why didn't she also keep the watch and stole, police wondered. If it was a man, why didn't he sell them?

Disputed Coin-Wash Still Spins

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

WILTON MANORS — The disputed coin laundry was spinning and tumbling away Sunday, five days after the variance allowing it to operate was quashed in Circuit Court.

City Attorney William Miller said Saturday he didn't know if it was violating the zoning ordinance.

"I can't answer. I haven't decided," he said.

Miller also was not prepared to say whether he would prosecute the laundry if he determined it was violating the ordinance.

The ordinance puts laundries in a Business 2 zoning category. Pyro Incorporation's coin laundry on Wilton Dr. is in a Business 1 zone.

It won a variance from the Board of Adjustment after a zoning change obtained by its attorney, Municipal Judge William Leonard, was voided by Circuit Judge James Walden.

The variance was voided Tuesday by Circuit Judge Richard Sauls.

Miller said Saturday he intends to appeal Judge Sauls' decision although the City Council has not yet authorized an appeal.

"As city attorney, I have to make my own decision," he said. "The Council could alter it."

The original zoning change sought by Leonard — to allow coin laundries in all Business 1 zones — will be presented again to the Council Tuesday night.

It was voided because no public hearing was given. Leonard last week obtained the zoning board's approval of his request. Miller noted that the variance appeal may become moot if the council also approves Leonard's case.

Hogg Funeral Held Sunday

STUART — The funeral of Mrs. Naomi Hogg of Brunswick, Ga., a former-resident of Stuart, was held here Sunday at Johns Funeral Chapel, with burial in All Saints cemetery at Jensen Beach.

Mrs. Hogg was a native of England. She moved to Stuart 46 years ago. Survivors include a son; three daughters, including Mrs. Elizabeth Knickerbocker of Miami; 18 grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

Gather at Tampa

Florida Teachers To Hold Meetings

TAMPA—(AP)—More than 7,000 teachers and school officials from throughout the state converge on Tampa this week for the annual Florida Education Association Convention.

J. Crockett Farnell, city school superintendent here, said, "We expect it to be the biggest and best convention we have held."

School board members and officials of the Florida Association of County School Superintendents meet Wednesday. The FEA sessions open Thursday and run through Saturday.

School board members will receive an explanation of the parent option proposal from Assistant Attorney General Ralph Odum of Tallahassee prior to the convention opening.

Odum handles racial litigation for the state. The parent option plan, backed by Attorney General Richard Ervin and State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey, will be considered by the State Legislature.

The proposal would allow parents to withdraw children from schools which become integrated. The state would pay $240 a year toward the education of these children in private schools.

U.S. Sen. George Smathers of Miami heads a list of speakers for the contention. Gov. LeRoy Collins and Bailey also will address the teachers.

Phillip Constans of Gainesville, president of the FEA, will preside. An election will be held to select his successor during the meeting.

Little Hope Held for 2

PALATKA—(UPI)—An extensive search for two missing Marietta, Ga., doctors continued in, around and over the rough waters of Lake George near here Sunday, but officials expressed no hope of finding them alive.

The doctors, Edward Schaefer Marks, 40, and George Thomas Fergus Jr., 36, have been missing since Thursday, when their fishing boat was capsized somewhere on the 14-mile-long, nine-mile-wide, wind-whipped lake.

The body of their guide, Arthur Allison, 51, of Satsuma, turned up Friday afternoon, five hours after the 16-foot cruiser was found. Location of the accident was confused by the fact the boat's motor was found seven miles across the lake from where the boat was found.

Harstad Rites Set in Chicago

JENSEN BEACH — Olaf Harstad, 64, Jensen Cutoff Rd., died at his home Saturday. He had lived here since October, coming from Chicago. He was a native of Norway and had lived in the U.S. since he was 15.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret, a son, two daughters, and a sister. Services and burial will be in Chicago, with Yates Funeral Home in charge here.

$30 Million DuPont's Trial Due

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Roy E. Crummer, Nevada bond salesman, brings his 30 million dollar suit against multi-millionaire financier Ed Ball and other Florida duPont interests into court here again today.

Crummer is charging that Ball and others conspired to drive him out of business in Florida by instigating state and federal investigations in the 1940's.

Crummer ran a million-dollar municipal bond business in Orlando at the time, and was knee-deep in refinancing Florida's boom-time bonded debt.

The suit has been in Federal Court for 10 years and never has been heard on its merits, and the trial will be on a technicality, even though expected to last three weeks.

The three-year period allowed for such suits under federal law expired before Crummer sued Ball and the others. But Crummer claims the conspiracy was fraudulently concealed and he didn't find out about it in time to meet the statutory deadline.

Retired Federal Judge Dozier A. Devane tossed the suit out once on the grounds it was barred by the statute of limitations.

But a federal District Court of Appeals at New Orleans ordered a jury to determine if this was true.

If so, the case would then be tried on its merits.

Federal District Judge G. Harrold Carswell, who succeeded Devane, predicted that the trial on whether to try the case on its merits would take three weeks and maybe longer.

Approximately 80 prospective jurors will be on hand, from which a huge battery of lawyers will select 12 to hear their case.

Mayo to Return Before Session

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Nathan Mayo, veteran state agriculture commissioner, said he expects to return to work before the Legislature meets April 7.

Mayo has been recuperating at his home at Summerfield, near Ocala, from an operation in September. He said he still felt a little weak but is slowly regaining strength.

It Won't Win Family Fight.

Don't Call Hubby 'Fathead'

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — Ever hear of basic training for family feuds?

The Palm Beach County Mental Health Association is going to teach the married couple whose honeymoon is over how to fight.

But put away the rolling pin, wives. This is war without weapons. No rolling pins, flying saucers, or even nasty words.

The four-week course for newlyweds begins Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA.

For instance, don't call your hubby a fathead. It fractures his ego.

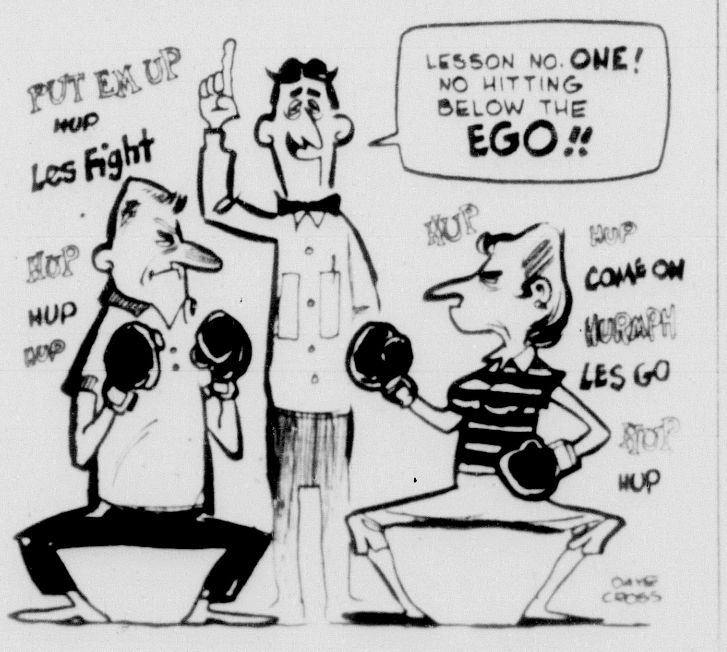
And the little woman doesn't like to be called ridiculous either.



Keep it constructive, and don't drag up ancient history, which is to say, the past. Stick to the subject.

The series on marriage problems will also deal with how to handle money. Remember everyone has to have his "pet extravagance," says the mental health experts.

"Couples must allow each other to express personality in money as well as other things," explains Mrs. Scott.

So if diamonds are your wife's best friend — oh, well.

The two-hour program will include a lecture and a question-and-answer session.

Naples Wants the Farmhands But Hasn't Field or Housing

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — The possibility of Naples being the training site for nine farm teams of the Pittsburgh Pirates is being investigated by city officials.

The city has suggested use of land at Naples-America Airport for a four-diamond training area, covering up to 20 acres. The Pirates train at nearby Fort Myers but farm teams are now at Jacksonville Beach.

The proposal for the shift came from the Naples Chamber of Commerce, and is backed by Councilman Archie Turner and Joe Brown, airport manager.

Five years ago efforts were made to obtain a major league training camp here but housing could not be found.

Estimates of income from the farm teams range from $100,000 a year to $100,000 a month, but a hurdle is the estimated $25,000 cost of preparing the diamonds.

Another possible cost may be renovation of the barracks, establishment of a kitchen and dining room, and building clubhouse and locker room.

No commitments have been obtained from the Pirates, but team officials have shown interest, Turner reported. The farm clubs would bring 300 players to camp in February, March, and April.

Chamber members have suggested the renovated barracks might be used the rest of the year for construction workers.

Fire Ruin Purchase Rejected

Herald Service

STUART—The Stuart City Commission said "No," to Kenneth Harris' proposal it purchase the fire-gutted Hotel Commodore, next to the City Hall for a parking lot.

Harris' new proposal at Friday's special meeting included permission to transfer the liquor license to The Friendly Bar, plus $30,000 cash, with the city to assume a mortgage of $20,000.

The commission told Harris, the hotel owner, the license was on a "hotel basis" only and could not be transferrred.

After Harris told the council he had been offered $50,000 for the property, the city withdrew its offer of $30,000 for the site.

'Self Government'

A Florida Gardens City Still His Hope

Herald Bureau

LAKE WORTH—The owner and developer of Florida Gardens indicated Sunday he still favors incorporating the one-mile square area west of here.

Karl Beachler, however, denied the proposed incorporation was designed as "an escape from county restriction." He claimed it was only for "self-government."

The Palm Beach County legislative delegation last week was asked to push through a bill incorporating Florida Gardens. Some property owners in the area later voiced objections. Beachler himself owns 75 per cent of the land in the area.

He conceded Saturday there has been a "small segment of dissatisfaction" over the incorporation proposal.

About 72 homes have been constructed so far in Florida Gardens. Beachler says he has signatures of 25 residents so far favoring the incorporation.

Referring to the recent meeting to protest incorporation, Beachler said it prevented him from continuing his personal poll of residents.

The developer added he felt very strongly that there was nothing to be gained from putting off incorporation and only further problems can be built up.

"I have never had any thought in mind of circumventing County Commission rules or the people's wishes," he added.

Some residents have accused Beachler of trying to dodge county building and zoning standards.

The developer did not make it clear whether he will continue to press for the bill of incorporation at this time.

Clyde Cato Rites Set Tuesday

Herald Service

FORT PIERCE — Clyde Cato, 52, civic leader and chairman of the St. Lucie County School Board, died Sunday. Mr. Cato had lived here since 1918, and was manager of the East Coast Lumber and Supply Co.

He was active in many civic and fraternal organizations, served more than 12 years on the school board. He was named chairman in January.

Mr. Cato was a member of the First Methodist Church, the Moose, Masons, Eastern Sar, and Civitan.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Betty Bradley, Bonnie Lou and Sandra Jean Cato of Fort Pierce; two sons, William, serving with the U.S. Army in Germany, and Clyde Jr., of Fort Pierce; a brother, James A. Lewis of Columbus, Ga., and a sister, Mrs. A. R. Ellinor of Fort Pierce.

Funeral will be Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the Yates Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. Robert Chapman of the First Methodist Church officiating. Masonic rites will be held at Hillcrest Memorial Gardens.

Best Bet, Declare Backers

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Florida legislators, although strong for free public schools, have not completely abandoned consideration of a private school system as a way out of the integration dilemma.

Lawmakers like Senate President Dewey Johnson, of Quincy, Sen. Tom Adams, Orange Park, and Rep. Gordon Frederick, Sanford, still feel that private schools may ultimately prove to be the South's best chance for escaping the U.S. Supreme Court's desegregation mandate.

Adams is thinking of private schools in broader terms than just the race issue. He said with the mounting costs of running the schools in Florida, stimulation of private schools would also be a safeguard against future financial trouble.

But Adams thinks the state should have a financial stake in it.

He said the ground should be laid now for "nurturing an independent school system."

First, Adams suggests a scholarship fund should be set up by the state to encourage young people to attend some of Florida's 75 private secondary schools.

To determine which schools would receive reuglar tuition grants, an independent accreditation board should be established, he said, to set up a code of minimum academic standards.

It is high time private capital and enterprise were brought into this picture, he said, warning that the state may one day meet the limit of its financial capacity.

In this way, the state could eliminate over-crowding of public schools without spending millions of dollars on new buildings. He pointed out that the state for years has subsidized the University of Miami, a private institution, to take care of a medical school education for Florida youths before the state medical school was established at Gainesville.

The independent school proposal would bolster the parent-option plan, he said, because without providing alternate facilities for children withdrawing from integrated schools, the plan is "a pig in a poke."

The private school plans, and there are at least three of them under consideration, have no where near the support building up for the parent option tuition plan and the "last resort" school closing bill.

But even some of the legislators who plan to vote for parent option tuition are privately not convinced it will get by the courts.

Frederick said in his opinion "there is no way, either directly or indirectly, by which public money can be utilized in providing education on a segregated basis" and still meet Supreme Court tests.

It would make no provision for state subsidies to the children who attend private schools. "If the people want segregation, they must be prepared to pay for it from their own pockets," Frederick said.

"It could and probably would result in turning the public schools over to the Negroes," he warned.

Three Injured In Auto Crash

BOYNTON BEACH — Three persons were seriously injured in a head-on collision on Ocean Ave. early Sunday.

They are A. W. O'Dell, 31; Aveline O'Dell, 27; and Clarence J. Measelle Jr., 37, all of Boynton Beach. They were taken to Bethesda Hospital.

State Trooper R. P. Delaney said Measelle swerved over the centerline, crashing into O'Dell's car. Measelle was charged with driving while intoxicated and causing an accident.

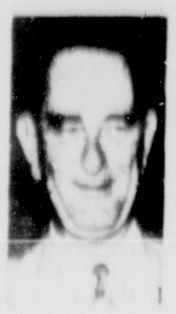
12 Political Leaders Will Choose Democratic Candidate for President

By CHARLES CLEVELAND
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire



JOHNSON

DISALLE

DALEY

CHICAGO—A dozen political leaders will pick the Democratic candidate for president in 1960.

The list includes the leading hopefuls for the nomination, some favorite sons and a few pros who control the bulk of their state's delegation.

Between them they control nearly half the convention delegates.

Here are the kingmakers:

GOV. EDMUND G. (PAT) BROWN of California, expected to be that state's favorite son.

MAYOR RICHARD J. DALEY of Chicago, who will control most of the Illinois delegation.

SEN. JOHN KENNEDY, who will be the Massachusetts favorite son and have the backing of New England.

GOV. G. MENNEN WILLIAMS, Michigan's perennial favorite son.

SEN. HUBERT HUMPHREY, Minnesota's nominee.

SEN. STUART SYMINGTON, Missouri's choice.

GOV. ROBERT MEYNER, who will control his New Jersey delegation.

CARMINE DE SAPIO who will be the key man in the New York delegation.

GOV. DAVID LAWRENCE who is the Pennsylvania leader.

GOV. MIKE DISALLE, who is expected to be the Ohio favorite son.

SEN. LYNDON JOHNSON who will carry the banner in Texas.

HARRY S. TRUMAN, former president, who still has a voice in party affairs.

Of this group Gov. Lawrence may well prove to be the bellwether.

His first choice is Adlai Stevenson, which is a good, safe, watch-and-wait position.

Stevenson is now regarded only as a last-minute, compromise candidate. Even his home state of Illinois does not, for now, regard him as a candidate and there are no plans to make him a favorite son.

Lawrence is also skeptical of Sen. Kennedy as the party nominee. It is a skepticism that could have far reaching effects.

Lawrence, like Kennedy, is a Roman Catholic. In 1956 he was one who counseled strongly against naming Kennedy as Stevenson's running mate on the ground that the religious issue would be explosive.

If he holds to this view, Lawrence could play a role in blocking Kennedy again.

At the moment Kennedy is in the lead, but still well short of nomination strength.

He'll have the New England bloc. He is regarded as Mayor Daley's favorite and the probable choice of Gov. Brown.

California, like Pennsylvania, could be pivotal. Ed Pauley, wealthy oilman, will be a powerful behind-the-scenes influence and will try to swing the state to Sen. Symington.

Adlai Stevenson also has a basic following there and in Oregon.

There is considerable Kennedy sentiment in New York. His chief stumbling block there is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who still carries impact on the liberal wing of the party.

This wing will throw most of its support behind Humphrey. Liberals usually are important in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and California. Michigan, at least at the start, will be committed to Gov. Williams, however.

Symington's chief support now comes from former President Truman. Truman's first concern, however, is to prevent Stevenson from popping up as the dark horse nominee.

Gov. DiSalle is one of Mr. Truman's old political pals. Downstate Illinois leaders will follow Truman as will Frank McKinney, if he can regain control of Indiana's delegation.

Gov. Meyner now is a strict outsider in the race. He is concentrating on his job, hoping his financial record will attract attention in a year when most other states are running into red ink troubles.

A major handicap, however, is the religious question in reverse. He is a non-practicing Catholic.

He will, however, carry considerable weight because of his state's large delegation and could—although he is not now—become the South's candidate.

Most pros now rate the contenders as Kennedy, Symington and Humphrey, in that order.

Answers On Sale

Schoolboy Beaten Over Quiz-Cheat

BUSHNELL —(AP)— Principal Charles Henderson of Bushnell High School said Saturday he is investigating the beating of a boy who told on other pupils for selling the answers to an English quiz.

Henderson declined to give the names of those involved. He said the 17-year-old youth who received the beating admitted to those selling the answers he had told on them.

The boy's guardian said the pupil was approached several days ago and asked if he wanted to purchase the questions to an English quiz for 50 cents, or the questions and answers for $1.

The boy declined and word leaked out later that copies of the test had gotten into the hands of pupils.

Several nights later, two Bushnell High seniors approached the boy, who lives at Webster, during a basketball game. He got into an auto with them, the guardian said, was taken to an isolated spot and beaten unconscious.

The guardian quoted the boy's saying he was threatened with a knife before being beaten.

The principal said he got a different story. He said he understood the fight started after an argument between two boys over a remark about a girl, as well as the test. He said the boy was not beaten unconscious.

Everything's Up in State Of Spending

JACKSONVILLE —(UPI)— The Florida State Chamber of Commerce says development of industry, agriculture and tourism and government spending is providing the state with a bigger economic slice of the nation's wealth.

The Chamber's research and industrial division noted that personal income for Florida residents has grown from 1.69 per cent of the national total in 1952 to 2.29 per cent in 1958.

Cash income of farmers and growers in the state was 1.54 per cent in 1952 as compared to 2.55 per cent last year, it said.

Bank deposits expanded from 1.26 per cent to 1.72 per cent; life insurance in force from 1.49 per cent to 2.00 per cent; and estimated retail sales from 1.92 per cent to 3.02 per cent.

Federal internal revenue collections in the state grew from .93 per cent in 1952 to 1.36 per cent last year, the division stated.

The Chamber also noted vast gains in electric power production, passenger car registrations, telephones, population, non-agricultural employment and manufacturing employment.

Audubon Grants $1,500 for Birds

GAINESVILLE — (UPI) — The Florida Audubon Society has awarded a $1,500 research grant to the state museum at the University of Florida.

Dr. J. C. Dickinson, Jr., acting director, said the grant will be used for a three-year study of herons, egrets, and ibises to provide important information on the basic biology of this group of wading birds.

The Audubon Society made the grant because of increasing concern for these birds, whose natural haunts are being destroyed in the state.

Snakey Thief's Got 150 Buddies

The victim said he planned to sell the contents to zoos. The boxes contained 50 king snakes, 50 rat snakes and 50 coach snakes, all nonpoisonous reptiles.

Ideas Spring Up

Light Dawns On Bus Lines Facing Death

Since V-J Day, 350 American cities have lost their transit systems. Besides, 50-million Americans in other cities are on the verge of losing the public transportation that may be the only means of getting to work for some of them. While population goes up, bus passenger volume goes down, as is dramatically shown by these Miami statistics: population up 75 per cent in 10 years, but rides down 25 per cent in the same period.

By JOSEPH N. BELL
Herald Special Writer

IN THE PAST FEW YEARS, a great light has dawned on some of the more enlightened public transportation officials. They realized that in order to attract more business, they must offer a better product.

This realization, coupled with the equally sudden awareness of municipal officials — from whom assistance is imperative — that public transit is just about the only salvation for the extremely crucial traffic problem, has sparked a tremendous resurgence of effort to sell public transportation.

Can Public Transit
Be

For the first time in many a year, transit people are coming up with some aggressive, imaginative ideas to get people back on buses.

These ideas are encompassed in three broad areas: (1) deluxe, speedy service, as represented by such innovations as express buses and club riding plans; (2) cooperative merchandising; and (3) long-range transit planning. Let's examine some working samples from each group.

Deluxe service—of whatever nature or description — helps make buses more competitive with the automobile. The most concerted effort in this direction is the express bus, which has now been adopted in dozens of cities large enough to make it practical.

These buses pick up passengers in a limited area, then express as speedily as possible downtown. Express buses have proved so effective in St. Louis that ridership on express lines increased in the midst of a precipitous decline in overall bus riding.

Express Buses Helped Atlanta

ATLANTA OFFERS an excellent example of what can be accomplished with express buses. As traffic congestion increased, the Metropolitan Planning Commission appealed to the Atlanta Transit System to establish a fleet of fast, limited-stop buses to make use of the new expressways. Twelve express lines are now in successful operation.

"Without these rapid-transit buses," says Robert Stuart, head of the planning commission, "the traffic situation in downtown Atlanta would be impossible. Buses are the most efficient users of city streets."

Another modification of deluxe bus riding appeared first a few years ago in Cincinnati, where the local transit company introduced the nation's first Club Flyer transit plan on the theory — according to J. C. Jones, company president—that "the public is willing to pay a standby charge for quality service."

"The features of a guaranteed seat," he continued, "plus stopping immediately in front of a home where possible, and the express ride downtown has improved our competitive posi-

It was the third time the 71-year-old Dulles had left the hospital since his Feb. 13 hernia operation. A recurrence of his 1957 abdominal cancer was discovered then.

Dulles was accompanied by his wife. Dulles wore a dark blue homburg and a heavy black overcoat against the brisk March winds. Smiling broadly, he was greeted by about a dozen newsmen.

"Hello, hello, hello," he said, as he slowly walked from his room at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

The secretary seemed ready to chat. But when a reporter asked him how much longer he would be in the hospital, he apparently decided that was one question too many.

"You'll have to ask the doctors that," Dulles replied through a fading smile. He turned, and without assistance stepped into his waiting black limousine.

140,000 In Australia

Billy Graham Draws His Biggest Crowd

Offcals of his crusade estimated the crowd at 140,000—Melbourne officials called it 150,000 and said that was conservative—and termed it the largest he has ever drawn, even surpassing packed meetings held in London and New York.

For the first time in history, the public was allowed to stand on Melbourne cricket ground. They stood where the main events of the Olympic Games were decided in 1956 and jammed every stand. Australian clergymen called it the greatest religious meeting in Australian history.

The weather was perfect, with blue skies and a warm autumn sun.

Graham goes to Tasmania today and Tuesday for two meetings at Hobart and Launceston, then starts a fortnight's holiday at Broadbeach, Queensland, before commencing a brief New Zealand crusade in early April.

Graham wound up his month of local meetings with virtually every church on his side — including the Roman Catholics.

Catholic priests of several churches paid tribute to Graham on the last day of his crusade and called him a good Christian who helped people to find God.

One Jewish journal praised Graham for his fine character, innate goodness and silver tongue, and added "no matter what faith one may be, none of us can help but be amazed and pleased with influence of this American evangelist."

Ike Talks On Berlin Tonight

Radio, TV Units To Carry Speech

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower goes before the people tonight with a radio-TV report on the Berlin crisis which he regards as one of the most important speeches he has delivered since entering the White House.

He is expected to couple his report with a stronger new defense of his military and foreign aid programs, now under heavy congressional attack. The President will appear over all major radio and television networks from 9:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

He probably will not unveil any new strategy for dealing with the Berlin crisis. But he was certain to nail down once and for all that the U.S. will not allow itself to be forced out of the city by Soviet bluff and bluster.

Russia has demanded that the Western allies leave West Berlin and permit it to become a free city while the Russians turn over their sector to the German Communists.

East German Communists charged Sunday that the U.S., Britain and France were "misusing" their lifelines to isolated West Berlin. The Communists accused the Western allies of breaking four-power traffic agreements by shipping Berlin-made armaments through East Germany to the West by rail and air.

The charge, made by the influential monthly magazine "German Foreign Policy" (Deutsche Aus Senpolitik), raised the possibility that the Communists might interfere with the traffic.

He's Failing As Leader, Britons Say

LONDON — (AP) — With Prime Minister Harold Macmillan packing for his trip to the White House, British commentators took a look at the state of the U.S. presidency Sunday and found it wanting.

Much - traveled Macmillan, just home from Paris and Bonn, is due in Washington Thursday to talk about the Western approach to the Berlin crisis.

Newspapers here built up the impression that he goes as the Western world's undisputed leader — and that Macmillan will get the credit if his talks with President Eisenhower produce any new coherence in the allied line. A dispatch in the Conservative Sunday Times put it this way:

"Washington without the strong hand of Secretary of State (John Foster) Dulles lacks authority, but after the Macmillan-Eisenhower meeting a new sense of direction is expected."

The Liberal Observer said America, France and Germany, too, have "grudgingly accepted the leadership of Mr. Macmillan because no other leadership was forthcoming."

Gourmet Hines Dies In Kentucky

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. — (UPI)— Duncan Hines, 78, an internationally known gourmet and author, who built a profitable business by recommending restaurants and hotels to travelers, died at his home here Sunday.

He had been ill for a year and under treatment for cancer of the lung.

A native of this Western Kentucky city, he made the slogan "recommended by Duncan Hines" known throughout the world by endorsing restaurants, hotels, motels and inns visited during his extensive travels.

1,500 Tangle With Policemen

Yale Melee Called 'Disgraceful'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. —(AP)— City and Yale University officials took a serious view Sunday of a melee involving some 1,500 Yale students and scores of policemen.

"Boorishness," university President A. Whitney Griswold called the students' actions.

"Disgraceful," said Police Chief Francis McManus.

Mayor Richard C. Lee said he was "too upset" to discuss it.

In turn, some student leaders agreed the Yale men were off base, but they also said police were unnecessarily rough and swung clubs indiscriminately.

Meantime, the 4,000 Yale undergraduates were told by Griswold to stay on the campus until this morning and not be on city streets.

They shouted "Gestapo" at officers and hung swastikas and other banners from dormitory windows. McManus estimated 1,500 students milled around the area.

Within 35 minutes, 18 students and a policemen were hurt by police count. None required overnight hospitalization.

Griswold promptly called a meeting for today to consider disciplinary action. He said the fight "would set back 10 years of work to improve town-Yale cooperation."

He said the outbreak has brought disgrace upon all of us."

Emergency Declared in 12 Areas

Fires, Tornadoes Also Reported

By United Press International

A paralyzing snowstorm, powered by winds up to 50 miles per hour, battered parts of the Midwest Sunday, isolated towns and cities, stranding thousands and choking highways with 10-foot drifts.

At least 12 Wisconsin counties, and the cities of Milwaukee and Sheboygan, declared emergencies as one of the worst storms of winter paralyzed communications and travel.

The storm stalled a Chicago & North Western Railway passenger train near Randolph, Wis., and raised fears for the safety of a 36-foot tugboat with two men aboard on Lake Michigan where waves were eight to 10 feet high.

Elsewhere, tornadoes skipped through Arkansas and southern Illinois late Saturday and early Sunday, prairie fires raged over North Texas, and strong winds slammed across Michigan.

At least six deaths were blamed on the storm — three in Arkansas twisters at Opal, Moko and Owensville, and one each in Illinois, Iowa and Michigan due either to exposure or heart attacks brought on by exertion.

Some 80 passengers aboard the stalled train, which encountered deep drifts along the main Minneapolis-Chicago line, were transferred to buses by rail officials. The busses broke a trail through drifts and deep snow to pick up passengers for a run to Milwaukee. Rail officals said the train was running low on fuel to power its diesel engine and heat passenger cars when it was abandoned.

The tug "Venus" disappeared on a trip from South Haven to St. Joseph, Mich., a journey of about three hours. But the Coast Guard said strong winds and a blinding snowstorm made an air-and-water search impossible until the storm eased. A shoreline search, however, was conducted for the boat.

Three multi-car accidents were reported in Michigan as the snow pushed inland, reducing visibility to almost zero.

Finally! Sun Didn't Flee On Weekend

Warm sunny weather, the sort of stuff which goes away on weekends, broke the habit Sunday.

And things will stay pretty decent Monday, the weather buureau said.

For the first time since Jan. 4, Miami got Miami weather on a Sunday.

The sun gleamed, the mercury spurted to 82, and sun-chasing multitudes carpeted the beaches.

Said Forecaster Gilbert Clark:

"It was the warmest Sunday this year. And that blizzard running across Michigan with winds up 65 and 70 miles an hour made it feel even better."

The only complaints came from fishermen. It was a little too breezy for good fishing, Clark said.

South Florida will get partly cloudy skies Monday, a high temperature of about 82, and southwest winds 10 to 20 miles an hour, he said.

A cold front which pushed into northern Florida will stall before it reaches Miami, the bureau predicted. The outlook for Tuesday is warm and somewhat cloudier.

Evacuate GI Dependents From Berlin — Mansfield

'It Would Clear Way For Action'

By Herald Wire Services

WASHINGTON — Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield urged the government Sunday to evacuate U.S. military dependents from Berlin so American forces there will be ready for any showdown with Russia.

The Montana senator said the continued presence of military wives and children in the Communist-ringed city creates a "hard situation" for American forces.

Mansfield said the crisis posed by Russian demands for an Allied withdrawal from Berlin is "the most serious since Korea, perhaps more serious than that."

The senator said on a television program (CBS-Face the Nation) that "certain steps" already are being taken to beef up American military forces in Western Europe.

However, he said other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance also should provide additional troops if needed "because they're under the gun."

Mansfield backed up the President's determination not to be forced out of Berlin "under any circumstances."

There were these other developments Sunday:

1—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a state election rally in Hannover that he believed an East-West summit conference, lasting "several months," would begin soon. Adenauer declared that the West would negotiate at such talks with nuclear and conventional weapons disarmament in mind.

Adenauer also said he does not believe there will be an all-out war over Berlin.

"The Russians do not want a war themselves," he said. They make threats and they understand how to make the world worry. But they are really after something else."

Khrushchev's plan, Adenauer said, is to get hold of the whole West European community with its 160 million people, and thus make Russia stronger than the U.S.

2—The Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Thomas White, has assured Congress he feels U.S. military forces in Europe are adequate to deal with the Berlin crisis. His heavily censored testimony before the Senate preparedness subcommittee was made public Sunday.

White agreed with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, who testified earlier, that the U.S. "must use whatever means are necessary in order to carry out our national decision" not to give an inch in Berlin.

3—Two senators — Paul H. Douglas (D., Ill.) and Wallace F. Bennett (R., Utah.) — said the U.S. would be hard put to raise money for a war over Berlin because of the already huge national debt.

Said Lucas: "In 1953 America's most popular war hero, the universal father image, swept the Republicans into power with the magic of his name and embarked on a crusade for a new era in government.

"In 1959 a weary, disillusioned figure enters the home stretch with his popularity tarnished and his crusade forgotten.

"In one breath Eisenhower announces 'we won't give an inch on Berlin' and in the next adds quietly 'or mobilize a man either.'

"He insistently pleads for peaceful negotiations, yet equally insistently evades a summit confrontation with Khrushchev."

On the other hand, Henry Brandon of The Sunday Times reported growing evidence that Eisenhower is "bravely trying to fill the vacuum left by Mr. Dulles' absence."

"He has been stung into action by insinuations that Mr. Macmillan has, by default become the leader of the Western alliance," he wrote.

Soviet Envoy Leaving Iran

TEHRAN, Iran — (UPI) — The Soviet ambassador is quitting Iran in the wake of the Iranin-American defense pact, it was disclosed Sunday.

The Foreign Ministry said it was informed by Ambassador Nikolai Pegov that he was going home. No reasons were given and there was no indication of any formal rupture between Russia and its southern neighbor which share a 700-mile frontier. But relations between them have worsened in recent weeks.

New Era, eight in a single accident near Brunswick, and 10 vehicles were involved in a chain accident at Grand Rapids.

No one was injured in the Brunswick-New Era accidents, but ambulances were dispatched to the scene in Grand Rapids.

High winds also took a toll of electric and telephone wires over much of Michigan. Trees were bowled over and plate glass store windows blown out. At Lansing, winds caused a power failure which knocked the world's first combination commercial - educational television station (WMSB-TV, WILX-TV) off the air.

The snowstorm raced out of the Rockies across the central plains through Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota before slamming through Iowa and Wisconsin into Michigan.

Weathermen warned the storm would hit New England early today, dumping from five to seven inches of snow over parts of Maine.

Winds up to 50 miles per hour and more accompanied the snow as it powered across Iowa, Northern Illinois and most of Wisconsin, piling up drifts 10 feet deep. Highways were impassable through Iowa and Wisconsin, where up to 12 inches of snow fell.

Hundreds of motorists were reported stranded throughout the Iowa-Wisconsin area. Between 5,000 and 6,000 persons, teenagers and adults, were stranded by the storm at Lincoln, Neb., where they had attended the state's high school basketball tourney finals.

A similiar fate befell about 500 high school students and adults at Des Moines, where they had attended a girls' basketball tourney. The Iowa Highway Patrol refused to allow autos and cage fans to leave the city because of the storm and hazardous roads.

Even snowplows were called back when strong winds drifted the snow across roads faster than it could be plowed.

Some 100 Boy Scouts from the Milwaukee area were marooned by the storm on an outdoor camping trip at Indian Mound Boy Scout camp near Waukesha, while 20 Girl Scouts took shelter in an abandoned barn at Kettle Moraine State Park near Sheboygan. All roads around both camps were blocked.

At Sheboygan, traffic was halted as the area was cut off from the remainder of the state.

In Wisconsin counties where states of emergency existed, the highway patrol said snowplows would operate for only emergency reasons, such as the needs of an ambulance or a doctor.

Air traffic was canceled throughout the storm area, and bus lines all but shut down.

Dozens of range fires that spread over north Texas on winds up to 55 miles per hour appeared under control Sunday. One of the worst fires was along a front 15 miles wide and 35 miles long in the Nocona and Montague areas, where more than 100,000 acres of range and pastureland were blackened. Winds were dying, but fire fighters said the winds still posed a danger threat.

McLaney Denies He Had Pesos

Mike McLaney, former Miami Beach restaurant operator and Havana gambling casino owner, had only 80 American dollars in his pocket when picked up by Cuban police on suspicion of peso-smuggling, his attorney said Sunday.

McLaney and five other Americans were still being held in Havana Sunday after being detained Friday when they arrived on planes from Miami.

Cuban police accused them of trying to smuggle some $237,500 worth of pesos into Cuba.

"Mr. McLaney had a sum total of 80 American dollars on him when he was picked up by Cuban officers," said Roland S. Galub of New York, McLaney's attorney who flew to Havana to try to free him.

"Any charges that he was involved in any way in trying to smuggle pesos into Cuba are completely and absolutely false," Galub said.

Galub said no charges have been filed so far against McLaney. He said he was trying to have Cuban police either file official charges or release McLaney. He said the American Embassy in Havana was investigating the affair.

Galub also said that McLaney was "in no way connected" with the other Americans picked up Friday.

The others are Edward Solomon, Jesus Antonion Prieto, both of Miami, Israel Weinstein, and two women, identified by Cuban officials as Elaine Mitchell and Xenia Thornadakis.

Cuban police gave Solomon's address as 13095 Emerald Dr., North Miami, and said he was a former U.S. Army officer. Antonion Prieto's address was given as 1850 S. Miami Ave.

McLaney formerly operated L'Aiglon Restaurant at Miami Beach and Galub said McLaney and his wife have been living part of the time recently aboard a houseboat anchored in the Indian Creek near the Fontainebleau Hotel.

McLaney is owner of the gambling casino in the Hotel Nacional in Havana.

Cuban police charged the Americans were trying to sell the pesos in Cuba for American dollars after buying them at cut rates in this country.

Six Injured Near Stuart

STUART — Six Miamians were injured, four critically, in a head-on collision Sunday near Stuart on rain-slick Sunshine State Parkway.

tion with the automobile while upgrading the bus ride in the social-conscious day and age when people regard each other in terms of transportation."

Under the club plan, residents of a neighborhood buy a seat on a bus by the month. The bus picks them up at or near their home in the morning and expresses them to work. In the evening, they have a choice of three express buses home. This pioneering operation has been so successful in Cincinnati that the transit company is expanding it to other suburban areas.

Park 'n' Rides Keep Cars Away

SINCE TRANSIT DEALS with such a huge cross-section of people, it has a potent argument for cooperative ventures with all sorts of other types of businesses. One of the most successful has been the transit Park 'n' Ride plan, in which bus company encourages commuters to park along a transit line and take a bus into the downtown area.

Park 'n' Ride grew out of the effort of transit companies to attract people who live so far away from a bus line that they have no alternative to driving their cars.

Through cooperation with city officials — and in some areas, service station operators — the transit company provides bus rides with free parking along the periphery of transit routes. Frequently the transit company buys property and sets up its own parking lots.

In most instances, the plan has been successful for everyone concerned and has extended the effective radius of public transportation considerably. In St. Louis, transit officials estimate that the Park 'n' Ride program is keeping at least a thousand cars a day out of the downtown area.

Transit is also increasing its cooperative ventures with downtown businessmen, who are now recognizing that without transit, downtown areas are most assuredly doomed.

Merchants Pay Customer Fares

THESE COOPERATIVES take all sorts of forms, but in general the merchant picks up the bus tab for customers who make purchases over a certain amount. This is a decidedly realistic sort of subsidy, both for the merchant and the bus line.

More and more cities, recognizing finally that they must have a healthy transportation system to survive, are taking a long, objective look at the whole transit problem. Two examples are found on the West Coast, where Los Angeles and San Francisco are trying to set up an equitable mechanism to coordinate and establish an effective public transportation system.

The future of transit in Los Angeles is in the hands of a single public corporation — the Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority — which holds broad powers granted it by the state legislature in 1957 to develop and operate a mass commuting system.

San Francisco Has a Problem

SO, WHILE RUNNING a fleet of 1,800 buses and streetcars daily, the authority is conducting studies to decide where the commuter wants to go and how best to get him there in the years ahead. When the studies are completed this year, the authority hopes to begin building an up-to-date, coordinated mass transit system.

In San Francisco, the problem is somewhat different. Communities around the compact city area have shown a consistent disinclination to cooperate in a rapid transit system. In spite of this, the state-authorized Bay Area Rapid Transit District is working hard to come up with some acceptable method of financing a sorely-needed rapid transit system to tie in the nine Bay Area counties with San Francisco.

These are only a few of the devices now being employed by dozens of transit systems all over the country to try and woo local citizens back into the bus-riding habit. So far, the results have been mostly in terms of negative accomplishment — that is, the snowballing trend away from buses since World War II has been checked somewhat.

But in a few cities, the trend actually shows promise of being reversed. We'll examine three of them tomorrow.

NEXT: Some BIG solutions to the transit problem.

National Summary

Although a few patches of rain dampened the Pacific northwest and light snow was scattered from North Dakota into Colorado an intense storm centered over Southern Lake Michigan shifted the major precipitation pattern to the eastern half of the country today.

Ahead of a cold front extending from Lake Michigan into Louisiana moisture laden winds from the Gulf contributed widespread rain and scattered thunderstorms from Florida into portions of the Great Lakes. Snow extended from Mo. into northern Mich. and thunder accompanied snow over portions of Illinois and Wisconsin. Heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings are in effect for portions of Wisconsin and Michigan with 4 inches or more of snow expected to accumulate by tonight.

Fair skies covered much of the region from the plains across the southwest and sunshine is expected during the afternoon from the lower Miss. Valley into most of the Pacific states. A few snow flurries however are likely to be scattered over the mountains of Wyoming and Colorado reaching western portions of Nebraska and South Dakota. Rain in the Pacific northwest should give way to sunshine through partly cloudy skies during the afternoon.

New Pitch Backfires

ONE LOCAL telephone solicitor has a new gimmick designed — although he apparently doesn't realize it — to annoy the prospect even more than the standard approach.

This fellow calls and leaves a message: "Call Mr. A at 3 p.m.," or some such. He even uses it on people who have telephone-equipped automobiles. When they call back he gives them the fast pitch on the tickets he's selling.

DAR, Art Patrons Talk 'Home'

ULTIMATELY THE search of the Daughters of the American Revolution for a site for local museum may end in a combination museum and art center.

The DAR ladies and leaders of the Fort Lauderdale Art Center, which eventually must find a permanent home, are discussing a joint effort.

Meantime, give Hollywood a cheer for having a fine arts center already under construction. The building, designed to house the library and recreation department, is slated for completion next month.

TV Producer Lined Up

THERE'S A definite possibility, the Mental Health Association says, that TV Producer Fred Coe will come here in April for the benefit performance of "Two for The Seesaw."

Coe's current Playhouse 90 production of "For Whom the Bell Tolls," which started Thursday night and will conclude next Thursday, undoubtedly will go down as one of the TV events of the year.

Too Many Shopkeepers?

REGARDLESS OF whether business is good or not in West Hollywood, there's a feeling among some residents that the community has an unusual number of businesses per capita. Wilfred Cadotte at the Chamber of Commerce calculates it at 775 to 800. One small owner says it's more like 1,000, or roughly one for every 30 people . . . Earl Stein at the Gulfstream Hotel says emphatically he is a member of the Fort Lauderdale Hotel Association and association records bear him out. One official said the other day, in reference to Earl's protest against the mention of package vacations in city ads, that he was not a member.

Letter-Hunt Gets Sticky

FORT LAUDERDALE Postmaster Dale Dunifon likes to be accommodating, and on occasion has tried to locate a missing letter believed to be in the mails. He tries to discourage such requests, though. On a typical day the post office will handle 480,000 pieces of mail. Asking it to locate one letter, Dale says, is like asking a banker to put his hands on a particular $20 bill.

Disputed Coin-Wash Still Spins

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

WILTON MANORS — The disputed coin laundry was spinning and tumbling away Sunday, five days after the variance allowing it to operate was quashed in Circuit Court.

City Attorney William Miller said Saturday he didn't know if it was violating the zoning ordinance.

"I can't answer. I haven't decided," he said.

Miller also was not prepared to say whether he would prosecute the laundry if he determined it was violating the ordinance.

The ordinance puts laundries in a Business 2 zoning category. Pyro Incorporation's coin laundry on Wilton Dr. is in a Business 1 zone.

It won a variance from the Board of Adjustment after a zoning change obtained by its attorney, Municipal Judge William Leonard, was voided by Circuit Judge James Walden.

The variance was voided Tuesday by Circuit Judge Richard Sauls.

Miller said Saturday he intends to appeal Judge Sauls' decision although the City Council has not yet authorized an appeal.

"As city attorney, I have to make my own decision," he said. "The Council could alter it."

The original zoning change sought by Leonard — to allow coin laundries in all Business 1 zones — will be presented again to the Council Tuesday night.

It was voided because no public hearing was given. Leonard last week obtained the zoning board's approval of his request. Miller noted that the variance appeal may become moot if the council also approves Leonard's case.

Meat Ball Causes Suit

FORT LAUDERDALE — A man has sought Circuit Court damages for a "Meat Ball Hoagy" sandwhich that, he claimed, caused severe injuries, excruciating pain and a broken tooth. Lynn Kenyon sued Pizio's Drive-In, 1505 S. Federal Hwy., over the sandwich he said he bought there Nov. 16. It was filled with harmful ingredients, he charged.

Mario Pizio, an owner of the restaurant chain, said: "We serve an awful lot of sandwiches and every once in a while someone has something to say about them. Usually nothing comes of it. I have no way of knowing it happened here.

7 Rescued From Fire On Yacht

By ERWIN POTTS
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — An explosion blasted the interior of a luxurious 44-foot, $80,000 yacht in New River off SE 24th Ave. Sunday, but a daring rescue by two canal bank residents saved the lives of all seven occupants.

Only one of the explosion victims on the Nancy Marie VIII, Richard Dunham, 28, of 1956 Ocean Lane, was injured. He was in "good" condition Sunday with first and second degree burns on his upper chest, arms, and face. He was in the engine room, where the explosion apparently occurred.

"I have no idea what caused the explosion," said the ship's skipper, Joel S. Wingate, 58, of 15½ SE Tenth Ave. "It came from the engine room amidship."

Murdock Claney of Wynnewood, Pa., and George L. Burnett saw and heard the expensive "Wheeler" yacht explode about 50 yards from Burnett's waterfront home at 835 SE 24th Ave. on Solar Isle.

"We immediately hopped into my 29-foot sea skiff and went out there," said Burnett. "The whole cabin was in flames, and just as we got them off, the flames burst out even worse."

Police said about 250 gallons of gasoline on the boat never exploded.

Taken from the yacht besides its captain were Mr. and Mrs. John L. Keogh, owners of the boat, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dunham, parents of the injured Richard, all of 1956 Ocean Lane (a co-op apartment), and Kathleen Doyle of Buffalo, N.Y.

After the occupants were rescued, harbor patrol boats towed the boat in while it was still aflame.

The entire interior of the boat had been burned out before firemen could extinguish the blaze.

Police said the explosion victims told them they were on their way from Pier 66 to a restaurant in Deerfield Beach for dinner when the accident occurred at about 4:30 p.m.

Keogh told police his yacht was insured for $82,000.

Firemen had not determined late Sunday what caused the explosion.

Kitchen Sprayed By Bullets After Man is Rebuffed

FORT LAUDERDALE—A 61-year-old driftwood dealer, enraged because his 42-year-old ex-wife took offense when he called her "Honey," shot and wounded her and a woman visitor Sunday, then put his gun to his own forehead and killed himself.

John Warren Lindsay, 609 SE 16th St., was dead on arrival at Broward General Hospital. His ex-wife, Opal Blake, 42, of 317 SW 15th St., where the shooting occurred, was in good condition Sunday.

The other victim, Mrs. Betty Ineson, 46, of 1706 Plunkett St., Hollywood, was released from the hospital with a wound on the forehead.

Police said Mrs. Blake, whose 15-year-old son was at church when the shooting occurred was preparing to serve lunch to sailors from the USS Boston, docked here, when Lindsay appeared at the back kitchen door.

Mrs. Blake asked Lindsay to leave after he had addressed her as "Opal, Honey," police said. The two had been separated since April.

Instead, Lindsay, whom acquaintances described as "a man with a temper," drew a 22 caliber pistol from a pocket and began firing.

Neighbors said they heard about seven shots. Mrs. Blake was hit in the face.

In another room of the house were Mrs. Ineson's two children, John, 12, and Suzanne, 9. Police said Mrs. Blake ran screaming into the room where the children were.

A next-door neighbor, Mrs. James Barr, had heard the shots and intercepted Mrs. Ineson as she came running from the house, her face bleeding from the gun wounds.

"She wanted to use my phone, but we don't have one," said Mrs. Barr. "She finally went to a pay booth about three or four doors up."

A passer-by, William R. Mullen, 408 SW 11th Ct., said he was on his way to mass when Mrs. Ineson came running to him screaming "I'm shot, call the police."

Mullen said while he was calling police from the phone booth, Mrs. Ineson was still hiding from her assailant.

Police Lt. John J. Sherlock said that after shooting the women, Lindsay apparently went directly to his home, put the gun to his forehead and shot himself.

When police arrived at his residence, he was still alive, but died en route to the hospital. Police said he operated a shop on S. Federal Hwy. dealing with driftwood items.

Florida Ban Ups Mating

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Repeal of Florida's "quickie" divorce law by the 1957 legislature is credited by state officials with bringing an abrupt halt to the steady upward trend in divorces.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health reported the number of divorces tumbled from 18,744 in 1957, to 17,566 in 1958.

The number of marriages in 1958 reached 34,440, almost double the number of divorces.

Worker Slain Near Dania

FORT LAUDERDALE — A homicide victim found Saturday morning near Dania was later identified as Neal Darby, 38, of 95 E. Drew Ct., Sylacauga, Ala.

Ben Grigsby, sheriff's chief criminal investigator, said the Negro was apparently killed in a fight about 200 yards south of Tigertail Rd.

The body was found at about 8:30 a.m. The time of death was estimated at one hour earlier. The victim was working here temporarily, Grigsby said.

'Oh, God! He's Killing My Kids'

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "He kept shooting and shooting — I thought, 'Oh, God, he's killing the kids.'"

Thus Mrs. Betty Ineson spoke in low, numbed tones of the horror-filled minutes Sunday when an enraged gunman fired on her and then pumped bullets into his former wife.

During the agonized moments when the shots rang out — one grazing Mrs. Ineson's forehead — her two children sat unaware in the next room watching television.

Minutes before they had all been making gay plans for an afternoon at the beach and an evening dinner party.

With her children, Sugan, 10, and John, 11, Mrs. Ineson had gone directly from church services to the Fort Lauderdale home of her friend, Mrs. Opal Blake.

A shorttime afterwards, Mrs. Blake's former husband, John Lindsay, entered the home. It was almost a year to the day since he and Mrs. Blake had been married.

"Opal and I were in the kitchen — I was tossing the salad — when Mr. Lindsay walked in the back door.

"He said, 'Opal Honey.' She asked him to go.

"He never said another word — just put his hand in his pocket and pulled out a gun.

"He shot me first. The blood was streaming in my eyes but I didn't feel anything. All I could think about was Opal, and my children in the next room."

Mrs. Ineson buried her head in a handkerchief and sobbed.

"If I've thanked God once, I've thanked him a thousand times for saving the kids." She hugged her young son who sat beside her on the sofa in their home on Plunkett St.

Holding her son's hand, she continued:

"Mr. Lindsay was standing between me and the door. He shot again and Opal doubled up.

"Somehow I got past him and out the door. I screamed for help.

"It was horrible — I could hear the shots ringing out as I ran down the street — I was sure he was killing the children."

Mrs. Ineson's young daughter saw the gun but thought it was a "cap pistol" when the enraged man followed Mrs. Blake through the living room she made her way out the front door. The children were not aware of the tragedy until they followed their mother and saw the blood on her face.

"I can't thank God enough. The doctor said if I had been turned a fraction of inch more the bullet might have gone straight in my head," Mrs. Ineson said.

Mrs. Ineson, a slim, auburn-haired secretary at McNichol Junior High School, was released after treatment of her head wound. Mrs. Blake was reported in fair condition.

"She (Mrs. Blake) didn't have a chance to get away. He just stood there in front of her with that gun."

Mrs. Ineson said Mrs. Blake and her former husband were married last year on March 28, and separated three weeks later.

Fingerprint-Search Turns Him Up

Brother, 'Lost' for 17 Years, Tells Sister He'll Stay That Way

By GREG TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The long lost brother of a woman in Kansas prefers to remain lost, he said Sunday.

The FBI located Leroy Jemison, 1529 SW 28th Way, for a sister who started a search for him 17 years ago.

A routine fingerprint check disclosed his whereabouts. He had been fingerprinted when he was hired as a school crossing guard.

"If there's any reunion, I won't take part in it," Jemison said Sunday. A reporter found him as he was setting out from his home to mail a letter notifying the sister that he wouldn't be available.

According to the Associated Press, Mrs. Mary F. Travis of Fort Scott, Kan., reported the FBI had found her brother for her and three other sisters, and they all planned a reunion this summer in Kansas City.

Jemison said he only has one sister. He has personal reasons for not wanting to take part in a reunion, he added.

"I came here in 1934 and have been in the contracting business," he said. "I took this job because contracting was slow."

"I have a good reputation here and I don't want any part of Kansas City. Besides, I don't like the climate there."

12 Political Leaders Will Choose Democratic Candidate for President

By CHARLES CLEVELAND
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

JOHNSON

DISALLE

DALEY

CHICAGO—A dozen political leaders will pick the Democratic candidate for president in 1960.

The list includes the leading hopefuls for the nomination, some favorite sons and a few pros who control the bulk of their state's delegation.

Between them they control nearly half the convention delegates.

Here are the kingmakers:

GOV. EDMUND G. (PAT) BROWN of California, expected to be that state's favorite son.

MAYOR RICHARD J. DALEY of Chicago, who will control most of the Illinois delegation.

SEN. JOHN KENNEDY, who will be the Massachusetts favorite son and have the backing of New England.

GOV. G. MENNEN WILLIAMS, Michigan's perennial favorite son.

SEN. HUBERT HUMPHREY, Minnesota's nominee.

SEN. STUART SYMINGTON, Missouri's choice.

GOV. ROBERT MEYNER, who will control his New Jersey delegation.

CARMINE DE SAPIO who will be the key man in the New York delegation.

GOV. DAVID LAWRENCE who is the Pennsylvania leader.

GOV. MIKE DISALLE, who is expected to be the Ohio favorite son.

SEN. LYNDON JOHNSON who will carry the banner in Texas.

HARRY S. TRUMAN, former president, who still has a voice in party affairs.

Of this group Gov. Lawrence may well prove to be the bellwether.

His first choice is Adlai Stevenson, which is a good, safe, watch-and-wait position.

Stevenson is now regarded only as a last-minute, compromise candidate. Even his home state of Illinois does not, for now, regard him as a candidate and there are no plans to make him a favorite son.

Lawrence is also skeptical of Sen. Kennedy as the party nominee. It is a skepticism that could have far reaching effects.

Lawrence, like Kennedy, is a Roman Catholic. In 1956 he was one who counseled strongly against naming Kennedy as Stevenson's running mate on the ground that the religious issue would be explosive.

If he holds to this view, Lawrence could play a role in blocking Kennedy again.

At the moment Kennedy is in the lead, but still well short of nomination strength.

He'll have the New England bloc. He is regarded as Mayor Daley's favorite and the probable choice of Gov. Brown.

California, like Pennsylvania, could be pivotal. Ed Pauley, wealthy oilman, will be a powerful behind-the- cenes influence and will try to swing the state to Sen. Symington.

Adlai Stevenson also has a basic following there and in Oregon.

There is considerable Kennedy sentiment in New York. His chief stumbling block there is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who still carries impact on the liberal wing of the party.

This wing will throw most of its support behind Humphrey. Liberals usually are important in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and California. Michigan, at least at the start, will be committed to Gov. Williams, however.

Symington's chief support now comes from former President Truman. Truman's first concern, however, is to prevent Stevenson from popping up as the dark horse nominee.

Gov. DiSalle is one of Mr. Truman's old political pals. Downstate Illinois leaders will follow Truman as will Frank McKinney, if he can regain control of Indiana's delegation.

Gov. Meyner now is a strict outsider in the race. He is concentrating on his job, hoping his financial record will attract attention in a year when most other states are running into red ink troubles.

A major handicap, however, is the religious question in reverse. He is a non-practicing Catholic.

The North-South battle of school integration rules out Johnson as a leading contender.

He will, however, carry considerable weight because of his state's large delegation and could—although he is not now—become the South's candidate.

Most pros now rate the contenders as Kennedy, Symington and Humphrey, in that order.

Ideas Spring Up

Light Dawns On Bus Lines Facing Death

Since V-J Day, 350 American cities have lost their transit systems. Besides, 50-million Americans in other cities are on the verge of losing the public transportation that may be the only means of getting to work for some of them. While population goes up, bus passenger volume goes down, as is dramatically shown by these Miami statistics: population up 75 per cent in 10 years, but rides down 25 per cent in the same period.

By JOSEPH N. BELL
Herald Special Writer

IN THE PAST FEW YEARS, a great light has dawned on some of the more enlightened public transportation officials. They realized that in order to attract more business, they must offer a better product.

This realization, coupled with the equally sudden awareness of municipal officials — from whom assistance is imperative — that public transit is just about the only salvation for the extremely crucial traffic problem, has sparked a tremendous resurgence of effort to sell public transportation.

Can Public Transit Be Saved?

For the first time in many a year, transit people are coming up with some aggressive, imaginative ideas to get people back on buses.

These ideas are encompassed in three broad areas: (1) deluxe, speedy service, as represented by such innovations as express buses and club riding plans; (2) cooperative merchandising; and (3) long-range transit planning. Let's examine some working samples from each group.

Deluxe service—of whatever nature or description — helps make buses more competitive with the automobile. The most concerted effort in this direction is the express bus, which has now been adopted in dozens of cities large enough to make it practical.

These buses pick up passengers in a limited area, then express as speedily as possible downtown. Express buses have proved so effective in St. Louis that ridership on express lines increased in the midst of a precipitous decline in overall bus riding.

Express Buses Helped Atlanta

ATLANTA OFFERS an excellent example of what can be accomplished with express buses. As traffic congestion increased, the Metropolitan Planning Commission appealed to the Atlanta Transit System to establish a fleet of fast, limited-stop buses to make use of the new expressways. Twelve express lines are now in successful operation.

"Without these rapid-transit buses," says Robert Stuart, head of the planning commission, "the traffic situation in downtown Atlanta would be impossible. Buses are the most efficient users of city streets."

Another modification of deluxe bus riding appeared first a few years ago in Cincinnati, where the local transit company introduced the nation's first Club Flyer transit plan on the theory — according to J. C. Jones, company president—that "the public is willing to pay a standby charge for quality service."

"The features of a guaranteed seat," he continued, "plus stopping immediately in front of a home where possible, and the express ride downtown has improved our competitive posi-

Dulles Goes For a Ride In the Park

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, smiling but walking slowly, left his hospital room Sunday for a ride through the park.

It was the third time the 71-year-old Dulles had left the hospital since his Feb. 13 hernia operation. A recurrence of his 1957 abdominal cancer was discovered then.

Dulles was accompanied by his wife. Dulles wore a dark blue homburg and a heavy black overcoat against the brisk March winds. Smiling broadly, he was greeted by about a dozen newsmen.

"Hello, hello, hello," he said, as he slowly walked from his room at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

The secretary seemed ready to chat. But when a reporter asked him how much longer he would be in the hospital, he apparently decided that was one question too many.

"You'll have to ask the doctors that," Dulles replied through a fading smile. He turned, and without assistance stepped into his waiting black limousine.

140,000 In Australia

Billy Graham Draws His Biggest Crowd

Offficals of his crusade estimated the crowd at 140,000—Melbourne officials called it 150,000 and said that was conservative—and termed it the largest he has ever drawn, even surpassing packed meetings held in London and New York.

For the first time in history, the public was allowed to stand on Melbourne cricket ground. They stood where the main events of the Olympic Games were decided in 1956 and jammed every stand. Australian clergymen called it the greatest religious meeting in Australian history.

The weather was perfect, with blue skies and a warm autumn sun.

Graham goes to Tasmania today and Tuesday for two meetings at Hobart and Launceston, then starts a fortnight's holiday at Broadbeach, Queensland, before commencing a brief New Zealand crusade in early April.

Graham wound up his month of local meetings with virtually every church on his side — including the Roman Catholics.

Catholic priests of several churches paid tribute to Graham on the last day of his crusade and called him a good Christian who helped people to find God.

One Jewish journal praised Graham for his fine character, innate goodness and silver tongue, and added "no matter what faith one may be, none of us can help but be amazed and pleased with influence of this American evangelist."

Ike Talks On Berlin Tonight

Radio, TV Units To Carry Speech

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower goes before the people tonight with a radio-TV report on the Berlin crisis which he regards as one of the most important speeches he has delivered since entering the White House.

He is expected to couple his report with a stronger new defense of his military and foreign aid programs, now under heavy congressional attack. The President will appear over all major radio and television networks from 9:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

He probably will not unveil any new strategy for dealing with the Berlin crisis. But he was certain to nail down once and for all that the U.S. will not allow itself to be forced out of the city by Soviet bluff and bluster.

Russia has demanded that the Western allies leave West Berlin and permit it to become a free city while the Russians turn over their sector to the German Communists.

East German Communists charged Sunday that the U.S., Britain and France were "misusing" their lifelines to isolated West Berlin. The Communists accused the Western allies of breaking four-power traffic agreements by shipping Berlin-made armaments through East Germany to the West by rail and air.

The charge, made by the influential monthly magazine "German Foreign Policy" (Deutsche Aus Senpolitik), raised the possibility that the Communists might interfere with the traffic.

He's Failing As Leader, Britons Say

LONDON — (AP) — With Prime Minister Harold Macmillan packing for his trip to the White House, British commentators took a look at the state of the U.S. presidency Sunday and found it wanting.

Much - traveled Macmillan, just home from Paris and Bonn, is due in Washington Thursday to talk about the Western approach to the Berlin crisis.

Newspapers here built up the impression that he goes as the Western world's undisputed leader — and that Macmillan will get the credit if his talks with President Eisenhower produce any new coherence in the allied line. A dispatch in the Conservative Sunday Times put it this way:

"Washington without the strong hand of Secretary of State (John Foster) Dulles lacks authority, but after the Macmillan-Eisenhower meeting a new sense of direction is expected."

The Liberal Observer said America, France and Germany, too, have "grudgingly accepted the leadership of Mr. Macmillan because no other leadership was forthcoming."

Gourmet Hines Dies In Kentucky

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. — (UPI)— Duncan Hines, 78, an internationally known gourmet and author, who built a profitable business by recommending restaurants and hotels to travelers, died at his home here Sunday.

He had been ill for a year and under treatment for cancer of the lung.

A native of this Western Kentucky city, he made the slogan "recommended by Duncan Hines" known throughout the world by endorsing restaurants, hotels, motels and inns visited during his extensive travels.

1,500 Tangle With Policemen

Yale Melee Called 'Disgraceful'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. —(AP)— City and Yale University officials took a serious view Sunday of a melee involving some 1,500 Yale students and scores of policemen.

"Boorishness," university President A. Whitney Griswold called the students' actions.

"Disgraceful," said Police Chief Francis McManus.

Mayor Richard C. Lee said he was "too upset" to discuss it.

In turn, some student leaders agreed the Yale men were off base, but they also said police were unnecessarily rough and swung clubs indiscriminately.

Meantime, the 4,000 Yale undergraduates were told by Griswold to stay on the campus until this morning and not be on city streets.

They shouted "Gestapo" at officers and hung swastikas and other banners from dormitory windows. McManus estimated 1,500 students milled around the area.

Within 35 minutes, 16 students and a policemen were hurt by police count. None required overnight hospitalization.

Griswold promptly called a meeting for today to consider disciplinary action. He said the fight "would set back 10 years of work to improve town-Yale cooperation."

He said the outbreak has brought disgrace upon all of us."

Emergency Declared in 12 Areas

Fires, Tornadoes Also Reported

By United Press International

A paralyzing snowstorm, powered by winds up to 50 miles per hour, battered parts of the Midwest Sunday, isolated towns and cities, stranding thousands and, choking highways with 10-foot drifts.

At least 12 Wisconsin counties, and the cities of Milwaukee and Sheboygan, declared emergencies as one of the worst storms of winter paralyzed communications and travel.

The storm stalled a Chicago & North Western Railway passenger train near Randolph, Wis., and raised fears for the safety of a 36-foot tugboat with two men aboard on Lake Michigan where waves were eight to 10 feet high.

Elsewhere, tornadoes skipped through Arkansas and southern Illinois late Saturday and early Sunday, prairie fires raged over North Texas, and strong winds slammed across Michigan.

At least six deaths were blamed on the storm — three in Arkansas twisters at Opal, Moko and Owensville, and one each in Illinois, Iowa and Michigan due either to exposure or heart attacks brought on by exertion.

Some 80 passengers aboard the stalled train, which encountered deep drifts along the main Minneapolis-Chicago line, were transferred to buses by rail officials. The busses broke a trail through drifts and deep snow to pick up passengers for a run to Milwaukee. Rail officals said the train was running low on fuel to power its diesel engine and heat passenger cars when it was abandoned.

The tug "Venus" disappeared on a trip from South Haven to St. Joseph, Mich., a journey of about three hours. But the Coast Guard said strong winds and a blinding snowstorm made an air-and-water search impossible until the storm eased. A shoreline search, however, was conducted for the boat.

Three multi-car accidents were reported in Michigan as the snow pushed inland, reducing visibility to almost zero.

Finally! Sun Didn't Flee On Weekend

Warm sunny weather, the sort of stuff which goes away on weekends, broke the habit Sunday.

And things will stay pretty decent Monday, the weather buureau said.

For the first time since Jan. 4, Miami got Miami weather on a Sunday.

The sun gleamed, the mercury spurted to 82, and sun-chasing multitudes carpeted the beaches.

Said Forecaster Gilbert Clark:

"It was the warmest Sunday this year. And that blizzard running across Michigan with winds up 65 and 70 miles an hour made it feel even better."

The only complaints came from fishermen. It was a little too breezy for good fishing, Clark said.

South Florida will get partly cloudy skies Monday, a high temperature of about 82, and southwest winds 10 to 20 miles an hour, he said.

A cold front which pushed into northern Florida will stall before it reaches Miami, the bureau predicted. The outlook for Tuesday is warm and somewhat cloudier.

Evacuate GI Dependents From Berlin — Mansfield

'It Would Clear Way For Action'

By Herald Wire Services

WASHINGTON — Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield urged the government Sunday to evacuate U.S. military dependents from Berlin so American forces there will be ready for any showdown with Russia.

The Montana senator said the continued presence of military wives and children in the Communist-ringed city creates a "hard situation" for American forces.

Mansfield said the crisis posed by Russian demands for an Allied withdrawal from Berlin is "the most serious since Korea, perhaps more serious than that."

The senator said on a television program (CBS-Face the Nation) that "certain steps" already are being taken to beef up American military forces in Western Europe.

However, he said other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance also should provide additional troops if needed "because they're under the gun."

Mansfield backed up the President's determination not to be forced out of Berlin "under any circumstances."

There were these other developments Sunday:

1—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a state election rally in Hannover that he believed an East-West summit conference, lasting "several months," would begin soon. Adenauer declared that the West would negotiate at such talks with nuclear and conventional weapons disarmament in mind.

Adenauer also said he does not believe there will be an all-out war over Berlin.

"The Russians do not want a war themselves," he said. They make threats and they understand how to make the world worry. But they are really after something else."

Khrushchev's plan, Adenauer said, is to get hold of the whole West European community with its 160 million people, and thus make Russia stronger than the U.S.

2—The Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Thomas White, has assured Congress he feels U.S. military forces in Europe are adequate to deal with the Berlin crisis. His heavily censored testimony before the Senate preparedness subcommittee was made public Sunday.

White agreed with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, who testified earlier, that the U.S. "must use whatever means are necessary in order to carry out our national decision" not to give an inch in Berlin.

3—Two senators — Paul H. Douglas (D., Ill.) and Wallace F. Bennett (R., Utah) — said the U.S. would be hard put to raise money for a war over Berlin because of the already huge national debt.

Said Lucas: "In 1953 America's most popular war hero, the universal father image, swept the Republicans into power with the magic of his name and embarked on a crusade for a new era in government.

"In 1959 a weary, disillusioned figure enters the home stretch with his popularity tarnished and his crusade forgotten.

"In one breath Eisenhower announces 'we won't give an inch on Berlin' and in the next adds quietly 'or mobilize a man either.'

"He insistently pleads for peaceful negotiations, yet equally insistently evades a summit confrontation with Khrushchev."

On the other hand, Henry Brandon of The Sunday Times reported growing evidence that Eisenhower is "bravely trying to fill the vacuum left by Mr. Dulles' absence."

"He has been stung into action by insinuations that Mr. Macmillan has, by default become the leader of the Western alliance," he wrote.

Soviet Envoy Leaving Iran

TEHRAN, Iran — (UPI) — The Soviet ambassador is quitting Iran in the wake of the Iranin-American defense pact, it was disclosed Sunday.

The Foreign Ministry said it was informed by Ambassador Nikolai Pegov that he was going home. No reasons were given and there was no indication of any formal rupture between Russia and its southern neighbor which share a 700-mile frontier. But relations between them have worsened in recent weeks.

New Era, eight in a single accident near Brunswick, and 10 vehicles were involved in a chain accident at Grand Rapids.

No one was injured in the Brunswick-New Era accidents, but ambulances were dispatched to the scene in Grand Rapids.

High winds also took a toll of electric and telephone wires over much of Michigan. Trees were bowled over and plate glass store windows blown out. At Lansing, winds caused a power failure which knocked the world's first combination commercial - educational television station (WMSB-TV, WILX-TV) off the air.

The snowstorm raced out of the Rockies across the central plains through Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota before slamming through Iowa and Wisconsin into Michigan.

Weathermen warned the storm would hit New England early today, dumping from five to seven inches of snow over parts of Maine.

Winds up to 50 miles per hour and more accompanied the snow as it powered across Iowa, Northern Illinois and most of Wisconsin, piling up drifts 10 feet deep. Highways were impassable through Iowa and Wisconsin, where up to 12 inches of snow fell.

Hundreds of motorists were reported stranded throughout the Iowa-Wisconsin area. Between 5,000 and 6,000 persons, teenagers and adults, were stranded by the storm at Lincoln, Neb., where they had attended the state's high school basketball tourney finals.

A similiar fate befell about 500 high school students and adults at Des Moines, where they had attended a girls' basketball tourney. The Iowa Highway Patrol refused to allow autos and cage fans to leave the city because of the storm and hazardous roads.

Even snowplows were called back when strong winds drifted the snow across roads faster than it could be plowed.

Some 100 Boy Scouts from the Milwaukee area were marooned by the storm on an outdoor camping trip at Indian Mound Boy Scout camp near Waukesha, while 20 Girl Scouts took shelter in an abandoned barn at Kettle Moraine State Park near Sheboygan. All roads around both camps were blocked.

At Sheboygan, traffic was halted as the area was cut off from the remainder of the state.

In Wisconsin counties where states of emergency existed, the highway patrol said snowplows would operate for only emergency reasons, such as the needs of an ambulance or a doctor.

Air traffic was canceled throughout the storm area, and bus lines all but shut down.

Dozens of range fires that spread over north Texas on winds up to 55 miles per hour appeared under control Sunday. One of the worst fires was along a front 15 miles wide and 35 miles long in the Nocona and Montague areas, where more than 100,000 acres of range and pastureland were blackened. Winds were dying, but fire fighters said the winds still posed a danger threat.

McLaney Denies He Had Pesos

Mike McLaney, former Miami Beach restaurant operator and Havana gambling casino owner, had only 80 American dollars in his pocket when picked up by Cuban police on suspicion of peso-smuggling, his attorney said Sunday.

McLaney and five other Americans were still being held in Havana Sunday after being detained Friday when they arrived on planes from Miami.

Cuban police accused them of trying to smuggle some $237,500 worth of pesos into Cuba.

"Mr. McLaney had a sum total of 80 American dollars on him when he was picked up by Cuban officers," said Roland S. Galub of New York, McLaney's attorney who flew to Havana to try to free him.

"Any charges that he was involved in any way in trying to smuggle pesos into Cuba are completely and absolutely false," Galub said.

Galub said no charges have been filed so far against McLaney. He said he was trying to have Cuban police either file official charges or release McLaney. He said the American Embassy in Havana was investigating the affair.

Galub also said that McLaney was "in no way connected" with the other Americans picked up Friday.

The others are Edward Solomon, Jesus Antonion Prieto, both of Miami, Israel Weinstein, and two women, identified by Cuban officials as Elaine Mitchell and Xenia Thornadakis.

Cuban police gave Solomon's address as 13095 Emerald Dr., North Miami, and said he was a former U.S. Army officer. Antonion Prieto's address was given as 1850 S. Miami Ave.

McLaney formerly operated L'Aiglon Restaurant at Miami Beach and Galub said McLaney and his wife have been living part of the time recently aboard a houseboat anchored in the Indian Creek near the Fontainebleau Hotel.

McLaney is owner of the gambling casino in the Hotel Nacional in Havana.

Cuban police charged the Americans were trying to sell the pesos in Cuba for American dollars after buying them at cut rates in this country.

tion with the automobile while upgrading the bus ride in the social-conscious day and age when people regard each other in terms of transportation."

Under the club plan, residents of a neighborhood buy a seat on a bus by the month. The bus picks them up at or near their home in the morning and expresses them to work. In the evening, they have a choice of three express buses home. This pioneering operation has been so successful in Cincinnati that the transit company is expanding it to other suburban areas.

* * *

Park 'n' Rides Keep Cars Away

SINCE TRANSIT DEALS with such a huge cross-section of people, it has a potent argument for cooperative ventures with all sorts of other types of businesses. One of the most successful has been the transit Park 'n' Ride plan, in which bus company encourages commuters to park along a transit line and take a bus into the downtown area.

Park 'n' Ride grew out of the effort of transit companies to attract people who live so far away from a bus line that they have no alternative to driving their cars.

Through cooperation with city officials — and in some areas, service station operators — the transit company provides bus rides with free parking along the periphery of transit routes. Frequently the transit company buys property and sets up its own parking lots.

In most instances, the plan has been successful for everyone concerned and has extended the effective radius of public transportation considerably. In St. Louis, transit officials estimate that the Park 'n' Ride program is keeping at least a thousand cars a day out of the downtown area.

Transit is also increasing its cooperative ventures with downtown businessmen, who are now recognizing that without transit, downtown areas are most assuredly doomed.

* * *

Merchants Pay Customer Fares

THESE COOPERATIVES take all sorts of forms, but in general the merchant picks up the bus tab for customers who make purchases over a certain amount. This is a decidedly realistic sort of subsidy, both for the merchant and the bus line.

More and more cities, recognizing finally that they must have a healthy transportation system to survive, are taking a long, objective look at the whole transit problem. Two examples are found on the West Coast, where Los Angeles and San Francisco are trying to set up an equitable mechanism to coordinate and establish an effective public transportation system.

The future of transit in Los Angeles is in the hands of a single public corporation — the Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority — which holds broad powers granted it by the state legislature in 1957 to develop and operate a mass commuting system.

* * *

San Francisco Has a Problem

SO, WHILE RUNNING a fleet of 1,800 buses and streetcars daily, the authority is conducting studies to decide where the commuter wants to go and how best to get him there in the years ahead. When the studies are completed this year, the authority hopes to begin building an up-to-date, coordinated mass transit system.

In San Francisco, the problem is somewhat different. Communities around the compact city area have shown a consistent disinclination to cooperate in a rapid transit system. In spite of this, the state-authorized Bay Area Rapid Transit District is working hard to come up with some acceptable method of financing a sorely-needed rapid transit system to tie in the nine Bay Area counties with San Francisco.

These are only a few of the devices now being employed by dozens of transit systems all over the country to try and won local citizens back into the bus-riding habit. So far, the results have been mostly in terms of negative accomplishment — that is, the snowballing trend away from buses since World War II has been checked somewhat.

But in a few cities, the trend actually shows promise of being reversed. We'll examine three of them tomorrow.

NEXT: Some BIG solutions to the transit problem.

National Summary

Although a few patches of rain dampened the Pacific northwest and light snow was scattered from North Dakota into Colorado an intense storm centered over Southern Lake Michigan shifted the major precipitation pattern to the eastern half of the country today.

Ahead of a cold front extending from Lake Michigan into Louisiana moisture laden winds from the Gulf contributed widespread rain and scattered thunderstorms from Florida into portions of the Great Lakes. Snow extended from Mo. into northern Mich. and thunder accompanied snow over portions of Illinois and Wisconsin. Heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings are in effect for portions of Wisconsin and Michigan with 4 inches or more of snow expected to accumulate by tonight.

Fair skies covered much of the region from the plains across the southwest and sunshine is expected during the afternoon from the lower Miss. Valley into most of the Pacific states. A few snow flurries however are likely to be scattered over the mountains of Wyoming and Colorado reaching western portions of Nebraska and South Dakota. Rain in the Pacific northwest should give way to sunshine through partly cloudy skies during the afternoon.

Several Facets of Proposal

Private Schools Carefully Eyed

Best Bet, Declare Backers

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Florida legislators, although strong for free public schools, have not completely abandoned consideration of a private school system as a way out of the integration dilemma.

Lawmakers like Senate President Dewey Johnson, of Quincy, Sen. Tom Adams, Orange Park, and Rep. Gordon Frederick, Sanford, still feel that private schools may ultimately prove to be the South's best chance for escaping the U.S. Supreme Court's desegregation mandate.

Adams is thinking of private schools in broader terms than just the race issue. He said with the mounting costs of running the schools in Florida, stimulation of private schools would also be a safeguard against future financial trouble.

But Adams thinks the state should have a financial stake in it.

He said the ground should be laid now for "nurturing an independent school system."

First, Adams suggests a scholarship fund should be set up by the state to encourage young people to attend some of Florida's 75 private secondary schools.

To determine which schools would receive reuglar tuition grants, an independent accreditation board should be established, he said, to set up a code of minimum academic standards.

It is high time private capital and enterprise were brought into this picture, he said, warning that the state may one day meet the limit of its financial capacity.

In this way, the state could eliminate over-crowding of public schools without spending millions of dollars on new buildings. He pointed out that the state for years has subsidized the University of Miami, a private institution, to take care of a medical school education for Florida youths before the state medical school was established at Gainesville.

The independent school proposal would bolster the parent-option plan, he said, because without providing alternate facilities for children withdrawing from integrated schools, the plan is "a pig in a poke."

The private school plans, and there are at least three of them under consideration, have no where near the support building up for the parent option tuition plan and the "last resort" school closing bill.

But even some of the legislators who plan to vote for parent option tuition are privately not convinced it will get by the courts.

Frederick said in his opinion "there is no way, either directly or indirectly, by which public money can be utilized in providing education on a segregated basis" and still meet Supreme Court tests.

It would make no provision for state subsidies to the children who attend private schools. "If the people want segregation, they must be prepared to pay for it from their own pockets," Frederick said.

"It could and probably would result in turning the public schools over to the Negroes," he warned.

MY STARS—or, rather, freckles, said Suzanne Peters, 11, of Hollywood, where she won the you-know-what contest (64 to the square inch, if you want vital statistics) at the eighth annual Irish Fair. Shennanigans started Saturday and wind-up Tuesday night, b'gorra.

Aid Offer For Mains Prepared

NAPLES — A suggestion for owner participation in construction of East Naples water mains in addition to the minimum proposed by the City of Naples may be considered at a joint city-county water committee meeting at 3:30 p.m. today at the branch courthouse.

Property owners along the Tamiami Trail, east of Airport Rd., have suggested they "might be willing" to pay construction cost of an eight-inch line past their land.

The city originally considered a six-inch line direct to the Shadowlawn School, to be built this summer. This size main was declared inadequate by Ed Pizer, a developer who has asked a one-mile extension to an area in which he plans 100 low-cost houses.

City Manager Fred Lowdermilk admitted inadequacy of the six-inch line, and said an eight-inch pipe should be substituted.

He told the City Council the Trail area extension is "impractical now" because of costs and planned four-laning of the Trail next year.

Property owners have offered to provide a five-foot easement along the front of their lots. The easement would be within the 50-foot setback line, already established.

Owner payment could replace present plans for building the mains later, and assessing the cost when the job is done. It would, in effect, speed up the construction.

Thief's Action Puzzles Police

JACKSONVILLE —(AP)— This one has police puzzled.

On Feb. 20 someone broke into the Neptune Beach home of Betty Walker, airlines stewardess and took her $1,000 mink stole; a $200 wrist watch; some spoons; a radio, $200 worth of perfume, and a cigaret lighter.

Sunday she reported the return, by mail, of everything but the radio and perfume. If the thief was a woman, why didn't she also keep the watch and stole, police wondered. If it was a man, why didn't he sell them?

Okeechobee Fair To Open Today

OKEECHOBEE — The annual Okeechobee County Fair will open today for a week's run, fair officials said. Officials said exhibits were greater than ever before.

Wednesday will be children's day for the event, with reduced prices for youngsters.

Disputed Coin-Wash Still Spins

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

WILTON MANORS — The disputed coin laundry was spinning and tumbling away Sunday, five days after the variance allowing it to operate was quashed in Circuit Court.

City Attorney William Miller said Saturday he didn't know if it was violating the zoning ordinance.

"I can't answer. I haven't decided," he said.

Miller also was not prepared to say whether he would prosecute the laundry if he determined it was violating the ordinance.

The ordinance puts laundries in a Business 2 zoning category. Pyro Incorporation's coin laundry on Wilton Dr. is in a Business 1 zone.

It won a variance from the Board of Adjustment after a zoning change obtained by its attorney, Municipal Judge William Leonard, was voided by Circuit Judge James Walden.

The variance was voided Tuesday by Circuit Judge Richard Sauls.

Miller said Saturday he intends to appeal Judge Sauls' decision although the City Council has not yet authorized an appeal.

"As city attorney, I have to make my own decision," he said. "The Council could alter it."

The original zoning change sought by Leonard — to allow coin laundries in all Business 1 zones — will be presented again to the Council Tuesday night.

It was voided because no public hearing was given. Leonard last week obtained the zoning board's approval of his request. Miller noted that the variance appeal may become moot if the council also approves Leonard's case.

Hogg Funeral Held Sunday

STUART — The funeral of Mrs. Naomi Hogg of Brunswick, Ga., a former-resident of Stuart, was held here Sunday at Johns Funeral Chapel, with burial in All Saints cemetery at Jensen Beach.

Mrs. Hogg was a native of England. She moved to Stuart 46 years ago. Survivors include a son; three daughters, including Mrs. Elizabeth Knickerbocker of Miami; 16 grandchildren, and, eight great-grandchildren.

Gather at Tampa

Florida Teachers To Hold Meetings

TAMPA—(AP)—More than 7,000 teachers and school officials from throughout the state converge on Tampa this week for the annual Florida Education Association Convention.

J. Crockett Farnell, city school superintendent here, said, "We expect it to be the biggest and best convention we have held."

School board members and officials of the Florida Association of County School Superintendents meet Wednesday. The FEA sessions open Thursday and run through Saturday.

School board members will receive an explanation of the parent option proposal from Assistant Attorney General Ralph Odum of Tallahassee prior to the convention opening.

Odum handles racial litigation for the state. The parent option plan, backed by Attorney General Richard Ervin and State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey, will be considered by the State Legislature.

The proposal would allow parents to withdraw children from schools which become integrated. The state would pay $240 a year toward the education of these children in private schools.

U.S. Sen. George Smathers of Miami heads a list of speakers for the contention. Gov. LeRoy Collins and Bailey also will address the teachers.

Phillip Constans of Gainesville, president of the FEA, will preside. An election will be held to select his successor during the meeting.

Little Hope Held for 2

PALATKA—(UPI)—An extensive search for two missing Marietta, Ga., doctors continued in, around and over the rough waters of Lake George near here Sunday, but officials expressed no hope of finding them alive.

The doctors, Edward Schaefer Marks, 40, and George Thomas Fergus Jr., 36, have been missing since Thursday, when their fishing boat was capsized somewhere on the 14-mile-long, nine-mile-wide, wind-whipped lake.

The body of their guide, Arthur Allison, 51, of Satsuma, turned up Friday afternoon, five hours after the 16-foot cruiser was found. Location of the accident was confused by the fact the boat's motor was found seven miles across the lake from where the boat was found.

Harstad Rites Set in Chicago

JENSEN BEACH — Olaf Harstad, 64, Jensen Cutoff Rd., died at his home Saturday. He had lived here since October, coming from Chicago. He was a native of Norway and had lived in the U.S. since he was 15.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret, a son, two daughters, and a sister. Services and burial will be in Chicago, with Yates Funeral Home in charge here.

$30 Million DuPont's Trial Due

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Roy E. Crummer, Nevada bond salesman, brings his 30 million dollar suit against multi-millionaire financier Ed Ball and other Florida duPont interests into court here again today.

Crummer is charging that Ball and others conspired to drive him out of business in Florida by instigating state and federal investigations in the 1940's.

Crummer ran a million-dollar municipal bond business in Orlando at the time, and was knee-deep in refinancing Florida's boom-time bonded debt.

The suit has been in Federal Court for 10 years and never has been heard on its merits, and the trial will be on a technicality, even though expected to last three weeks.

The three-year period allowed for such suits under federal law expired before Crummer sued Ball and the others. But Crummer claims the conspiracy was fraudulently concealed and he didn't find out about it in time to meet the statutory deadline.

Retired Federal Judge Dozier A. Devane tossed the suit out once on the grounds it was barred by the statute of limitations.

But a federal District Court of Appeals at New Orleans ordered a jury to determine if this was true.

If so, the case would then be tried on its merits.

Federal District Judge G. Harrold Carswell, who succeeded Devane, predicted that the trial on whether to try the case on its merits would take three weeks and maybe longer.

Approximately 80 prospective jurors will be on hand, from which a huge battery of lawyers will select 12 to hear their case.

Mayo to Return Before Session

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Nathan Mayo, veteran state agriculture commissioner, said he expects to return to work before the Legislature meets April 7.

Mayo has been recuperating at his home at Summerfield, near Ocala, from an operation in September. He said he still felt a little weak but is slowly regaining strength.

Of the Pirates, That Is--

Naples Wants the Farmhands But Hasn't Field or Housing

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — The possibility of Naples being the training site for nine farm teams of the Pittsburgh Pirates is being investigated by city officials.

The city has suggested use of land at Naples-America Airport for a four-diamond training area, covering up to 20 acres. The Pirates train at nearby Fort Myers but farm teams are now at Jacksonville Beach.

The proposal for the shift came from the Naples Chamber of Commerce, and is backed by Councilman Archie Turner and Joe Brown, airport manager.

Five years ago efforts were made to obtain a major league training camp here but housing could not be found.

Estimates of income from the farm teams range from $100,000 a year to $100,000 a month, but a hurdle is the estimated $25,000 cost of preparing the diamonds.

Another possible cost may be renovation of the barracks, establishment of a kitchen and dining room, and building clubhouse and locker room.

No commitments have been obtained from the Pirates, but team officials have shown interest, Turner reported. The farm clubs would bring 300 players to camp in February, March, and April.

Chamber members have suggested the renovated barracks might be used the rest of the year for construction workers.

Fire Ruin Purchase Rejected

Herald Service

STUART—The Stuart City Commission said "No," to Kenneth Harris' proposal it purchase the fire-gutted Hotel Commodore, next to the City Hall for a parking lot.

Harris' new proposal at Friday's special meeting included permission to transfer the liquor license to The Friendly Bar, plus $30,000 cash, with the city to assume a mortgage of $20,000.

The commission told Harris, the hotel owner, the license was on a "hotel basis" only and could not be transferrred.

After Harris told the council he had been offered $50,000 for the property, the city withdrew its offer of $30,000 for the site.

'Self Government'

A Florida Gardens City Still His Hope

Herald Bureau

LAKE WORTH—The owner and developer of Florida Gardens indicated Sunday he still favors incorporating the one-mile square area west of here.

Karl Beachler, however, denied the proposed incorporation was designed as "an escape from county restriction." He claimed it was only for "self-government."

The Palm Beach County legislative delegation last week was asked to push through a bill incorporating Florida Gardens. Some property owners in the area later voiced objections. Beachler himself owns 75 per cent of the land in the area.

He conceded Saturday there has been a "small segment of dissatisfaction" over the incorporation proposal.

About 72 homes have been constructed so far in Florida Gardens. Beachler says he has signatures of 25 residents so far favoring the incorporation.

Referring to the recent meeting to protest incorporation, Beachler said it prevented him from continuing his personal poll of residents.

The developer added he felt very strongly that there was nothing to be gained from putting off incorporation and only further problems can be built up.

"I have never had any thought in mind of circumventing County Commission rules or the people's wishes," he added.

Some residents have accused Beachler of trying to dodge county building and zoning standards.

The developer did not make it clear whether he will continue to press for the bill of incorporation at this time.

Clyde Cato Rites Set Tuesday

Herald Service

FORT PIERCE — Clyde Cato, 52, civic leader and chairman of the St. Lucie County School Board, died Sunday. Mr. Cato had lived here since 1918, and was manager of the East Coast Lumber and Supply Co.

He was active in many civic and fraternal organizations, served more than 12 years on the school board. He was named chairman in January.

Mr. Cato was a member of the First Methodist Church, the Moose, Masons, Eastern Sar, and Civitan.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Betty Bradley, Bonnie Lou and Sandra Jean Cato, of Fort Pierce; two sons, William, serving with the U.S. Army in Germany, and Clyde Jr., of Fort Pierce; a brother, James A. Lewis of Columbus, Ga., and a sister, Mrs. A. R. Ellinor of Fort Pierce.

Funeral will be Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the Yates Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. Robert Chapman of the First Methodist Church officiating. Masonic rites will be held at Hillcrest Memorial Gardens.

It Won't Win Family Fight

Don't Call Hubby 'Fathead'

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — Ever hear of basic training for family feuds?

The Palm Beach County Mental Health Association is going to teach the married couple whose honeymoon is over how to fight.

But put away the rolling pin, wives. This is war without weapons. No rolling pins, flying saucers, or even nasty words.

The four-week course for newlyweds begins Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA.

The first lesson — how to fight right. This means, mental health officials explained, how to argue constructively.

For instance, don't call your hubby a fathead. It fractures his ego.

"Name calling," explained Mrs. Tully Scott, chairman of the association's marriage counseling committee, "is damaging to the ego."

And the little woman doesn't like to be called ridiculous either.

Keep it constructive, and don't drag up ancient history, which is to say, the past. Stick to the subject.

The series on marriage problems will also deal with how to handle money. Remember everyone has to have his "pet extravagance," says the mental health experts.

"Couples must allow each other to express personality in money as well as other things," explains Mrs. Scott.

So if diamonds are your wife's best friend — oh, well.

The two-hour program will include a lecture and a question-and-answer session.

Three Injured In Auto Crash

BOYNTON BEACH — Three persons were seriously injured in a head-on collision on Ocean Ave. early Sunday.

They are A. W. O'Dell, 31; Aveline O'Dell, 27; and Clarence J. Measelle Jr., 37, all of Boynton Beach. They were taken to Bethesda Hospital.

State Trooper R. P. Delaney said Measelle swerved over the centerline, crashing into O'Dell's car. Measelle was charged with driving while intoxicated and causing an accident.

12 Political Leaders Will Choose Democratic Candidate for President

By CHARLES CLEVELAND
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

JOHNSON

DISALLE

DALEY

CHICAGO—A dozen political leaders will pick the Democratic candidate for president in 1960.

The list includes the leading hopefuls for the nomination, some favorite sons and a few pros who control the bulk of their state's delegation.

Between them they control nearly half the convention delegates.

Here are the kingmakers:

GOV. EDMUND G. (PAT) BROWN of California, expected to be that state's favorite son.

MAYOR RICHARD J. DALEY of Chicago, who will control most of the Illinois delegation.

SEN. JOHN KENNEDY, who will be the Massachusetts favorite son and have the backing of New England.

GOV. G. MENNEN WILLIAMS, Michigan's perennial favorite son.

SEN. HUBERT HUMPHREY, Minnesota's nominee.

SEN. STUART SYMINGTON, Missouri's choice.

GOV. ROBERT MEYNER, who will control his New Jersey delegation.

CARMINE DE SAPIO who will be the key man in the New York delegation.

GOV. DAVID LAWRENCE who is the Pennsylvania leader.

GOV. MIKE DISALLE, who is expected to be the Ohio favorite son.

SEN. LYNDON JOHNSON who will carry the banner in Texas.

HARRY S. TRUMAN, former president, who still has a voice in party affairs.

Of this group Gov. Lawrence may well prove to be the bellwether.

His first choice is Adlai Stevenson, which is a good, safe, watch-and-wait position.

Stevenson is now regarded only as a last-minute, compromise candidate. Even his home state of Illinois does not, for now, regard him as a candidate and there are no plans to make him a favorite son.

Lawrence is also skeptical of Sen. Kennedy as the party nominee. It is a skepticism that could have far reaching effects.

Lawrence, like Kennedy, is a Roman Catholic. In 1956 he was one who counseled strongly against naming Kennedy as Stevenson's running mate on the ground that the religious issue would be explosive.

If he holds to this view, Lawrence could play a role in blocking Kennedy again.

At the moment Kennedy is in the lead, but still well short of nomination strength.

He'll have the New England bloc. He is regarded as Mayor Daley's favorite and the probable choice of Gov. Brown.

California, like Pennsylvania, could be pivotal. Ed Pauley, wealthy oilman, will be a powerful behind-the- cenes influence and will try to swing the state to Sen. Symington.

Adlai Stevenson also has a basic following there and in Oregon.

There is considerable Kennedy sentiment in New York. His chief stumbling block there is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who still carries impact on the liberal wing of the party.

This wing will throw most of its support behind Humphrey. Liberals usually are important in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and California. Michigan, at least at the start, will be committed to Gov. Williams, however.

Symington's chief support now comes from former President Truman. Truman's first concern, however, is to prevent Stevenson from popping up as the dark horse nominee.

Gov. DiSalle is one of Mr. Truman's old political pals. Downstate Illinois leaders will follow Truman as will Frank McKinney, if he can regain control of Indiana's delegation.

Gov. Meyner now is a strict outsider in the race. He is concentrating on his job, hoping his financial record will attract attention in a year when most other states are running into red ink troubles.

A major handicap, however, is the religious question in reverse. He is a non-practicing Catholic.

The North-South battle of school integration rules out Johnson as a leading contender.

He will, however, carry considerable weight because of his state's large delegation and could—although he is not now—become the South's candidate.

Most pros now rate the contenders as Kennedy, Symington and Humphrey, in that order.
